"Hear The Word Of God"

The forces of evil grow and develop with seeming ease. The forces of good seem to need endless cultivation and nurture.

If we would have the Kingdom of God become a reality on earth it is our task to learn of Him and put His way first.

Having done this evil must be overcome of good.

"Go To Church On Sunday" and hear the word of God, sing to His praise, pray for His strength and guidance, and give your support to the growth of goodness and the ending of evil.

"SPEEDY" by BUTLER Motor Sales

You Can Cut Repair Costs on Your Ford

Nine out of every 10 cars on the road are "old cars." That is because of the war, and the scarcity of new cars. Consequently, most cars, because of their age, need repair.

If you are driving an older car, and if its a Ford, we can help you to reduce your repair bill. We can do it in two ways: By servicing it with genuine Ford precision-built parts, and by having the work done by factory-trained mechanics.

Ford parts are accurately built. They fit without tinkering. And, our trained mechanics, with proper tools, can do the work faster. All of this saves you money.

So, when your Ford is in need for repair, bring it HOME for service — and in Tecumseh, that's our garage.

Sister Kenny Asks Tecumseh For $500.00 To Fight Polio

Campaign To Be Launched Here Sept. 19 and 20

Plans have been completed for man. Meyers Aircraft executive Tecumseh's campaign to aid the and chairman of the drive, an- Sister Kenny Fund in its war on nounced today. Tecumseh's quota, infantile paralysis and the actual Mr. Hoffman said, will be $500. solicitation of funds will begin here "We will follow much the same on September 19 and 20, next week procedure as we did a year ago," Friday and Saturday, Bruce Hoff- Hoffman said in making the announcement. "Local dairies have announced their co-operation, and on the two days next week they will leave "collars" on all bottles of milk delivered here. These "collars" are so constructed that contributions may be placed in them and attached to empty milk bottles, which will be picked up by the milkman on his next delivery. Printed on each "collar" is an explanation of the program.

"We were very happy, and so was the Sister Kenny Foundation, with the generous response of Tecumseh's residents last year in answer to this worth-while appeal. We believe that again this year Tecumseh will respond generously. We have had some cases of polio right here in our own home town, and the Kenny Foundation is ready and willing to step in and meet all expenses when polio occurs."

Hoffman also pointed out that the Foundation bears the expense of diagnosis and hospitalization in the event of suspected polio.

"The milk bottle collar idea permits persons to give as generously as they desire, but they make their own decision. I believe that people generally are generous, as last year's contribution showed," Hoffman said.

Mr. Hoffman is being assisted in the campaign by Clarence Gilman of Tecumseh Dairy, Clarence Beach, local filling station operator, and Glenn Kohler, real estate dealer. He said that Mr. Beach would take care of the distribution of cans for donations in downtown stores, and that Mr Kohler would solicit Industrial donors.

GREAT HEART of Sister Kenny is never happier than when she can bid goodby to a polio patient after treatment at Elizabeth Kenny Institute in Minneapolis, as she is doing here with Billy Kistler, son of a Tulsa, Okla., oil executive. Billy has been restored to health and happiness at world-famed haven of hope.

Death Rate Drops Sharply

ACUTE COMMUNICABLE DISEASES NO LONGER TAKE HEAVY DEATH TOLL

How great a stride public health in Michigan has made in less than a generation is indicated in fatality figures of only four acute communicable diseases released today by Dr. F S. Leeder, director of the Bureau of Disease Control, Michigan Department of Health.

Twenty years ago diphtheria took 516 Michigan lives, whooping cough, 201; scarlet fever, 235; and typhoid, 84; a total of 1046.

In 1946, just two decades later, diphtheria was responsible for 27 deaths, whooping cough 44; scarlet fever, 3; typhoid, 6; a total of 80.

Active immunization against diphtheria and whooping cough, better treatment for scarlet fever, and improved sanitation, safe water supplies and other means of typhoid control resulted in saving almost 1000 lives in 1946, alone, and thousands more in the generation.

"Deaths from diphtheria and whooping cough can be still further reduced when all parents realize the necessity for and do not neglect the immunization of their children in infancy and 'booster shots' when they enter school," Dr. Leeder said. "Newer methods of treating scarlet fever will continue to cut its toll, and continued vigilance in sanitation and control of carriers will continue to reduce the typhoid fatality figure still further."

"Progressive cooperation of all persons in the state in these things which affect their lives and the lives of their children could virtually wipe these killers off Michigan's map in another generation," Dr. Leeder concluded.

Auto Field Is Expanding into Rural Sections

Most automotive concerns are small business, reaching into the smallest villages, many of which did not exist prior to World War I. There are now 537,000 automotive business places, employing 8.2 million persons, or one in every seven workers in the nation, according to Automobile Manufacturing association.

Largest employment source is commercial truck driving, giving 5,750,000 jobs—one of the nation's biggest occupational classes. Another 1.3 million jobs are in auto sales and servicing—including 242,000 gasoline stations and 52,000 auto repair garages.

Production of vehicles and parts, by 1,360 firms, accounts for about 800,000 workers, or less than a tenth of the total. Miscellaneous groups include 19,000 tourist courts, 15,000 wrecking firms, 3,000 roadbuilding contractors' organizations, 2,500 auto finance companies and 200 drive-in theatres.

With employment in auto and parts factories at a new peacetime high of 661,000 production workers last year, wage rates were $1.33 an hour, or more than the wartime peak. Production employment this year continues upward and is nearing 800,000, not including nearly 175,000 salaried workers.

New Bible Authorized By Church of England

A new translation of the Bible into modern, idiomatic English has been authorized by the upper house convocation of the Church of England, consisting of 21 bishops under the archbishop of Canterbury. Six translators, three for the Old Testament, two for the New and one for those books regarded by the Church of England as apocryphal, will prepare the new version. They will have a master of English prose to assist them.

This will be the first translation to be officially prepared by the established Church of England since the famous King James II's "authorized" version of 1611. The "revised" version of 1884 was produced by a Convocation of Canterbury, but this was not an entirely fresh translation from source to vernacular. Predecessors of the authorized version were: John Wycliffe's Bible of 1380, translated from the Latin. This was the first complete Bible in the English tongue, there being nothing before it but the metrical translations of parts of the book by King Alfred in Anglo-Saxon. Tyndale's New Testament was published in 1526. But the first complete Bible to be printed in English was that of Miles Coverdale of 1535.

Garden and Lawn Control Of Moles Recommended

Most gardens and lawns suffer some damage by moles tunneling under crops, injuring sod and causing unsightly washes. The common moles feed largely on earthworms, grubs, cutworms, beetles and other harmful underground pests, and only rarely do they eat corn or other planted seeds or bits of roots.

By feeding on harmful underground lawn and crop pests and by stirring the soil moles would be decidedly beneficial, if they did not at the same time damage crops and lawns by their burrowing activities. Where erosion is not serious, moles may be beneficial in meadows, pastures and waste areas.

It is not easy to completely protect a lawn or garden from moles, but by using traps, hand destruction, a mole-killing dog and strong-smelling repellents one can prevent much of their damage.

Moles have a very keen sense of smell and can be driven to other feeding grounds by dropping mothballs, chunks of carbide, crystals of paradichlorobenzene or similar chemicals through small holes made in the surface of their runs.

There you have it in black and white—the way to avoid many a fatal accident. And this is equally true—it's not "safe to be a smart driver!"

The young driver who slouches over the wheel and goes twisting and roaring through traffic for his own self-satisfaction and the adulation of others is as out of date as a 1910 flivver.

More and more, new drivers-to-be are enrolling in driver instruction courses, to learn how to be safe and intelligent drivers. They are taught how to operate and control a car. They become familiar with traffic rules and regulations — and the penalties for violating these established rules of the road. They learn that it is really smart to be considerate and courteous to others.

Many communities are making these courses available through their schools today. If your son or daughter is coming of driving age, see to it that they take a driver instruction course. If there is not one available in your town, ask the school or police authorities how you can obtain instruction material.

Coming of the Nitriles

In 1815 Gay-Lussac of France, assayer of the mint and a scientist of picturesque accomplishments, made the last of his major contributions to chemical research by working up the first complete description of hydrocyanic acid. It made a stir because the new compound contained no oxygen, a fact which upset prior accepted theories that oxygen was an essential factor in all acids. From hydrocyanic acid, one of Gay-Lussac's assistants, in 1834, developed propionitrile, first of the nitriles. The nitriles were next heard from in 1850 when Strecker reacted acetaldehyde with ammonia and then with hydrocyanic acid to prepare a nitrile derivative which could be hydrolyzed to alanine, thereby originating the synthesis of amino acids, the building-blocks of proteins in foods. Since then nitriles have been identified as occurring naturally to a small extent in bone oil and coal tar, in almond and peach kernels an din sorghum, but none of these sources yields the commercial nitriles of today; all are synthetic. Down to the last decade few of the nitriles were in production or routine use; they remained in the academic realm of organic chemists who labored with the infinite progeny of nitrogen.

Era Before Vitamins

Long before anybody ever heard of vitamins, sailors found that the cranberry helped ward off scurvy. Old-time windjammers, sailing the seven seas out of New England ports, stocked their galleys with barrels of cranberries from which mariners were encouraged to eat handfuls of the raw fruit. No product of the soil is more truly North American than the cranberry. Indian medicine men deserve credit for having introduced it to the Pilgrims. Modern science deserves more credit for improving the quality and increasing the harvest of this bright-red, tart-tasting berry. Much of its vitamin C is retained in cooking by the cranberry's high acid content.

This reckless driver and his companion were speeding crazily through a thickly populated residential area, endangering the lives of dozens of people. Fortunately their wild ride ended before they had involved anyone else. The car went out of control on a medium curve and slammed into a gasoline pump, hurling its occupants onto the pavement. The driver was killed; his passenger lived—after many months in the hospital. Speeding was a reported violation in one out of every four motor vehicle fatalities last year. Strict enforcement of speed laws, and aroused public opinion are needed to prevent accidents of this type.

Daily Use of Electron

When Sir J. J. Thomson discovered the electron 50 years ago, it was given the name from the Greek word for amber, because amber can be electrified when rubbed with wool. The electron has been an elusive idea for more than 20 centuries. It remains somewhat elusive because, while it partakes of some of the properties of a particle, scientists are fairly sure that it is not a hard little marble of matter. It is the smallest element of an atom, and bears a negative electrical charge. In recent years, a positively charged counterpart, called a positron, has been identified. While the electron is an intangible tiny particle, scientists know how to use electrons, and not one day of our existence passes without our using untold numbers of electrons. Historically, the first electronic tube was built and used for scientific purposes by Sir William Crookes in the 1870's.

Finish on Floors

Any of the standard methods and materials may be used for finishing floors. Shellac and wax or varnish finishes are satisfactory if there is to be little wear. Shellac and the cheaper varnishes are quickly damaged by water and both are difficult to repair without the patch showing. Penetrating floor seals, of which several are on the market, are easy to apply and tend to harden the surface of the wood. They are reasonably waterproof, and worn spots can be easily refinished by simply cleaning the worn area and applying another coat of the sealer. Wax can be applied over the sealer to produce a high polish and to help the wearing qualities.

Ghosts of Scottish Kings Wander on Hebrides Isle

Ghosts of Scottish kings wander the tiny Hebrides isle of Iona, rising from turbulent seas north of Ireland. Iona became "the Westminster of Scotland," says National Geographic society, for 40 of Scotland's rulers are buried there.

On the island, only one by three miles in size, are the well-preserved ruins of the Abbey church or cathedral, for which Norway has offered new roofing timber. The site first held an abbey built in 1203 by Reginald Macdonald, Lord of the Isles.

The rugged, rock-bound isle, swept treeless by fierce gales off the Atlantic, is now the home of about 250 persons. The one-street village is called Threid, but its Gaelic name signified "the great city." Many older people still speak Gaelic. Here silversmiths reproduce ancient Celtic designs.

In 563 Columba built on Iona his monastery, later destroyed by Norse invaders. Repeatedly reconstructed, it became a Benedictine Order house about 1200. Ruins of the nunnery include the chancel, nave and parts of the vaulted roof of the chapel. Its most recent tomb is that of the prioress who died in 1543. The medieval convent's charter is preserved in the Vatican.

St. Oran's chapel in the cemetery is Iona's oldest structure. With its high gables, this 30 by 16 foot chapel was built in the 11th century on the original site of St. Columba's church, the first Christian church of Scotland. St. Oran was one of St. Columba's missionaries.

Older than the chapel is St. Martin's Cross, 14 feet high and ornamented with sculptured figures. Some consider Maclean's Cross still older—possibly the oldest Christian monument in Britain.

Miss Alva Mary Lerch Weds Joseph C. Holubik

Miss Alva Mary Lerch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lerch of Adrian, formerly of Tecumseh, and Joseph Carl Holubik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holubik of Blissfield, were united in marriage during an impressive ceremony Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in St. Mary's church in Adrian. The Rev. Fr. John C. Sullivan officiated at the nuptial high mass before the altar decorated with large baskets of multi-colored gladioli. White bows marked the pews. Mrs. Annette Collins sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus". Friends of the bride furnished nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her gown of sheer marquisette, styled with a scalloped bertha and long sleeves extending to points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a Queen Anne headdress, outlined in beaded orange blossoms, and she carried a large cascade bouquet of white glamelias.

Mrs. Viola Wegner, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Alline Osburn, bridesmaid, both of Tecumseh and sisters of the bride, wore period gowns of taffeta, one in peach and the other in aqua. The gowns featured low rolled necklines and bustles. Shirred hemlines in front revealed Irish linen petticoats. They carried large arm bouquets of pastel baby chrysanthemums and wore flowers in their hair.

Joseph A. Holubik, jr., of Deerfield was best man and the ushers were Jack Osburn and Frank Holubik, jr.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Family Inn for 22 guests after the ceremony. A reception was held at the Ottawa Lake Hall for 300 friends and relatives at 8 o'clock in the evening. Refreshments were served by the Misses Marjorie Thompson and Mary Carey. Miss Marie Beaublen cut the wedding cake. Guests attended from Tecumseh, Blissfield, Traverse City, Deerfield, Ann Arbor, Sand Creek and Toledo.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1945 and is employed at the J. C. Penny Company in Adrian. The bridegroom attended Riga high school and is employed at the Faraday Electric Company, Adrian.

Use Bark of Trees

Commercial quantity production of five products manufactured from bark has started in a Washington state processing plant. The operation, tapping a new source of raw materials, is a significant step toward complete utilization of forest resources. Bark, long considered almost worthless in logging represents approximately 12 per cent of a saw log. Under the new process, bark now yields corn flakes, short fibers, tissue powder, cork fiber combination and cork-fiber powder combination. These materials have been proved valuable for a variety of uses, especially in the plywood, glue, plastics, insecticide and soil-conditioning fields.

Grade crossing accidents take the lives of approximately 50 men, women and children every week in the year. Take it easy when approaching railroad tracks, and stop, look and listen.

MACON

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Collins, jr., of Warren, Ohio are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Collins, sr. On September 15, Junior will enter Youngstown University. He will major in Journalism and Commercial Art.

CRAFTS BIG BUSINESS

'47 tourists will contribute a neat $1.5 billion to handicraftsmen this summer. Nearly half of the nation will vacation in the family car, and 60 million nomads will spend an estimated $25 each on "quaint" handicraft items.

Howdy Folks:

What this country needs is fewer people telling us what this country needs.

An angry traveling salesman asked Rock Ridge's only cab driver why they put the depot so blasted far from town. "Wal, stranger," said the driver, "I dunno, less'n it's that they want to get the depot ez close ez possible to the railroad."

Bill: "My wife doesn't understand me; does yours?"
Jim: "I don't think so... I've never even heard her mention your name!"

But you can be sure that plenty of people are mentioning our name as the place to get real top quality car service... There's no car need that we don't understand. Drive in today.

RESTRICTIONS AS TO SPEED. SECTION 4.

(a) Any person driving a vehicle on a highway shall drive the same at a careful and prudent speed not greater than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the traffic, surface and width of the highway and of any other condition then existing, and no person shall drive any vehicle upon a highway at a speed greater than will permit him to bring it to a stop within the assured clear distance ahead.

(b) Subject to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section and except in those instances where a lower speed is specified in this ordinance, it shall be prima facie lawful for the driver of a vehicle to drive the same at a speed not exceeding the following but in any case when such speed would be unsafe it shall not be lawful:

25 miles an hour in a residence district, as defined herein, unless a different speed is fixed by the Village Council and duly posted.

It shall be prima facie unlawful for any person to exceed any of the foregoing speed limitations, except as provided in subsection (c) of this section. In every charge of a violation of this subsection the complaint shall also contain notice or notice to appear, shall specify the speed at which the defendant is alleged to have driven, also the speed which this subsection declares shall be prima facie lawful at the time and place of such alleged violation.

(c) The Village Council is hereby authorized to establish prima facie lawful speed limits on highways outside of business or residence districts which limits shall in no case be less than 25 miles an hour. The Village Council is likewise authorized to increase the prima facie lawful limits in residence or business districts as stated in this ordinance: Provided, That all highways in residence or business districts on which the speed limit shall be in excess of 25 miles an hour shall be designated through highways at the entrance to which vehicles shall be required by order of the Village Council to stop before entering, except that where two such through highways intersect the Village Council may require traffic on one highway only to stop, before entering the intersection. The Village Council shall place and maintain upon all through highways upon which the permissible speed is increased adequate signs giving notice of such special regulations and shall also place and maintain upon each and every highway intersecting any said through highway, appropriate stop signs which shall be illuminated at night or so placed as to be illuminated by the headlights of an approaching vehicle or by street lights.

Provided, further, that the prima facie speed limits on all state trunkline highways, where such speed limit has been duly established by the state highway commissioner and the state highway department has placed and maintained adequate signs giving notice of such permissible speed, shall be the speed limits so established.

OBEDIENCE TO OFFICIAL TRAFFIC CONTROL DEVICES. SECTION 5.

No driver of a vehicle shall disobey the instructions of any official traffic control device placed in accordance with provisions of this ordinance, unless at the time otherwise directed by a police officer.

Traffic control signal legend. Whenever traffic is controlled by traffic control signals exhibiting the words "go", "caution", or "stop" or exhibiting different colored lights successively, one at a time, or with arrows, the following colors shall be used and said terms and lights shall indicate and apply to drivers of vehicles and pedestrians as follows:

(a) Green alone or "go". Vehicular traffic facing the signal, may proceed straight through or turn right or left unless a sign at such place prohibits either such turn: Provided, That vehicular traffic shall yield the right-of-way to other vehicles and to pedestrians lawfully within the intersection at the time such signal is exhibited.

Pedestrians facing the signal may proceed across the highway within any marked or unmarked crosswalk.

(b) Yellow alone or "caution" when shown together with or following the green or "go" signal, vehicular traffic facing the signal shall stop before entering the nearest crosswalk at the intersection, but if such stop cannot be made in safety a vehicle may be driven cautiously through the intersection.

Pedestrians facing such signal are thereby advised that there is insufficient time to cross the highway, and any pedestrian then starting to cross shall yield the right-of-way to all vehicles.

(c) Red alone or "stop". Vehicular traffic facing the signal shall stop before entering the nearest crosswalk at an intersection or at such other point as may be indicated by a clearly visible line and shall remain standing until green or "go" is shown alone.

No pedestrian facing such signal shall enter the highway unless he can do so safely and without interfering with any vehicular traffic.

(d) Flashing signals. Whenever flashing red or yellow signals are used they shall require obedience by vehicular traffic as follows: "Flashing red (stop signal.)" When a red lens is illuminated by intermittent flashes, drivers of vehicles shall stop before entering the nearest crosswalk at an intersection or at a limit line when marked and the right to proceed shall be subject to the rules applicable after making a stop at a stop sign. "Flashing yellow (Caution signal)." When a yellow lens is illuminated with rapid intermittent flashes, drivers of vehicles may proceed through the intersection or past such signal only with caution.

RAILROAD WARNING SIGNALS MUST BE OBEYED. SECTION 6. Whenever any person driving a vehicle approaches a highway and railway grade crossing and a clearly visible and positive signal gives warning of the immediate approach of a railway train or car, it shall be unlawful for the driver of the vehicle to fail to bring the vehicle to a complete stop before traversing such grade crossing.

DRIVE ON RIGHT SIDE OF HIGHWAY. SECTION 7. Upon all highways of sufficient width except upon one way streets the driver of a vehicle shall drive the same upon the right half of the highway and shall drive a slow moving vehicle as closely as possible to the right hand edge or curb of such highway, unless it is impracticable to travel on such side of the highway and except when overtaking and passing another vehicle subject to the limitations applicable in overtaking and passing set forth in Sections 8 and 9 of this ordinance.

MEETING OF VEHICLES. SECTION 8. Drivers of vehicles proceeding in opposite directions shall pass each other to the right, each giving to the other at least one-half (½) of the main traveled portion of the roadway as nearly as possible.

OVERTAKING A VEHICLE. SECTION 9. (a) The driver of any vehicle overtaking another vehicle proceeding in the same direction shall pass at a safe distance to the left thereof, and when safely clear of such overtaken vehicle shall take up a position as near the right-hand edge of the main traveled portion of the highway as is practicable: Provided, That a vehicle whose driver has signalled his intention to turn left shall not be passed on the left. Overtaking vehicles in such cases shall be permitted to pass to the right.

(b) The driver of an overtaking vehicle not within a business or residence district as herein defined shall give audible warning with his horn or other warning device before passing or attempting to pass a vehicle proceeding in the same direction.

LIMITATIONS ON PRIVILEGE OF OVERTAKING AND PASSING. SETION 10.

1. When approaching the crest of a grade or upon a curve in the highway where the driver's view is obstructed within such distance as to create a hazard in the event another vehicle might approach from the opposite direction;

2. When approaching within 100 feet of or traversing any intersection or railroad crossing;

3. When the view is obstructed upon approaching within 100 feet of any bridge, viaduct or tunnel.

TURNING AT INTERSECTIONS SECTION 11.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the right at an intersection shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic nearest to the right-hand side of the highway, and in turning shall keep as closely as practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the highway, and when intending to turn to the left shall approach such intersection in that portion of the right half of the highway nearest the center line thereof, and after entering the intersection the left turn shall be made so as to leave the intersection to the right of the center line of the highway being entered.

(c) Vehicle turning left at intersection. The driver of a vehicle within an intersection intending to turn to the left shall yield the right-of-way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction which is within the intersection or so close thereto as to constitute an immediate hazard, but said driver, having so yielded and having given a signal when and as required by this ordinance, may make such left turn and the drivers of all other vehicles approaching the intersection from said opposite direction shall yield the right-of-way to the vehicle making the left turn: Provided, That at an intersection at which a traffic signal is located, a driver intending to make a left turn shall permit vehicles bound straight through in the opposite direction which are awaiting a go signal to pass through the intersection before making the turn.

SIGNALS ON STARTING, STOPPING OR TURNING. SECTION 12.

(a) The driver of any vehicle upon a highway before starting, stopping or turning from a direct line shall first see that such movement can be made in safety and shall give a signal as required in this section.

(b) The signal herein required shall be given either by means of the hand and arm in the manner herein specified or by a mechanical or electrical signal device which conveys an intelligible signal or warning to another driver approaching from the rear.

Whenever the signal is given by means of the hand and arm, the driver shall indicate his intention to start, stop, or turn by extending the hand and arm horizontally from and beyond the left side of the vehicle.

RIGHT OF WAY. SECTION 13.

EXCEPTIONS TO THE RIGHT OF WAY RULE. SECTION 14.

(a) The driver of a vehicle entering a public highway from a private drive shall come to a full stop before entering such highway.

(b) The driver of a vehicle upon a highway shall yield the right of way to ambulances, police and fire department vehicles when the latter are operated upon official business and the drivers thereof sound audible signal by bell, siren or exhaust whistle. This provision shall not operate to relieve the driver of a police or fire department vehicle from the duty to drive with due regard for the safety of all persons using the highway.

(c) All motor vehicles forming a funeral procession when going to any place of burial shall have the right of way over all other vehicles except fire apparatus, ambulances and police patrol vehicles, at any street or highway intersection within this village. Provided, That each vehicle in such funeral procession shall have displayed on the front thereof a flag which shall be white in color, and upon which shall be printed, stamped or stained a purple cross.

WHAT TO DO ON APPROACH OF POLICE OR FIRE DEPARTMENT VEHICLE. SECTION 15.

(a) Upon the approach of any police or fire department vehicle giving audible signal bell, siren or exhaust whistle, the driver of every other vehicle shall immediately drive the same to a position as near as possible, and parallel to the right hand edge or curb of the highway, clear of any intersection of highway, and shall stop and remain in such position unless otherwise directed by a police or traffic officer until the police or fire department vehicle shall have passed.

(b) It shall be unlawful for the driver of any vehicle other than one on official business to follow any fire apparatus traveling in response to a fire alarm closer than five hundred (500) feet or to drive into or park such vehicle within one (1) block from where fire apparatus has stopped in answer to a fire alarm.

(c) No vehicle shall be driven over any unprotected hose of the fire department when laid down to be used at any fire or alarm of fire, without consent of the fire department or police officer in charge.

12. On the street side of any vehicle stopped or parked at the edge of curb of a street;
13. Upon any bridge or other elevated structure upon a highway;
14. At any point where official signs prohibit stopping.

(b) No person shall move a vehicle not owned by such person into any such prohibited area or away from a curb such distance as is unlawful.

(a) All cars parked on the streets of this village shall be parked parallel, namely with the right hand side of such vehicle parallel to and within twelve (12) inches of the right hand curb.

(b) No person owning or in charge of a motor vehicle shall permit it to stand unattended without first stopping the motor, locking the ignition and removing the key, or when standing upon any perceptible grade without effectively setting the brake thereon and turning the front wheels to the curb or side of the highway.

The Village Council at its discretion may designate other stop streets and shall mark them as such, and all vehicles approaching same shall come to a full stop before entering or crossing same.

The operator of any vehicle which may be parked contrary to such established spaces or limits or no longer period than the time limit so established, shall be guilty of a violation of this ordinance.

Every commercial vehicle of one-half (½) ton capacity or more, operating upon the public highways of this city, shall be equipped with a mirror so adjusted the operator shall have a clear view of the highway behind such commercial vehicle.

(b) Head lamps and auxiliary driving lamps shall be so aimed and used upon approaching an oncoming vehicle that they do not project a glaring or dazzling light into the eyes of the approaching driver. Such lamps shall be deemed to comply with this provision prohibiting glaring or dazzling lights if substantially none of the main bright portion of the beam used in approaching an oncoming car is directed to the left of the vertical plane through the axis of the left head lamp and parallel to the longitudinal axis of the vehicle and above the horizontal plane passing through the lamp centers parallel to the level road upon which the loaded vehicle stand, and in no case higher than 42 inches, 75 feet ahead of the vehicle.

When you sit down with your family and reflect on the joys of the summer just past, take a moment to think of all the things during the past year that we have to be thankful for. Sure, maybe there HAVE been some things that could have been better for you; but the good will more than blot out the bad. Then, let's give thanks that we live in a grateful nation...one that always helps those in distress.

Right now, there are thousands of children and grownups afflicted with this terrible disease, infantile paralysis. These victims are suffering the pain of affected muscles and are fighting to get well so that they may live normal lives without twisted bodies, braces or wheelchairs.

Sister Kenny and her new concept of treatment have brought new hope to those afflicted with polio. Her record is outstanding in recoveries: over 85 per cent of all patients given her treatment at the Kenny Institute in Minneapolis have fully recovered, compared with the 15 per cent under the former orthodox treatment.

Home Building Is Made Easier Thru Bank Loans

LIBERAL CREDIT PROGRAM FOR APPROVED BUILDERS IS ANOUNCED HERE

A liberal credit program for the financing of the scores of new homes so badly needed in Tecumseh and its immediate trading area, making it possible for approved individual builders to borrow up to 90 per cent of the cost of a new house, or 80 per cent of the cost of a house already constructed, was anounced today by John R. Thompson, cashier of the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh.

Such loans to finance new home construction, or for the purchase of homes already built, will, in the future and for the most part be made by the United Savings Bank through the Federal Housing Administration, providing almost unlimited capital and resources, Mr. Thompson said. Already, he declared, several loans have been made here under the FHA plan, which permits a 20-year repayment at a low interest rate.

"By using the FHA plan our bank can act as a clearing house for these loans which are insured by Housing Administration. We have, in the past, felt that it was not within the province of our bank to make unlimited real estate loans, tying up too much of our assets. We have felt that our bank should be kept liquid, and we intend to keep it that way, and we can, by using the FHA method, and still afford the loan service that is so definitely needed in the community."

Under the FHA plan, Thompson said, a new house, costing $8,000 for example, can be built by an individual who can make a down payment of $800, if his credit report to FHA is satisfactory. The money is loaned at a 4% rate, plus a ½ per cent service charge, or a total of 4½ per cent. Up to 20 years for repayment is permitted, making it possible to reduce monthly payments to a minimum. All FHA approved homes must be constructed by an experienced builder.

In the event a purchaser desires a loan on a house that is already built, 80 per cent of the purchase price will be loaned at the same interest rate.

"We feel that there is a definite advantage to builders and buyers in the FHA plan," the banker declared. "In the first place, new construction is carefully inspected by the government during the building period. This not only is true as to quality of building materials and workmanship, it also is true as to plumbing, heating, etc. If it is an older house that is being purchased, it is carefully appraised by an experienced appraiser, further protecting the prospective buyer."

Since the sale of GI loans by banks has been halted, Thompson said that many GI's have found it difficult to build or buy new homes. Under the FHA plan, however, they may qualify for up to 90% of the cost of construction and use their "GI rights" for the other 10% of the cost. In other words, under this program it still is possible for a GI to build a new house without a down payment.

Prospective borrowers under the FHA plan should r e m e m b e r, Thompson said, that they will be carefully investigated by FHA before the loan is made. Credit statements, statements regarding employment, etc., will be demanded. The credit risk is decided upon by FHA, not the local bank, and if the risk is favorable there is little delay in obtaining the loan.

"We already have had many Tecumseh folk qualify under FHA. It is not difficult, but FHA does want to know the extent of its credit risk before the loan is insured. There are scores of prospective builders and buyers here—men who are working steadily and who have worked steadily for years—who can qualify," Thompson said. "We will be very happy to have them contact us or their builders regarding a Federal Housing loan. We will cooperate with them in every way we know, and help them to obtain a loan that they may either build or buy, if such a loan meets with the approval of the Federal Housing Administration."

Lester W. Mix Is Buried Here

FATHER OF LOCAL JEWELER DIES IN ANN ARBOR HOSPITAL FOLLOWING ILLNESS

Lester Welton Mix, aged 72 years, father of Leon R. Mix, local jeweler, died Thursday afternoon in St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor. He suffered a paralytic stroke at his cottage at Black Lake, where he was vacationing, on August 17, and failed to respond to medical treatment after his removal to the hospital.

Mr. Mix was born in Green Bay, Wis., May 30, 1875, the son of Charles E. and Clara M. Mix. In 1895 in Jackson, he married Grace M. Faling who died in 1944. He was employed by the Michigan Central Railroad in Jackson for several years and for about 15 years by the Illinois Central. In 1913 he became associated with the Ford Motor Company and for a number of years he was plant manager in Highland Park and River Rouge. In 1932 he went to France as plant manager for Ford, returning to the United States in 1942 when he retired. He had since made his home with his son here, but he traveled extensively, particularly in the West.

He is survived by three sons, Leon R., of Tecumseh, Ray E., of Wyandotte, and Robert of Corvallis, Oregon. Also, by five grandchildren, two nieces and two nephews.

Funeral services were held at the Green Fuenral Home here on Saturday at 2:30 p.m., the Rev. Allen Ramsay, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal c h u r c h, officiating. Masonic services were conducted at the grave in Brookside cemetery. The bearers were Fred Sheldon, Victor Humble, Al Hammond, Perry Satterthwaite, L. E. Brown and Clarence Beach.

Scout Cabin Is Dedicated

PARADE, CEREMONY AND MUSICAL PROGRAM MARKS SERVICE ON TUESDAY

Some 800 persons attended the dedication ceremony of the new Boy Scout cabin Tuesday evening at Elliott's park, where the cabin is located. A parade through the downtown area to the park, headed by the high school band, and including the color guard of the American Legion Post No. 34, Scouts, both boys and girls, Cubs, and the fire truck, preceded the services.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore, pastor of the Baptist church, acted as master of ceremonies. The program included an invocation by the Rev. Allan Ramsay, talks by Al Jones, executive secretary of the Wolverine Council, and Glenn McCaughey, vice president of the Wolverine Council, both of Monroe, and vocal numbers by barbershop quartets from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Adrian, Blissfield, Milan, Jackson and Tecumseh. A free-will offering amounting to $145.36 will help defray expenses of the cabin built with money earned through Scout work and funds contributed by individuals and organizations.

The Rev. Mr. Bashore voiced his apreciation to the quartets, band, Legion color guard, and to all those who have helped make the dedication possible. The cabin will be available for any and every Scouting activity, both boys and girls.

The Rotary Club, sponsor of Boy Scouting in Tecumseh, adjourned its regular dinner program on Tuesday to the cabin and attended the dedication in a body. E. M. Campbell is chairman of the Rotary's scouting committee.

Macon To Have Own Boys Town

NEW CATHOLIC INSTITUTION TO BE PATTERNED AFTER FATHER FLANNAGAN'S

Establishment of a Michigan "Boys Town" by five Roman Catholic dioceses and the Michigan Knights of Columbus at Macon on property purchased from the Ford Motor Company has been announced by Edward Cardinal Mooney and Edward J. Barrett, K. of C. state deputy. The new project calls for a school of at least 240 needy boys, to be operated on the new famous pattern of Father Flannagan's institution in Nebraska.

The site of the Macon Boys Town will be just east of that village on some 120 acres of land and will include a group of buildings used by the late Henry Ford when he operated an industrial arts school there, including the building which was used for officers. A swimming pool is located on the site.

A gymnasium is the only new building that will be built on the site at the present time, according to Monsignor Deady of Detroit, an official of the Catholic schools. Three dormitories have been obtained through the National Youth Administration of the federal government and these will be moved from Detroit to Macon, as will two cottages and a large dining hall. The larger NYA buildings will be partly dismantled to make moving possible, it was said.

"Although first plans for the project call for facilities for 240 boys, the school is expected to grow with facilities for a possible 500 or 600 boys," Msgr. Deady said.

The Macon Boys Town school will be fully accredited, emphasizing vocational training but providing academic high school subjects. It will seek to provide advantages to boys deprived of normal home life. A staff of brothers from a religious community as well as instructors from industry in the technical fields will direct the project. The circulum will also include home gardening and animal husbandry, enabling the school to raise a large portion of its own food.

Operation of the new school will not begin until 1948. It will take many months, it was pointed out, to prepare the site and the new project.

WILL FACE MURDER CHARGE HEARING IN ADRIAN COURT ON SEPTEMBER 25

Jesus Gonzales, 47, who resides five miles east and south of Tecumseh, was held in $25,000 bond for an examination on September 25 in Justice John Lowe's court, Adrian, Tuesday, following his arraignment on a charge of murder. Officers charge that Gonzales shot his wife, Lola, 50, with a 45-calibre gun following an argument outside their home between 12:30 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning. She died in Tecumseh hospital about 7:30 Sunday evening.

The murder warrant was issued by Prosecutor Rex Martin after he received reports of paraffin tests of Gonzales' hands made by technicians in the state police laboratories at Lansing. The tests revealed a large quantity of burned powder particles on the suspect's right hand, and a smaller quantity on his left hand.

Gonzales, held at the county jail, has steadfastly denied his guilt, contending that his wife shot herself with the family's revolver. Mrs. Gonzales is said to have told Trooper Kranz of the Clinton state police post, before her death, that her husband did the shooting following an argument.

An autopsy, performed by Dr. Bernard Steinberg of Toledo, on the victim's body, was completed Monday, but an official report from the doctor has not been received. The bullet struck the woman in the right side of the chest and emerged from the left side of her back.

Her body was removed to the Mott Funeral Home, Adrian.

Martha-Mary Chapel Sold To Trenton Group

Martha-Mary Chapel at Macon, built at the direction of the late Henry Ford and one of the most picturesque buildings on all of Mr. Fords rural holdings in this area, has been sold to the Episcopal parish of Trenton and will be moved to that city in the near future. The structure will be partially dismantled and then reassembled.

Sale of the church that has been the scene of many beautiful weddings and Christmas services, was announced this week at the offices of the real estate firm that is handling the sale of the Ford property in the Tecumseh district. It also announced that the Trenton group had purchased all of the church equipment and the heating plant. It will replace a church that was destroyed by fire, and may be enlarged by the addition of wings at the rear of the building. However, the general style of architecture will not be changed, it was said.

It also was anounced that William Gates, who has purchased and operates the Ford general store at Macon, also has bought the Pennington district schoolhouse at Macon. This building will be converted into an early American type residence, and occupied by Mr. Gates.

Prizes Awarded At Flower Show

LOCAL EXHIBITION DECLARED SUCCESSFUL; CHILDREN'S EXHIBITS UNUSUAL

The Flower Show, presented by the Tecumseh Garden Club Friday evening at the high school, was very successful, according to Mrs. R. S. Moore, publicity director.

During the evening program the T. P. Broadcasters, local Barbershop quartet, rendered several vocal numbers and Ruth Mae Goodacre and Joanne Lewis entertained with exhibitions of baton twirling. A pool and rock garden arrangement, which won the grand award by Mrs. Lyman Curtiss was outstanding and the 5th and 6th grade children's exhibits were exceptional. Also the men of the community were commended by the club for their fine garden displays. Mrs. C. D. Branigan donated several dozen of gladioli and each member of the club arranged a few of them. Mrs. Charles Shierson, state president of Garden Clubs, was present at the show.

State Garden club members from Detroit judged the displays early in the afternoon. Prizes of red, white, and blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Gladioli, table arrangements, 1st, Mrs. Fred Whelan, 2nd, Mary McWilliams, 3rd, Ruth Thompson; tall arrangements, 1st, Mrs. Thomas O'Hara, 2nd, Mrs. Brooks, 3rd, Mrs. C. Kenny Drive To Open Tomorrow

MILKMEN TO DELIVER "COLLARS" SEEKING FUNDS TO WAR ON INFANTILE

Tecumseh's campaign to aid the Sister Kenny Fund in its fight against infantile paralysis will get under way officially tomorrow when milkmen in this village will, with every delivery, leave bottle "collars" into which residents put their contribution to the worthy enterprise. Delivery of the "collers" will be on Friday and Saturday, depending upon which of the two days milk is delivered in certain sections of the village.

"The program of soliciting will be much the same as it was a year ago when Tecumseh gave more than $350 to Sister Kenny", Bruce W. Hoffman, chairman of the campaign, said. "It has been found that the milk bottle collar is the easiest means of solicitation, and also it gives prospective contributors an opportunity to make up their own minds just what they desire to give. The contribution is placed in the envelope on the collar and it is returned when the milkman comes by attaching the collar to an empty milk bottle."

Tecumseh's quota to the fund this year is $500 and Mr. Hoffman is hopeful that it will be met. He pointed out that the Kenny Foundation is anxious and willing to take part in meeting any emergency arising through infantile in this community. The Kenny Foundation, he said, will pay for both diagnosis in suspected infantile cases, or for hospitalization and care in positive cases.

There will be a solicitation of funds in the business area and in industry, Hoffman said, and cans have been placed in stores and offices to pick up "loose change." Other than that, and the "collar" campaign, no other drive will be made, he said.

"We believe that Tecumseh realizes the need for funds with which

Seek Secretary For New C of C

BOARD IS ORGANIZED AND BEGINS WORK; MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE NAMED

The board of directors of Tecumseh's new Chamber of Commerce, following an organization meeting on Tuesday evening, immediately set out to hire a full-time secretary of the organization, hoping that offices might be opened here by mid-October.

At the organization meeting, Earl L. Wickwire was named as president; Charles O. Butler, vice-president; Ned Rosacrans, secretary. Wade L. Jones, who was elected as temporary secretary of the organization at a mass meeting a week ago, will continue in that office until the full-time secretary is on the job.

The board pointed out that while more than $15,000 has been pledged for the operation of the Chamber there still are 50 or 60 more prospective members who have not been called upon. To complete the work of soliciting memberships, this committee, headed by Leon P. Williamson, was chosen: Paul Breitenwischer, Lester Rogers, W. H. Wehr, Yale Kerby and L. H. Titley.

"The board of directors recognizes that it faces a tremendous task in organizing the new Chamber and it feels that it must have the complete cooperation of the entire community if it is to be successful," the new president declared, following the meeting. "There is a great amount of work to be done—more than can possibly be accomplished by the nine members of the board. This means that other members will be called upon to help. We trust that when a request for assistance is made that it will be accepted cheerfully and willingly. After all, this board is interested in only one thing: the betterment of the community for all, and everybody should be interested in such a program.

Members of the board of directors other than the officers are: W. J. Bruce, R. H. Moore, Fay Whelan, Ellsworth Collins, and Clarence Gilman. Officers elected at Tuesdays meeting are for one year terms.

Opening Grid Game, Friday

INDIANS TO MEET MILAN, THERE; HUDSON TO PLAY HERE NEXT WEEK FRIDAY

The Tecumseh High School Indians will open the 1947 football season tomorrow afternoon at Milan when they meet the eleven from that school on the gridiron there at 3:30. The following Friday, September 26, will see the Indians at work on their own rectangle at Recreation Center, playing the Hudson high team under the lights at 8 p.m.

Although the '47 Indian squad has not yet met the test of the game, scouters say that anything may happen when they meet Milan, tomorrow afternoon. Milan is given an edge over Tecumseh as a favorite, but warn that there may be an upset. Coach Myles Runk put the squad through a final practice session last night, but he would not forecast the outcome of tomorrow's battle.

Sept. 26, Hudson, here.
Oct. 3, open
Oct. 10, Clinton, here.
Oct. 17, Carlton, here.
Oct. 24, Michigan Center, here.
Oct. 31, Morenci, there.
Nov. 7, Blissfield, there.

All home games will be played under the lights at Recreation Center at 8 p.m.

LIVES VS. MINUTES

Why, ask those who are shocked by our annual traffic death rate, do motorists weave in and out of traffic lanes? Why do they blast their horns when another auto fails to get away fast when the stop light changes to green? Why do drivers stopping at intersections ease their vehicles over the crosswalks, thus blocking pedestrian lanes?

The answer is no less shameful than it is simple. The motorist just wants to get someplace in a hurry. He is maddened by the potentialities of speed in the powerful machine he drives, he is intoxicated with the idea that this modern age demands haste at all times.

He wants to get someplace in just a little less time than he got there the last time so he can prate and boast of his prowess as a mad-cap Barney Oldfield. It makes good conversation. But so do funerals. And the average modern driver is contributing equally to both subjects of conversation.

Traffic engineers who design our streets and highways have done everything in their power to minimize the danger of driving. Enforcement officials are likewise improving and standardizing regulations to take the bugs out of traffic hazards. They are engaged in a life and death race with increasing auto production. One major fault in our modern life deters them. That fault is the irresponsible attitude of the man behind the wheel.

All the education, enforcement and engineering we can muster will be of little avail if the individual driver persists in the attitude that the spectre of accidents will not touch him and he can indulge in excessive speed and reckless driving. In the final analysis, each individual must do his or her part if we are to save the lives of our friends, our families, or ourselves.

China's Version of Traffic Boosts Back-Seat Driving

Back-seat driving is among the "reforms advocated by the Shanghai Health Precautionary association, according to a report from the California division of highways and public works. The division quotes the following "action program," but details are lacking on the American "quoted plan":

"All motor cars have rubber-tired wheels and run without noise. It is too late to blow a horn when a car has already collided with a pedestrian. A car should have a very small bell attached to one of the front wheels and this bell should be kept ringing all the time so that when pedestrians hear it they can get out of the way.

"There should be one licensed chauffeur and an assistant to take care of each motor car. The assistant should sit behind and keep a lookout when the car turns around, goes backward, enters or leaves the garage. The owner of the car will not mind spending a little money in employing an assistant chauffeur.

"After a person is killed by a motor car, a wax image of the decedent should be made and placed in a room. Any chauffeur who causes injuries to others should be locked up in the room so he will see the image and feel sorry. This may cause him to repent. This has been introduced in America and has produced successful results."

Treatment Is Advocated To Avert Thyroid Crisis

Patients with a serious and sometimes fatal condition resulting from overactivity of the thyroid gland, called "thyroid storm," should receive individualized treatment directed toward correction of all recognizable abnormalities.

In a report to American Medical association, Drs. Janet W. McArthur, Rulon W. Rawson, J. H. Means and Oliver Cope, Massachusetts General hospital, state that of 2,033 patients with a poisonous thyroid, 36 had experienced a thyroid storm.

The doctors state that their conception of storm is essentially that it represents the inability of the patient any longer to adjust to the strain imposed by overactivity of the thyroid gland.

Thyroid crisis occurs in patients with severe, poisonous thyroids who are undernourished and suffer from serious complicating diseases and in whom medical treatment has been unsatisfactory. The occurrence of crisis can be reduced by not operating on such patients until normal thyroid function has been restored in the patient with antithyroid drugs such as thiouracil.

Patents Are Not Secret

Thomas A. Edison once testified that he had never known of a suppressed patent. There is no such thing as a "secret" patent—claims to the contrary notwithstanding. Patents are granted as an incentive to invention and the public disclosure of new inventions. The very word "patent" means "open," "disclosed." When an inventor is granted a patent he discloses his idea and an "open" record is made in the patent office, copies of which are available to anyone for 25 cents. "Suppression" of inventions under these conditions is unnecessary and profitable. The very fact that details and drawings of all patents are available to the public adds to man's knowledge of science and the useful arts. They spur others to create—and to patent—something better. The exclusive right to use of an invention, granted by a patent, is short-lived. The creator endeavors to have his invention marketed as soon as conditions permit. Otherwise, the idea already having been revealed, someone may improve upon it—"build a better mousetrap."

Milady's Favorite Furs

Muskrat, Persian lamb and mouton were milady's favorite furs in the United States during 1946, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica. These favored furs were followed by mink, beaver, nutria and Indian lamb in the United States trade, but the long-haired furs were neglected. Rabbit consumption declined, being adversely affected by the strongly promoted mouton or processed lamb. During the first 10 months of last year, the government collected more than 68 million dollars in fur taxes. Incidentally, the popular Persian lambs did come from Persia. Persian lamb imports totaled five million skins—from Afghanistan, South West Africa and the U. S. S. R.

Infantile Paralysis Rare

Infantile paralysis, often called polio, attacks few people; 20 cases per 100,000 population usually is considered an epidemic. Half of those who get the disease recover without crippling. Another fourth with good care recover with little permanent crippling. Deformities may be prevented and crippling lessened by prompt, complete and sometimes prolonged medical care. Call your doctor immediately if any of these symptoms appear: Headache, nausea, a cold, upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, unexplained fever. Infantile paralysis starts in many different ways, most of them just like a lot of other childhood diseases. Be on the safe side.

with a lot more shortening

JANE PARKER BREAD . . . so good you might have baked it yourself

Why can't the bread you buy be just as good as the mouth-watering loaves that Grandmother used to bake? It can. We put all the skill and talent of A&P's master pastry chefs to work. The result? Jane Parker Bread—a brilliant addition to A&P's popular Jane Parker family of luscious bakery treats. To achieve this wonderful new loaf, we added more sugar to make the flavor rich, yet delicate. We were extra-generous with the milk—the more milk the more food value, you know. We used more shortening to give you bread that tastes better — stays fresh longer, too.

Yes, you'll love the fresh, delicious flavor of Jane Parker Bread. Every slice will be sheer delight! That's because Jane Parker Bread is so fresh—rushed straight from the ovens to your A&P. Every loaf is guaranteed fresh daily by the freshness date on the wrapper. That's important . . . for when freshness fades, flavor fades. Try a loaf today! All A&P stores have it.

It is the first such device which can type all known Chinese words, and it can print 90,000 Chinese characters. Called the Mingkwai (clear and quick) typewriter, it enables a typist to do in an hour as much work as a Chinese copyist could do in a day.

possible a foolproof highway. We can make it easier for him to drive safely by giving him sound and uniform traffic laws and regulations. We can do much by vigorous, intelligent and even-handed enforcement. But we must still rely to a large extent on an intensive campaign of gradual education. The Action Program of the President's Conference embodies such a campaign, and with persistent cooperation on the part of all interested in carrying out the Program, marked improvement must inevitably come.

Safety Signals Mean Little If They're Ignored

MOTORISTS' FAIL TO HEED WARNINGS BLAMED FOR MANY ACCIDENTS

By Earl O. Shreve
President, Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Why do so many of us as motorists weave in and out of heavy traffic and dash through intersections at the last split second before the light changes, when comparative tests show that in ten miles of such driving we may save perhaps four minutes over the man who drives sanely and legally? Why do we blow our horns raucously at the driver ahead who fails to get under way the instant the "Go" signal comes on, or at the gentle old lady who becomes confused trying to cross the street?

Why, in fact, do we show so little concern for the welfare of human beings on foot that we stop squarely on the crosswalk, despite a broad white line for which as taxpayers we have helped pay, or barge around a corner and put it up to anybody in our path to jump or else? Why do we park double in a narrow, crowded street, a few hours or minutes after we have mentally belabored the inconsiderate individual who blocked us off by parking double in a narrow crowded street?

It must be because this great Twentieth Century boon, the motor vehicle, has come upon us faster than we could adapt ourselves to it. Because it has given us a sense of power that has somewhat intoxicated us. Because, with the thrill of going fifty miles while our grandfathers were going ten, we still want to go farther and faster. Because we did not at the start foresee the coming avalanche of motor vehicles and insist from the beginning that each of us must qualify fully before being given the privilege — never a right — to operate a powerful and potentially dangerous machine on our streets and highways.

In the fifty years since the first horseless carriage appeared, engineers have revolutionized highway construction. The multiple-lane divided highway is a far cry from the old dirt road. The highly signalized street intersection has been developed from scratch in the last half of those fifty years, as has virtually all of the mechanics of traffic control. Many further advances in both highway construction and traffic control are inevitable. Likewise, the automobile and motor truck bear little resemblance to the early models. Our traffic laws are much more scientific, more fair and more nearly uniform. Our enforcement techniques are better. We have many organized educational activities.

But our accidents continue — far fewer, unquestionably, than if none of these improvements had taken place — but distressingly and intolerably numerous, nevertheless. Why? Because we have to overcome a 50-year way of thinking. Because the many and varied efforts that have been made to instill in every driver a keen understanding of his part in making the streets and highways safe have evidently not made any appreciable impression on a large segment of the driving public. In short, far too many drivers lack the proper attitude as to their part in the picture.

We must assume that many who drive motor vehicles have never read of the President's Highway Safety Conference, or of the standards Conference is promoting.

We must assume that too many who have heard of these standards, who have passed examinations without difficulty and qualified for driver licenses, are woefully lacking in the sense of responsibility that should go with the license. We have to admit that more than a few who would be shocked by a suggesion that we add to the hazards of the highway are willing to take chances that invite accidents.

Our biggest task, therefore, is to reach the individual driver. We can reduce the likelihood of accidents by giving him as nearly as Speeding through an intersection stop sign, one of these drivers collided with another car. The force of the crash entangled the two cars and they skidded together across the intersection and slammed into a stone wall. Both drivers and a passenger were killed, two were seriously injured. National Conservation Bureau reports that disregard of traffic control devices ranks third as a cause of death in motor vehicle accidents.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Presbyterian church, Miss Phyllis Jean Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Kelley, became the bride of Ogland O. Lay, jr., son of Mr and Mrs. O. O. Lay, sr., of Kenton, Ohio, during an impressive double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. D. C. Wilson, pastor of the church before an altar banked with white gladioli.

Miss Marilyn Weseloh played a program of nuptial music as the ushers, John C. Truesdale, jr., and Jerome DeFour seated the guests. Thomas Shulters assisted as best man.

The bride, with her father, who gave her in marriage, entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. She was lovely in a white suit of lightweight wool and a hat of flowers lined with blue veiling. The bride carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli centered with a red orchid. Mrs. Thomas Shulters of Lyons, O., was her sister's only attendant. She wore a suit of brown gabardine with honey brown accessories, and carried a bouquet of peach gladioli and Talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors with Miss Irene Pieplow of Adrian and Mrs. Roland Goltz of Saline serving the 75 guests. The linen covered table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake.

The bride, a Tecumseh high school graduate of 1946, until recently was employed in the offices of the Gerity-Michigan Diecasting Co., in Adrian. The bridegroom graduated from Kenton high school in 1941, attended Berrin Springs University and graduated from the California College of Medical Technology in San Gabriel, Calif. Serving 26 months in the army, he is now employed as a registered technologist at the Tecumseh Hospital. The couple left on a two weeks' trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and Ohio.

After November 1st they will reside in their new home now being completed on Brown Street. Guests attended from Kenton, Lyons, and Toledo, Ohio, Belleville, Monroe, Adrian, Sand Creek, Clinton, Saline Detroit and Tecumseh.

Kenny Drive To Open Tomorrow

to fight polio, and also that the community believes in the Kenny Fund. We also believe that the community will give generously," Hoffman said.

Within the year, Michigan will have its own Sister Kenny Institute, it was announced today by William G. Baxter of Detroit, executive administrator for the Kenny Foundation, who has just returned from Minneapolis after a conference with Sister Elizabeth Kenny and officers of the Institute's board.

The proposed Michigan institute will be staffed by fully-trained Kenny personnel and will offer all the therapeutic treatments now being given polio victims at the home institute, Baxter said.

Of further import is the statement that, with the exception of some 10 to 15% to be budgeted to the Minneapolis Institute for expansion and maintenance, all moneys collected in Michigan during the current drive will remain within the state rather than just the 50% allocated in the two previous drives, Baxter stated. This, he added, will make the third annual appeal of the Foundation fully a Michigan activity.

New Type Of Bread Offered Here By A & P

A new type bread which requires the use of increased amounts of milk, sugar, and shortening in its manufacture was introduced here today by A & P food stores.

This new white loaf, named "Jane Parker", is designed to meet "consumer demands for a loaf with improved taste, texture, and nutritional qualities", according to a statement by R. R. Betz, A & P vice president, of Toledo.

"Our experience as bread manufacturers and distributors has convinced us that there has been a long unsatisfied desire on the part of many consumers for a better loaf of bread than that produced as standard by the bakery industry," Betz said. "A recipe worked out by our pastry chefs calls for a sugar, milk, and shortening content considerably above that of the standard loaf, but we believe that its flavor and texture plus the fact that it will stay fresh long will more than justify its increased cost."

Betz revealed that this innovation in the company's bakery operation was initiated by the chain's National Bakery Division in New York, but that the Ohio-Indiana-Michigan area supplied from the company's Toledo bakery has been selected as the first "testing ground" of consumer acceptance.

In order to place this bread in stores at its peak of quality, the company has revamped its entire bread distribution system in this area, Betz said. Additional trucks and revised routes will shorten the time of delivery by six hours or more to all stores, he added.

The company's standard "Marvel" loaf will remain on sale for "the thousands of customers who have expressed a preference for it through the years", Betz said adding, however, that the company is placing a strong advertising and merchandising campaign behind the new product.

The new delivery schedules will apply to all the company's bakery products in this area, it was announced, and "should result in added quality in every item."

Howdy Folks:

Life is just one fool thing after another. But love is two fool things after each other.

As he wrote his name in the hotel register, a traveler spied a bed bug. "I've been bit by spiders in Mariaville and by fleas in Danburg but I'll be darned if I've ever been in a place where the bedbugs looked at the guest register to find out where your room was."

COMMUNICATIONS

To The Editor of The Herald:

Why should Tecumseh pay a dog tax?

The purpose of the dog tax, as is generally understood, is to control the stray dog nuisance. Modern communities accept the fact that when anyone is willing to pay a license for a dog, he is interested enough to train the dog so he will not become a public nuisance. Modern communities also have dog wardens whose duty it is to gather in all unlicensed dogs. Here in Tecumseh our police receive a call to pick up all dogs running loose, licensed or unlicensed. Sunday morning one of many licensed dogs was picked up on West Chicago Blvd. That dog has been running loose for several years, has never harmed a soul, and has never been a nuisance. He has been a companion of and loved by all the children and their parents in the neighborhood. It is a proven fact that dogs kept on a leash become troublesome. Though situations may arise in a community where dogs should be kept under leash for a short period of time, these situations are not common.

In what way are Tecumseh dogs different than dogs of other modern communities? Why shouldn't the children of Tecumseh have just as much right to enjoy the companionship and develop in knowledge and care of dumb animals like children of other modern communities? What man, loving freedom, would fail to raise his voice for the freedom of his dog?

The Only Responsibility

MANY people seem burdened with a sense of personal responsibility. They would gladly lay down this burden, but they do not know how. Through the years responsibilities have accumulated, people have depended on them for support and care, until they feel oppressed by a crushing sense of what appears to be inescapable bondage.

How easily does one become obsessed with the thought of his personal indispensability! How readily we believe that without us things would just not work out! Are not beliefs such as these stumbling blocks in our progress Spiritward? Do they not shut out the light of God's presence and close the door to the recognition of His innumerable ways of bringing help, comfort, harmony, health, supply, and peace to all?

There is a line of distinction between the fulfillment of our duty in serving mankind and our false sense of bondage to what we regard as duty. . . .

But, one may say, I am needed in my home or business. Certain things have to be done and without me everything would be neglected! It is true that we have our tasks to perform, that we should be in our right place, fulfill our duties, and see that the work goes on. It is not true, however, that without us things would not work out. How do we know but what this false sense of responsibility, or personal indispensability, may have loomed so large in our thought it has hidden from view those whose services would lighten our burdens?

There are no fettering limitations in God's infinite plan for man. His alone is the Mind which acts and accomplishes. In her sermon "Christian Healing," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes (p. 4): "The infinite can neither go forth from, return to, nor remain for a moment within limits. We must give freer breath to thought before calculating the results of an infinite Principle,—the effects of infinite Love, the compass of infinite Life, the power of infinite Truth. Clothing Deity with personality, we limit the action of God to the finite senses."

Indispensability is certainly a factor in our daily tasks, but it is not the indispensability of our own material personality. Rather is it the indispensability of spiritual qualities such as humility, faithfulness, trustworthiness, selflessness, God-reliance. Our willingness to acknowledge God as the only Mind, the only intelligence, the only presence, is indispensable. The surrender of all our preconceived convictions of personal importance is indispensable. Then the shadows cast by the sense of corporeality are dispelled and the self-made prison walls of limitation vanish. . . .

The limitations of a corporeal selfhood can never successfully deal with the main problems of society. To undertake the tasks of adjustment, of direction, of service, or of any responsible post from the basis of one's own power of accomplishment is to invite failure. The most brilliant personality, humanly speaking, can never bear the world's burdens alone. The wise worker does not accumulate work to himself. He relies on God, waits on Him, and through selfless spiritual discernment recognizes the helpers He sends. Unburdened by the pressure of unfinished work, or a sense of his own indispensability he finds his tasks lighter, his burdens less. . . . — The Christian Science Monitor.

AIRBORNE . . . This is not a picture of a man taking pre-flight training. Ray Apolskis, member of the Chicago Cardinals professional football team, is working out at Waukesha, Wis., to get in shape for the grueling, bone-bruising season ahead.

"So you attend Sunday school regularly?" the minister said to little Eve.

"Oh, yes, sir."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Yes, I'm Guilty!

Folks sometimes criticize us small-town editors for the way we often play up "little things" ahead of big . . . human, local news in place of world events.

I can't deny it. Read the Clarion and you'll learn about the Martins' golden wedding anniversary . . . about the community sing down by the river . . . the husking bee at Sober Hoskins', where neighbors helped husk the corn, and later drank sparkling beer together.

"Little things?" Maybe. But from where I sit, they add up to the bigger things we call America: The friendliness of small towns . . . the helping hand . . . the respect for one another's rights. And above all the love of fellowship and freedom — whether it's freedom to speak one's mind or choose between a glass of beer or buttermilk.

I figure that if everybody looks after the "little things," maybe the bigger things will take care of themselves.

Lost — 3,500 Children! And They're All Dead

Sounds like a lot of kids, doesn't it. And all of them under 14, too — real lively youngsters. More than you'd care to cope with? Well, you won't have to; they're all dead. Not in a Nazi concentration camp — here at home, on American streets and highways, in the year 1946.

Wherever there may be children playing in or near the roadway, motorists must be prepared to stop instantly, and this means a very, very low driving speed. Children are unpredictable, and a preoccupied youngster who seems to be going safely about his business one moment, may, in the next, run directly in front of your car.

School zones are special danger spots. It is no coincidence that during the months when schools are in session, pedestrian deaths double between three and five o'clock in the afternoon.

BEWARE THE BLIND SPOT!

Oncoming bright headlights can momentarily blind the best of drivers. It requires seven seconds after passing glaring lights for your eyes to dilate again to the darkened road. Even in this brief space of time you may not see the dim figure in the road ahead of you until it is too late.

It's the early hours of darkness, especially in the Fall and Winter when traffic is still heavy, that produce the heaviest fatalities in driver-pedestrian accidents. The three hours after sunset are three times more dangerous than daylight hours.

A safe driver reduces his average speed at night. He looks away from glaring lights, watching the edge of the road on his side. He never "overdrives" his lights and can stop at any time within his headlight range. He is especially careful at intersections and is on the watch for unlighted vehicles, and motorists changing tires at the side of the road.

Pneumonia Immunization Cuts Death of Oldsters

A group of New York investigators, reporting to American Medical association after a six year study of pneumonia in elderly patients, suggests immunization against the disease where high incidence rates prevail, as in epidemics, in institutions and in persons with a tendency to recurring pneumonia.

The study was undertaken in the older age group for the following reasons: First, they have a high incidence of pneumonia, mortality and case fatality rate. Second, repeated attacks of pneumonia occur frequently. Third, there was possibility for continuous observation, hospitalization and reexamination, since the patients were from the New York City home and the medical division of the former Central and Neurological hospital and the Goldwater Memorial hospital, where higher age groups are treated.

During the six year study, 1937 to 1943, 5,750 patients were immunized against pneumonia while 5,153 control patients were observed for comparison. Among the immunized group 99 developed pneumonia, an incidence rate of 17.2 per 1,000, of which 40 died, a mortality rate of 6.2 per 1,000. There were 227 cases of pneumonia among the non-immunized patients, an incidence rate of 44 per 1,000, with 98 deaths, a mortality rate of 19 per 1,000.

Several Chemicals Listed To Guard Against Mildew

It is now possible to prevent mildew and mold by the proper application of any one of several chemicals recommended by the U. S. department of commerce to protect household draperies, curtains, awnings and other material.

The report also covers methods of preventing tropical deterioration of plastics, optical instruments, photographic supplies and electrical equipment.

The report, available from the office of technical services, department of commerce, includes the results of studies made for the war department, the office of scientific research and development and the national bureau of standards.

Numerous chemicals were found to be effective in preventing deterioration of textiles over a wide range of tropical conditions. They include copper 8-hydroxy quinoline, pyridyl mercuric stearate and chloride, copper naphthenate and copper ammonium fluoride.

Experiments with over 15,000 samples of textiles and other materials were conducted at a test station in the Canal Zone. More than 4,500 living fungus cultures and 1,100 bacteria samples were assembled for the tests.

Sugarcane Gives Up Wax

Recovering the valuable hard wax that forms a thin coating on growing sugarcane has been made possible by findings of department of agriculture scientists. In general, sugarcane wax resembles carnauba wax, the basic ingredient of high-grade wax polishes, which for years has been an important import item and was in special demand during the war. In 1943, ports of less than 17 million pounds were valued at nearly eight million dollars. Carnauba wax is painstakingly removed from the fresh young leaves of a Brazilian palm by drying the leaves and then beating them together. Existence of the wax on the sugarcane has been known for many years, but a ton of cane bears only two or three pounds of wax, making recovery of the wax too expensive until the new formula was developed.

Rubber Cement Paint

One of the newer developments in the paint line is rubber base cement paint. Makers of this type of paint especially recommend it for painting basement and garage floors and state that it is highly resistant, not only to dampness, but also to grease, alcohol and some acids. New concrete should be allowed to dry thoroughly—as much as two or three months—before painting it with this type of paint. If the floor has been previously painted, the old paint should be removed with a prepared paint remover, and then thoroughly rinsed so that no trace of the paint remover remains. Then, when the floor is thoroughly dry, two coats of the rubber base cement paint should be applied, taking care that the first coat is thoroughly dry before the second coat is put on.

Who Was Paul Bunyan?

Paul Bunyan is one of the few mythological figures of American folklore. He was created in the tall tales told around the camp fires in the early logging camps. Many books have been written about his exploits in which he is depicted as a giant lumberjack capable of performing herculean feats. For instance, it is said that he is capable of cutting down a whole forest with one swing of his mighty ax. In company with Babe, his great blue ox, he roams the forests, performing prodigious deeds and winning for himself an unchallenged position as a hero of American legend. In the pioneer days when the country was young it needed space to grow and wood with which to build, and Paul was simply a fabulous woodchopper.

Electricity from Tide

French planners are afraid that present hydroelectric projects will not be sufficient for the future needs of France to produce enough electrical energy to meet needs by 1952. Plans now are being made to harness the tide of the Rance river on the French channel coast. Under the plan, 18 generators, each producing 20,000 kilowatt hours, would derive energy from a central drainage cycle. Estimated costs of the projects, which would take about nine years to complete are about 85 million dollars, or about 55 per cent greater per kilowatt hour than that of ordinary hitter projects.

Damage Heavy In Wind Storm

ADRIAN HARDEST HIT BY SUNDAY HURRICANE; 28 BOATS UPSET AT DEVILS

The City of Adrian bore the brunt of the hurricane-like storm that swept sections of Lenawee couny and southern and central Michigan Sunday afternoon doing damage estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Tecumseh escaped the heavy gale but came in for the heavy downpour of rain that followed.

The storm broke in Adrian at 3:10 in the afternoon. Observers said that it was neither a cyclone or a hurricane, just a near one. It rode in from the west and lasted for about 10 minutes. Trees were uprooted on dozens of streets, telephone and utility wires were snapped and several houses were damaged by falling trees and branches. Scores of houses in Adrian were without lights or telephones for nearly a day and street lights, except in the downtown district, were dark. It was said that it will take the city at least a week to clear away the debris, and utility companies saw several weeks of work ahead of them.

Twenty-eight of the 31 sail boats in the Devils Lake Yacht Club regatta were capsized when the storm struck in the area. The blow there lasted about a minute and a half and in that time the 79 skippers and crewmen in the boats were spilled into the lake. Miraculously however, all were rescued but it required an hour and a half before the last victim was safe on shore.

Tecumseh was not nearly as hard hit by the storm as was Adrian but there was considerable damage here, particularly to lines of utility companies.

S. Henry Smith, manager of Consumers Power Co., said that the storm hit hardest in the southeast section of the village. All street lights were out here until 2:30 a.m., Monday, despite the fact that some 20 men were dispatched by the company from Owosso, Lansing and Jackson to give assistance.

Consumers lines were down to Tipton, Britton and Ridgeway and rural lines in many other areas were snapped by the storm. In the Holloway area, practically all lines were down, a total of probably 40 or 50 miles in all. Poles were snapped by the wind in some sections like toothpicks, and others fell under the weight of trees and branches.

Consumers employees in the Tecumseh district worked all night and into Monday before main trunk lines were restored. Practically all of the line damage had been repaired by 9:30 on Tuesday.

"In this area the worst part of the storm was just south of the village," Mr. Smith said. "If the storm had hit Tecumseh in the center of the village, probably a greater part of the town would have been without electrical service for a considerable time.

"I hope this is the last storm of this season," Mr. Smith said. "It seems as though we have had more wind and electrical storms this summer than we have had in many years. We do everything in our power to give continuous service, but it must be remembered that we cannot control the elements".

Telephone companies also reported damage similar to Consumers. Linemen worked long and diligently making repairs, and toll lines were down to outlying points, causing many delays in long distance service.

Although Tecumseh escaped the severe windstorm, it did come in for its share of the heavy rainfall that followed. The wind started to blow here at about the same time that it did in Adrian but with less intensity. The sky was dark and the temperature dropped from 87 to 52 degrees in about 30 minutes. Then came the downpour of rain that lasted for more than an hour.

In the Battle Creek-Benton Harbor-Kalamazoo area — the fruit belt — the storm also did severe damage to the apple and peach crop. The gale was blowing at 60 miles an hour in that vicinity.

First Frost Of Season Does Little Damage

The temperature dropped to 33 degrees here Monday night bringing the first frost of the season, but little damage was done to fruit and garden crops, according to the county agricultural offices.

While it is possible that corn, on the lowland, was nipped it was said that peaches, tomatoes, celery, cabbage and other garden crops escaped damage.

The temperature drop caused residents to shiver because of its suddenness. Sunday at 2 p.m., thermometers registered in the 80's. The mercury tumbled 30 degrees in 30 minutes when the near-hurricane struck this area, followed by heavy rain, at 3:10 p.m., Sunday.

Weathermen said that while southern Michigan would experience some additional "summer" weather — probably Indian summer —it should be remembered that autumn arrived at 4:59 Tuesday afternoon, and that winter was just around the corner.

Chamber Seeks New Secretary

BOARD HOLDS MEETING WITH LANSING SECRETARY; CONFER WITH CHICAGO

The board of directors of Tecumseh's new Chamber of Commerce began its search for a full-time secretary with a dinner-meeting at Brees House, Monday evening, attended by C. W. Otto, secretary of the Lansing Chamber, and Ernest McKim, a member of the Lansing board.

Selection of a secretary with previous experience may take two to three weeks, the board was advised by Mr. Otto, one of Michigan's deans of secretaries. Wita Mr. Otto and Mr. McKim the board discussed possible selections and also laid out a tentative program to be followed after the new secretary is on the job.

Wednesday, Wade L. Jones, temporary secretary of the board, contacted Spencer Shaw of Chicago, regional secretary of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Shaw pledged his full co-operation to the task of choosing a man for the vacancy here, and in all probability will meet with a committee from the board within the next ten days or two weeks. The local Chamber plans to affiliate immediately with the United States Chamber.

Leon Williamson, who is chairman of the board's membership committee, reported that there are yet about 100 potential members to be contacted. Mr. Williamson heads a committee of seven who will solicit individuals and firms not yet called on by previous committees.

"It should constantly be kept in mind that a Chamber of Commerce, to function properly, is for everybody, not a few," Mr. Otto told the board. "It also should be remembered that nothing can be taken out of a Chamber unless something is put into it. I do not refer alone to money, I mean energy and time, as well. To give only money, and then consider that one's task is done is not enough. But, by working together, and thinking together for community betterment can achieve a goal."

State's New Strike, Picketing Law Watched With Interest By Public

By Gene Alleman
(Special To The Herald)

Lansing—Two weeks from this coming Saturday (September 27,) Michigan's new labor law will go into effect.

All labor unions and all employees will be affected, as the law imposes new obligations with respect to strikes and picketing. It seeks to prevent industrial strife by requiring the use of mediation. Strikes may be called only after the state conducts an election of employees. A strike is legal only if it is authorized by a majority of the employees involved, not a majority of those voting.

Furthermore, the new law seeks to outlaw strikes of employees of public government, public utilities and hospitals, and to settle such disputes by arbitration.

Here's how the new law will work beginning October 11.

Suppose the workers of the Smithville Manufacturing Company, a ficticious firm as far as we know, have a dispute with their employer. The workers, or their bargaining representative, file a notice of intent to strike with the state labor mediation board at Lansing.

The state board sends a mediator to Smithville. He tries to settle the dispute by getting both sides together.

If these negotiations fail, the state board is required by law to conduct a special election to determine whether a majority of the workers of this firm favor the proposed work stoppage.

The most recent offer of management must be printed on the strike ballot. Cost of the election — printed ballots, etc. — is to be paid by the two disputing parties, employees and the management, either equally or upon some other basis agreed upon. The State of Michigan does not foot the bill.

Suppose two unions are in a row over who has the right to represent the workers. Such a dispute also goes to mediation. If mediation fails, then a special election must be called by the state board. Expense of this election is to be borne by the two disputing unions.

Only until the unions' dispute is settled by the workers, can a legal strike be called.

Contrary to popular belief, Michigan has not had an effective picketing law up to now.

Effective October 11, it is to have one. The law makes it unlawful for anyone to "hinder or prevent by mass picketing, threats, intimidation, force or coercion of any kind, the pursuit of any lawful work or employment." That's a mouthful.

Also: The law makes it unlawful for anyone to "obstruct or interfere with free and uninterrupted use of public roads, streets, highways, railways, airports or other ways of travel or conveyance."

Enforcement of the law is up to all enforcement agencies in the following order: City police, county sheriff's department, Michigan State Police, Michigan National Guard and United States Army. State Police or the National Guard intervene only by order of the Governor upon receipt of an appeal from a mayor or sheriff. The U. S. Army intervenes only upon order of the President upon receipt of an appeal from the Governor.

The new law is the result of a public's protest against industrial strikes that affect the general public welfare. It will be interesting to see whether the law succeeds in its purpose.

FIRST HOME GRID GAME HERE FRIDAY; MILAN VICTORIOUS LAST WEEK

Coach Myles Runk's Tecumseh pigskin toters opened their 1947 football season last Friday afternoon at Milan and were on the short end of a 27-2 final score. Only three vets from last year's team, Parkey, Tilton, and Corkery, started in the opening lineup. Milan's team this year is composed of several of last year's stars including Al Bassett and Al Benjamin, who proved to be outstanding performers in the game against Tecumseh. From the locals point of view much work will have to be done to overcome the inexperience that the boys have this year to make them into a winning aggregation. Bill Tilton and Bill Brown in the line and Melvy Murphy and Dick Colson in the backfield were the shining lights as far as Tecumseh was concerned. Milan scores were the result of faulty pass defense which set up opportunities for scores. Tecumseh's lone score came as a result of a safety when the Milan fullback, Benjamin, was trapped behind the goal by a host of Tecumseh linemen.

Tomorrow night Runk's proteges open their home season in the L. C. A. A. conference against the Hudson Tigers at the Recreation Center with the kick-off at 8 o'clock. According to pre-season dope, Hudson has considerable power this year and the Indians, no doubt, will have their hands full in taking the Tigers into camp. This game should go a long way in determining who the Lenawee county champs will be this season. Football fans certainly will have the opportunity for having a very pleasant evening if they will attend this contest. It should be a knockdown, drag-out affair.

Milan	Tecumseh
R. E. Dunsmore	R. E. Gillen
R. T. Hicks	R. T. Tilton
R. G. Lafaut	R. G. VanCamp
C. Love	C. D. Murphy
L. G. Opp	L. G. Underwood
L. T. Bousman	L. T. Whelan
L. E. Collins	L. E. Purkey
Q. B. Bassett	Q. B. Martin
R. H. Holmes	R. H. Corkery
L. H. Benjamin	L. H. M. Murphy
F. B. Benjamin	F. B. Colson

Score by quarters:

Milan	6	7	0	14

PRICE "MIRRORS"

Today we hear a lot about the need for price reductions. Everybody wants reductions and some folk feel that it is up to the retailer to put them into effect. However, its not as simple as that.

Nation-wide, retailers have for a long time felt that prices were too high — and they keep on going higher. Retailers know trends better than manufacturers because they are nearer to customers. But the retailer knows, too, that costs of doing business — clerk hire, general overhead, taxes, etc., — also are increasing. It's all one big headache.

If customers would stop to analyze the merchant's position for a moment he would know that there is little that he can do to hold down prices. If he is to have on his shelves the things that his customers need and want he, too, must buy them — and pay the price at wholesale. The merchant, also, has a heavily increased overhead, in the form of higher wages, rents, supplies and everything else. He must earn some kind of a profit or go broke. Today, the average retailer is depending upon small unit profits and volume of sales.

Retailers will reduce prices if—and when—wholesale prices and the unavoidable costs of running a store come down. Competition, which grows stronger every day as more and more goods are produced and the "easy money" dwindles, will take care of that.

The price tags on the goods you buy today are like a mirror. They reflect, honestly, today's conditions. The storekeeper, whether he be in Tecumseh or New York, is not a magician. He can't cut his prices until wholesale prices and cost of operation are cut.

How soon that cut will come nobody knows.

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

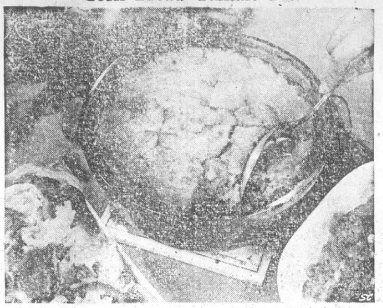
Corn Bread Tamale Pie



A hearty casserole dish, a crisp green salad, and a lush dessert, such is the homemaker's dream of a menu to fit all occasions.

Among the many possible casserole combinations is a Corn Bread Tamale Pie that everyone will love. A highly seasoned mixture of ground beef, tomatoes and corn, its crowning glory is the tender, fluffy, golden brown topping of good corn bread.

Just imagine that you have a casserole before you, pick up the serving spoon, cut through the delicately browned corn bread and scoop down into the juicy, spicy meat mixture. The aroma is so appetizing you can't wait even a minute for the first taste.

Corn Bread Tamale Pie
Makes 6 servings

1 pound ground beef
1 large onion, chopped
1 can tomato soup
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon chili powder
1 cup whole kernel corn (drained)
½ cup chopped green pepper

Corn Bread Topping

¾ cup corn meal
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 beaten egg
1/3 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted fat

1. Brown ground beef and onion in skillet.
2. Add tomato soup, water, seasonings, corn and green pepper; simmer for 15 minutes.
3. For topping, sift together dry ingredients. Add beaten egg and milk, stirring lightly until combined. Fold in melted fat.
4. Place meat mixture in greased baking dish (2 qt. size), cover with corn bread topping. Don't be surprised when the topping disappears into the meat mixture, for it will rise during baking and form a good layer of corn bread.
5. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 20 to 25 minutes until corn bread is brown.

Miss Elva Dickinson Bride of C. W. Allen

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, Miss Elva Mae Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Dickinson, and Alfred William Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Allen, all of Tecumseh, spoke their nuptial vows before the altar decorated with arrangements of palms, candelabra, and hampers of peach and white gladioli. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Donald C. Wilson.

Mrs. F. C. Dickinson played a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Walter P. Lang of Monroe, and F. C. Dickinson, when they sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white moire bengaline gown with long fitted sleeves. Self covered buttons trimmed the sheer yoke, which was outlined by a decollette of the same material as the gown. The hooped skirt extended into a long circular train. Her two-tiered fingertip veil of illusion fell from a braided coronet and the bride carried an arm bouquet of gladioli and white roses. A single strand of pearls was a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Mary Jean Walters, who wore a gown of fuschia moire with matching mitts and a headdress of three contrasting ostrich plumes. She carried a bouquet of peach and ivory gladioli. Little Mary Sharon Roberts, ring bearer, wore a peach taffeta floor length gown styled with a skirt of tiny ruffles over a crinoline hoop.

Rudy Bjork of Detroit assisted as best man and the ushers were Greg and William Aebersold, Donald Allen and John Dorr.

The bride's mother wore a gold crepe dress with brown accessories and a corsage of talisman roses. The bridegroom's mother wore black with fuschia accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 211 West Pottawatamie Street. A buffet supper was served to the 300 guests with Mrs. Pearl Elliott as hostess and Mrs. John Truesdale jr., presiding at the urn. Those who assisted with the serving were the Misses Jacqueline Costigan of Tecumseh, Almina Blank, Patricia Ducey, Lorraine Steiner and Ann Evans, all of Ann Arbor. The tiered wedding cake, which centered the bridal table, was topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Jack Harrison of Clinton was in charge of the guest book. Guests attended from Toledo, Ohio, Auburn, Ill., and several Michigan towns.

The bride graduated with the 1942 class of Tecumseh high school and from the Mercy College of Nursing in Detroit in 1945. For the last two years she has been on the nursing staff of St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom graduated from Tecumseh High school in 1942 and attended the Edison Institute of Technology for one year. After entering the V-12 training program in the U. S. Navy at the University of Michigan in July of 1943, he was sent to Princeton in February 1944 and then to Annapolis, where he was commissioned an ensign, after which he served on the USS Langley. He received his masters degree in chemistry in August after attending the University of Michigan for the last year.

The couple left for a few days trip to Detroit and will leave soon for Richland, Washington, where Mr. Allen will be in government work.

Entertaining hostesses for Mrs. Allen last week included Mrs. Herbert Murphy and Mrs. John Wintersteen, Miss Mary Jean Moore, and Mrs. Clyde Bailey and daughter, Jean. Saturday night a rehearsal dinner for the bridal party was given at the Brees house.

Teachers Training

Before a teacher may be qualified by a certifying agency, he must comply with certain educational standards in professional training. Usually less time in professional education is required of elementary-school teachers than secondary-school teachers. The most usual requirement for elementary-school teachers is two years of post high-school education, and for secondary-school teachers, four years. Some states, however, require four years of college for elementary-school teachers and five years for secondary-school teachers. Until the war, standards of professional training were being raised in many states, but the war retarded progress in this development. Several states still give teacher-training courses in high schools and permit graduates of these courses to teach in the state.

Strange Words From a Deacon

A minister told his flock that he had a "call" to go to another church. One of the deacons asked how much more he was offered.

"Three hundred dollars," was the reply.

"Well, I don't blame you for going," remarked the deacon, "but you should be more exact in your language, parson. That isn't a 'call', that's a 'raise'."

Marco Polo of Fruits

Lemons are the Marco Polo of fruits. They first grew in the Orient, traveled westward by way of the camel caravans, arriving in Europe in the 15th century, shortly after which Spanish adventurers brought them to the New World. Since then, they have completely circled the globe, although they grow only in the tropics and in sub-tropical climates. Britain "ruled the waves" for centuries largely because of the lemon. The terms "Limey" and "lime-juicer," as applied to British seamen and warships in the days of sailing vessels, came from the fact that His Britanic Majesty's men-o'-war carried barrels of lemon juice —the only known preventive of scurvy in those days. Lemon juice is still one of the most effective "antiscorbutics."

Sixteen Quarts a Year

Did you eat 16 quarts of ice cream last year? If not, you didn't get your share of the popular food. The average American consumed nearly 20 pounds of ice cream last year, about twice as much as he ate each year before the war, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica. More ice cream was produced in the United States last year than in any other year on record. The total for last year reached about 750 million gallons, compared to 471 million gallons the previous year. Pennsylvania made more ice cream than any other state, followed by New York, Ohio, Illinois and California, in that order. As usual nearly two and a half times as much ice cream was produced in July as in January, the low month.

Quaker Volume Hits New High

Earnings before taxes in The Quaker Oats Company tumbled more than $300,000 during the business year ended June 30, 1947, while net earnings rose to $7,958,588 from $6,471,051.

In the annual report issued today, John Stuart, Chairman of the Board pointed out to Quaker's more than 9,000 stockholders that the drop in earnings before taxes came despite a climb in dollar sales of more than $39,000,000 to the highest point in company history.

The increase of about $1,480,000 in net earnings, he pointed out, was made possible by a tax reduction of nearly $1,450,000. Also helping to hold up net earnings was the transfer of about $300,000 in accumulated earnings from foreign subsidiaries — earnings not received during the preceding 12 months.

Dividend payments of $4,222,636, he reported, were made to holders of common and preferred stock. To the common stockholder, this represented a return of about 4.7% on the average market value of his stock during the business year.

Inventories and commitments, Mr. Stuart said, are being kept as low as possible. "We just can't avoid taking inventory losses," he went on, "when prices begin working back to normal." Changing costs of raw materials, he pointed out, can cause great increases or decreases in dollar sales with little or no increase in production volume. To meet such losses, Quaker added $3,181,444 during the year to its special reserve, bringing it up to $7,800,000.

To illustrate the large increases Quaker must pay for raw materials he quoted these 10-year average and June 30, 1947, prices: No. 3 white oats, from $.57-7/8 to $1.04 per bushel; No. 3 yellow corn, from $1.03-½ to $2.08 per bushel; standard bran, from $35.94 to $55.50 per ton; and soya meal, from $42.98 to $88 per ton.

Because of those increased costs and increases in wages and salaries, Mr. Stuart reported that Quaker was compelled during the year to raise prices on some of its products — a step which the company had hoped to avoid.

He pointed out that this present spiral of increasing costs and prices will make it more difficult for Americans to maintain our present standard of living. "All of us" he continued, "will be serving our own personal interest when we do our best to increase production and hold down costs so that more people can buy things."

Mr. Stuart said Quaker's post-war plans are pretty well completed. But, because of the high cost of equipment and contruction, he added, the Company has decided to start only those jobs which must be done.

Trend to Smaller Families Increases Housing Problem

Families are getting smaller and the general population is growing older. These two trends are posing new problems for city planners according to the Association of State Planning and Development Agencies.

In Cincinnati, for example, master-plan studies indicate that the average household size will decrease from 3.3 persons in 1940 to 2.9 persons in 1970. This factor alone, broadly representative of the trend throughout the United States, is expected to increase Cincinnati's housing needs 14 per cent.

Even if Cincinnati's population did not grow during this period, the decrease in family size would make necessary an additional 31,000 dwelling units. The pressure for more dwelling units in big cities, planners say, will give added impetus to the "flight to the suburbs" of city residents.

This in turn will call for extended and more expensive police, fire, sewer and other municipal services. Another related problem is indicated by the fact that small families use more water per person than big families.

Because of increasing longevity, the number of persons in the United States over 50 years of age is expected to increase 300 per cent between 1920 and 1975. This implies increased political power among older people, and therefore increased demands for social security, including old-age insurance.

Travel is expected to increase and there will be a strong tendency toward regional population shifts as the older persons move to areas with mild winter climates. Older northern cities will be particularly vulnerable to this interregional migration.

Whooping Cough Is On Increase In The State

Whooping cough continues to increase in Michigan. The Michigan Department of Health received reports of 300 new cases last week. This was the largest week's total of the year. Cases have been averaging about 200 to 250 per week during the summer.

Whooping cough is preventable. The Department recommends immunization against the disease at six months of age followed by a booster or stimulating dose at the time the child enters school.

The disease is most serious in very young infants and in young children. Of the 33 deaths from whooping cough during the first five months of this year, more than half were of infants under six months of age, and the remainder were of children under five years of age.

Any child over six months of age who has not been protected against whooping cough should be immunized now, the Department advised. Any child who entered school without having his booster shot, should have the stimulating dose at once.

Very Truthful

"Guilty or not guilty of this theft?" queried his honor.

"Not guilty, sir," came the plea.

"Have you ever been in jail.'

Concerted Campaign Halts Foot-and-Mouth Outbreak

Just as an attacking military commander is careful to leave no weak points in the forces with which he surrounds and prepares to crush the enemy, so the Mexican-United States commission directing the campaign against foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico is blocking off any loopholes through which the disease might spread or perpetuate itself.

One recent step in this determined effort to bring the disease under control and eradicate it is establishment of a thorough-going system of railroad car disinfection in the Mexico City freight yards. All rolling stock in which livestock are sent to Mexico City—main slaughter point of the country—is subjected to a three - stage treatment before it again is released for transport duty.

After the livestock cars arrive in the stockyards and the animals are unloaded, a cleaning force immediately removes all manure and litter from the cars. The cars then are shifted to another siding, thoroughly washed down with streams of water under pressure, left to dry and, as a third step, disinfected. Each car is sprayed inside and out with a 2 per cent or stronger solution of sodium hydroxide.

At conclusion of this treatment, each car is sealed and placarded and then assigned for further transportation use. Thus, on arrival at a new loading point, shippers are assured that the cars on which they will load their animals have been thoroughly disinfected and possible spread of infection to free areas is avoided.

Long Unwanted Atoll Now Ranks as Major Air Spot

Lonely Clipperton island, a barren atoll 760 miles southwest of Acapulco, Mexico, and 2,000 miles west of the Panama canal, during the first 200 years it was charted was not found worth occupying by Spain, England, France, the United States and Mexico, who claimed it, according to National Geographic society.

Then the Panama canal was built and the air age arrived. Clipperton's location became strategic. It served as a wartime navy air patrol base.

Ship captains sprouted many a gray hair groping their way through the fogs that are frequent in the region. Ship radars now send waves that penetrate the soupiest fogs, bouncing back from 60-foot Clipperton rock to warn of the atoll's position.

Spaniards first visited the palm-fringed isle. Its name came from John Clipperton, who sailed one of English explorer William Dampier's ships at the beginning of the 18th century. Clipperton and his men are said to have used the atoll as a hideout for their expeditions in piracy.

Be Kind To The Boss

Be kind to the Boss, he's not a bad guy;
You might like him better if only you'd try.
It's hard to believe it, but he's human too;
He has the same troubles familiar to you.
His job may result in more money per week,

Be kind to the Boss, he's really all right,
When he's grouchy he may have been up half the night.
He's as proud of his Willie as you of your Joe.
Like you, on the first of the month he will roar

Be kind to the Boss; though you may think him tough,
It may be for him that the going's been rough.
Just remember that time after time he may take
A stiff calling down 'cause you made a mistake.
And that raise he denied you — you you thought it was spite—
They would have discharged you—he put up a fight.

Be kind to the Boss and when tempted to gripe,
At those times when it leads him a right merry dance,
To be back on your job he would jump at the chance.
Put yourself in the place of the son-of-a-gun,

Humility a Virtue

Humility may often be the ability to discern true greatness in others. Francis Crossley, the great English judge, was once sitting on the bench of magistrates to take part in the trial of a Salvation Army girl charged with obstructing the public thoroughfare. When the case was called, Crossley left his seat on the bench, and took his stand by the side of the Army lassie in the dock. His recognition of an ambassador of Christ!

A hotel was on fire and the guests, gathered out in front, were watching the flames.

Polio On Gain, State Declares

DISEASE IS DIFFICULT TO AVOID BUT PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED

"Poliomyelitis is definitely increasing in Michigan, although it is not reaching epidemic proportions", Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the Bureau of Disease Control, Michigan Department of Health, said Department of Health, said today. He pointed out that the increase in incidence this year is three weeks later than usual and related the fact to the late summer season.

He said that 70 new cases of polio were reported during the weeks of September 8-12, with 33 cases reported the week previous, and 69 cases a week earlier. These cases brought to 295 the number of cases reported this year. This compares favorably with the 531 cases reported at this time last year.

This year's cases have a low death rate and less than one-third the cases reported are paralytic, Dr. Leeder said.

Symptoms of the diseases are similar to those of many other common childhood diseases. They include fever, headache, transient sore throat, intestinal upsets, nausea, vomiting, constipation, and possibly a stiff neck. Polio is caused by a virus that is found in the bowel, nose and throat discharges of infected persons and thus in sewage, also. It is difficult to know when a child has been exposed to the virus. The incubation period is seven to fourteen days. Nine out of ten cases, are light cases of the disease which do not have recognizable symptoms. This type of the disease is as contagious as any other. In addition, there are carriers of the disease who are not ill. Many children exposed to polio will not contract the disease in its paralytic form because they had the light type of the disease when young.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says that half of those who get the disease will recover without crippling.

There is no preventative for the disease. Early diagnosis and prompt adequate medical care are the best that medical science can offer the victim. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis makes funds needed for treatment and hospitalization of polio patients available immediately from the local chapters of the foundation.

To prevent or avoid polio is difficult, but the State Health Department has listed these precautions for observance during the polio season.

1. Keep hands and person clean. Wash hands before meal always.
2. Avoid over-exertion and strenuous exercise. Get plenty of rest. Put the tired child to bed.
3. Keep out of crowds as much as possible and limit personal contacts as much as feasible. Do not take children to theaters, on buses, trains, boats, or to beaches where they mingle with strangers.
4. Do not swim in water which might be polluted. Drink only water known to be pure.
5. Flies carry the polio virus. Kill them with DDT. Be sure the food you eat is clean. Wash carefully all fruits and vegetables which are eaten raw and unpeeled.
6. Avoid chilling. Do not stay long in very cold water.
7. Use only pasteurized milk. Cases have been related to a contaminated milk supply.
8. Consult your doctor when any symptom appears. Don't wait for a back or neck ache. Suspect even slight fever or nausea in any child who has been in contact with any polio cases or in a community where there are polio cases.
9. Isolate the person suspected of polio and have all persons ill of the disease hospitalized at once. There has been no case of cross infection in any Michigan general hospital, from a polio patient.
10. Avoid nose, throat and dental operations insofar as is practicable during the polio season.

YOU.. ONE-MAN HUSKING CREW
The new CORN HARVESTER converts your WC Tractor into a one-man picker in a half-hour or less. Tractor-mounted, it opens up the field on the first round. There's no hand picking—one man driving the tractor does the whole job.
The CORN HARVESTER is simple and compact. Over four-fifths of its weight is carried on the rear tractor wheels, giving extra traction for soft ground conditions. That's why it husks where heavier pickers mire down.

Lubrication Service
. . . with new equipment!

We have installed new lubrication equipment at our garage, making this part of our service department the most modern in Lenawee County.

We now have TWO MODERN HOISTS, one a double post hoist, which will greatly speed up our service. We also have installed new grease gun equipment and added other modern facilities.

To make possible the installation we have had our lubrication department torn up for a few days to enable us to lay a new grease-proof colored cement floor. Now, however, we are in much better shape to serve you more efficiently.

For the care your car needs in lubrication, regardless of make, you can bring it to us with confidence.

Plan Meetings For Town Hall

FIVE OR SIX ROUND-TABLE DISCUSSIONS TO BE HELD DURING THE WINTER

Plans for at least five, possibly six, Town Hall meetings, the first to be held in November, were tentatively made at a meeting of the executive board of Town Hall Council, meeting Monday evening at the high school. The first meeting will be about mid-November, and subsequent meeting will be in December, January, February March and April. There was some discussion as to the advisability of abandoning the December meeting, because of the crowded holiday season.

Town Hall was a new venture in Tecumseh last year and proved very successful. It is sponsored by the several clubs and organizations of Tecumseh by financial contributions and admission to the discussion meetings is without charge. A representative from each contributing organization makes up the Council which group, with the officers, directs the policies of the Council.

Neville Hart, representing the public schools on the Council and who was very active in the organization a year ago, is hopeful this year of bringing some top-flight speakers to Tecumseh to discuss national and international problems. Already he has contacted two or three such speakers and as quickly as replies are received and dates can be established a meeting of Council representatives will be held.

Last year, three meetings were held for a discussion of community problems and the outgrowth of these meetings was a community banquet two months ago at which time a committee was directed to organize a Chamber of Commerce here. The Chamber is now in the process of formation, sufficient funds having been pledged to guarantee its operation.

At Monday's meeting, Wiley McCann, secretary, submitted his resignation because of other pressing business. His successor will be named at the Council meeting, sometime this month.

World Wide Communion To Be Observed Here

On Sunday, October 5, members of the Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist churches here will observe World Wide Communion. It is a time when Christians of the various denominations in Tecumseh, of the various nations in the world, and of the various races of mankind take their places, in their respective ways, at the Lord's Table, the churches pointed out.

This communion practice which has grown in popularity and in scope till it now embraces the entire world, was begun less than a decade ago. During the war, parents and loved ones at home felt the reassurance of taking communion when on at least this one time in the year, they were sure that sons and husbands in combat zones were also partaking of the Sacrament.

All who put their trust in the power of God to redeem the plight of modern man are urged to assert this faith by joining the fellowship of believers at their own respective churches. World Wide Communion in the Tecumseh churches will begin at 11:00 a.m.

WSPD Will Broadcast Local Progress Story

Tecumseh, something of its history, its progress, its industrial and spiritual life, will be presented to radio listeners by WSPD, Toledo, on Thursday, October 9, at 12:15, noon, Mayor John C. Truesdale said today.

Mayor Truesdale and the station completed arrangements this week for the recorded broadcast and the WSPD sound truck will arrive here on Tuesday, October 7, to make the necessary recordings. The mayor will speak briefly of Tecumseh's history and Robert H. Moore, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, will discuss the community's growth and its housing problems. Paul Breitenwischer and Harold Wolf will speak for industry, and the Rev. B. O. Bashore will discuss the spiritual life.

The sound truck will be located in the downtown section next Tuesday, when the recordings are made. They then will be taken to Toledo and "played back" to the radio audience the following Thursday.

P. T. A. Plans Reception For Teachers, October 9

A board meeting of the Parents-Teachers Association was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. R. H. Moore. The first program of the year will be October 9, at which time a reception will be given for the school teachers. Each month the reward for the attendance contest of the mothers and fathers of school children will be a movie film to the winning room. The contests will include grades from the kindergarten to the eighth grade.

Outstanding bills were ordered paid and chairmen for the coming year were appointed before the meeting adjourned.

Radio Workman Is Electrocuted

JACKSON MAN FATALLY BURNED WHEN HE CONTACTS HIGH VOLTAGE WIRE HERE

Victor Gayton, 43, an employee of the Duckworth Radio Company, Jackson, was instantly killed at 5 p.m., Friday, when he came in contact with a high voltage wire on North Evans street, just north of Logan street.

The accident happened while Mr. Gayton was installing an inter-office communication system between the offices of the R. S. Moore & Son Co, and its lumber yards across the street. Gayton was stringing a wire and was standing on the ground and had attached a rope to the wire which he was pulling over the high tension wires of the Consumers Power Co. Witnesses said that he pulled the rope until he reached the end of the wire and then grasped the wire, which had touched the transformer on the Consumers pole.

The impact of electricity hurled the body about six feet and to the ground. Max Duckworth, Gayton's employer, was burned on his right hand and foot when a wire he was passing to the victim came in contact with the other wire.

Efforts to revive the electrician failed and Dr. H. H. Hammel pronounced him dead. F. C. Hanna, justice of the peace acting as coroner, held that death was accidental and that there would be no inquest.

Gayton lived at 119 East High street, Jackson. He is survived by the widow, Boris, a son, Victor, jr., and a sister, Mrs. George Barnes of Bellevue.

The body was removed to the Collins Funeral Home here, and on Saturday was taken to the Cavanaugh Funeral Home, Jackson, where services were held.

Ministerial Association Elects New Officers

At the first fall meeting of the Tcumseh Ministerial Association held in the high school last Monday afternoon officers for 1947-1948 were elected. The Rev. Allan L. Ramsay of St. Peter's Episcopal Church was elected president to succeed the Rev. B. O. Bashore and the Rev. Donald C. Wilson of the First Presbyterian Church was elected secretary-treasurer.

W. L. Berkhof and James McDowell conferred with members of the association relative to the high school chapel services. As in the past there will be a half hour service in the high school auditorium on Wednesday mornings through the school year. A religious survey of the community is being considered and details will be settled at the next association meeting to be held at 2 p.m., on Thursday, October 9, at the Presbyterian Manse.

THINK BEFORE YOU ANSWER THIS ONE

Would You Trade Your Pay Check for a Russian's?

Some of us complain about high prices, others of us cuss the government and most of us gripe about pet peeves, if its nothing more than the weather, but remember this:

The average American is still 10 times better off than the average Russian, when it comes to take-home pay and high prices.

Here is how American buying power of $50 a week compares with that of a Russian making the equivalent or 120 rubles a week:

1. The American can buy 340 loaves of bread while the Russian can buy only 23 loaves.

2. The American can buy 500 pounds of sugar with a week's pay while the Russian can buy only 17 pounds.

3. The American's average pay is equal to 275 quarts of milk while the Russian's is equivalent to only 16 quarts.

4. The average American can buy 82 pounds of beef against a Russian's 10 pounds.

5. The American can buy only 70 pounds of butter while the Russian would be lucky to get four pounds.

Since the end of the war, food prices have gone up 166 per cent in Russia while wages of its workers have risen only 25 per cent.

These comparisons are made by the U. S. Department of Labor on the basis of Moscow's official food prices.

To be sure, the average American gripes—its said to be an American characteristic—but if you should ever get the idea that dictatorship is better than democracy, think twice and investigate before you form an opinion.

Hodges, Home From Near East, Say U.S. Is Best Place on Whole Earth

Camel steak is delicious — it tastes like prime beef — and for $4 a day you can rent an excellent room in Beirut, Damascus or Palestine and "live on the fat of the land," Dr. Ferris G. Hodge, local dentist, declared today upon his return from a four months' trip to the Near East. "Its a wonderful experience, traveling, but I want to tell you that we were very happy to return to the good old U.S.A. Over there, they think America's streets are paved with gold; that we pick money off our trees. Everybody has an ambition to visit America, if for only a short time. They think, and so do I, that its the most wonderful place in the world."

Dr. Hodge, his father, Nicholas Hodge, and brother, Edward, of Morenci, sailed May 29 from New York for Beirut, Lebanon. They visited relatives at nearby Merdjayoun and then began their Near Eastern tour. At Baalbek, Syria, they visited the temple of Heliopolis, the temple of the sun gods, built before Christ, and then went to Homs in northern Syria where they saw the Ramojen—Moslem holidays celebration when 40 days of fasting are observed.

The doctor described the old French crusader castle, Alyia Hussin, located some 15 miles from Homs, as the most perfectly preserved crusader castle in the world. Olive trees surrounding it are over 2,000 years old and still bear fruit. Olive trees, it is said, never die.

From Homs they went to the Cedars of Lebanon, on to Tripoli and Nablus and then to Damascus where they stayed several days. They also went to Palestine and to Matula, the first all-Jewish city in Palestine. From Mt. Taber they went to Nazareth and then to Tiberias, on the sea of Galilee.

"I've heard a lot about odorless fish, and at Tiberias, on the seashore, we enjoyed them. Fish caught there do not smell like fish and they are delicious to eat. They cook them in olive oil. The average fish weighs about 2½ pounds, and there are few bones," he said.

After visiting the British army officers club at Tiberias the travellers went to Jerusalem and toured the entire city, rich in Biblical history. They saw Mt. Calvary, Christ's tomb, the room where the Cross was built, and visited the several churches and registered as pilgrims.

"Bethlehem and the Church of Nativity, built over the site of the stone manger, is beautiful,' the doctor said.

After visiting the Jewish Wailing Wall and King Soloman's Temple the local folk went to the Dead Sea.

"We had heard that it was warm there, but here in America we don't know what heat is. The day we were at the Dead Sea the temperature registered 140 degrees. It is the hottest spot on earth. You don't sweat, and you are not uncomfortable."

At the river Jordan the Hodges visited the site of Christ's Baptistry and Jericho and then crossed the Jordan river to Trans Jordan and on to Arabia, later returning to Jerusalem which the doctor de-

A formal opening of the new youth center of St. Peter's Episcopal Church will be held next Sunday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. Members of the church and their friends will be present for a tour of inspection and informal entertainment.

Browne members of the Youth Committee have been in charge of the work. Many members of the church and other interested persons in the community have given voluntarily of their time to do the work involved. Facilities for shuffleboard and ping pong are available and other games will be added from time to time. Sufficient room for dancing on a newly sanded floor provides a pleasant place for community as well as church social activities.

Troop 57 of the Boy Scouts of America meet in the building each week and several Girl Scout groups also make use of it. The building will be available for organizations other than those of St. Peter's Church by making arrangements with the committee in charge.

Board Still Is Seeking C. Of C. Secretary Here

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has made several contacts seeking to hire a secretary for the Tecumseh Chamber but as yet is unable to announce any positive steps, it was said today.

"We expect to interview a prospective secretary within the next week, and we hope to be able to bring him to Tecumseh, but there still is nothing definite," Earl Wickwire, president of the Chamber, said.

Presbyterians Install Pastor

THE REV. DONALD C. WILSON ASSUMES PULPIT OF LOCAL CHURCH

The service of installing the Rev. Donald C. Wilson as pastor of the First Presbyterian church here was conducted last Sunday evening with many members and friends of the church in attendance.

Speaking on the subject, "Nice People or New Men", the Rev. Frederick H. Olert, D. D., of the First Presbyterian Church, Detroit, preached the installation sermon. This was followed by the installation procedure conducted by the Rev. Marshall W. Simpson, vice moderator of Lansing Presbytery. The charge to the pastor and the charge to the members were delivered by the Rev. Frank Fitt, D. D., of Detroit and the Rev. Herbert J. Bryce of Albion, respectively. It was as a member of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, of which Dr. Fitt is pastor, that Mr. Wilson began his study for the ministry.

Mr. Wilson was graduated from McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago in 1945, at which time he entered the Army Chaplaincy to serve with occupation troops in Germany. Upon release from the service he and his wife spent five months in Edinburgh, Scotland, where Mr. Wilson took graduate work in divinity at the University of Edinburgh.

Partridge Implement Co. Now In New Location

The Partridge Implement Co., opened its doors today in its new modern building on M-50, just west of the village limits. The firm formerly was located on South Pearl street.

The new structure, 50 by 100 feet, is a modern type construction with overhead lighting, and provides room for an up-to-the-minute repair shop. Also, there is plenty of parking space around the building to accommodate customers.

M. G. Partridge, a member of the firm, said today that all of the work of moving had been completed, and that in the future his company would be in a far better position to serve the farmers of this trading area.

Indians Hold Hudson to Tie

NOTHING-TO-NOTHING GAME PLAYED HERE, FRIDAY; CLINTON HERE, OCT. 10

(By Pat Wilson).

Tecumseh High school Indians, showing improved playing form, held a favored Hudson football team to a 0-0 score at the Recreation Center here last Friday night. A change in playing position placing Tom Corkery at end added considerable defensive strength to the Tecumseh line, which was just what the doctor ordered because Corkery and Purkey really bottled up Hudson's attempts to skirt the ends. Pelham, whose running in Hudson's game against Pittsford the previous week, resulting in a win for Hudson, was stopped cold. Miller, Hudson's highly touted fullback, was also held to practically no yardage gained.

Hop Anderson at quarterback for Tecumseh was the shining light from Tecumseh's standpoint doing a very good job at handling the ball and an exceptionally good job of kicking. There were not too many scoring opportunities, however, Tecumseh did recover a Hudson fumble on the Hudson 14 yard line. Fullback Colson's attempts to drive through the Hudson defense proved unsuccessful. The only opportunity that Hudson had to score was when Pelham hit Hackett and Atkinson with passes which took Hudson deep into Tecumseh's territory. However, Hudson was unable to cross over into pay dirt because of Tecumseh's strong defense.

Gillen and Melvy Murphy at times displayed some hard running and with a little more experience will probably develop into good ball carriers. As usual, Brown in the line was strong defensively, however, he was ably supported by some very fine head's-up play on the part of Doug Tate and Tilton. Pelham and Garr proved to be Hudson's best defensively.

Tecumseh
T. Corkery	R. E.
Van Camp	R. T.
D. Tate	R. G.
D. Murphy	C.
J. Underwood	L. G.
B. Tilton	L. T.

J. Atkinson	L. E.
M. Pelham	Q. B.
B. Uye	R. H.

Local Builder Tells Of New Home Construction

Instead of ginger bread on the outside, today's modern house is planned from within — it must be functional — if it is to meet the demands of the owner, Robert H. Moore, of the R. S. Moore & Son Co., lumber dealers and builders, told members of the Rotary Club, Tuesday evening, when he discussed home construction, following dinner at Brees House. Mr. Moore is a member of the club.

"Today", Mr. Moore said, "the architect finds out the needs of the family and designs the rooms of the house to fit those needs. Once that is done he builds a wall around the rooms. Its rather marvelous that today's house looks as well as it does from the outside, but on the inside it is truly liveable, and that's what counts."

Mr. Moore gave a very interesting talk, discussing the choosing of a site for a home, plans for building it, the type of plumbing and heating to install, and last, means of financing. He pointed out that with an FHA loan, the average person is able to finance 90 per cent of the cost of a new house.

Monday Club To Hold "Pay Your Dues" Meeting

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

No one knows how long it will last, but it is evident that this country is still enjoying a hell-for-leather period of economic prosperity. For more than a year, leading economists have been forecasting recessions and depressions, some of which have materialized. Last June, according to Department of Commerce figures, personal incomes in the United States hit the record annual rate of $193,000,000,000. In that same month the number of productively employed people passed the 60,000,000 mark for the first time, and the July figure was still higher.

It is true, of course, that the purchasing power of the dollar is much lower than in previous times. Even so, wage increases have, for the most part, kept pace with price increases, and in some industries have materially exceeded them. The major exceptions to the rule have been the white-collar and professional classes, whose earnings, measured by the yardstick of purchasing power, are less than during and before the war. People living on fixed incomes have taken a tremendous financial beating. It is the laboring groups which have benefited most.

Herbert Hoover recently said that he could not foresee any important drop in business in the near future. That point of view is widely shared at the present time even by some of the commentators who anticipated economic upheavals this summer. This optimism as to the immediate outlook is producing increased pessimism as to the long-term outlook, on the theory that the longer the boom lasts the more severe will be the break when it comes. It is a situation where the old prize-ring dictum that "the bigger they are the harder they fall" applies. But this is in the realm of speculation. The business indices are still going up, and the goal of "full employment" seems to have been reached. In many important lines, output would be a great deal larger than at present if more supplies were available.

Every consumer knows what all this has done to prices. Here, again, those who forecast last fall that substantial price breaks would come by mid-1947 were badly fooled. The Bureau of Labor Statistics price index recently touched another new high, and it is expected to go higher still. That is the result of many factors—governmental fiscal policy, foreign buying in a tight market, ever-expanding business overhead, etc. To choose the most obvious reason, higher prices are inevitable when 60,000,000 people, earning the highest pay in history, are panting for goods and services of all kinds. There are, still many people to whom price is of little consequence—as the so-called "used automobile" market abundantly proves. Throughout the country, 1947 automobiles bring bonuses of from $400 to $1500 on the used-car lots—and dealers report that there is no dearth of purchasers.

The loosening of the regulations on time-payment purchases has been a factor in keeping sales of expensive articles at the peak level. When families run out of cash, they can keep on buying on liberal installment terms. In some fields, such as radios, evidence of over-production is apparent, especially of unknown brands. But staple, advertised goods of all kinds are selling well.

Very few people believe that this is a healthy economy. Economists for industry shake their heads when they start talking about the long-time future. So do the economists for the labor unions. All of them are concerned with what might happen if we had a depression accompanied by high prices. It has never happened in this country. It has happened in many other countries. And it is definitely an unpleasant prospect.

Miss Clara E. Gottschalk Bride Of Robert Rainey

The Britton Immanuel Lutheran church was the scene of a wedding charming in its simplicity, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, when Miss Clara Ellen Gottschalk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gottschalk, became the bride of Robert Rainey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Rainey of Onsted.

The Rev. Theodore Iben performed the single ring ceremony before an altar beautifully arranged with palms and white gladioli accented by lighted candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her princess style gown of candlelight satin, styled with a net yoke forming a high round neckline and featuring two rows of imported Belgium lace. The long sleeves ended in points over her hands and the full skirt fell into a court train. Her finger tip veil of bridal illusion edged in lace, was caught to a Juliet cap of net and tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade arm bouquet of bebe chrysanthemums centered with an orchid corsage.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Billou, sister of the bride, wore a gown of yellow nylon marquisette with sweetheart neckline and long full sleeves. Her matching Juliet cap was fashioned after that of the bride. She carried an arm bouquet of shaded pom pons in bronze.

Mrs. Robert Auten and Mrs. Neal Judkins as bridesmaids wore identical gowns of light blue marquisette with low round necklines and long full sleeves. They also wore matching Juliet caps and carried arm bouquets of bebe pom pons in yellow.

Stephen Rainey, nephew of the groom as ring bearer, carried the ring on a white satin pillow. Homer Rainey, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

As the ushers, Robert Billou and James Thomas seated the guests. Mrs. Ford Exelby played a program of nuptial music and later accompanied Mrs. Forrest Weichner as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Mrs. Gottschalk chose for her daughter's wedding, a dress of black crepe trimmed with sequins, and black accessories. Her corsage was of pink Sally roses. Mrs. Rainey wore a blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow Johanna Hill roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held for 150 guests in the church parlors. The refreshments featuring a four tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom, were served buffet style. Mrs. Kenneth Smith and the Misses Dorothy Moore, Wilma McCarbery and Dorothy Ann Wonderly assisted at the table.

After a two weeks trip to Florida and Havana, Cuba, the couple will be at home at 416 E. Pottawatamie street in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Rainey chose for traveling a light grey wool dress with black accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

A graduate of the Britton high school, the bride is employed at the United Savings Bank in Tecumseh. Mr. Rainey is a graduate of Onsted high school and is employed at Gerity Michigan Die Casting Corp., in Adrian.

Miss Lois Pate Is Bride Of Albert Minor, Clinton

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Pate announce the marriage of their daughter, Lois, to Albert Minor, son of Mrs. Merle Minor of Clinton, which took place Saturday, September 27, at 2 o'clock in Hillsdale. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert J. Dobbs, pastor of the First Methodist church there.

The bride wore a powder blue dress trimmed with white braid and her only jewelry was a strand of white pearls. She wore black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white pom pons.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Richard McDowell of Osseo. Mrs. McDowell wore teal blue with black accessories and a corsage of yellow and bronze pon poms.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Youngs at Osseo.

CRADLE SHOWER

Mrs. Betty Tirpak and Mrs. Dorothy Damon entertained in the former's home last Wednesday evening at a cradle shower honoring Mrs. Basil Kittell. Games were enjoyed and prizes awarded which were in turn presented to the honored guest. Mrs. Kittell received a lovely gift from the group. Refreshments were served later by the hostesses.

"It's Living That Counts"

I stole the title of this column from a magazine article that said a whole lot better than I can what farm and country life can mean.

We talk about farm profits, production, research, and mechanical improvements ... but isn't it true, what we really value is the life country living offers us? ... the chance to be close to our families and neighbors ... children sharing in the chores ... working with our own hands at a worthwhile job.

And country pleasures are simple: good talk at day's end, and a glass of mellow beer with friends ... the companionship of man and wife, unruffled by distractions of the city ... the mutual tolerance of one another's tastes—in choosing a friend, or a glass of beer, or a candidate for Governor.

Mind, I'm all for material improvements. But from where I sit, the real goodness of our country life is that spirit of tolerance, moderation, and good fellowship.

$39,275 In Prizes In Kroger Jingle Contest

Backing up its emphasis on nationally advertised brands, the Kroger company is spotlighting more than 50 of the nation's best known food and household products in its 65th anniversary celebration, starting October 5.

Display advertising in more than 1184 daily and weekly newspapers in 18 states will be used to promote the "65 years of low prices" theme, William J. Sanning, director of Kroger advertising, said.

In connection with the celebration, the company is sponsoring a jingle contest with a prize list totaling $39,275 to be awarded persons who send in the winning last line to a jingle about quality and prices.

During more than half a century, Kroger has depended largely on newspaper advertising to carry its message to homemakers. In this campaign, special advertising will be used in addition to enlarged weekly price ads.

"We know that housewives look to newspaper food advertising for guidance on market trends, seasonable items, and values," Sanning said. He added that more than 13,500,000 readers in the middlewest and south are reached by Kroger's newspaper advertising every week.

"Advertising of food prices in newspapers plays an essential part in holding down the cost of living because it helps to move merchandise from producers to consumers at minimum costs," Sanning declared.

F. F. A Notes

The Tecumseh F. F. A. was strongly represented at the Lenawee County Fair this year. A total of six steers were sold for $2400. There were also several dairy animals exhibited. A senior yearling heifer owned by Bill Brown won Grand Championship in the 4-H and Junior Championship in the open class. Tecumseh took over a large small grain exhibit. James Winzler won grand championship in the small grain.

Tecumseh boys gave a good account of themselves in the judging contests. They took first in dairy, second in crops and fourth in livestock, a great improvement over last year. James Burnett took first in the county dairy judging and Donald Withrow third. Herman Dick took second in the county crops judging contest.

The F. F. A. has dipped 2850 sheep this last spring and summer. We have orders to dip 500 sheep yet this year and expect to dip until cold weather. Anyone interested should contact Mr. Locke, Tecumseh High School.

3,000,000 BABIES IN 1942

Small Pullet Eggs Useful In Cooking

Small pullet eggs that are now on the market can be used in place of larger eggs in many recipes, Beatrice Frangquist, home demonstration agent reports.

You can use pullet eggs in most recipes for waffles, griddle cakes, muffins, plain cakes and cookies. Recipes that depend on the definite porportion of egg for good results will need to be changed.

In custard, where the thickness depends on the amount of egg, you will need to use four pullet eggs in place of the three called for in the standard recipe.

Angel food and sponge cake depend on the egg whites they contain for their texture. Measuring or weighing egg white will give you more accurate results with these cakes than counting the eggs used. A successful measure for angel food is one cup of egg white to each cup of flour.

When using eggs as a main dish — creamed or scrambled — remember that seven small eggs give the same weight as six medium eggs.

The board seems hopeful that a secretary will be hired within a few weeks, and that the organization will be functioning by November. scribed as an armed fortress.

At Kfeir Hasbaya, Lebanon, Dr. Hodge's father's home town, which he had not visited in over half a century, the tourists received a royal welcome. The town is located at the foot of Mt. Hermon and lies above the clouds. "It was nothing to waken in the morning and see clouds floating below you," he said. They visited the church, built entirely of stone, even to the roof, constructed in 1337, by the Hodge family.

They shipped at Beirut to Haifa and then to Alexandria, Egypt, and on to Greece and the Port of Pireus.

"We saw no lack of food anywhere, except in Greece," Hodge said. In Greece the suffering and starvation is something terrific. One can not understand such a condition unless he actually sees it."

American cigarettes in Greece are more valuable than American dollars, the doctor said. A single package of 20 cigarettes is worth $12, and an American tourist is followed for blocks by a crowd hoping that he soon will toss away his cigarette stub.

"You talk about inflation," he said. "In Greece, $40,000 in prewar money is now worth one-half cent. I brought home two $40,000 notes. They cost me a penny, American money."

After a cruise on the Agean sea and into the Mediterranean and past Gibraltar the tourists turned homeward across the Atlantic. It required 18½ days to make the return voyage.

"I was surprised to find American and British goods plentiful in most of the countries we visited and, strange as it may seem, they cost less there than here. Room and board in top-rate hotels costs only $4 a day, and such meals—you can't begin to eat all they give you. But in Greece, there is starvation. Conditions are beyond description there," he said.

Over-Exertion Hunting Danger

GUNFIRE, TRAFFIC AND WOODS ARE NOT ONLY DANGERS, STATE WARNS

Gunfire, heavy traffic and getting lost are not the only dangers to your life and health on your hunting trip, the Michigan Department of Health pointed out today and advised certain health precautions for hunters.

Choose your eating places while hunting, with the same care you would use at home. Use only pasteurized milk, butter, cream and cheese. If pasteurized supply may not be available, carry canned milk. Wash the unpealed fruits and vegetables you eat, but don't wash them in a stream.

Never drink from a stream or a well you do not know is safe. The Michigan Department of Health marks safe roadside water supplies. If you do not know a supply is safe add three drops of common laundry bleach per gallon of water and let it stand a half hour before drinking.

Select clothing to suit the climate and type of hunting you will do. Take adequate bedding for the climate in which you will stay. Northern Michigan nights are cold. Take comfortable hunting boots and plenty of socks.

Take a first aid kit with you and treat seemingly slight injuries such as blisters, bruises, scratches, puncture wounds and burns. Know how to stop bleeding by using pressure on the arterial supply above a serious wound. Know how to reach the nearest doctor.

Hunting clothes were not designed for climbing trees. Climb only when necessary and then climb with care.

Avoid poison ivy and poison sumac. They are still potent.

Cook all wild game until it is thoroughly done before tasting it. Handle every wild rabbit as though it had Tularemia. That means wearing rubber gloves while cleaning rabbits and being careful that the gloves are not punctured by sharp bones. The germs causing Tularemia is so small it can penetrate unbroken skin.

CULBERTSON P. T. A.

Culbertson P. T. A. will be held Friday evening with Mrs. Dena Wallis and Mrs. Mary Cleveland as the hostesses. Jello, cake, and coffee will be served.

Extra Care For Fall Pigs Pays

SHORT CORN CROP IS CAUSING MANY PIGS TO GO TO MARKET

The present prospect for a short corn crop this fall is causing many hogs to go to market when they otherwise might be fed longer or kept over for breeding stock. H. W. Newland, Michigan State college animal husbandry specialist, points out that it is good management to give fall pigs some extra care.

Equipment and housing used for spring farrowing are sometimes inadequate for unpredictable fall weathering. If the weather is chilly and the sow is quiet at farrowing time, the farmer may want to remove the pigs to a warm place for a time. If the sow's milk has begun to flow, the pigs should be allowed to nurse every two hours.

About the time fall pigs are old enough to wean, the weather may be quite severe. It is important that pigs have warm comfortable housing after being weaned and and also at castration and vaccination time.

For fall pigs to do well, Newland advises, it should be planned so the pigs will come early enough to get out on some good clean pasture for a few weeks before winter sets in. Little pig anemia is always a danger if the pigs are confined to cement or wooden floors and are receiving only their mother's milk. The pigs having this common ailment have very pale skin, lack vigor and have a rough hair coat. This trouble is due to a lack of iron and copper in the little pigs' diet.

If it is necessary that the pigs be left inside for more than three or four days, they should receive the lacking minerals. The easiest way to supply the minerals is to swab or spray the sow's udder daily with a solution of one-half pound of copperas (ferrous sulphate) in one quart of water.

Farmers Are Urged To Inspect Grain Storage

Bran bugs and weevils are big enemies of grain stored in granaries, points out County Agricultural Agent Louis G. Hall. He urges farmers to inspect their stored grain regularly from now on for evidence of damage by these insects.

Heated grain is a good indication that these pests are at work. Bran bugs and weevils can cause grain to heat enough to cause great damage in addition to the injury done by their feeding. Warm weather during the fall is very favorable for grain insects.

Fumigation is the best means of getting rid of bran bugs and weevil once they infest the grain. Ray L. Janes, extension entomologist at Michigan State college advises that careful attention must be paid to the conditions under which fumigation is done. The granary must be tight enough to prevent the fumigating material from escaping through the walls while fumigating is being done. The temperature of the grain must be above 65 degrees Fahrenheit when the work is done. The fumigant should be placed deeply in the stored grain and both granary and grain left undisturbed for 72 hours after treatment.

Janes recommends a mixture of three parts of ethylene dichloride and one part of carbon tetrachloride for fumigating. The carbon tetrachloride is essential because ethylene dichloride is explosive when used alone. Both substances are poisonous and must be used with great care. Avoid breathing the fumes. The mixture is used at the rate of one gallon to 200 bushels of grain.

Take the capacity of the granary into consideration, since one gallon of the mixture will not be enough for 200 bushels of grain in a 1000 bushel capacity granary. The county agricultural agent also can give further information on the fumigation of stored grain.

There are three types of lives that one beholds daily. There are persons who live ARTIFICIALLY, those who live SUPERFICIALLY, and those who live SACRIFICIALLY.

Artifice has but the skill of the craftsman's hand to make it appear what it is now. You cannot fool a honey bee with artificial flowers, nor could the bee gather pollen from them.

The superficial life is a veneer, covered over, like most of our furniture. It will not stand the test of years and in time all deceptive veneer is exposed.

Sacrificial life is not popular but it is powerful. The sacrificial life is the "laid down" life. Lay your life down for others and God will pick it up for Himself. This is a product of Calvary. Its motto is simply "Others".

ARE YOU LIVING ARTIFICIALLY, SUPERFICIALLY, OR SACRIFICIALLY?

YOU.. ONE-MAN HUSKING CREW

The new CORN HARVESTER converts your WC Tractor into a one-man picker in a half-hour or less. Tractor-mounted, it opens up the field on the first round. There's no hand picking—one man driving the tractor does the whole job.

The CORN HARVESTER is simple and compact. Over four-fifths of its weight is carried on the rear tractor wheels, giving extra traction for soft ground conditions. That's why it husks where heavier pickers mire down.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Gene Alleman
(Special To The Herald)

Lansing — Unlike the weather about which we talk constantly, yet never do anything about, Michigan rural health is due for improvement.

Here's a frank picture of the problem. It's not pretty one.

Among Michigan rural youths, rejections for military service were higher than among city youths. Some of their physical defects were due—of all things!—to faulty nutrition.

Because farmers have received only about one-tenth of the national income during the past decade or so, the following conditions prevailed in Michigan farm homes as of 1940.

Less than one-third had running water—a simple convenience that was available to 97 out of 100 Michigan city homes. Only one out out of six farm homes had an indoor toilet, or a bath tub or shower. The city average was nine out of ten homes. One out of four farm homes had central heating; one of seven cooked with gas or electricity. One of eight had mechanical refrigeration; one of four had a telephone. In fact, in only one county—Washtenaw—did as many as one-half of the farm homes have a telephone.

Furthermore, better pay and a trend to specialization have combined to attract new doctors to cities. Alcona county, for example, had 2,732 persons per active physician in 1943 (a war-time year) as compared with 828 persons per doctor in Wayne county, Detroit. Lack of modern hospitals in rural areas also contributed to the steady decline of physicians there.

First: Price inflation has set a new high mark for farm income. Cash receipts in 1946 were 208 per cent above the average for 1935 to 1939, according to Uncle Sam's department of agriculture. Farmers came out of the war with cash in the sock. Many of them are modernizing their homes.

Second: Michigan physicians, members of the Michigan State Medical Society have rolled up their sleeves—to use a phrase—and are going to do something about lagging rural health. The first state rural health conference was held a few days ago at Michigan State College under auspices of the medical society. Cooperating agencies included the Michigan State Grange and Michigan Farm Bureau.

Out of this conference came several constructive steps.

Medical scholarships will be awarded to students who will practice in rural communities for a minimum period of three to five years. Local health councils are to be established to "assist, coordinate and implement all programs contributing to the health of the people." "Medical associates" are to be recruited to assist doctors in their actual work. Medical and hospital insurance benefits will be extended to Michigan rural residents by the Michigan Medical Service's Blue Cross. The first community-wide enrollment is set for St. Johns (Clinton county) in October.

Dr. Emory W. Morris, Battle Creek, president of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, and Dr. A. C. Furstenberg, dean of the U. of M. Medical School, recommended that rural hospitals provide office facilities for doctors, nurses, dentists and public health officials.

The above program is a harbinger of what is coming. Better health for Michigan farm folk is on the way.

IT'S CHEAPER TO KEEP WELL!

Don't Neglect An Early Fall Cold

Very often we are likely to neglect a slight cold, thinking, of course, that it will be "better tomorrow"

Our advice, however, is to check a cold when it first starts. We have many medicines to do such a job, quickly and harmlessly. Colds, allowed to run, often lead to other illness, loss of work and money.

So, get a remedy for your cold when it starts. If it does not respond rapidly to home treatment, call your doctor. And when he gives you a prescription, bring it to us for careful compounding with fresh, potent drugs.

Ronald Harris New Secretary Of C of C Here

WILL ASSUME DUTIES ABOUT MID-NOVEMBER; NOW SECRETARY IN CADILLAC

Ronald E. Harris has been named as the first full-time secretary of the newly organized Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, and he will assume his duties here about mid-November, it was announced today by Earl L. Wickwire, president of the organization. Mr. Harris is at the present time secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in Cadillac. He resigned his office there on Tuesday of this week, effective November 15, the board in that city accepting his resignation "with regrets."

Mr. Harris visited in Tecumseh last week, and last Friday evening he met with the board of directors of the Tecumseh Chamber. At that time the board tendered him a contract for the secretary's post here and he tentatively accepted, pending his resignation to his board in Cadillac.

Mr. Harris is well known in Chamber of Commerce activities in Michigan. He has been secretary of the Chamber in Cadillac for more than three years, and is secretary of the Michigan association of Chamber of Commerce Secretaries. He has a very favorable record of activites in his home city. Prior to entering the Chamber work he taught in the Cadillac public schools. He is a graduate of Alma College, and 42 years og age.

It is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Harris and their two children will visit in Tecumseh later this month and make preliminary plans for moving here soon after the middle of November. Mr. Harris is a nephew of Ernest Harris, who resides on the North Union street (Newberg) road.

"I recall visiting here in my elementary school hays at my uncle's home," Harris said. "However the Tecumseh of today is much different than it was then. The house building that is being done here surprises me, and I recognize that Tecumseh has a challenge to meet if it is to keep pace with its industrial growth."

Until larger offices can be secured, the board authorized the rental of office space for the new secretary in the building occupied by Wade L. Jones. It also approved the installation of a telephone.

The work of soliciting memberships in the Chamber is continuing under the direction of a committee headed by Leon P. Williamson. At the present time about 160 persons and firms have affiliated with the Chamber, and pledges total more than $16,000 for the first year's operation. However, there still are more than 50 firms and individuals to be contacted for membership, and this work is being accomplished as rapidly as it is possible for the committee to work.

New O. E. S. Officers Will Be Installed

The new officers of the Tecumseh Order of the Eastern Star will be installed at a semi-public installation service October 23. Elected Thursday evening they are as follows: worthy matron, Mrs. LaRue Hart; worthy patron, Chester Beach; associate matron, Mrs. Chester Beach; assistant patron, Clark Rathbun; secretary, Mrs. Lynn Harris; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Driffill; conductress, Mrs. Kenton Hunt; associate conductress, Mrs. Warren Benham.

During the business session that evening arrangements were made for the Lenawee-Monroe county association meeting to be held here November 11. Mrs. Hart is the general chairman and Mrs. Dwight Hodges will have charge of the dinner arrangements.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs William F. Wright and her committee.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD

Funeral services for O. Mack Cooley were held Friday afternoon at the Dunn Funeral Home in Onsted with the Rev. F. D. Hague officiating. He died last Tuesday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Pawson of Tipton. Burial was in the Maple Shade cemetery.

The bearers were Edward Turner, Ray Redfield, Louis Drum, Sewell Fish, Arthur Johnson and Joseph Sutton. Friends and relatives attended from Brooklyn, Tipton, Jackson, Adrian, Morenci, Addison, Detroit, Parma, Hastings and Hudson.

Joseph C. Satterthwaite Gets State Appointment

Joseph C. Satterthwaite, Tecumseh man, has accepted an appointment from the State Department as deputy director of the Office of Near Eastern and African Affairs.

In 1936 and 1937 he was secretary for two American delegations at conferences at Buenos Aires, Argentina and Cairo, Egypt, and was later second secretary of a legation and consul at Bagdad. In April Satterthwaite led an American mission to Nepal, an isolated mountain kingdom, on the northeastern border of India, where diplomatic and commercial relations were established between the U. S. and that country.

Mr. Satterthwaite also served three and a half years at Ankara, Turkey, and two years as charge d'affaires at Damascus.

RIVALRY GAME TO BE PLAYED UNDER THE LIGHTS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

The Tecumseh high school Indians, tied with Hudson for second place in the Lenawee County League, will meet the league-leading Clinton Redskins on the gridiron at Recreation Center, Friday evening at 8 p. m. The game is expected to attract a record crowd because rivalry between the two schools has always been high.

Clinton thus far has played three games, two of them out of the league. The Redskins lost, 18-7 to Saline and 40-0 to Dexter. Last Friday, however, they defeated Blissfield, 32-0.

Tecumseh thus far dropped a game to Milan, outside the league, and played a scoreless tie with Hudson. Sport fans predict a beating for Clinton, although the Redskins will use all of their power to maintain first position.

"White Church" On US-112 To Hold Mission Festival

"The Little White Church On The Highway," St. James on U. S. 112, half-way between Clinton and Saline, again announces its annual Mission Festival, to be observed Sunday, October 12. Two services are scheduled, one in the morning at 10 o'clock and the second in the evening at 7:45. In the morning service the Rev. Victor Schoen of Hamilton, Ohio, will be the guest speaker. The Rev. Mr. Schoen, born and raised in Chelsea, is the son of the well known Rev. Albert Schoen, now living in retirement in Dexter. He, too, is a son of this community, born and raised in Freedom township. As pastor, he served three congregations in Washtenaw county for the greatest part of his long ministerial life.

In the evening service the Rev. Mr. Schoen will conduct the liturgical part of the service and two sons of two prominent preacher families will deliver appropriate messages. They are the Rev. Theophil Goebel of Royal Oak, and the Rev. J. P. Meyer, D. D. of Detroit.

All members and friends of "The Little White Church On The Highway" as well as the public are invited.

The Sunday school will also celebrate a fine mission program at 11:15 a.m.

As in previous years the church will be decorated with flowers, fruit, vegetables and canned goods. All the contributions of farm and garden will be given to Cleveland Bible College. The motto of these harvest home services is "No offering too small — no offering too large."

All desiring to make a contribution are asked to bring it to the church as early as possible on Saturday, so that it may be used in the decorations. The public is invited to attend the services.

School Growth Problems Aired

TECUMSEH'S PER PUPIL EDUCATION COSTS LOWER THAN OTHER COMMUNITIES

Although the enrollment of Tecumseh's public schools has nearly doubled in the last 13 years, its per capita cost of education is lower than in many other communities in the county operating elementary and high schools. This fact was revealed Tuesday evening at a round-table discussion of the local school problem, following a dinner-meeting of the Rotary Club at Brees House.

Tecumseh's per capita cost of educating a child is $121 a year, LeRoy Titley, township supervisor and a member of the Rotary discussion panel, declared. In Blissfield the cost is $135, at Clinton it is $128, Onsted has a cost of $122 and Adrian's cost is $154.

"We sometimes wonder where our money goes that we pay in taxes for education but when we compare costs here and elsewhere," Mr. Titley said, "we find that Tecumseh must not be wasting its money."

W. L. Berkhof, superintendent of schools, led the discussion, pointing out that Tecumseh is on the eve of a new building program, necessitated by growth. He declared that 13 years ago the total enrollment here was 636, in all grades. This year, he said [illegible]

"We are growing steadily, and it would be difficult to predict next year's enrollment. We now are using the library, St. Peter's church and the East Branch building to house our students, in addition to the Brownville school. Next year, we may be forced to use store buildings to accommodate a boosted enrollment."

Mr. Berkhof is hopeful that the first unit of a proposed new high school building here may be built in 1950, but he pointed out that immediate steps should be taken to learn whether or not rural districts in this area desire to consolidate with Tecumseh. Some of these districts now are sending their children to the local school.

"We should not build a building half large enough to house our future enrollment from these districts, if they intend to send their children here, and some decision should be made in the near future on this part of the program," the superintendent said.

Bruce W. Hoffman and Earl Wickwire discussed the advantages of consolidated schools. Mr. Hoffman said that while such a plan is opposed by some folk at its inception, it generally wins complete approval once it is in operation. Mr. Wickwire pointed out that trade follows its school children and expressed an opinion that it would be beneficial to Tecumseh to attract rural children to its schools.

Lester Baker of Franklin school district No. 2 said that the job of transporting children to a consolidated school is the greatest problem. "We want to give our children the best education possible but we feel that it is difficult to transport children in kindergarten through the third grade to distant schools."

The fact that early elementary schools would be operated at Clinton, Tipton, Macon and Ridgeway for these small children might solve the problem, Mr. Baker believed.

Wilfred Waldron of District No. 5, now sending its children to Tecumseh schools, favored the consolidation plan. He recognized the transportation problem but believed it could be overcome.

In all probability the discussion program on the schools will be continued at a future Rotary meeting in an effort to clarify other problems in connection with proposed consolidation.

NOTICE

Effective at once, the hours of the Tecumseh Dairy Store are as follows: Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, 8 a.m., to 6 p.m.,; Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, 8 a.m., to 10 p.m.,; closed all day on Thursday.

Council Fails To Act On Parking Meter Plan

Representatives of two parking meter firms met with members of the village council, in session Monday evening, but the council failed to make ony contract with either of the firms, and neither was there any announcement as to when meters might be installed on Tecumseh's streets, following the meeting.

The village already has enacted an ordinance, requiring parallel parking in the downtown district, but the law has not yet been enforced. In all probability, it will not be enforced until parking meters have been purchased and placed.

Parallel parking will reduce by about 50 percent the amount of parking space in the business district. While such a program has been frowned upon locally, it was insisted upon by the state as a safety measure.

There was little other business before the council at its Monday meeting. Current bills were audited and paid, and reports of committees and department heads were read and placed on file.

Westminster Fellowship Will Elect Officers

Meeting at the Presbyterian Manse last Sunday evening, the Westminster Fellowship began its 1947-48 program. Seventeen young people of high school and junior high age met for a period of discussion led by Jerry Spafford. Following a service of worship refreshments were served by Mrs. John Saling, Mrs. Jerry Spafford and Mrs. Donald Wilson.

Election of officers and appointment of working committees will be made at the meeting to be held this Sunday at the Presbyterian church at 6:45 p.m. All young people of high school or junior high age are cordially invited to be present at this time. The aim of the Fellowship will be to provide programs of service, recreation, and worship for young people. The cooperation of parents is invited and encouraged.

TO HOLD FINAL MEET

The Tecumseh Garden Club will hold the final meeting of the season Friday, October 17, at 2 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Al Helzerman. There will be an election of officers and Mrs. Wm. Berkhof will give a book review. The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Ralph Helzerman, Mrs. Mertie Waring and Mrs. Guy Pocklington.

GRANGE TO ELECT

The Tecumseh Grange will hold their annual election of officers Thursday evening. A potluck supper will be served at 7 o'clock.

Meatless Tuesdays, eggless and poultryless Thursdays and a general "tightening of the belt" program of food-saving, nation-wide, in an effort to relieve starvation conditions in war-torn Europe, went into effect in the United States Monday.

President Truman and Charles Luckman, chairman of the Citizens Food Committee, both have made appeals to the nation to make immediate sacrifices that the government may continue to carry out its food aid to Europe program. "All segments of our population" must cooperate to conserve grain for Europe, the President said in a radio appeal to the country.

Here, in a nutshell, is the appeal that was made from the White House:

The public:

(A) Meatless Tuesdays, (B) poultryless and eggless Thursdays and (C) the saving of one slice of bread a day by every American.

Public eating places:

(A) Co-operation in the meatless, poultryless and eggless days campaign and (B) the serving of bread and butter only when patrons ask for them.

The grain exchanges:

An increase to at least one-third down payment, or margin, requirements on grain purchases. If they do not comply, Mr. Truman said, "the government may find it necessary to limit the amount of trading."

The distillers:

A complete 60-day shutdown at the earliest possible moment. (More than one-half the industry already has pledged a 50 per cent curtailment of the use of wheat).

The brewers:

A greater cut in grain consumption than they promised Saturday night, when two industry groups agreed to recommend that breweries stop using wheat and turn loose stocks they have on hand.

The bakers:

Unspecified grain-saving measures, both in manufacturing and distribution of bread, which Luckman said will save up to one-tenth of the wheat they use.

The farmers:

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

By direction of President Truman, this week will be observed as Fire Prevention Week. In his proclamation, the President invited all business, labor, civic, religious and charitable groups and organizations, and all agencies of the press, radio and the moving picture industry, to cooperate fully with the objective of initiating a fire prevention campaign continuing throughout the year."

The word "continuing" goes to the heart of the matter. It will serve no purpose if we think of fire prevention for a single week and then promptly forget it. The officially designated week must simply be a starting point. The fight against one of the worst destroyers of life and property must go on unabated.

According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, U. S. fire losses may exceed $700,000,000 this year — the highest in our history. That is twice the destruction caused by the burning of San Francisco — and more than three times the devastation wreaked by the German air force on Britain in any single year. Deaths by fire will probably exceed 10,000 and may also set a new and ghastly record.

Those figures alone should be enough to awaken America to the fact that fire loss has become a grave emergency. And every one of us should remember that fire respects no one — your home, your life, may be taken next. During the Week everyone will be given the opportunity to learn the causes of fire, and how to prevent it. Then it will be up to the people.

Farmers Appreciate Our 4-Yard Service

Farmers in this area — always busy with their work and always finding buildings in need of repair — really appreciate the service they get at our four yards — in Tecumseh, Clinton, Britton and Dundee.

They appreciate our service because they know that the tremendous purchasing power of our four yards makes available to them ALL of the materials they need for minor or major repairs or new construction. It eliminates the necessity of "running around" for the things they need. They know that they can visit our yards with the assurance that they can buy what they want.

We pride ourselves on the service we are able to render to our farm trade. Our high quality materials give long-lasting satisfaction, and our prices are always the lowest possible in keeping with market conditions.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Tell You're Getting Old

Doc Walters gave me this formula: It's a sure-fire sign you're getting old when you resent other people having a good time.

And the Doc means it hasn't much to do with age. There are old folks in our town who get a big kick out of seeing other people enjoy themselves—seems to keep them young in spirit, with a twinkle in their eyes!

And there are some others who resent the young folks going fishing; who feel that community games and dances are just a waste of time; or who criticize temperate people for enjoying a mellow glass of beer with friends.

They're often well-intentioned folks, too. But from where I sit, the minute we criticize our neighbors for enjoying wholesome pleasures —like a game of horseshoes, a glass of beer, or an afternoon's fishing—it's a sure sign we're growing old (in spirit anyway) no matter what our age is.

Changing Temperatures Bring Coughs, Colds

Fall weather with its changing temperatures is likely to bring coughs and colds—illness that may lead to serious complications.

Don't neglect the so-called common cold. Statistics show that more time is lost from work because of the "common cold" than from any other illness.

We have all of the home remedies for the treatment of colds, but if they do not respond readily to home treatment, call your physician. And bring his prescription to us for careful compounding.

Miss Ethel C. Rohn Bride Of Chas. Aebersold

Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Raisin Valley Friends Church Miss Ethel Charlotte Rohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Rohn, of Rt. 3, Adrian, and Charles Aebersold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aebersold of Tecumseh, spoke their nuptial vows before an altar arranged with baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums, palms, and candelabra. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was played by Harold Black, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, who also accompanied Howard William Moore, who sang "Because" after which he sang "Always" as the bridal party stood before the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a satin and lace gown styled with a fitted bodice of lace, and the apron front of matching lace. The high yoke of net was trimmed with seed pearls and tiny satin covered buttons extended down the back. More of the delicate lace cascaded down the sides of the full court train. A Juliet cap with a wreath of orange blossoms caught the fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. Her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Arlene Addleman, as her sister's matron of honor, wore a gown of American Beauty taffeta featuring an off the shoulder fitted bodice and a high necklined yoke of net, and a full skirt. She wore full length gauntlets of the same material and carried a bouquet of peacock blue carnations. Her headdress of ostrich feathers was of a matching blue.

Mrs. Harold Black, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Donna Guilford, as the bridesmaids were gowned in peacock blue taffeta styled similarly to that of the matron of honor. They wore American beauty ostrich plumes as headdresses and carried hand bouquets of American Beauty roses and cream-colored chrysanthemums.

Benny Hammock of Tecumseh was best man and the ushers were Donald Rohn, brother of the bride, and Donald Aebersold, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 120 guests. The linen covered table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Lighted tapers completed the decorations. The cake was cut by Miss Marian Aebersold and Mrs. Raymond Aebersold, Mrs. Leslie Aebersold, Mrs. Warren Reed, Miss Kathryn Calkins, Miss Lois Mitchell and Miss Jean Guilford assisting with the serving.

The couple left for a motor trip through the southern states with the bride wearing a brown glen plaid suit and accessories of green suede. She wore a corsage of roses and carnations from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will reside in their home at 809 College avenue, Adrian.

Mrs. Aebersold graduated from Adrian high school in 1945 and has been employed in the office of the Electric Service Company. Mr. Aebersold, graduating from Tecumseh high school in 1945, served one year and a half in the Army Air Corps, with 11 months spent in Japan. He is now employed at the Tecumseh Products Company.

WHICH SIDE ARE YOU ON?

There are not less than ten churches within the village limits.

The population of Tecumseh is roughly 3,500. IF each church had 100 adults and 75 children ATTENDING regularly this would account for 1,750 members of the community.

What shall we do with the other 50% of the people?

No town, no state, no nation will long survive if the soul of its people be neglected. Can we in Tecumseh begin to change the picture?

Michigan Blood Bank Needs Aid

FIVE TIMES AS MUCH "STORED BLOOD" IS NEEDED TO MEET DEMAND

"Michigan people must give five times as much blood as they are giving at the present time if blood plasma and fractions are to be available to all who need them after current Red Cross wartime surpluses are exhausted," Dr. A. B. Mitchell, Medical Director, Blood Plasma Program, Bureau of Laboratories, Michigan Department of Health, said today, marking the fourth anniversary of the Michigan Blood Plasma Program.

He pointed out three notable changes in the Michigan program during the past year—the beginning of production of blood fractions, the preparation of volunteer emergency donor lists, and the addition of a full time American Red Cross executive for the state program.

"I think that the Michigan Department of Health will be distributing blood fractions before the year is out", Dr. Mitchell said.

While the Red Cross surplus blood plasma is being used, the Department is storing bulk blood and setting up fractionation procedure. Actual fractionating began in July of this year, and will ultimately go on a quantity production basis. Blood fractions are those parts of blood such as serum albumin which can be used for the treatment of kidney disorders; and globulin which can be used to prevent or modify measles after exposure and possibly other ailments. The serum albumin from one quantity of blood can be used for treating one group of persons and the globulin of the same blood can be used for treatment of another group of persons. Fractions will be distributed back to the counties of the state in proportion to the amount of blood contributed by the county.

Dr. Mitchell said that for the first time this year, the blood donor clinics are compiling lists of volunteer donors in each community who are willing to give blood in an emergency when plasma or blood might not be available through regular channels. The lists bear the names, addresses, blood type and RH factor of the volunteer donor. These lists have been prepared for 37 county Red Cross chapters.

During the year also the American Red Cross added a full time executive, Miss Ann McMechen, to administer its responsibilities with regard to the program—the building up of donor interest, the advertisement of the clinics, and the making of arrangements for housing and assistance. The addition of this person is credited with having started the volunteer program out of the serious decline which beset it after the war.

The demand for plasma is increasing generally throughout the state while collections of blood have been decreasing. More than 26,250 units of blood plasma were used in the treatment of 7,942 persons during the past fiscal year, while in the year previous 16,252 units of plasma were used in treating 6,180 persons.

While the 26,250 units of stored plasma were being used during the past year, only 3,071 units could have been made from the 7,244 pints of blood collected from 8,264 donors during the year. However, an upward trend in the number of donors appeared during the first six months of 1947 for the first time since the war. In the last six months of 1946, only 2,960 donors registered, while in the next six months, 5,304 registered.

Of the 83 counties in the state, 75 are participating in the blood plasma program. Six others are now being furnished plasma although they are not participating. A total of 168 hospitals serve as distribution centers. Because the blood plasma and fractions being used at the present time are Red Cross surpluses, they are available to any county in the state, where they are needed, in any quantity. When these surpluses are exhausted, only those counties which have donated blood may have the free plasma and fractions, and they have them only in amounts comparable to that extracted from the blood donated by the particular county.

The Michigan Blood Plasma project was the ambition of the late Dr. Cyrus Young, Past Director of the Bureau of Laboratories of Michigan Department of Health. He foresaw blood plasma for all who needed it without question of finances involved. The program began September 27, 1943. The plan on which it began, operation was fashioned after the one set up on a national basis by Dr. William DeKleine, Commissioner of Health, to afford blood to save lives of servicemen.

The blood is collected from volunteers in clinics named by Michigan Department of Health technical personnel and Red Cross volunteer assistants. It is transported by Michigan Department of Health personnel in refrigerated containers to the Laboratories where it is fractionated. The plasma or fractions of the blood collected in a county are credited to that county for use by physicians in the community. No charge may be made for the plasma and no charge may be made for the fractions when they are available. Plasma is stocked in every general hospital in the participating counties of the state. Minutes are of a life and death importance when a transfusion is required. The State Police rush additional quantities when they are needed in emergencies.

Up to the present time, about one half of the plasma has been used to hasten recovery of persons undergoing ordinary surgery, as being treated for injuries. Next most common use is in conditions associated with pregnancy. Burns, which account for but a small number of patients treated, acually require the use of large amounts of plasma also. Another use recently developed is in the treatment of undernourished infants and premature babies. Fractionation of blood increases the number of products of blood which will reduce the morbidity and mortality rates of the state, Dr. Mitchell pointed out.

Less Dinner — Thinner

Some men would look more spick if they didn't have so much span.

HOWDY FOLKS: The young man was saying:" When I think that tomorrow is your birthday, and when I think that I didn't know you a year ago—" She interrupted with: "Don't let us talk about the past. Let's talk about my present."

Professor: "I don't either. But it's the lowest mark I can possibly give."

Then there was the man who complained, "My wife has the worst memory." The friend said: "You mean she forgets things?" "No," was the answer, "I mean she remembers everything."

And we remember to give extra service when you come here for gas and oil. That's one reason it pays you big dividends to make this place your headquarters for gas, oil and lubrication. The other and bigger reason, of course, is the superior quality of our products.

Products Sales To Soar To 40 Millions

Community Fund Goal Is $5,033

LOCAL "RED FEATHER" DRIVE TO GET UNDER WAY NEXT MONDAY MORNING

Tecumseh Community Fund's "Red Feather" campaign will get under way next Monday morning, October 20, and between that date and October 31 it is hoped that its goal of $5,033 will have been reached.

"Give once for all," will be the slogan of the drive, which this year will be directed by Vance Ogden as chairman. He will be assisted by a number of committee chairmen and others, yet to be named.

The directors of the Fund held a budget meeting at the United Savings Bank, Monday evening, and these organizations will participate in this year's collections: The Tecumseh Child Study Club; the Tecumseh Girl Scouts and Brownies; the Tecumseh Health Education Committee; the Tecumseh Recreation Center for summer playground supervision; the Tecumseh Hospital Auxiliary; the Wolverine Council, Boy Scouts of America; the Tecumseh Unit of the Cancer Society, and a reserve fund for local emergency relief.

"It is the aim of the trustees of the Community Fund to include any group that is rendering a community-wide service, similar in nature to any of the above groups, so that each year only one appeal will be made to the public," a statement issued by the board said. It was pointed out, however, that the campaign does not include state or national groups that make an appeal for funds either by mail or personal solicitation.

The Tecumseh Community Fund is incorporated, and at a meeting of the trustees last Friday evening, Perry Satterthwaite and Robert H. Moore were re-elected directors. These officers were named: Geo. H. Adamson, president; Mr. Satterthwaite, vice-president; and the Rev. Edward Escolme, secretary-treasurer. Other directors are John R. Thompson, R. G. Fuller and Howard Diedrich.

YOUNG VISITORS TO "FREEDOM TRAIN" . . . Whole classes of Philadelphia's school children form long lines to await their turn to go aboard the "Freedom Train" to view the historic documents that are the foundation stones of American liberties. The train will carry its precious cargo on a swing around the entire nation this fall, visiting some 300 communities.

Clinton Loses Tilt To Indians

NEXT HOME GAME TO BE PLAYED AGAINST MICHIGAN CENTER, OCT. 24TH

By Pat Wilson

The Clinton Redskins, garbed in their brightest war paint, made a gallant attempt to uspet the Tecumseh high school Indian's tepees at Recreation gridiron, Friday evening, but their efforts were thwarted, and when the smoke cleared away Coach Runk's proteges were on the long end of a 6-0 score.

Coach Van Winkle's footballers and their followers were very much intent upon giving the Indians a sound shellacking to defend their top-flight position in the Lenawee County League. And the only thing that prevented was an exceptionally well-executed pass play in the first quarter from Gillen to Corkery, the watch at the end of the second quarter, plus a real "do-or-die" stand at the goal line in the final stanza.

The game, played under the lights, had many thrills. Hammond, hard-running Clinton back, caused Tecumseh considerable trouble. However, when the Redskins pushed the ball deep into Tecumseh's territory, the Indians dug in and held. Tecumseh scored a second touchdown at the opening of the second half on a pass from Gillen to Corkery, the play being set up by the old sleeper method. The ball was called back, however, as both teams were off-side.

Tecumseh, taking over on their own three-yard stripe in the fourth quarer, put on a substained drive down the field which netted six consecutive first downs, but gave up the pigskin on Clinton's 25-yard line. The drive was featured by colorful end runs by Anderson, Colson and Gillen.

Outstanding players for Clinton were Hammond in the backfield and F. Tirb in the line. For Tecumseh, Gillen and Colson in the backfield, and Brown, Tilton and Purkey in the line.

The Indians will play their last home game of the season next week Friday evening at Recreation against Michigan Center. The kickoff will be at 8 o'clock, and admission prices will remain the same.

The team showed marked improvement over previous exhibitions. Many fans were present to witness this traditional encounter, and were very much satisfied with what they saw. It was a great game played by two pretty well matched teams.

Clinton—Curtis, RE; Bellmore, RT; Thomas, RG; Carton, C; G. Tirb; Vanderpool, LE; Geiger, QB; Haas, RH; Hammond, LH; Parker, FB.

Camera Fans Organize Club Here

Did you ever "listen in" on a group of folks who have as a hobby the taking of pictures. They sure warm up to the subject! And if the turn out and interest shown in the first two meetings of the camera fans numbered among Tecumseh Products employees and others here is any indication of what will happen over the next few months, it appears that Tecumseh will have a live club.

Last Thursday night, 32 attended the second meeting of the group which was held in the Products Workers Union room in the Ford Building. Elmer Harper, president of the United Products Workers Union, which is sponsoring the club, presided over a short business session. It was decided to make the club a community affair, and any one here who is interested in photography is invited to be present at the next meeting to be held November 13 in the same room in the Ford Building. A further announcement will be made in the Herald.

To present names for officers of the club at the next meeting the following nominating committee was appointed: Lester Tucker, chairman, Lewis Lent, Mabel Lockwood, Mrs. Duncan Oliphant, John Dunbar and Harold Jeffries. Everyone attending the next meeting is invited to bring a name suggestion for the club, and a prize will be awarded for the one selected.

HOFFMAN EXPRESSES HIS APPRECIATION TO COMMUNITY FOR CONTRIBUTIONS

Bruce Hoffman of Myers Aircraft Co., general chairman of the Sister Kenny Fund drive which recently ended here, today expressed his thanks and appreciation to the community for its gifts, and to those who assisted in the campaign.

The drive this year, Mr. Hoffman said, netted approximately the same amount as a year ago. Contributions this year totaled $356.20, and last year's gifts were $357. A total of $183 was received in "milk bottle collar" contributions, $105 came from factories, and $68.28 from cans left in stores and offices.

Mr. Hoffman said that he especially desired to thank those who worked with him on the campaign. In this group he listed Ray W. Herrick, Clarence Beach, Glenn Kohler, Clarence Gilman, W. J. Bruce and The Tecumseh Herald.

"I had hoped that Tecumseh might exceed the amount it gave to the Kenny fund this year over last year, but we are very grateful for a generous contribution," Mr. Hoffman said in making the announcement. "We all know that the Kenny Foundation does a wonderful work, and we are all conscious of the need for fighting infantile paralysis."

Mr. Hoffman has forwarded Tecumseh's gift to the Kenny offices in Detroit.

Building Code Is Law, Nov. 8th

PROVIDES FOR OFFICE OF INSPECTOR, PRESCRIBES METHODS AND MATERIALS

A new building code, which provides for the establishment of the office of building inspector and prescribes methods and materials to be used in future construction within the village, will become effective here on Saturday, November 8. The ordinance was approved by the council in September, and is published in its entirety in other pages of this newspaper.

The new ordinance is similar in pattern to building codes now in effect in other Michigan towns and cities and carries a penalty for violation. Permits must be obtained for all construction and repair of buildings where costs exceed $100, and in cases of new construction where permits are issued, plans and specifications of proposed building must be kept on the premises at all times. Also, periodical inspection of new construction must be made by the inspector, for which a charge is made.

The code also specifies the size of dwellings that may be built, the size of bedrooms, bathrooms, etc., the number of windows in such rooms, and how they may be constructed. It also provides methods for the laying of foundations, specified quality, thickness and depth, and details most other construction in houses or other buildings.

It is expected that before the ordinance becomes effective next month the council, will at the suggestion of the president, name an inspector who must be a building engineer or a person with at least 10 years of building experience. The appointment is made by the village president, and he holds office at the pleasure of the president.

While Tecumseh has had a so-called building ordinance for several years, the new law is far more specific in the old one, detailing types and sizes of materials to be used in building, and also touches upon plumbing and electrical practices, which must conform to state codes.

2 HURT IN ACCIDENT

Two persons were injured in an automobile accident which occurred Sunday morning about 2:30 near the Britton railroad crossing. A car driven by Bert Bolster, Tecumseh, had slowed down at the railroad and another car, driven by Ifnael Rangel of Route 1, Tecumseh collided from the rear with the Bolster car doing some damage. The Rangel car then passed over the tracks and struck a tree. Rangel and another one of the other three passengers, Rosalio Rentario of Britton, were injured and removed to the Tecumseh hospital. Rentario was released Tuesday.

Company Is Considering Fabricating Its Materials

Might Mean Growth of Tecumseh to 25,000 Or More; Payrolls of $15,000,000

Picturing Tecumseh Products Company as the employer of more than 6,000 persons — and it would employ at least that number if it fabricated all of the materials it is now assembling — Ray W. Herrick, Products president, believes that Tecumseh may eventually become a city of 25,000 to 35,000 persons, with payrolls exceeding $15,000,000 annually.

"I don't think that any such boom will come today or tomorrow, but I do want to acquaint you with some of the possibilities we are considering at our plant as our employment climbs steadily upward and our volume of sales nears the $35,000,000 mark," Mr. Herrick said. He was speaking to the Rotary Club, following dinner at Brees House, Tuesday evening.

"We are the largest manufacturers of electrical refrigeration equipment in the world, and we intend to defend the title. To do this we must keep our prices and our costs in line, because we must meet competition. We may, therefore, be forced to stop buying fabricated items, such as motors, copper wire and tubing, stampings, castings, forgings, etc., and make them ourselves. It is only sensible that we can make them cheaper than we can buy them, plus a saving on freight and hauling.

"At the present time," Herrick continued, "we are employing more than 2,300 persons. We expect to employ 2,500 by the first of January, when we move into our new $350,000 addition. We expect that our sales next year will reach $40,000,000, and that our payroll will exceed $8,000,000. I want you to know that we are growing, that the demand for our product is growing, and that I can see in the future an even greater demand for what we are making. Our customers are all top-rated firms, capable of riding out economic storms."

Herrick then listed a few of the things that his company is buying which might be fabricated here.

"We use daily," he said, "130,000 pounds of steel and next year the amount will grow to 160,000 pounds. We use 106,000 pounds of castings a day, 1,200,000 pounds of refrigeration gas a year, and 6,000 motors daily. We are the largest buyer of electric motors in the world. We use 7,000,000 feet of copper wire daily, 15,000,000 feet of electric cords annually, 18,000,000 pounds of laminated electrical steel a year,

PRODUCTIVE AGRICULTURE

One reason for the economic strength of the United States is the efficiency of the American farmer. The high production of American agriculture means that a steadily increasing proportion of the population has been able to devote its thought and energies to other pursuits.

Scientific, mechanized farming has made far greater strides here than in any other major country. American farmers represent only 2½ per cent of all the farmers of the world — yet they produce about 20 per cent of the world's food supply. There are various reasons for that achievement, and agricultural machinery is one of the most important. Tasks that, abroad, are slowly and laboriously done by hand are swiftly and economically accomplished by machinery here.

This illustrates, in turn, the close realtionship between agriculture and industry. America produces 50 per cent of the world's steel — and it is steel which has made possible the mechanization of agriculture. The first steel plow was produced 110 years ago, and ever since progress in steel and in farm production have gone hand in hand.

The end result is a higher standard of living for all Americans — a more prosperous agriculture — an industrial wage scale unequaled anywhere else — a stronger, richer nation.

Mystery of the Missing Farms

Yep, the number of farms in America is shrinking (by a quarter-million in the last five years!). What's happened to the missing farms? The land has been taken in by other farms, increasing the average size by twenty acres!

Does this growth mean farming's no longer a family enterprise? Just the opposite! More families own farms today than ever—only with labor-saving equipment they can handle more land, more work.

That's as it should be. The family farm is a fortress of democracy—where our free, American life is secure. Where every member cooperates and shares the work . . . living together in temperance and tolerance—temperance that prefers a moderate beverage like beer, and tolerance for a taste that may be different from one's own.

From where I sit, our Family Farms (and they're 96% of all farms) are something that this country can be proud of!

Mr. Home Owner . . .

Your Fuel Dealer Will Pay For Your INSULATION!

Yes, sir, your fuel dealer will pay for your insulation in the amount you save in two, three or four years, through Insulation.

That's something to think about, too, for this winter both coal and fuel oil are difficult to obtain.

If, by chance, there should be any doubt in your mind about the savings that you can make, we invite you to ask the man who lives in an insulated house about his fuel costs. Ask him — he won't care — how much fuel he uses each winter; let him tell you, himself, about the economics of insulation.

IT'S EASY TO INSTALL — INEXPENSIVE TO BUY

And don't be fooled about the high cost of insulating your house. It is very easily installed, in fact many homeowners do the work themselves. The cost of insulating the average-size attic is very economical.

Get the costs on your home. Do the work and begin NOW to enjoy its comforts and its economies.

Their Teeth Are Good

Italian children whose wartime diets contained only a negligible amount of refined sugar have from two to seven times less dental decay than American children of similar age groupings, according to American Dental association. Among children 13 to 15 years of age in Italy investigators found an average of only 0.9 of one tooth showing evidence of caries (decay). For the same age grouping in the United States investigators reported an average of 5.6 teeth with caries experience for children residing in Maryland and an average of 8.06 for New Jersey children. More than half, 53.4 per cent, of Italian children 11 to 15 years of age were found to have caries-free teeth, a condition found in only 1 out of 10 United States children of the same age.

HOWDY FOLKS: Don't read this if you don't like our stories One fellow was painting the ceiling when another entered the room and asked, "Got a good grip on your brush?" The painter said "Yep". "Well, hold it tight. I'm taking away the ladder."

"Goodness, can't we afford a flag?"

Of course you've heard of the man who bought only one spur —because he figured that if one side of the horse went, the other was sure to follow.

With a car it is different. It takes not only gas and oil but also thorough chassis lubrication to make it run smoothly. For real pep, for longer, trouble-free driving, come here regularly for your gas, oil and lubrication. Drive in today.

and 25,000,000 feet of copper tubing every 12 months. We are the second largest buyer of copper tubing in the refrigeration world.

"Aside from this we use 21,000 pounds of brass forgings daily, 33,000,000 cap screws annually, the output of an average size factory. On an average there are 40 car loads of freight in and out of our plant every day.

"We pay an annual freight bill of $300,000, we spend $25,000 a year for express, pay a $25,000 a year phone bill, spend $100,000 a year for electrical power — about half the total amount of all power bills in Tecumseh — and we use 15,000,000 gallons of water a month."

Herrick then told what his company is doing for its employees in the way of paid vacations, hospital and medical benefit, etc.

"Last year, paid vacations cost our company $120,000. They will cost $145,000 next year and $285,000 in four years. Under our hospital, medical benefit plan we paid bills of $45,000 for our employees — the best $45,000 we ever spent, and the most appreciated. Last year we gave our employees $20,000 to help them build new homes. We give every qualified man $200 when he builds a house. That helps him to get started."

Looking to the future, Herrick said that if his company should decide to make its own motors here it would employ 1,200 more persons. A foundry to supply castings would employ another 400, and a stamping plant would employ still another 500. An evaporator and condenser plant would employ 200 and a copper tubing plant would add another 350 to the payroll. To manufacture the cap screws would require an additional 100 employees, and to make the electrical cords and relays needed would require 300 more, plus an additional 200 persons to manufacture other needed parts.

"You readily can see where we would employ more than 6,000 persons if we were to make the things that we now buy and pay a profit for fabrication to someone else," the Products president said.

"We know that prices are beginning to level off, and that competition is beginning to become keen. We also know that we must keep our prices and our costs in line. If we should decide to fabricate our own materials, to hold down our costs, and cut out middle profits and freight, you can easily understand how our payrolls and employment would grow.

"These are a few of the things we are thinking about at our plant as we look to the future," the executive said. "I pass them along to you, as business and professional men, interested in the growth of our community. I realize that if we grow, you, too, must expand. You should know what our plans are, that you may prepare. None of us can stand still, we must go forward or backward. We intend to go forward, and we want the community to keep pace with our growth."

Miss Jean M. Collins Bride of Orval Minney

Miss Jean M. Collins of San Diego, Calif., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Collins of Tecumseh, and Orval H. Minney of San Diego, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denon Minney of Pittsburgh, Pa., were married Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents, 313 W. Pottawatamie Street.

Mrs. Nilo Manso of Detroit, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Martin P. Burke, Jr., of Pittsburgh, was best man. Billy Bruce Berkhof was junior attendant at the double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Jas. E. Bowker of Big Rapids, an uncle of the bride.

Nuptial music and the wedding march were played by Miss Margaret Bowker of Albion College. The Misses Ruth Bowker of Big Rapids and Lorraine Abbott of Toledo, assisted during the reception. Mrs. Jas. Bowker, the bride's aunt, presided at the coffee urn, and Miss Betty McCoy and Mrs. Fred Temple, Detroit, served the bride's cake. Miss Margaret Bowker presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Minney graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1939 and was employed in the offices of R. S. Moore & Son Co., before going into Navy WAVE service, where she served from 1943-46. The past year she has been employed as a bookkeeper in San Diego.

Mr. Minney graduated from Pittsburgh high school and for one year attended the University of Pittsburgh, and has since served in the Navy Air Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Minney will leave by plane Saturday evening for San Diego where they will make their home.

Among the guests present were the groom's parents of Pittsburgh.

Don't Be a "Wish I Had"

Pitying Yourself Won't Pay the Bill

After the accident—after the damage has been done —then it is too late to talk about liability insurance.

Don't be a "wish-I-had" when it comes to buying insurance. DO IT NOW.

Self-pity, feeling sorry, regretting your error will not pay damages. There is only one sure way to protect yourself and that is with complete insurance coverage.

Visitors Cordially Welcome

Rowland Hill used to tell the story of a rich man and a poor man in his congregation. The rich man desired to do an act of benevolence, and so he sent a sum of money to a friend to give to this poor man. The money was sent with just this brief note: "This is thine. Use it wisely. There is more to follow." Again and again he sent money to the poor man, and always there was the note, "More to follow"

So it is with the wonderful grace of God. There is always more to follow! But let us not suppose we can have all we need for the immediate present, that we do not need to worry if God's "more to follow" tarries a while longer.

A man can no more take in a supply of grace for the future than he can eat enough today to last him for the next six months; or take sufficient air into his lungs at once to sustain life for a week to come. We must draw upon God's blessed and boundless store of grace from day to day as we need it.

About The Folks You Know

"Doc" Ferris Hodge, home from a 15,000 mile jaunt to the Near East, has some fine souvenirs of his trip, including a couple of 3,000-year-old rings, a flock of old world knives, some beautiful inlaid woodwork and many other items that to the casual eye seem priceless. "Doc" says its all very nice to take a trip to a foreign country, and that he really enjoyed himself. Confidentially, however, we doubt if he'll be taking another very soon, at least not until things become more settled and peace-like. The good old U.S.A., he says, is, in his opinion, the finest place on earth.

* * * *

Incidentally, the Doctor took 1,400 feet of colored movies while he was on his trip. He is now editing them and is scheduled to make the first public showing at Tecumseh's Town Hall, probably in mid-November, at the high school auditorium. Such a program should attract a capacity audience.

* * * *

The Administration's save-food-for-Europe campaign seems to be catching on in some spots, not in others. We discussed it with a fellow the other day, after he had told us that he had just consumed a fine steak. It was Tuesday, supposedly meatless. "Funny those boys down at Washington didn't think about Europe last Fall," he argued, defending his steak-eating. "Some of the wheat that was burned and some of the potatoes that was kerosened, at government direction, would come in handy now, don't you think? And, he continued, "I'm not too young to remember back a few years ago when the Administration ordered the shooting of pigs and the plowing under of cotton. Gettin' to be a funny place, this land of ours. Just one crisis after another."

* * * *

Incidentally, there's going to be some trouble right here at home if and when the parallel parking of cars in the downtown district is enforced. We know many, many women who come downtown daily to do the family shopping who say that they can't parallel park their cars, and they don't pull their punches when they discuss the proposed program. Of course, the trend is toward parallel parking in all communities, and the State insists upon it here. No one locally can be blamed for the change but, nevertheless, the administration in office when the change comes is going to be discussed.

* * * *

Mike Hite, local hardware man, and a bow and arrow enthusiast, is among the folk in the northland hunting deer. Mike's young daughter, too, is an arrow girl and she shoots target along with her dad. It was only a few weeks ago that they were shooting at a mark in the backyard and daughter's arrow pierced a sparrow that flew into its path. Mike might think that it was an accident but he'll never convince his daughter that it was and, what is more, daughter is hoping that her dad will be her equal fi markmanship in the Roscommon area.

* * * *

A lot of people would never guess it, but Rhae Henkel, aside from being a barber, drills wells as a sort of hobby. Rhae don't believe in "witching" a well — he doesn't deny that there may be something to it, but he listens with his tongue in his cheek. Anyway, he's never "witched" and he's never failed to strike water. When he air conditioned his barber shop he drilled a well in his basement and in just a few minutes, plus a lot of hard work, he had it. And, all summer long, when a lot of us other fellows were mopping our brows, he was cutting hair in a shop where the temperature was in the lower 70's. Kinda nice hobby, eh?

ROBOT SKIPPER . . . Col. James M. Gillespie commanded U. S. robot plane, guided and flown by a "mechanical brain," that made flight from Newfoundland to England with its controls untouched by human hands. The "brain" lowered landing gear and flaps and brought ship to perfect landing in 10 hours and 15 minutes.

CHILD STUDY CLUB HEARS CLINTON WOMEN

The Tecumseh Child Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Wallis Whiting Monday, October 13. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. David Dick and Mrs. L. H. Titley. The club now has a baby buggy for loan in the community as well as a small bed and layette. An interesting program "In Defense of Children" was presented by Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Witherell of the Clinton Child Study Club. These speakers were introduced by Mrs. Ben Mahrle, president of the Clinton Study Club. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Tecumseh Second Largest Employer of Labor In Lenawee

Upswing In Business Is Seen During The Next Sixty Days

Major employers of labor in Lenawee county anticipate an upswing in payrolls during the next 60 days and the addition of at least 400 more workers, Clifford Rice, manager of the Michigan State Employment Service, Adrian, said today. At the present time there are 160 establishments in the county employing eight or more persons each, and the total number of employed persons, as of September 15, in the county, was 13,710, including 3,591 veterans.

During the last six months, Mr. Rice said, the number of companies in the county employing eight or more persons has increased by 19, and the total number employed by these 19 firms is 217.

Tecumseh is the second largest employer of labor in Lenawee. Adrian ranks first with 6,107 male employees and 2,530 females. Tecumseh in second position, has 2,454 male employees and 123 women. Of course, the total number employed in the village is far greater than the 2,577 reported for, it must be remembered, those listed are from insitutions employing eight or more persons. There are dozens of stores and offices here employing fewer than eight and consequently those payrolls are not listed.

Clinton industry ranks third in county employment, Blissfield is fourth, Hudson fifth and Morenci sixth.

Unemployment in the county has declined for the second consecutive month, Mr. Rice pointed out, and immigrants and job changers now constitute the bulk of male jobseekers. The number of female industrial job-applicants, however, has exceeded the local demand. The volume of unemployment compensation claims decreased during the week ending September 26 to 232 compared with 376 during the week of August 30.

Of the total 13,710 persons employed in the county, 10,697 are in the manufacturing industry and government ranks second with 956.

Why?

A teacher was giving a lesson on the circulation of the blood. Trying to make the matter clearer, he said: "Now, boys, if I stood on my head, the blood, as you know, would run into it, and I should turn red in the face."

"Yes, sir"", said the boys.

"Then why is it that while I am standing upright in the ordinary position the blood doesn't run into my feet?"

IN YEARS PAST the expression "GOOD CHEAP" was used to describe an unusual purchase or bargain. The dictionary defines "cheap" as being "a small cost or price as compared with the usual price or real value." This is why we have chosen to describe electric service as good cheap service.

GREDDY KILOWATT, your dependable, efficient, electric servant, is proud that you can refer to him as "cheap." Proud that he gives you value far in excess of the cost of his service to you. Consider for a minute the many tiring tasks he performs around the home—lighting, cooking, refrigeration, water heating, washing clothes, cleaning, radio reception and many others—ALL for only a few cents a day.

YES, REDDY KILOWATT SERVICE IS Good Cheap SERVICE

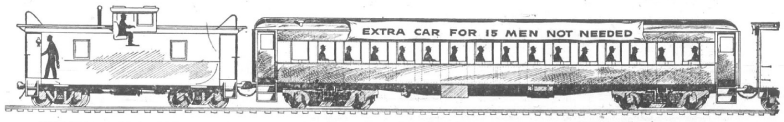
2 BRAKEMEN AND 1 CONDUCTOR COMPLETE THE CREW OF THIS TRAIN [One brakeman usually rides in the locomotive in freight service]



—BUT THE UNION LEADERS WANT 15 EXTRA "SITTERS" ON THIS TRAIN . . . 3 ENGINEERS, 3 FIREMEN, 6 BRAKEMEN AND 3 CONDUCTORS . . . TO GO ALONG FOR THE RIDE AT FULL PAY!

It's to your interest to know about this proposed feather-bedding!

For sheer feather-bedding, this mock work proposal takes the cake. But it is only one of 44 "rules" demands filed by the leaders of the operating unions. If all these demands were granted, they would cost the railroads an added BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR.

Increased Wages, Too

On top of these "rules" changes, the leaders of the operating unions have filed an additional demand for a wage increase of over 30 per cent. If granted, this would be an added cost to the railroads of $400,000,000 a year.

$468,000,000 To Non-Operating Employes

In addition to this, an Arbitration Board has just granted a wage increase of 15½ cents an hour to the million employes represented by the 17 non-operating unions. This will cost the railroads $468,000,000 a year.

Where Will The Money Come From?

Where will all the money come from to pay these increases? They total several times as much as the railroads made in 1946 or will make in 1947.

In July, the railroads filed an application for increased freight rates to close the gap which then existed between wage and material costs, and railroad revenues. Since then it has been necessary, because of further increases in wages and material costs, to supplement that petition and to ask for an additional freight rate increase. No other course is open.

Railroads Do Not Run For Employes Alone

Railroads are operated for the benefit of not one, but several groups—shippers, passengers, employes, stockholders, and the general public. The interest of all must be served—and that cannot be done unless the railroads can operate efficiently and economically, and unless they are allowed to earn sufficient revenue to provide the kind of transportation service this country MUST HAVE.

Why?

A teacher was giving a lesson on the circulation of the blood. Trying to make the matter clearer, he said: "Now, boys, if I stood on my head, the blood, as you know, would run into it, and I should turn red in the face."

"Yes, sir"', said the boys.

"Then why is it that while I am standing upright in the ordinary position the blood doesn't run into my feet?"

IN YEARS PAST the expression "GOOD CHEAP" was used to describe an unusual purchase or bargain. The dictionary defines "cheap" as being "a small cost or price as compared with the usual price or real value." This is why we have chosen to describe electric service as good cheap service.

REDDY KILOWATT, your dependable, efficient, electric servant, is proud that you can refer to him as "cheap." Proud that he gives you value far in excess of the cost of his service to you. Consider for a minute the many tiring tasks he performs around the home — lighting, cooking, refrigeration, water heating, washing clothes, cleaning, radio reception and many others — ALL for only a few cents a day.

YES, REDDY KILOWATT SERVICE IS Good Cheap SERVICE

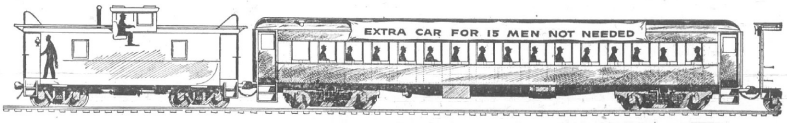
2 BRAKEMEN AND 1 CONDUCTOR COMPLETE THE CREW OF THIS TRAIN [One brakeman usually rides in the locomotive in freight service]



—BUT THE UNION LEADERS WANT 15 EXTRA "SITTERS" ON THIS TRAIN . . . 3 ENGINEERS, 3 FIREMEN, 6 BRAKEMEN AND 3 CONDUCTORS . . . TO GO ALONG FOR THE RIDE AT FULL PAY!

It's to your interest to know about this proposed feather-bedding!

For sheer feather-bedding, this mock work proposal takes the cake. But it is only one of 44 "rules" demands filed by the leaders of the operating unions. If all these demands were granted, they would cost the railroads an added BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR.

Increased Wages, Too

On top of these "rules" changes, the leaders of the operating unions have filed an additional demand for a wage increase of over 30 per cent. If granted, this would be an added cost to the railroads of $400,000,000 a year.

$468,000,000 To Non-Operating Employes

In addition to this, an Arbitration Board has just granted a wage increase of 15½ cents an hour to the million employes represented by the 17 non-operating unions. This will cost the railroads $468,000,000 a year.

Where Will The Money Come From?

Where will all the money come from to pay these increases? They total several times as much as the railroads made in 1946 or will make in 1947.

In July, the railroads filed an application for increased freight rates to close the gap which then existed between wage and material costs, and railroad revenues. Since then it has been necessary, because of further increases in wages and material costs, to supplement that petition and to ask for an additional freight rate increase. No other course is open.

Railroads Do Not Run For Employes Alone

Railroads are operated for the benefit of not one, but several groups—shippers, passengers, employes, stockholders, and the general public. The interest of all must be served—and that cannot be done unless the railroads can operate efficiently and economically, and unless they are allowed to earn sufficient revenue to provide the kind of transportation service this country MUST HAVE.

"My friends, do you ever stop to think—"

"My friends, do you ever think to stop?"

(b) All wood floor and roof framing construction shall be kept at least 2 inches away from the chimney masonry, except when 8 inches of masonry is used outside of the flue lining, in which case the framing may be built flush with the chimney masonry. The 2 inch space between the chimney masonry and the floor framing shall be filled with fire resistant material to form a fire stop.

(c) Wood framing members shall no bear on the masonry or chimneys, except on piers which are built integral with the chimney masonry.

(d) Girders may be steel, wood or reinforced concrete.

(f) Ends of floor joists framing into masonry walls shall have not less than 4 inch bearing and shall have at least 3 inch bevel or fire cut. In cases where the end of the floor joists or girders which frame into the masonry walls are located below outside finish grade, the ends shall receive a good coat of creosote.

(g) Each fourth joist in wood floor construction framing into masonry walls shall have a metal strap anchor applied on the side of joist near the bottom of the joist and shall extend into the masonry walls. Masonry walls running parallel to the floor joists shall be tied to the floor construction with metal strap anchors spaced not over 6 feet apart and extending over and secured to at least three joists.

(h) Floor joists shall be doubled under all partitions which run parallel to the floor joists. When piping or duct work occurs joists shall be separated and solidly blocked at 4 foot intervals.

(i) Headers and trimmers shall be doubled except that headers 4 feet or less in length may be of single thickness provided they are supported on not less than 2 by 3 inch ledger boards and are secured by spikes driven through one thickness of the trimmers into the ends of the headers. Headers receiving more than 4 beams shall have ends supported in metal joist hangers.

(j) Ends of lapped joists shall rest on girders or on bearing partitions and shall be securely nailed to plate and to each other.

(k) Overhanging cantilevered construction. Bay windows, overhanging second floors, and all projections carrying floor and floor loads which are not supported directly by a foundation shall be fully detailed on the drawing submitted with the application.

(l) Floor (including attic floor) and flat roof joists shall be cross bridged with 1 by 3 or 2 by 2 inch bridging at intervals not to exceed 8 feet and double nailed at each end. Metal Bridging may be used when approved by the Building Inspector.

(m) In flat roof construction where the ceiling joists are hung from roof joists, the spans for roof joists shall be the same as for floor joists. Spacing shall not exceed 16 inches on center. Roof joists shall be 2 by 4s or larger of same spacing as roof joists, and shall be supported from the roof joists with 1 by 4 inch hangers, spaced not more than 4 feet on center and securely nailed to sides of roof and ceiling joists.

Maximum Spans for Wood Floor Joists. Section 31. (a) Maximum clear spans for all wood floor joists shall be as listed in the following table. The spans are figured for a maximum deflection of 1/360 of span, based on a total live and dead load of fifty pounds per square foot, uniformly distributed.

(b) Assumed live load, 40 pounds per square foot; dead load 10 pounds per square foot.

Where the attic space above ceiling joists is unfinished but is usable for storage space, or if the space is suitable for finishing into future habitable rooms, the spans for the ceiling joists shall be figured the same as for the floor joists.

(c) Ceiling joists shall, wherever possible, serve as ties for the rafters and shall be double nailed to the rafters.

(d) An adequate opening for access to each attic space shall be provided to allow for inspection and repair.

(e) Collar beams of 1 by 6s or 2 by 4s shall be installed on at least each third pair of roof rafters and shall be double nailed to the rafters. Maximum spacing for collar beams shall be 5 feet on center.

(f) Where ceiling joists serve as collar beams and occur above the midpoint of the rafters, adequate provision shall be made for tying the lower end of the rafter to the floor construction. Where the spacing of floor joists exceeds 16 inches on center, or the species of wood used is in excess of 1200 pounds, the size and span of the joists shall be determined on the same basis as used for this table.

(1) The top or bottom edges of the joists may be notched not to exceed 1/6 of the joist depth. Joists shall not be notched in the middle third of any span.

(2) If cutting of a floor joist more than 1/6 of its depth is found necessary, a header the full depth of the joist shall be cut in to support the end of the joist.

(3) Where location of pipes necessitates passing through the joists, holes shall be drilled to receive the pipes. The diameter of the holes shall be not more than ½ inch greater than the outside diameter of the pipe and in no case greater than 2½ inches. The edge of the holes shall not be located nearer than two inches from the top or bottom edges of the joist.

(b) All first floor joists shall be covered with 1 inch subflooring not more than 8 inches in width. Ends shall be cut over joists.

(c) End-matched (T & G) boards may be used for subflooring providing no two adjoining boards break joints over the same joist space, and each board shall bear on at least two joists.

(d) All subflooring shall be covered with building or deadening felt before laying the finish floor. Waterproof building paper shall be used over unexcavated portions of the building and in all cases where dampness occurs below the first floor construction.

(e) Finished floors not less than ¾ inch thick, D & M., may be used on the second floor with a subfloor, providing the ends of the flooring boards are cut over the joists.

(f) Floor coverings of linoleum, composition or rubber tile on wood construction shall be applied over D & M wood flooring not less than ⅝ inch in thickness nor more than 4 inches in width, and either sanded or scraped smooth before covering is applied; ⅝ inch thick plywood may be used as the subfloor if desired, provided the nailing at each joist is not more than 6 inches on center.

Maximum Spans for Ceiling Joists. Section 33. (a) Maximum spans for ceiling joists shall be as listed in the following table. The spans are figured for a maximum deflection of 1/360 of the span, based on a dead load of ten pounds per square foot (no live load) uniformly distributed.

Where the allowable fiber stress of the species of wood used is in excess of 1,200 pounds, increased spans will be permitted provided they are determined on the same basis as used for this table. Rafters on roofs with slopes less than 5 to 12 shall be figured same as floor joists.

(c) Rafters shall be securely spiked to the wall plates. Opposite rafters shall be framed directly opposite each other at the ridge. There shall be a ridge board at all ridges and a valley board at all valleys. The depth of the ridge board and valley rafter shall be not less than the cut end of the abutting rafters. Valley rafters shall be no less than 2 inches thick for spans less than 12 feet, and 4 inches thick for spans over 12 feet.

(d) All openings in roof construction for dormer windows where there are no supporting partitions shall be framed double.

(e) Requirements for headers and trimmers for roof framing around chimneys shall be same as required for floors except that for a sloping roof where headers are less than 4 feet in length and the chimney is either at the ridge or the eaves, the trimmers may be single.

(f) Roof rafters shall be covered with 1 inch wood sheathing not more than 8 inches in width, laid closed for tile, asbestos-cement or asphalt shingle or 1 inch by 4 inch open sheathing for wood shingle roof, spaced according to shingle exposure. All roof sheathing shall be securely nailed to rafters at each bearing.

(g) End-matched (T & G) boards may be used for roof sheathing providing no two adjoining boards break joints over the same rafter space, and each board shall bear on at least two rafters.

Exterior Walls. Section 35. (a) Wood Stud Walls shall have corner posts built-up as follows: Two 2 by 4 pieces with a 2 by 6 member between; or a 4 by 6 solid post with a 2 by 4 piece to form the interior lathing corner; or three 2 by 4 pieces arranged to form the interior lathing corner. Studs shall be not less than 2 by 4s spaced not more than 16 inches on center.

(b) All windows and door openings shall have studs doubled on jams. The inner stud shall be cut to receive the lintel or header over the opening and shall extend in one piece from the lintel or header to bearing. Lintels or headers over all openings shall be doubled and shall set on edge.

Spans 4 feet to 5½ feet: Two 2 by 6s.

Spans 5½ feet to 7 feet: two 2 by 8s.

Spans over 7 feet: Two 2 by 10s.

In lieu of lintels, trussed construction may be used.

(d) All bearing plates for roof rafters framing into masonry walls shall be bolted to the masonry walls. When required by the Building Inspector sills shall be anchored to foundation walls. Anchor bolts shall be not less than 18 inches long which shall be bedded firmly in the masonry and spaced not more than 8 feet apart.

(e) All sills and girders on top of foundation walls and piers shall be levelled, shimmed up with slate chips or brick and thoroughly bedded in cement mortar.

(f) Top plates shall be not less than 2 by 4s doubled and shall lap at the corners. The top member of the plate shall be cut at all intersecting partitions to permit partition plate to lap and tie to exterior wall plate. All such laps shall be double-spiked. When exterior walls are wood sheathed diagonally, the sheathing shall be applied at approximately 45 degrees and extend in opposite directions on each side adjoining at the corner, and corner bracings will not be required.

(g) In all cases except where diagonal sheathing is used, all exterior corners shall have diagonal 1 by 4 inch braces let into the face of the studs at approximately 45 degrees and, whenever possible, shall extend from sill to plate. Braces shall be securely nailed to each stud and to sill and plate. Where openings occur near the corners, 1 by 4 inch knee braces shall be installed above and below the openings at approximately 45 degrees, extending across not less than 3 stud spaces and shall be let into the face of the studs.

(h) End-matched (T & G) boards may be used for sheathing providing no two adjoining boards break joints over the same stud space, and each board shall bear on at least two studs.

(i) Wood sheathing boards shall be not less than 1 inch thick, not more than 8 inches wide, applied solid, and each board drawn up tight and double nailed at each stud or bearing joint. Joining shall occur over the center of, and parallel to, the studs.

(j) Wood sheathing used in connection with stucco finish shall be applied horizontally and the frame shall be braced as described above.

(m) All exterior openings in frame walls shall have strips of waterproof paper or saturated asphalt installed behind the exterior trim.

(n) Studs in exterior frame walls may run from sill to roof line, except where the length of the stud exceeds 20 feet, in which case a 4 by 4 inch plate shall be provided at the second floor level or at the attic floor level. Studs shall be in continuous lengths without splicing. Floor joists supported on exterior frame walls shall bear on 4 by 4 inch plates properly framed into studs, or they shall bear on 1 by 4 inch ledger boards let into the face of the stud. Joists bearing on ledger boards shall be securely nailed to the face of the studs.

All partition plates shall lap at all intersecting partitions and at outside walls, and shall be doubled spiked and shall be tied to joists at not more than 4 foot intervals.

(e) Wood bearing partitions in cellars or basements are prohibited.

(f) No stud shall be cut more than half its depth to receive piping and ductwork. If more depth is required, the partition studs shall be increased accordingly.

(g) Where the running of piping and duct work necessitates the cutting of plates, joists and studs, proper provision, acceptable to the Building Inspector, shall be made for tying together and supporting all structural members affected by such cutting.

(h) Corners of all rooms shall be framed solid for lath or other interior finish.

Fire Stops. Section 37. Fire stops shall be provided in partitions and outside stud walls at first floor and at attic, which shall cut off completely all openings between cellar and upper stories. Approved masonry or wood blocks cut in solidly, or other approved methods are acceptable.

(e) Outside the fire limits, dwellings and private garages, separated by at least ten feet from other buildings may be roofed with approved vertical grain or edge grain wooden shingles. The combined thickness of each five shingles measured at the butt shall be not less than 2 inches. The exposure of such wooden shingles to the weather shall not exceed, on roofs greater than one-third pitch, 5 inches for 16-inch shingles, five and one-half inches for 18-inch shingles, and seven and one-half inches for 24-inch shingles; nor on roofs with less than one-third pitch but not less than one-quarter pitch four inches for 16-inch shingles, four and one-half inches for 18-inch shingles and six and one-half inches for 24-inch shingles. Such shingles shall be firmly nailed to the roof deck with non-corrodible and rust resisting nails according to accepted good practice. Such roofs shall be surfaced with approximately 400 pounds of roofing gravel or crushed stone, or with 300 pounds of crushed slag, per 100 square feet of finished surface.

(i) The top ply of felt and the crushed stone or slag surfacing may be replaced with one layer of mineral surfaced cap sheet weighing not less than 85 pounds per square.

(j) Roofs will be considered flat if the pitch is less than three inches in twelve inches.

CONSUMERS COMPANY IS BEGINNING TO "CATCH UP" WITH DEMANDS

Steady progress toward the goal of electric service for everyone who wants it was reported today by Division Manager Herman H. Koelbel of Consumers Power Company.

For some months the company has been connecting applicants for service faster than the rate at which new applications have been coming in. Applicants who live along the routes of existing electric distribution lines and who can be connected by means of a "service drop" running from the line to the house now are connected with little or no delay. In this group are the majority of applicants living within cities and villages. Rural applicants, to whom service cannot be brought except through extension of a distribution line, still must wait for service.

"At the beginning of the year there were 1,604 unfilled applications for service in the Jackson division," said Mr. Koelbel. (The Jackson division includes all of Jackson county and portions of Lenawee, Hillsdale, Monroe, Calhoun, Branch and Washtenaw counties.) Today only 1,100 are waiting.

"That doesn't mean that only 504 applications have been filled in the meantime. We have been able to take care of three or four times that many, most of whom were city people to whom service could be provided without much line construction or use of materials.

"The encouraging thing today is that we have only 406 applicants waiting who applied for service prior to March 1 of this year. And of these 406, some 300 live along the routes of proposed rural extensions that require a total of 73 miles of new construction."

Mr. Koelbel said poles, wires and transformers are still in short supply and that the company has been further handicapped by inability to obtain as many line trucks as were needed or as many skilled employees.

"It's going to take us quite a while," he said, "to reach the point where we still have no waiting list. In fact, even if our materials problems and our manpower and truck problems disappeared overnight it would still be a matter of weeks or months between the filing of an application for a rural extension and the actual connecting of the customers.

"It takes quite a while to make a field check of the proposed line, survey and engineer it, make the title searches necessary to determine who owns the proposed right of way, and to obtain the necessary easements. The right of way problem has been greatly complicated by the numerous real estate transfers in recent years.

"However, we're keeping at the job and trying in every way possible to cut down waiting time for rural residents who want and need electric service. We hope the time will come soon when no one will need to wait more than a reasonable period."

The Real McCoy

As the lady strolled through the London park, two urchins confronted her.

"I say, lady," said the taller of the two, "my brother does fine imitashings. Give 'im a penny and he'll imitate a hen."

"Dear, dear!" smiled the lady. "And what will he do—will he cackle?"

Hungry

"Bill said I looked good enough to eat last night."

"And so you steered him to a high-price restaurant, I suppose."

VICE VERSA

Port Washington, N. Y.—Every Christmas, for seven years, a local matron had presented her maid with a $5 bill. Last Christmas the maid, now a worker in a war factory, drove up to the door of her erstwhile employer in her own car, rang the doorbell and presented her surprised employer with a $5 bill. The matron took the bill.

NINETY SEVENTH YEAR NUMBER FORTY-EIGHT — TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 23, 1947 — FIVE CENTS PER COPY

SOLICITATION STARTS TO RAISE $5,033 FOR EIGHT LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS

Red Feathers were growing in popularity here and throughout Tecumseh township today as this community launched its Community Fund campaign in an effort to raise $5,033 for the benefit of eight separate agencies. The drive actually got under way on Wednesday and Vance Ogden, general chairman, hopes to reach the goal by November 1.

"We are meeting with a fine reception wherever we go, and solicitors say that contributions are more liberal than a year ago," Mr. Ogden said. "That, of course, is the way it should be and must be, because we are attempting to raise far more money this year than we did in 1946. However, I feel confident that we will exceed the goal, and do it before the end of the month."

This year's quota of $5,033 is divided as follows: $533 goes to the Boy Scouts and the Cub Scouts; $350 goes to the Girl Scouts and the Brownie Scouts; $350 goes to the Tecumseh Hospital Auxiliary; $1,000 to the Tecumseh Chapter Cancer Fund; $150 to the Child Study Club; $1,200 to the Recreation Committee for supervised play in the summertime; $150 to the Tecumseh Health Education Committee; $1,300 for a reserve for local emergencies, this money to be dispensed by the Community Fund board of trustees.

"It will be noted," Mr. Ogden pointed out, "that all of the money raised in the campaign remains in Tecumseh for Tecumseh's use. The purpose of the campaign, there-

Band Festival Here October 29

SIX BANDS, 300 MUSICIANS, TO STAGE PROGRAM AT RECREATION.

Adrian, Blissfield, Napoleon, Brooklyn, Sand Creek and Tecumseh bands numbering more than 300 musicians, will participate in a marching festival to be held at Recreation Center here Wednesday evening, October 29, at 8 o'clock.

The Napoleon, Brooklyn, Blissfield and Tecumseh bands, under the direction of Clare Cambum will open the program with the "Star Spangled Banner." The various organizations will do marching, maneuvers, formations and letters. In addition to this several bands will stage attractive noveltties.

The Adrian band under the direction of Paul Rainier, will present the firey batons. Five majorettes with actual fire flaming from their batons will entertain the audience. The Brooklyn band, under the direction of George King, will give the "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe." A giant shoe will be used in this sketch and several historical characters will be introduced along with the old woman and her children. The Blissfield band, under the direction of Gilbert Blank, will dedicate a portion of their program to their comrade, Fritz Holmes, who was drowned in Lake Superior last summer. The Sand Creek band, directed by Helen Beck, will do their school letters with various marching formations. The Napoleon band, with Mrs. Betty Ettig directing, will form the United States shield and "The Bells of S. Mary," to be sung by a vocalist, will be their general theme.

The Tecumseh band will call on the great spirit of Chief Tecumseh and present him with the pipe of peace. In turn the Great Chief will present his magic charm which will be buried under his wigwam as a jesture of good will and a hope for universal peace.

There will be music, songs and special marching formations throughout the program. Four numbers will be played by the combined bands at the close of the festival. They are: "Little Giant March" by Moon; "Officer of the Day" by Hall; "El Capitan" by Sousa, and "National Emblem" by Bagley. These numbers will be directed by the visiting bandmasters.

Quaker Workers Share In Profits

SUCCESS OF FUTURE DEPENDS UPON PRODUCTION AND TEAMWORK

Tecumseh employees of The Quaker Oats Company today were mailed the company's annual employee report. Illustrated with eight full-page drawings of a representative Quaker family of four, the report lets the employee know how he and his family were affected during the company's business year ended June 30, and what they can look for in the years just ahead.

A letter from R. Douglas Stuart, Quaker president, is accompanying the report into the homes not only of Tecumseh employees, but also of all those who man the company's 12 other plants in various parts of the country.

In underlining the special need for teamwork during the next few years, Mr. Stuart said, "There is only one way to make sure Quaker can go on providing you with high wages and liberal employee benefits. We must all pitch in to produce, distribute and sell so reasonably that we can meet our competitors' prices."

The report devotes its first text page to wages. "During the last five years," it tells the employee, "your wages have been increasing steadily. And you got another good-sized wage boost last year. Quaker's payroll," it goes on, "took 71 cents last year of every dollar left after materials and operating costs and taxes."

Another page is given over to job security. The employee is told that Quaker policy protects him from dismissal without good cause; and that the company's Guaranteed Work Plan for hourly employees cushions any financial bump he might get during a layoff.

In a page devoted to the company's profit-sharing Wage Bonus Plan, the report states that the employee, if eligible for a full year's participation, last month received nearly a month's extra pay on top of his already high regular earnings for the year. Also brought out is that Quaker has distributed more than $6,200,000 in profits to employees during the 12-year life of the sharing plan.

Observing that the employee will still need money when he retires, another page points out that Quaker's Retirement Annuity Plan

LOCAL YOUTH TO ATTEND PRESBYTERY AT MASON

Thirteen young people under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spafford are scheduled to leave Tecumseh next Sunday afternoon for Mason, Michigan. The occasion is the convening of the Lansing Youth Presbytery of the Presbyterian church. The high school young people of Tecumseh, representing the Westminster Fellowship, will number among their delegates Miss Jane Hanna, who was chosen by the Tecumseh group as a nominee for the official board of the Presbytery-wide Fellowship.

The trip to Mason, beginning at the church at 1 p. m., will take the place of the regularly scheduled meeting of the group.

PARENTS — IT'S YOUR TURN TO RELAX

Junior and Sis to Get Driving Instructions

If all goes well at Tecumseh high school and the state's proposed new driver-training program becomes a reality, it may not be too long before Mother and Dad will be able to at least relax at home in an easy chair and there, without excessive smoking or finger-nail chewing, await the return of Junior or Sis from an evening's fun with the family car.

The board of education, at its last meeting, approved a plan whereby automobile driving and safety will be taught in the public schools and this week David Dick, one of the high school teachers, is at Bay City where he is attending an institute sponsored by the Michigan Department of Education, qualifying him to give such instruction. Soon, perhaps within the next few weeks, a driver-training course, for which partial credit will be given and to which a small fee will be attached, will be offered to local students over the age of 14 years.

The Michigan law provides that boys and girls must be 16 years of age before they may obtain a license to drive a motor car. However, it is understood that youths under 16 years and over 14 years who complete the course, may obtain a license on the merits of their training.

The course will include classroom training in safety and actual driving instruction. A car with dual controls will be obtained from the Butler Motor Sales, and will be used by the school for this purpose. The car will remain the property of the Butler Motor Sales, it was said, and is only loaned to the school.

W. L. Berkhof, superintendent, said that the board felt that a small fee for the course was necessary because of the many costs involved. He also pointed out that safety and the knowledge of driving were especially important to rural students, many of whom find it advantageous to drive from home to school.

The board also instructed its attorneys to begin condemnation proceedings to obtain property on North Maumee street for the proposed site for a new school building. Property involved is owned by C. Baker and by the Wagner estate. The Baker property constitutes a major portion of the land desired for the site. The board also authorized the purchase of a 48-foot strip of land from Geo. Brady on North Maumee street, to round out the site plan, at a cost of $500.

There was little other business before the board except the auditing of current bills and listening to reports of officers.

Churches Plan Religious Poll

MANY NEWCOMERS TO COMMUNITY MAKE SURVEY NECESSARY, MINISTERS SAY

As a unified effort of five Tecumseh churches a census of religious affiliations of Tecumseh residents will be made during the week beginning October 26. The churches taking part are the Baptist, Friends, Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian.

Speaking on the need of a religious poll at this time, the Rev. Alan Ramsay, president of the Ministerial Association, said, "The last census was taken in 1940. Since that time, with the great increase in population, new families have come to Tecumseh faster than the churches have been able to welcome them. By this cooperative effort we hope to locate the newcomers with the view of inviting them to make a choice of their own church home."

Ten members each from the above five churches will meet at the Baptist church at 3 p. m. this coming Sunday. Here they will receive the question forms to be filled out, one for each family. The town has been divided into five geographical areas. After the meeting Sunday afternoon the census-takers will go to their respective church's area. Within this area they will be further assigned to specific blocks.

The poll will last from Sunday, October 26, to Sunday evening, November 2. The principal information desired is the individual's church membership, or, if not a member, his church preference.

SAWMILL DESTROYED

Fire, which started from unknown origin in the roof of the Ivan Richardson sawmill on M-50 just east of Springville, completely destroyed the structure at 1 a.m., Tuesday morning. The fire was discovered by Dale Martin as he was returning to his home in Onsted from work in Tecumseh. The loss, not covered by insurance, is estimated at $2,000.

Boy, 8, Drowned

FALLS FROM LOG WHILE PLAYING AT EVANS CREEK, NORTH OF HERE

Bernard Charles Roberts, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Roberts of Detroit, drowned Sunday morning in Evans creek while playing on the Garland Gove farm one and one-half miles northeast of Tecumseh.

Bernard, while dragging a plank over a large tree that had fallen across the creek, lost his balance, fell into the swollen stream and being unable to swim, drowned. Michael Ferguson, 7, who lives nearby, had been playing with Bernard and ran for help to the Frank Swanteck farm where Bernard and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Swanteck of Detroit, were visiting. Bernard had a large number of stones in his pockets and was wearing heavy shoes.

Sheriff Elmer Bringman was called and the body was recovered in 10 feet of water, 20 feet downstream, by Willis Long of the Adrian fire department, who used grappling hooks. Coroner Paul Mott ruled the death accidental with no inquest necessary. The body was taken to the Mott Funeral Home in Adrian and removed to the Terry McGovern Funeral Home, Detroit.

RIDERS TO MEET

INDIANS TO MEET MICHIGAN CENTER, AFTER LOSING TO CARLETON LAST WEEK

(By Pat Wilson)

The Tecumseh high school football eleven was upset by a well-drilled Carleton football team at the local Recreation center last Wednesday night. Carleton had a well-balanced squad, sparked by a couple of outstanding backs, Carle and Euyler, the latter being an exceptionally fine passer. The Tecumseh team seemed to be in the doldrums during the entire first half, when Carleton took the ball on their own 30 yard line, drove down the field for a touchdown, Carle taking it over from the one yard line in the first quarter.

In the second quarter Carleton again broke loose, and Euyler hit Stackpoole for their second score. Later in the second quarter Euyler passed again, this time to Peden for 10 yards and a score. This ended the Carleton scoring for the balance of the game. The Tecumseh team which played the second half really played heads-up ball and pushed the pigskin 60 yards down field and on the two yard line, Tilton was called from the line to drive it over. The Indians had several scoring opportunities. One in particular, which was attempted early in the game, when Gillin's well-directed pass was muffed by Melvy Murphy on the 30 yard line with a clear field ahead. If Coach Runk's footballers could have displayed the same type of drive in the first half as they did in the second, the game might have been a very close one.

The officiating at times caused much comment from the fans and from all appearances it certainly was very much mishandled.

Tecumseh's last home game of the season will be played at the local field tomorrow night against Michigan Center.

Funeral Services Held For Robert Johnston

Robert Johnston, 75 years old, died Thursday morning at 2:30 in the Tecumseh hospital. A farmer in Clinton township for 42 years, he had been in failing health for the past two months. He was born to the late James and Elizabeth Murphy Johnson, March 14, 1872, in County Antrim, Ireland, and came to this country at the age of nine. He was a member of the Macon Presbyterian church. Preceding him in death was his wife Elizabeth, who died March 21, 1945, and an infant son.

Those surviving are a son, Ronald of Tecumseh, one daughter, Mrs. Willard Wedemeyer of Saline, four grandchildren, four brothers, James of Tecumseh, John of Cambridge, Wisconsin, Benjamin of Milwaukee, and Andrew of Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Vern Thomas of Ridgeway, and Mrs. Bessie Hendershot of Macon township, several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Collins Funeral Home with the Rev. Edward Escolme officiating. Burial was in the Brookside cemetery. The bearers were Mark Randall, Harry Pennington, Clyde Burleson, LeRoy Heilman and Bert Bruder of Macon and John Hull of Clinton.

Rotary Spooks Party Planned

HALLOWEEN CELEBRATION FOR YOUNGSTERS TO BE STAGED NEXT WEEK FRIDAY

Following a custom established here many years ago, the Tecumseh Rotary Club this year is again sponsoring a "Spooks Party" for all local children on Halloween and this year's entertainment includes a parade, prizes for the best costumes, and a theatre party at the Strand.

"We have just about completed the program that will be offered and, in my opinion, it will be the tops in entertainment," Yale Kerby, who is the club's chairman of the event, said.

Mr. Kerby pointed out that Rotary has rented the theatre for the pleasure of the young folk, and a special show for teen-agers will be offered. Kerby said that the Halloween show should not be confused with the regular "midnight show" that is being given by the theatre following the earlier entertainment. All films for the youth show have been specially selected, and admission is free. At the midnight show, the theatre will charge regular adult admission.

Previous to the show, there will be a parade of costumed young folk through the business district, headed by the high school band. Costumes will be judged and many prizes will be offered. The parade will start from Ottawa and Chicago boulevard at 7 p.m., and prizes will be given after the merrymakers enter the theatre.

It was pointed out that Rotary is again sponsoring the party here to reduce vandalism in the village. "The young folk apparently appreciate the expense to which the club goes to stage this party because in previous years no damage has been done and no windows have been soaped. We trust that the young folk will again cooperate this year and show their appreciation by refraining from destruction," a club member said.

Students Work On Local Jobs

Some 19 Tecumseh high school students are availing themselves of the advantages of "on the job training" in local institutions, and in all probability that number will grow considerably next year as the program becomes more popular, Delmar Crisp, high school instructor, told members of the Rotary Club, meeting at Brees House, Tuesday evening. Mr. Crisp is the coordinator of the program, which carries the approval of the state and federal governments.

Tecumseh is the smallest community in Michigan sponsoring the training program which is very popular in metropolitan areas. Only 11th and 12th grade students are permitted to take the course, which makes them available for an actual work program after 2 p.m. on school days and all day on Saturday. They are paid a minimum wage by their employers, and are graded by the coordinator on the job. In addition they carry three and four regular academic subjects.

"The purpose of the program is to better acquaint students with business so that when they graduate they will be able to step into a job in their home town," Crisp said. "It also is advantageous from the employers standpoint because he can train a student part time and when he graduates he is ready to step into a full-time job."

W. L. Berkhof, superintendent of schools, introduced Crisp and praised him for the work he is doing as coordinator. He also pointed out that 80 per cent or more of the high school graduates do not go to college and he expressed a belief that on-the-job student training is the answer to the young man's or woman's desire for employment once they are out of school. He also expressed appreciation for the fine reception the program is receiving from commerce and industry and declared that it is the cooperation of business men that makes its functioning possible.

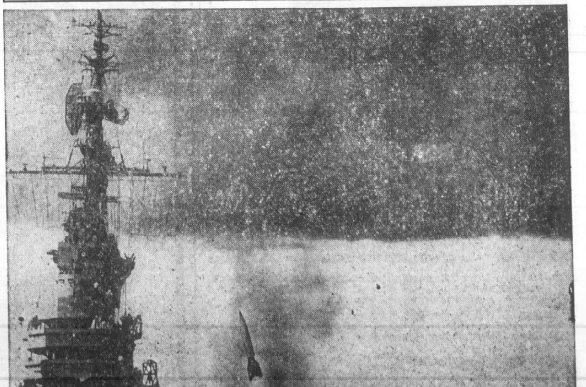
ROCKET LAUNCHING MARKS NEW ERA IN NAVAL WEAPONS



Marking "the beginning of a new era in Naval weapons," the United States Navy fired a captured German V-2 rocket from the flight deck of the 45,000 ton aircraft carrier USS Midway on September 6, 1947. This was the first time in history such a bombardment rocket has been launched from ships or a moving platform. The primary purpose of the experiment, held at sea several hundred miles off the East Coast of the United States, was to ascertain if large bombardment rockets could be fired off modern aircraft carriers without modifications affecting flight operations. The rocket traveled six miles and exploded. (Official U. S. Navy Photograph)

WHAT MADE OUR STANDARD?

High wages for labor are obviously desirable. But the failure of a large segment of labor to do a day's work commensurate with present record earnings is one of the most dangerous of today's problems, and is an important contributory factor in price inflation and the deterioration of the dollar.

The President of the Portland, Oregan, Chamber of Commerce, recently cited the case of bricklayers who, in the late twenties, would lay from 1,500 to 2,000 bricks per day. Now output is considered good if a man lays 500, and most contractors estimate 300 when preparing bids. At the same time, the bricklayer's wage has risen to $24 a day. However, if production is taken into account, the bricklayer's wage, compared with the twenties, works out to something like $120 per day.

The building trades may be an extreme example of cost-boosting. But almost every major industry has reported that man-hour output has gone down even as wages have risen time and time again. And that is one reason why prices for commodities have gone up as fast and, in many cases, faster than wages.

An economist for a major labor union recently said this: "The whole history of America's industrial growth has demonstrated that we were able to obtain a higher standard of living than any other nation by progressively raising wages in relation to prices . . . It was made possible by constant improvement in our ability to produce more goods and services in less time through better machines, better managemen and improved efficiency of the workers." It is to be hoped that Amerian labor will listen to its own experts.

About The Folks You Know

Miss Ruth Harding, librarian, believes in signs, as Tecumseh police realize only too well. It seems that the janitor at the library varnished one of the floors in the building last week and, to be sure that no one entered until it was dry, he closed the door and placed a sign on it reading, "Beware! Mad Dog Inside." Miss Harding approached the door, read the sign and then went into action. She called the police and asked to have the frothing canine evicted IMMEDIATELY. The officers arrived, consulted the janitor, who explained the meaning of the warning. "Just an idea," police said, "that worked."

* * * *

We really can't blame the janitor for printing such a sign, and we concede that it was far more effective than the usual one that reads, "Wet Paint." Ever watch folk when they are around wet paint signs? There's just something about it one can't resist. Sooner or later somebody will reach out an inquisitive finger and touch newly painted or varnished surface, just to see if the sign really means what it says.

Tecumseh is represented in the two million dollar all-American Jersey show at the state fair ground, Columbus, Ohio, October 22-25, under the sponsorship of the Jersey Cattle Club, a national organization. The show is the world's largest devoted to a single breed, and includes exhibits of 65 of the nation's top breeders in the senior division. Tecumseh is represented in the junior division by an animal entered by William Brown, and Catherine B. and Curtis Brown have entered two animals in the senior division. Mr. Brown is with the Tecumseh Products Refrigeration Sales & Engineering, and operates an excellent dairy farm near Ridgeway.

The Tecumseh High School football squad has been invited to attend the homecoming game between Adrian and Albion, November 1, at Adrian, as guests of the College. The game is a traditional one, dating from the early part of the century. A parade and crowning of the Homecoming Queen will precede the game. The affair will also climax freshman week, with a dance following the game.

"Bill" Rockwell, radio man with Tecumseh Electric Supply, has dreamed ever since he left military service of enjoying a drink of warm milk — fresh from the cow. He satisfied the desire on the opening day of the pheasant hunting season when he visited the Abner farm down Ridgeway way, at the end of a successful shooting trip. It was milking time and Mr. Abner saw to it that "Bill" satisfied his desire with eight or nine dippers full of warm milk. "I thought about how nice a drink of warm milk would be when I was in service and couldn't get it, and really, it tasted just as I thought it would," he said. Some folk like their milk ice cold, others like it not too cold but, as for Bill, he wants it fresh and warm, too.

*Increases since 1939, from Department of Labor Index for moderate income families in large cities, and from National Housing Agency.

SOME PEOPLE get along under higher prices by using less or doing without. Some have more income to help meet higher costs. All can adjust outgo to income, to a large extent.

But a railroad cannot skimp or do without and still provide good, efficient and safe service—adequate to the needs and desires of the public.

The chart at left shows why the Eastern Railroads have had to ask for an increase in freight rates. The simple reason is that the increases allowed since 1939 are nowhere near enough to meet today's costs. The revenue the railroads get for hauling the average ton of freight is only 15% more, whereas the cost of operating the railroads has increased more than 63% in that period.

Only recently, for instance, an arbitration board added another $468,000,000 to our annual bill for wages and wage taxes, of which $187,000,000 is borne by the Eastern Railroads. This brings the increase in these items alone to more than 75% since 1939.

All the railroads ask is what the law says they should be allowed to have. That means just and reasonable rates. The law says there is need in the public interest for adequate and efficient railway transportation service at the lowest cost consistent with furnishing such service.

In other words, all the railroads ask is sufficient revenue to enable them, under honest, economical and efficient management, to provide the kind of service people want.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but..." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism, that make for tolerance and better understanding—whether it's ideas on planting alfalfa or choosing between beer and cider.

The more folks air their differences right out in public, with a neighborly respect for the other person's liberties and point of view, the closer we are to the American principle of individual freedom—whether it's in a choice of crops or beverages.

Start Fall Cleaning With Heating Equipment

Would you prevent a fire in your house if you could? Beatrice Franquist home demonstration agent, has some timely warnings to help you prevent a disastrous winter fire.

Start your fall cleaning with the heating equipment. Check all fire places, flues and chimneys to be sure they are sound and in good repair. Roof fires are caused mostly by sparks leaking out through cracks in the chimney.

Remember that a few years mortar can dry out and crumble and that in time bricks may loosen. Choose a warm fall day when you don't have a fire going, and see that all chimney cracks are cemented.

Then make sure that stoves, furnaces and other heating equipment are in good condition to operate safely. Stove pipes should be checked for rust holes and worn spots. Make sure all joints fit snugly. If your roof needs repair, tend to it without delay. If it needs replacement make the new one fire resistant.

Many disastrous winter fires could be avoided if home owners checked, cleaned and repaired heating equipment carefully in the fall. The week of October 5 to 11 is fire prevention week. It's a good time to prevent a fire in your home.

and Social Security will help take the place of his paycheck. Under the retirement plan, he is informed, Quaker pays two-thirds and he only one-third of the total cost.

"We must produce at such low cost that our competitors can't push us off the grocers' shelves," begins the section on Quaker production. Here the employee is told that production can be improved; and, "as one who shares in company profits, that's something for him to think about."

The page devoted to Quaker stockholders points out that more than $9,000 was invested to create each Quaker job and to make it easier. "The 9,000 owners of our business," it continues, "got only 2.2 cents of each sales dollar last year."

"During the next year," says the page devoted to the future," "Quaker will go on pushing the expansion and improvement of production facilities . . . and our unending search for new and better products. That means," the employee is told, "that your job will continue to be protected by an awake and vigorous organization."

Summing up some of the Company's employee benefits, the report indicates that Quaker last year distributed more than $785,000 to eligible employees in profit-sharing, more than $340,000 for vacations and paid holidays for hourly employees alone, more than $521,000 for retirement annuities and $142,000 for Social Security taxes to help provide financial protection for employees in their old age, nearly $31,000 under the Guaranteed Work Plan, and about $15,000 for employee recreation and sports activities.

Tecumseh JV's Win Game From Clinton

Under the lights at Recreation Center Monday night, the Tecumseh high school JV squad played the Clinton JV team. Tecumseh scored a decisive 20-6 win, scoring once in the first quarter on a pass from VanWinkle to McDowell for six points and following through with the point after. In the second quarter VanWinkle again passed, this time to Phibbs, who scored a touchdown. Tecumseh again converted the extra point. In the third quarter neither team could move the other. At the beginning of the fourth quarter, Woodward intercepted a Clinton pass and ran 40 yards to the Clinton 13. Then on an end run Beasley, Tecumseh diminutive quarterback, scored. Clinton scored in the same quarter with Collins carrying the ball over.

Some of the outstanding players for the evening were Dave VanWinkle, whose passing and running were very good, and Jerry Judd, whose stellar performance in the line helped give the backs time to execute their plays. Tecumseh's showing caused much favorable comment from both fans and the coaches.

Feel Free To Allow The Children To Shop Here

We're never too busy to wait on the children who come to our store — and daily there are dozens of them who shop with us for their mothers.

We realize that mothers find it convenient to have their children stop at our store for groceries on their way home from school. We welcome this trade.

For generations — several of them — this store has rendered this service to its customers. And, many of the fathers and grandfathers, and grandmothers too, who now shop here, first shopped with us as "children".

Here's How To Use Up Your Green Tomatoes

If the frost has left you with a lot of green tomatoes, you will be interested in some recipes in which to use them.

You can use this recipe for either cucumbers or tomatoes. Wash and drain 40 to 50 green tomatoes. Place one ounce of whole mixed pickle spices and a layer of dill in a 5-gallon crock. Fill with tomatoes to within 4 or 5 inches of the top. Mix well one pint of vinegar, one pound of pure granulated salt and two gallons of water and pour over the top. Place a layer of dill and another ounce of pickle spices over the top.

Cover with a heavy plate and weight it to hold the tomatoes under the brine. Keep the pickles at room temperature and each day remove scum that forms on the top. Let pickles ferment until well-flavored and clear throughout, with no white spots when cut. In about two or three weeks the pickles will be ready to use.

To store the pickles, pack them in hot, sterile, quart glass jars. Strain the pickle brine, bring to boil, and pour over pickles to top of jar. If desired, add ¼ cup vinegar to each quart. Seal tightly.

For piccalilli and relish recipes using green tomatoes obtain a copy of "Pickle and Relish Recipes", Folder AWI-103 of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is available from the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, or from your county extension office.

Rutledge-Boyce Wedding An Event Of Sunday

A wedding of charming simplicity took place in the home of Mrs. Carl Glancy on East Chicago Blvd., Sunday afternoon when her daughter, Miss Leola Boyce, became the bride of Donald Rutledge, son of Mrs. Bertha Rutledge of Jackson. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Edward Escolme before an arch with white wedding bells and a background of autumn leaves and pompons.

The bride was lovely in a chiffon velvet street length dress of midnight blue and black accessories, with a corsage of American Beauty roses. She was attended by Mrs. Evelyn Wyatt of Ann Arbor, who wore an aqua jersey dress with a corsage of Talisman roses. David Crownover of Detroit assisted as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for 35 guests. The lace covered table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Refreshments were served buffet style and those assisting were Miss Mary Glancy, sister of the bride, the Misses Carolyn and Wilma McNair of Detroit, nieces of the bride, Alice Frost and Rose Service.

The bride graduated from Tecumseh High school with the class of 1941 and from the Foote Memorial hospital in Jackson. She has spent two years with the Tecumseh hospital and is now on the nursing staff in the Wyandotte General hospital.

The bridegroom graduated in 1941 from Jackson high school and served in the U. S. Army for 18 months as an X-ray technician in the medical corp. He is now employed in Wyandotte where the couple will make their home following a short wedding trip.

Out of town guests included the bridegroom's grandmother Mrs. Cora Vrooman of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rutledge and Russell Rutledge of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNair and daughters of Detroit, Mr and Mrs. David Crownover of Detroit, Mrs. Evelyn Wyatt of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Jennie Clark and Leslie McNair of Adrian, and others from Britton and this vicinity.

Protect Your Car With

FENDERSEAL

The Asbestos Undercoater For Cars

FENDERSEAL preserves all under car surfaces that are exposed to slush, ice, road chemicals, and the sand blast action of grit, gravel, stones, etc.

FENDERSEAL forms a one piece protective shield of leather-like tonghness that stops rust action, actually seals out road noises, carbon monoxide gas fumes, heat and cold, reflected from the highways. It is absolutely fume and acid proof, will not soften and run under heat conditions, and likewise will not harden and crack when exposed to cold extremes.

FENDERSEAL is formulated on a base of refined asphalt and Gilsonite, blended in exact proportions so as to assure the longest life, the best adhesive qualities and the toughest wearing qualities.

FENDERSEAL is then reinforced with asbestos flour, and selected asbestos fibre —the best known insulating and noise deadening products. The result is the highest quality undercoater we can manufacture — and at a cost so low that it will pay for itself many time over, during the life of the car.

NINETY SEVENTH YEAR NUMBER FORTY-NINE | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 30, 1947 | FIVE CENTS PER COPY

Community Fund Total Is Lagging

LESS THAN HALF OF $5,033 QUOTA HAS BEEN SUBSCRIBED, OGDEN SAYS

With only three days remaining before the end of the Tecumseh Community Fund Campaign, less than one-half of the $5,033 quota has been subscribed, Vance Ogden, general chairman, said Wednesday night.

"Of course, we have yet to hear from some industries, and from several of our house-to-house solicitors, but unless something unforseen happens, it now appears likely that this community will fall to reach its goal. We hope, however," he continued, "that gifts from now on will be more generous, and that we will in some way hit the $5,000 mark."

Mr. Ogden pointed out that this year all of the money raised in the campaign remains in Tecumseh for community activities. The budget this year is divided as follows: $533 for the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts; $350 for the Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts; $350 for the Tecumseh Hospital Auxiliary; $1,000 to the Tecumseh Chapter Cancer Fund; $150 to the Child Study Club; $1,200 to the Tecumseh Health Education Committee; $1,300 for a reserve for local emergencies. This fund, it was said, is administered and dispensed by the board of trustees of the Community Fund.

"Folk should bear in mind", Ogden said, "that when they give once, during the Red Feather drive, they are giving to eight organizations. We believe that it is much easier on contributors, and certainly it is much less work on the part of solicitors, to stage a joint campaign. Some folk do not seem to realize that all of these community activities are wrapped up in a single drive for funds. Perhaps if they better understood they would give more generously."

Ogden said that the campaign is due to end on November 1 and that it would end at that time. He declared, however, that the details of winding up the drive would take an additional three or four days. Some out-of-town contributions will be coming in and some rural solicitors plan to work up to the last minute.

Tecumseh JV's Take Sting Out Of Early Dundee Loss

(By Pat Wilson)

The Tecumseh High JV team, composed of freshmen and sophomores, traveled to Dundee Monday afternoon and took the sting out of a previous defeat from Dundee, coming up with a 19-19 score. The Dundee JV's had beaten Tecumseh 19-7 earlier in the season.

Tecumseh drew first blood by pulling a sleeper play from Van Winkle to Phibbs, who scampered over for a touchdown on the first play of scrimmage. Dundee then began to roll. They put on three sustained drives in the first and second quarters to roll up a half-time score of 19-6. Then Tecumseh's power began to show. Woodward, Tecumseh's husky halfback, plunged over the line and roared through the secondary to go 40 yards for another touchdown. In the fourth quarter with time running out, VanWinkle faded back and threw another accurate aerial, this time to McDowell, who scored. This passing combination also accounted for the extra point, which made the score even.

Some of the outstanding players for Tecumseh were Campbell and Judd, mainstays of the line, and Phibbs and McDowell, pass-snagging ends, VanWinkle with his numerous aerials and Woodward, whose deceptive running was very good. The game was well played and again Tecumseh showed improved playing.

New Pumping Station Contract Is Awarded

Contract for the construction of a new pump house, complete with pump, flow meter, piping and electrical work, to be erected at the Tecumseh wells, southwest of the Union-Cummins street intersection, was awarded to the Johnson & Mills Construction Co., Toledo, at a cost of $14,298, Monday. The award was made at a special session of the council. There was one other bid and his price was about $2,000 higher.

Work is to start at once on the project which will greatly increase the village's water supply. The proposed improvement has been under council consideration for several months.

GHOSTS AND GOBLINS TO PARADE

Rotary Club Sponsors Civic Halloween Party

Local ghosts and goblins will join with fellow members of the Spooks Society throughout the nation tomorrow night in a great parade celebrating Hallowe'en.

And those who parade in Tecumseh will be the guests of the Tecumseh Rotary Club at a theatre party at the Strand, where prizes will be awarded for top-rate costumes and youngsters will enjoy 150 minutes of movies and entertainment.

Again this year, in keeping with a long-established custom, the Rotary Club will stage a celebration for the young folk of the village. This year's program includes a parade through the business district of the costumed merrymakers, and then the theatre party, where prizes will be presented on the stage. Yale Kerby is general chairman of the observance, and he has announced that all plans have been completed, and that the parade would move promptly at 7 p.m.

The parade, headed by the high school band, will start at Ottawa street, moving westward through the business district to the theatre. Paraders will be judged as to costume. Then, the doors of the theater will be thrown open to all school children, and special movies will be shown. It was pointed out that the Hallowe'en party picture should not be confused with the regular midnight show which is being given by the theatre for the general public. Only adult admission will be charged for the midnight show, and admission to the Rotary-Hallowe'en party is free. The Rotary Club has rented the theatre for this occasion.

The Rotary-sponsored Spooks Party was inaugurated here several years ago to reduce vandalism and the soaping of windows and other pranks that go with Hallowe'en. Youngsters have been told that the club is going to considerable expense for entertainment and, in return, expects that all types of vandalism will be reduced to a minimum. In years past, no windows in the business area have soaped, and there has been no damage.

"We trust", a Rotary spokesman said, "that this year's merrymakers will cooperate, and that we will not be disappointed in asking that vandalism in the village be eliminated."

Seniors Will Stage Comedy

ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL PLAY WILL BE PRESENTED HERE NOVEMBER 20-21

The Senior class of the Tecumseh High School, will present the comedy, "Sing For Your Supper", in the school auditorium, November 20 and 21.

The drama is an amusing takeoff on the popular crooner worship by the bobby-sox group. The plot is centered about a new high school music teacher who is, in fact, the mystery crooner of radio fame. The complications are numerous and mirth provoking.

The cast is as follows: Mr. Piper, who thinks he's boss, Charles Manley; Mrs. Piper who knows she's boss, Alice Horton; their daughters, Susan, Laurette and Pinky, Anna Aebersold, Marilyn Van Winkle and Donna Adams; Joanie, a friend, Pat Wilson; Ranny and Biff who mix things up badly, Floyd Guy and Bill Brown; Marilee, a beautiful blonde press agent, Rhonda Hunter; Stephen Foster Brown, the teacher-crooner, Jack Carlson; Ramona the maid, who worships crooners too, Mary Ehart; Tessie Topper, a breezy columnist, Marlou Gilman; Stacy, a photographer, Bob Moore; Barbie, Ellie, Peggy and Kay, the bobby-sox brigade, Irene Hammel, Delpha Cox, Marian Murphy and Barbara Brooks.

An efficient stage committee headed by Richard Hubbard and Dick Lent are building and papering the stage set. Mary Louden is in charge of tickets, Jeanne Swick and Anna Aebersold of posters, Marian Murphy of programs. Mrs. F. C. Dickinson assisted by Miss Bessie Bortner is directing.

LAMARR SISSON DIES IN DETROIT HOSPITAL

LaMarr Sisson, 53, died suddenly last Wednesday in a Detroit hospital after suffering a heart attack. He resided in Detroit. Born in Tecumseh, he attended the local schools.

Surviving besides the widow, Ruby, are one daughter, Margaret, a granddaughter, one sister, Mrs. Alonzo Sisson of Tecumseh, two brothers, Truman of Ridgeway and Kenneth of Dexter.

Funeral services and burial took place in Detroit Friday afternoon.

BASHORE IS HONORED BY MICHIGAN I. O. O. F.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore has been named grand chaplain of the Michigan Odd Fellows Lodge. The annual joint session of the state I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs was held recently in Grand Rapids. Previous to coming to Michigan, the Rev. Mr. Bashore was the grand chaplain of the I. O. O. F. of Iowa in the year 1942-43. It is unusual for one man to hold this position in two different jurisdictions.

Hodge To Speak, Show Movies

WILL BE FIRST PROGRAM IN TOWN HALL SERIES ON NOVEMBER 18 AT HIGH SCHOOL

Dr. Ferris G. Hodge, recently returned from a trip through the Holy land and the Near East, will be the speaker at the opening program of Town Hall, Tuesday evening, November 18, at the high school. The Doctor will give a 20-minute talk on his four-month's trip preceding the showing of 1,400 feet of colored movies which he took during the tour. He also has arranged a travel talk to accompany the pictures.

Town Hall is sponsored by local clubs and organizations and because it is financed in that way admission to its programs are without charge. Several sponsoring groups are planning to make the November 18th program "their program" and will ask their membership to attend in a body. Mrs. R. H. Moore, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, said the Town Hall meeting would take the place of the November P.T.A. meet, and that her organization would furnish a brief musical program.

At a meeting of Town Hall officers and representatives last week, Neville Hart was named as secretary-treasurer of the group succeeding Wiley McCann who resigned. The officers also attempted to set up a schedule of subsequent programs and announced that, because of the busy holiday season, there would be no Town Hall meeting in the month of December.

RESTAURANT TO MOVE

Yale Kerby, proprietor of Kerby's restaurant, said today that he would move his business, early in November, to the room in the Lilley block, formerly occupied by Andrew Taylor's barber shop. The new store is now being remodeled and redecorated to suit the needs of the restaurant.

If its news call The Herald.

Friends Church To Be Enlarged

GROUND IS BROKEN FOR ADDITION THAT WILL COST APPROXIMATELY $10,000

Enlargement of the Friends church by the building of a $10,000 addition on the east side of the present structure was announced today by the Rev. Edward Escolme, pastor. Work of excavating for the basement of the addition was completed last week, and the laying of the foundation is to start at once.

The Rev. Mr. Escolme explained that the church has outgrown its present structure erected in 1890. The church Sunday School, he said, is the largest in its history, sometimes numbering as high as 175. He also pointed out that for special functions, at Christmas time and other holidays, it is difficult to accommodate crowds.

The addition will be 32 by 32 feet in size, one and a half stories in height, with a full basement. It is planned to use the basement as a Sunday School room, a portion of the first floor for the choir, music room and class room, with an added room on the second floor.

Because of the lateness of the season and the difficulty in obtaining labor and materials, Mr. Escolme said that it might be necessary to complete the building in two stages. He said that undoubtedly the basement would be finished this fall, the sub-floor laid and covered with roofing material, making it possible to use the basement during the winter as a Sunday School room. In the spring, he said, the remainder of the job would be done.

When the church was built in 1890 a basement was not provided. In recent years this was excavated and is now used as Sunday School rooms, for potlucks and other functions. An oil heating plant also was installed in the church a few years ago.

W. W. BROCKWAY DIES; WAS FORMER RESIDENT

Mrs. Leon Johnson has received word her uncle, W. W. Brockway, died Tuesday evening at his home in Kalamazoo from a heart attack. He was 67 years old. He was a former resident of Tecumseh and was associated with the A. & P. store here, also a member of the Presbyterian church and choir. His wife preceded him in death in 1932.

He is survived by a son, Wayne of Kalamazoo, a brother, George and a sister, Mrs. Clara Hill, both of Blissfield, several nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held Friday in Kalamazoo.

MONDAY CLUB WILL OBSERVE GUEST DAY

The Tecumseh Monday Club will meet November 3 in the Methodist church parlor to observe Guest Day. Ivan H. Walton, professor of English at the University of Michigan, will speak on the Great Lakes in literature. Professor Walton has made a great study on this subject. Mrs. Veva Connor will be the leader and the hostesses will be Mrs. Edward Beal, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney, Mrs. Herbert Temple, Mrs. Truman Rentschler, Mrs. R. S. Moore, Mrs. W. Barnes and Mrs. S. Waring.

CONFIRMATION SERVICE

At the 11:15 a.m., service at St. Peter's church next Sunday, November 2, the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Ph. D., D. D., Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan will administer the rite of confirmation and preach the sermon.

Tecumseh Grange Hall Will Be Enlarged

The Tecumseh Grange will build a 20-foot addition on the north end of its hall, it was decided at the regular Grange meeting Thursday evening. A Halloween party and dance will be held Saturday evening, November 1. Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Boltz, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Coller, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Butterfield are the delegates to the Pomona grange to be held in Palmyra November 5.

The next meeting will be November 6 with the supper committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sturtevant, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hendershott and Mrs. Jennie Younglove.

Center Eleven Humble Indians

(By Pat Wilson)

Tecumseh high school's football squad, encountering the third non-conference foe of the season, was on the short end of a 20-13 score last Friday evening when Michigan Center defeated the Indians at Recreation Center. Tecumseh drew first blood by working a sleeper play from Gillen to Murphy, good for 55 yards. Murphy was downed on Michigan Center's 15. Gillen, Colson and Anderson alternated in gaining the remaining distance with Hop Anderson, Tecumseh's diminutive quarterback, taking it over from the two yard line on an end run. This easy Tecumseh score was apparently just the spark that Michigan Center needed. From that time on Knoop and Cochrone battered the Tecumseh forward wall with a terrific bombardment of power.

It was late in the second quarter when Knoop passed to Dole for a touchdown. However, this play was nullified because of a clipping penalty. On the very next play Pickett, standing on his own 45, passed to Knoop who made the score unmolested. Knoop's pass to Dole was good for the extra point. Following the Michigan Center touchdown there was an exchange of punts. Then Tecumseh took the ball on their own 40 yard line and from this point Hop Anderson supplied the fans with their biggest thrill of the evening. Starting to his left and cutting back to his right after crossing the line of scrimmage he pranced 60 yards for a touchdown. Colson place-kicked the extra point making the score Tecumseh 13 and Michigan Center 7.

Michigan Center's third quarter touchdown and extra point was the result of Cochrone's line-plunging. In the fourth quarter Michigan Center scored another touchdown, which proved to be their margin of victory. Knoop, Pickett and Cochrone all participated in the last touchdown drive.

Melvy Murphy played his best game of the season. Anderson was also a standout for the Indians. Co-Captain Bill Tilton's defensive line play was excellent.

USHERS AT GAME

Boy Scouts from Troop 57 who attended the Michigan-Minnesota football game last Saurday and served as ushers were Tom Naser, Bob Hall, Jimmy Hite, Henry McCarbery and Fred Snyder. They were accompanied by the Scoutmaster, A. A. Musch.

Parking Meters Up To Council

DECISION ON THEIR INSTALLATION MAY BE REACHED AT MEETING ON MONDAY

Whether or not Tecumseh will install parking meters in the business area of the village will, in all probability, be decided by the council when it meets in regular session, Monday evening. At least one firm, possibly two, will submit proposals for the installation of the meters at that time, and it is expected that the council will take some action—either for or against the program.

The state, some months ago, instructed Tecumseh to discontinue the angle parking of cars on M-50-52 in the business area, (Chicago boulevard and North Evans street), holding that such a practice is dangerous. The angle parking of cars on Evans street has been discontinued, but it is still in effect on the boulevard.

The council also, at the state's request, recently enacted a new ordinance, making parallel parking of cars on the boulevard mandatory. This ordinance, while it is in effect, is not enforced, but it is expected that the state will demand its enforcement at any time. Some members of the council feel that the installation of parking meters should precede its enforcement.

The parallel parking of cars in the downtown district will cut down by about 50 per cent the amount of available parking space. Meters, it is held, are the only solution to the problem of keeping cars on the move to make shorter time parking space available for many. Other communities are installing meters for similar reasons, it was said.

Tecumseh will require about 75 meters which will cost about $5,000. They are paid for on a pay-as-you-go basis, over a two to five year period.

Local Sportsmen Plan Trap Shooting Club

Local sportsmen will be interested to know there is a trap and field for a gun club on the Joe O'Pravil farm. The club is open to all who wish to join and enjoy trap shooting, which is generally done on Sunday morning. With the enrollment of a few more members a club house will be built and improvements made. Two traps are now working and another is nearly completed.

Anyone interested is asked to drive to the O'Pravil farm, northeast of Tecumseh, Sundays from 9 to 12 o'clock.

FESTIVAL POSTPONED

The Band Festival, scheduled for last evening at Recreation Center, has been postponed until next Thursday evening, November 6, at 8 p.m. Some six or seven bands will participate.

Yesterday's rain caused the postponement.

LANSING ATTORNEY DISCUSSES TAX LAW

James Amsben, Lansing attorney and during the last session of the legislature a clerk for the Senate judiciary committee, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club, Tuesday evening at Brees House. He was the guest of LeRoy Titley, as was Rollo G. Conlin of Tipton, state representative.

Mr. Amsben discussed the state's new community property tax law which went into effect last July. Following his speech, the meeting was thrown open to discussion and members asked the speaker several questions regarding the law which he answered.

HUNTERS ARE HOME; N. Y. AREAS CLOSED

PEACETIME PRICE CONTROL

Prices are high and, as a result, some people are beginning to look nostalgically back at the days of price control. Movements are afoot in various parts of the country to revive something resembling the OPA. The old habit of looking for an easy way out of trouble by cracking a joke, borrowing another few billion dollars, or writing a law seems to still be with us, although the time for such foolishness is clearly past.

Price control was an emergency wartime measure to force maximum war production. It made no difference if an artificially low price on a certain, non-essential article drove that article from the market—it resulted in the diversion of more energy into war material. Patriotism impelled the people to support any measure that would help bring hostilities to a successful end. That was why they sanctioned price control.

But there is no excuse for price control in the United States in peacetime. It would mean the scrapping of American ideas and the creation of a bureaucracy such as is throttling England. It would mean political control over every detail of our lives. Hope would give way to despair as productive activity was blocked by senseless red tape. Controlled price tags would become a farce as there would be fewer articles to hang them on. The black market would become the true supply-and-demand market of the country. The consumer, along with honest producers and retailers, would suffer.

The United States is a land of opportunity for energetic individuals. It is about the only spot left in the world where there is hope. Let's keep it that way!

WINNING NEW FRIENDS WITH OLD-FASHIONED GOODNESS
Jane Parker Bread
THE BREAD THAT'S BAKED BY PASTRY CHEFS

More people have been saying more nice things about this newest addition to the Jane Parker family of bakery treats. Things like . . . "Best bread I ever ate!" . . . "Tastes just like the wonderful bread Grandma used to make!" . . . "I never dreamed bread could be so good!" For A&P's pastry chefs were right when they said that more shortening would give Jane Parker Bread flakier crust and extra richness . . . that more sugar would work wonders for the flavor . . . that more milk would make the texture smoother.

They put a lot more of all these good things into the new Jane Parker Bread. Then it's rushed from the oven to your A&P and guaranteed fresh by the date on the wrapper. That's mighty important, because when freshness fades, flavor fades. Enjoy the old-fashioned goodness of this golden-crusted, tender-textured bread today!

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Lansing—Today's unchecked inflation, fed by a record full employment in the United States and widespread shortages in Europe, is upsetting a lot of well-made plans.

For the 1946-47 fiscal year, the state treasury is called upon by the voters' constitutional mandate of 1946 to divert 44.7 per cent of the sales tax proceeds of the preceding year (1945-46) to local governments including the public schools.

What did the state collect in this preceding year? Approximately $116,000,000. This was thought to be a bonanza at the time.

What did the state collect during the past fiscal year ending June 30, 1947? Approximately $156,000,000—just $40,000,000 more than the year before. And what is the prospect for the current 1947-48 year which will end next June 30, 1948? At the present rate of price inflation and prosperity spending, Budget Director John A. Perkins estimates the tax flood may reach the high peak of $180,000,000—another $40,000,000 more than the year before.

Here's where the catch comes into the picture. It has state officials puzzled. When prices are continually climbing, the state will always be dollars ahead in the division of funds based upon the previous year's collection. But when the tax revenue starts to dip — and it is bound to do so eventually, probably with a bang — the state will have the responsibility of paying funds to local governments at a greater rate than current tax collections.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake thinks that the only prudent thing for the state of Michigan to do is ear-mark 44.7 per cent of each month's tax collection, as it is received by the state. This amount would be tagged monthly and held in reserve until ready for disbursement to local governments, as required by the constitutional amendment.

The current surplus in the treasury thus becomes a mere bookkeeping surplus and somewhat of an illusion in view of the future disbursements to be made. But it already has prompted a headline, "Inflation turns deficit into surplus for state," that is quite in reverse of the state's true financial situation.

Whether new taxes are to be levied in 1948, they are likely to be required by 1949, according to most state officials at Lansing. There is some argument about whether it would be desirable, politically, to do so in 1948, which is a state and national election year. Legislators are loath to impose new taxes at the eve of their own elections. And it won't help nor Sigler any, either, in the judgment of many legislators.

The possibility of new taxes in 1948 has caused a number of vulnerable industrial interests to prepare for a legislative showdown. If a way can be found to postpone the necessity of such levies, the legislature will probably jump at it.

Repeal of the constitutional tax diversion amendment is to come before Michigan voters at the November election, 1948. The Michigan Public Expenditure Survey recently made a sample poll of voters to find their thinking. The Survey reports that incomplete returns show 63 per cent — nearly two-thirds — favor such repeal.

There is one observation that could be made about the Survey poll, however. It is being taken at luncheon clubs which are attended by business men. We have a strong hunch that many voters — especially those who read only headlines and do not get into the details — will be reluctant to vote against Santa Claus. It is nice to get more money from Lansing, as it is from Washington. This money is like a gift. It isn't "our" money. This tax illusion still prevails and will probably continue to do so as long as human nature remains what it is.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Sam's a Matrimony Expert

Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:

"What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."

Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire, and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.

From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Niblack was the scene of a lovely wedding Tuesday, October 21, when their daughter, Patricia Ann, became the bride of Charles R. Beach, son of Mrs. Opal Beach of Clarkston. The Rev. Elbert VanAken of Brooklyn, N. Y., a life long friend of the bride's maternal and paternal grandparents, performed the double ring ceremony at 4 o'clock in the presence of 25 immediate relatives.

Mrs. Gordon Miller of Tecumseh sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. Forrest Weichner at the piano, who also played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the wedding party assembled before an improvised altar of red oak and yellow chrysanthemums flanked by yellow tapers in candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her white satin gown styled with a low neckline and a yoke of illusion, and long sleeves. The full skirt draped at the hips with a bustle in the back. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and baby pompons on a white Bible.

Immediately after the ceremony a supper was served by Mrs. Glen Gripton, Mrs. Lawrence Hoagland, and Mrs. Fred Fisher. The three-tiered wedding cake and the bridegroom's cake were served from a linen covered table. A fan shaped bouquet of white pompons and candelabra with white candles completed the decorations.

Mrs. Beach attended Britton high school and graduated from Hillsdale college where she is a member of the Chi Omega Fraternity. She will resume her duties in Clarkston where she is a school teacher following the honeymoon.

The bridegroom attended Clarkston high school and served in the U. S. Navy for three and a half years with several months in the Pacific theater. He now operates a service station in Clarkston.

For traveling the bride wore a brown suit and olive green hat with dark brown accessories. The couple will make their home in Clarkston after returning from a ten day trip through the eastern states.

The annual Halloween party will be held Friday evening sponsored by the Parent-Teacher's Association. A parade will start from the schoolhouse at 8 o'clock. The bonfire and games to held in the park with lunch later in the gym. Dancing will follow. All parents and friends are urged to bring their children to this event. Everyone is welcome.

The Methodist church will observe Day of Prayer and Self Denial Friday at 2:30. This meeting will be held in cooperation with the Ridgeway Methodist church.

Mrs. Doris Mattis and Miss Marion Rieve plan to open a new beauty shop in Britton Saturday.

The Youth Groups of the Methodist and Christian Churches of Britton plan to meet in the Methodist church, November 2 at 7:30. A special speaker, program, and refreshments will be served. All young people of high school age and above are invited to attend.

The Young Adult class of the Methodist Church will meet at the church November 1 at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. John Monk, Mrs. George Rogerman of Dundee and Mrs. Agnes McCarbery called on Mrs. Margaret Curry, Thursday afternoon.

LOOKING PRETTY

Every woman, including the expectant mother, feels and looks prettier in the right clothes for the occasion. A long dinner dress of the kind that is simple enough for wear at home and yet dressy enough for going out is worth its investment. And there are plenty of such dresses, once more, in maternity styles shown by New York's designers for Fall and Winter.

LAMPS

You Must See Them
They Are Different

We have just received a shipment of the very fine . . . very different . . . TOWLE CRAFTSMAN lamps.

These lamps are constructed of brass, in hurricane and other odd shaped models, designed for use where a lamp is needed, but a type and size is often difficult to obtain.

We'd like to have you see these TOWLE CRAFTSMAN lamps. The brass is highly polished . . . has the appearance of gold. The price, of course, is surprisingly low for the quality of workmanship.

Miss Doris Kruger Is Bride Of Walter Miller

The home of Mrs. Hazel Kruger was the scene of a lovely wedding Friday evening when her daughter, Doris, became the bride of Walter A. Miller of Adrian, son of David Miller. The Rev. J. deRuiter performed the single ring ceremony at 8 o'clock before an improvised altar decorated with fall flowers, oak leaves and yellow tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Louis Kruger, was attractive in a gabardine suit of luggage tan with accessories of brown and a shoulder bouquet of Talisman tea roses. Mrs. Betty Kruger Pelky attended her sister as matron of honor and wore a tan chalk striped suit with brown accessories and flowers of roses and bebe chrysanthemums. Donald Clegg of Adrian assisted as best man.

The bride's mother wore a brown pinstriped suit with brown accessories. Her flowers were roses and bebe chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held with the Misses Mildred Ramsay, Camillo O'Pravil and Mary Ellen Avery and Mrs. Edna Ramsay assisting with the serving. Mrs. Pelky cut the three-tiered wedding cake. Guests attended from Tecumseh, Clinton, Adrian, Detroit and Brighton.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and has been employed in the office of the Bohn Aluminum Corporation, Adrian. Mr. Miller, who graduated from Adrian high school and served three and one half years in the armed forces, is co-owner of a Gulf gas station in Adrian. The couple reside in their newly furnished home at 731 Dennis Street, Adrian.

Thought For Today

One great lesson is again taught us, but it is never followed: Never let the army and navy down so low as to be obliged to go to great expense in a hurry . . . . The true economy will be to be always ready. —Queen Victoria, In a letter to Lord Beaconsfield, July 28, 1879.

It Will

First Congressman—Why, they have already had seven appropriatons for the improvement of Skunk river. What does Skunk river drain, anyhow?

Second Congressman—It doesn't drain anything at present but, it'll drain the United States Treasury if you give it time.

Milan Farmer's Wife Is Definitely Air-Minded

Mrs. Lee Talladay, who lives near Milan in Lenawee county, is among a group of Midwestern farm women featured in an article in the November issue of Capper's Farmer entitled "Air-Minded Farm Women".

The article by Betty Lindsay, describes how farm wives from 34 states flew with their husbands and sons to the recent national Flying Farmers Convention at Stillwater, Oklahoma. Some of the farmerettes at the meeting had licenses to fly. However, most of them leave piloting to the man of the family. Hubbies say their wives are helpful back-seat riders. Most of them follow maps, keep track of mileage and time. After landing they help tie down the plane.

"Mrs. Talladay doesn't have much time to fly as she has two small children," the article in the farm magazine points out. "The other evening they took their young baby for its first ride.

"Mrs. Talladay was definitely against flying when her husband started. This trip, her first long one, turned the tables. Now she'll fly anywhere, anytime."

Cold Is Public Enemy Number 1

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT LISTS PREVENTIVE MEASURES TO BE USED

More Michigan people are suffering from the common cold and its complications at this time than are suffering from all other communicable diseases combined, Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the Bureau of Disease Control, Michigan Department of Health said today.

He pointed out that in the next several months more absenteeism in indstsry and more absence from schools will be caused by colds than by any other illness, and advised certain precautions to observe.

The common cold, he said is caused by a filterable virus, a germ so small that it cannot be seen or captured in a miscroscopic filter. This virus attacks the mucous membranes of the nose and throat. When the membrane is irritated by the virus, it secretes more mucous in an effort to throw off the attacker. This results in "sniffles"—primary symptom of a cold. The tissues of the nose and throat feel sore and scratchy. Sneezing and coughing are attempts to get rid of the irritating substance. They throw out thousands of droplets of mucous filled with tiny virus. These get on hands, handkerchiefs, pencils and other articles. Some of them hitch rides on dust particles floating in the air.

When these germ filled droplets reach other noses or throats, especially those dried out a bit in an over-heated room, the same process is repeated in another person. When the throat and nose are sufficiently irritated and especially if the person becomes rundown, chilled or fatigued, secondary invaders, other germs which are in a person's system, follow the cold virus. The thin watery secretion of the cold infected nose becomes yellow with pus. Then still more germs are spread by the coughs and sneezes, and the cold hangs on and on, and perhaps complications develop. Complications of a cold which may include mastoid, sinus ear or tonsil infections as well as influenza and pneumonia are serious. Many other ailments follow readily in the path of a cold.

A person with the first symptom of a cold should go to bed and call a doctor. The doctor may give sulphonamides or shots to help ward off secondary invaders and prevent complications.

"If staying in bed is utterly impossible, then the person having a cold has an obligation to protect others from his illness," Dr. Leeder said. He should carefully cover his face with disposable tissue when he coughs or sneezes. He should avoid spitting and he should carefully dispose of all discharges from his nose and throat. When speaking, he should not stand close to another spraying him with germs.

Dr. Leeder offered ten precautions which he believes will help to avoid colds. They are:

1. Stay away from people having colds. Stay out of crowds during cold epidemics.
2. Avoid articles which may have been sprayed with cold germs or handled by people with colds.
3. Get plenty of rest. Avoid fatigue.
4. Eat well-balanced regular meals. Drink plenty of water.
5. Wash your hands before eating or handling food.
6. Avoid sitting in over-heated rooms. Avoid chilling.
7. Dress according to the weather, and according to the temperature in which you must work. Get some outdoor exercise.
8. Avoid dust, chemical or smoke-laden air. These irritate the throat and make it possible for cold virus to get a start.
9. Go to bed at the first signs of a cold.
10. Avoid self-medication. Call a doctor. Follow his advice.

The Cotter's Saturday Night

By Robert Burns

The cheerfu' supper done, wi' serious face,
They, round the ingle, form a circle wide;
The sire turns o'er wi' patriarchal grace,
His bonnet reverently is laid aside,
His lyart haffets wearing thin and bare;
Those strains that once did sweet in Zion glide,
He wales a portion with judicious care;
And, "LET US WORSHIP GOD!" he says, with solemn air.

New Michigan Milk Producers' Association receiving station nearing completion at Ortonville. It is part of the Association's program for modernization of facilities in the Detroit market area and represents the finest obtainable in both building and equipment.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

The better to serve—both members and the consuming public—is the primary objective of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association.

From its inception—31 years ago—this organization has operated on a true cooperative basis—the principles of Democracy being carried out to the fullest degree.

On Thursday, November 6th, some 500 delegates selected by the 16,000 members will meet in East Lansing for their annual meeting to hear reports on the past year's activities and formulate plans for future operation of the dairy farmer's organization.

In shaping the policies and program of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association, a majority vote of the delegates elected by the membership is necessary. Majorities are seldom wrong in their decision. To this policy, adopted by the farsighted founders of the organization, may be attributed its constant growth and record of achievements.

Every activity of the Association is guided by the sound principle that the interests of the consuming public must always be given equal consideration with the interests of the milk producer. That is the Democratic way and this is a Democratic body of men.

Providing the highest quality of products, efficiently produced and transported to markets, at prices which are equitable, demands sound planning in order that the public be assured of an adequate supply of nature's most nearly perfect food.

The modern receiving station (pictured above), equipped with the most sanitary machinery obtainable, is a part of the program of progress now being carried out by members serving the Detroit market. This entire program is designed to provide consumers in the area with the purest, best quality milk and dairy products it is possible to produce, always remembering that milk is vital to the public health and welfare and its cost is of paramount consideration.

The experience of the past 31 years together with our cooperative method of operation leads us to look to the future with confidence in our ability to continually better serve both the public and our own members.

Joseph Perry Hayden has been "awarded the franchise" for delivering Hayden's Wheat Germ to the local food stores, to the post office, and railway express. When local citizens see a slowly moving wagon being drawn by this newest member of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce they will know that the fourth generation of Hayden's is starting in at the tender age of seven. Joe tells us that the wagon is his very own, was paid for out of earnings, and that when he gets it paid for, the surplus will go for a new lawn mower all of his very own for the 1948 lawn mowing season. (Could be that Joe is looking for a bit of free advertising —or is it Perry, his father).

Council OK's Parking Meters

WILL BE INSTALLED WITHIN THE NEXT MONTH AND IN USE IN DECEMBER

Tecumseh is to have parking meters in the downtown district.

This decision was reached by the Village Council, in session on Monday evening, when it awarded a contract to the McGee-Hale Parking Meter Co., for the purchase of 85 meters at a cost of $61.50 each. They will be paid for on a monthly basis, the company taking 50 per cent of the income from the machines until full payment has been made.

The Council was advised that the meters would be delivered here in about 30 days, and that they would be installed by one of the company engineers. It is expected, therefore, that parallel parking, ordered by the Michigan Department of Public Safety, and already provided for by local ordinance which is not being enforced, will become law here about mid-December.

Parallel parking in the downtown district will reduce by about 40 per cent the number of cars now being parked on the angle plan. The village has disapproved of the parallel parking program for several years, and has so advised the Department of Safety, but recently the state officers have insisted that the change be made in keeping with a state-wide movement for uniform parking in all Michigan villages and cities.

The Council was of the opinion that if parallel parking must be the law in Tecumseh, then some means of keeping traffic moving must be adopted. The installation of meters appeared to be the only answer. It also was pointed out that, once the meters have been paid for, funds received from parking rentals might be used to purchase additional parking lot space, without added tax expense to property owners.

Mayor John C. Truesdale named a three member board of trustees to handle the affairs of the new Boy Scout cabin, built this summer in Elliott park. E. M. Campbell was named to this board for a three year period; J. W. Spafford for a two-year period, and T. M. Hartsell for a one-year period.

There was little other business to come before the board, other than the auditing of bills and the reading of reports of department and committee heads, which were placed on file.

The present membership as announced by the committee is 85. The Unit is supporting the Legion's Military Training bill and the secretary was instructed to write letters to senators and representatives urging its passage. The Unit is also giving support to Town Hall and it was voted to donate $25 to the Community Chest. The following mandatory funds were ordered paid: National Defense, $1; National Convention fund, $13.70.

TALKS TO ROTARY

Dr. Ferris G. Hodge, a member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club and who a few weeks ago returned from a four months tour of the Near East, told fellow members something about his trip when he spoke, following the regular dinner meeting at Brees House, Tuesday evening. Dr. Hodge also showed many souvenirs he collected, among them a diamond and ruby set ring, said to have been worn by the snake worshippers some 3,000 years ago.

Large Crowd Expected At First Town Hall Meet

Neville Hart, secretary of the Town Hall Council, said today that all plans have been completed for the opening Town Hall meeting in Tecumseh, Tuesday, November 18, in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. There is considerable increased interest in the program this year, he said, and several local organizations have renewed their memberships by subscribing to the Council financially.

Dr. Ferris G. Hodge, local dentist recently returned from a four-months tour of the Near East, will be the first speaker. Dr. Hodge will give a 20-minute talk on his trip, and then show some 1,400 feet of colored motion pictures he took while on the tour. He also has a travel talk to accompany the pictures.

Admission to the program is without charge, and a capacity audience is expected. The Parent-Teacher Association is joining Town Hall in staging the opening program.

Butler Home & Auto Supply Store Is Being Enlarged

The Butler Home and Auto Supply—home of the Firestone store in Tecumseh—is being enlarged to nearly double its original size to better accommodate the increase in post-war merchandise now becoming available for shoppers, C. O. Butler, owner, said today.

The store is located in the Ford building and is managed by Oscar Bryan. While the new arrangement does not increase the frontage of the store, the removal of a wall in the building permits the deepening of the store by many feet. New lighting fixtures are being installed and other improvements, including display cases, are planned.

James M. Henderson, Former Resident, Dies

James M. Henderson, 84, died Saturday morning at his home in Flint. The son of James Melville and Catherine Henderson, he was born in New London, N. Y., April 4, 1863 and moved to Tecumseh in 1891. He married Lovina Chase, September 9, 1892, and while here he was associated with Alva Spayde in operating a general store. Later, after moving to Adrian in 1913, he was a steward at Bixby hospital and Adrian College for 10 years and in 1923 moved to Detroit where he was steward of the Michigan Mutual Liability Hospital. In 1935 he retired to his farm at Hunter Creek, Michigan, and moved to Flint in 1942.

Surviving are the widow, Lovina, two sons, Herbert V., at home and Samuel C., of Dearborn, one daughter, Mrs. R. B. Wilcox of Holly, Michigan, five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Services were held Tuesday morning at the Flint residence and Tuesday afternoon in the Collins Funeral Home with Dr. Norman McNaughton officiating. Burial was in the Brookside cemetery.

Village Buys Building Site

ACQUIRES HOUSE AND LOT ADJOINING PRESENT COUNCIL BUILDING ON SOUTH

Purchase of the house and lot immediately south of the Village Council Building at 114 South Pearl street, upon delivery of a merchantable title, was authorized by the Council, in session on Monday evening. The purchase price of the property is $6,000.

Wade L. Jones, village clerk, said that the Council felt that because the property adjoins the Council Building on the south, and because Tecumseh is growing and there already is need for an enlarged building and fire barn, it would be wise to purchase the site at this time. He said that the Council has no immediate plans for using the property, and that until a decision to build a new building or enlarge the present one is reached, the house on the site would continue to be rented. The property was owned by LaVern and Gladys Murphy.

The Council has for many years considered the building of a new Village Building, perhaps one large enough to accommodate village offices, the fire department, and a garage. This thought was uppermost in the minds of the Council at the time it acquired the present parking lot, at the rear of the Strand theatre. There is considerable frontage in this lot on both Pearl and Logan sreets. However, because of the increased need for parking space, and because such a building as would be needed to accommodate the village would extend well into the lot from either fronting street, some of those interested in the improvement are said to be reluctant to proceed.

The present Village Building, although it is old, is said to be in a reasonably good state of repair. It houses the fire department on the first floor, and on the second floor there is a room occupied by the Council when it is in session, and living quarters in the rear for the fire truck driver. The site to the south, just purchased, which has a 60-foot frontage, would permit construction of a building that would more than double the present space.

MORE THAN 1,000 AT MASS BAND PROGRAM

More than 1,000 persons attended the mass band festival, staged Tuesday evening at Recreation Center, under the auspices of the Tecumseh Band Parents Club. The meet was the first of its kind in the county, and probably will be an annual affair.

Six bands participated in Tuesday's program—from Blissfield, Sand Creek, Napoleon, Brooklyn, Adrian and Tecumseh. Each band played several numbers, did some stunt marching, and then the entire group of musicians massed in one great concert. The affair was under the direction of Clair Camburn, director of the Tecumseh Band.

Tecumseh's musicians, with the aid of Boy Scouts, officially welcomed the group by spelling out the word welcome in a marching stunt at the opening of the program.

KETTERING IS SELLING U. S. PREFERRED STOCK

World's Not Going To Pot, Unless We Want It To

Lansing—"I don't think we need to live in a crisis all the time, because the world isn't going to pot at all unless we want it to."

C. F. Kettering, retired vice-president of General Motor Corporation in charge of research and now its research consultant, was speaking.

The occasion was the 14th annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors' association in Detroit. News executives of daily newspapers throughout the United States were in attendance.

"Boss" Kettering's remarks, "The Day after Tomorrow", were an affirmative, positive reminder that Detroit's "know how" of making things through mass production was achieved only by competitive free enterprise and that we still live in "the golden age of opportunities unlimited."

"Since I have retired," he said, "I have organized several new companies. One is the Utopian Transportation Company, Limited, and that is a non-profit organization. I am trying to raise a few funds, and you can help in your little community, to give free transportation to those people who think this is a lousy country.

"The only thing about the Utopian Transportation Company that is limited is that the transportation is limited to one direction.

"The other company I have is a stock-selling company known as United States Preferred. I am trying to sell that, and I am getting along pretty well. Of course, a poor inventor like myself doesn't understand a lot of things that are going on, and apparently other people don't either.

"One of the things I don't understand is why this country is called upon to make up the deficits for all the cockeyed European ideologies, and stop our own work while we are doing it. I don't understand that one at all.

"We didn't start this war, we just got in and tried to help a little. I was talking to Harvey Campbell this morning, and he said, 'You are all wrong'. He said, 'If a fellow is in the gutter, you either have to get in with him or help him out.' I said, 'No, not if he put himself in there.' I don't intend to get into the ditch at all, and most of the fellows in the ditch would have had us there, so I can't be too sympathetic.

"When it comes to starving, I would like to help on that a little bit, but it is not a part of that to get sentimental over the guys that were trying to lick us. I can't get sentimental over that at all.

"So when I talk about United States Preferred, that is what I mean."

Kettering's remarks, philosophical and often humorous, were timely because they served to remind us that America's greatness has been built on the development and use of superior machines. According to one survey, the average machine investment per worker in America is $6,000. Who is going to put up this $6,000? Any citizen who is willing to save money and to risk it as an investment for profit.

Back in 1870 the average American worker worked 60 hours a week. He earned $9.60. Compared with 1947 real dollars, that would be worth $16.56. By 1908 he got $12 a week for 60 hours' work. Today, he gets $60 a week and works 40 hours — all because of the American system of free enterprise, risking money for profit.

There is no other place in the world where this is true. So, don't sell the United States short for socialism or other European ideologies. Why not buy a few shares in Kettering's United States Preferred?

Tecumseh Grange Singers Divide State Honors

The Tecumseh Grange, Lenawee county, singing team shared top honors with the Bend of the River Grange, Berian county, in the State Grange festival finals held in Hillsdale last week Tuesday. Tecumseh was previously selected at a regional song festival to compete with five other Grange teams in the state. The two winning Granges received gold awards. The Tecumseh group is composed of Mrs. Dow Bibby, Mrs. Mills Swick, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow, Charles Bigelow, Mrs. William Grigg, Ernest Harris, and Rev. B. O. Bashore. Glenn Driscoll is the director and Mrs. Driscoll is the accompanist.

Thursday evening the Tecumseh Grange was honored by demonstrating the fourth degree at the State Grange meet in Hillsdale. The sixth degree was also conferred upon Tecumseh delegates.

Young Folk Cooperate And Get Big "Thanks" For Halloween Spirit

Tecumseh's young folk cooperated completely with the Rotary Club's program this year to eliminate vandalism in the village on Halloween and, as a result, Yale Kerby, chairman of the club's Spooks Night program committee, said "Thank You" to the teenagers.

Each year, for many years, the Rotary Club has sponsored a Halloween party for Tecumseh young folk and, in return, has requested that window soaping and other pranks and destruction be eliminated. And, each year, Kerby said that insofar as he knew, there was no destruction here this year. A few windows were "touched with soap," he said, but nothing serious.

This year's Spooks Party included a parade of masked and costumed young folk through the business district, the awarding of $25 in cash prizes for the best costumes, and a two-and-a-half hour special show at the Strand theatre. The parade was one of the largest ever staged, and the young folk seemed to greatly enjoy it, Kerby said.

U. Of M. Instructor Is Monday Club Speaker

The Tecumseh Monday Club met at the Methodist church November 3 with 46 members present. Mrs. Perry Hayden, president, presided at the business meeting at which time announcements were made of the board meeting to be held in Adrian, November 5, and the Town Hall meeting, November 18. It was voted to give $10 to the Community Fund.

Mrs. Veva Conner and Mrs. Donald Goddard gave reports of the County Federation meeting at Adrian. Mrs. Raymond Puffer, leader of the program, announced the speaker, Ivan H. Walton, professor of English at the University of Michigan, who gave a talk on the Great Lakes area, Indians, and early settlers and their habits. Later, tea was enjoyed with Mrs. Burtsel Claus and Mrs. Fisher pouring. The hostesses were Mrs. Edward Beal, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney, Mrs. Herbert Temple, Mrs. Truman Rentschler, Mrs. R. S. Moore, Mrs. W. Barnes, and Mrs. H. Waring.

Tecumseh Tied For Grid Honors

(By Pat Wilson)

The Tecumseh high school Indians forged into a tie lead with Hudson in the current L.C.A.A. football race by defeating Morenci 7-0 at Morenci, last Friday night. Morenci was completely out-classed by the powerful Indians. Although Tecumseh scored but one touchdown, and this in the last quarter, they threatened constantly throughout the entire game.

Following the opening kick-off, Tecumseh started a sustained drive which carried them to the Morenci 13 yard line. This was accomplished through the running of Hop Anderson, Melvy Murphy, and Dick Colson. However, on the 13 yard line, Gillen faded back to pass and he was thrown for a 12 yard loss. After this blow, Morenci held for downs on their own 20 and thus prevented an Indian score. Then there was a Morenci punt and, when two plays later one of Anderson's passes was intercepted, it looked as though Morenci might get started. However, on a third play, VanWagner, Morenci quarterback, fumbled and Anderson recovered the ball. On the next play, Anderson twisted and sidestepped the entire Morenci defense to go 45 yards to the Morenci 10 yard line. This, undoubtedly, would have been a touchdown run, but speedy Anderson, in an attempt to stay behind his interference was finally hauled down by a Morenci player.

In the third quarter Tecumseh again drove to the Morenci 12, but Morenci, playing desperately, held for downs. Finally in the fourth quarter, Morenci, tired and worn from the terrific bombardment of power being thrown against them, gave into the powerful Indians, who roared across for the touchdown. Colson carried the ball over and then split the uprights for the extra point.

Morenci threatened but once, and that was on a pass from VanWagner to Packard. He was stopped by the speedy Tecumseh team. This was indeed one of the best games, from the spectators view, that has been played in the L.C.A.A. competition this fall, exceeded in suspense only by the Tecumseh-Hudson game, which ended a scoreless tie.

Some of the outstanding players for Tecumseh were Colson, Anderson, Murphy, Co-captain Bill Tilton and VanCamp.

Irvin L. Parrett Dies Suddenly In Dearborn

Irvin L. Parrett, 64, died suddenly at 10:32 o'clock Sunday evening in Dearborn after suffering a heart attack. He was born to the late Silas E. and Ada White Parrett August 8, 1883 in Continental, Ohio. He and Mrs. Parrett were married July 21, 1910 in Columbus, Ohio. They have operated the Parrett nursing home at 303 East Pottawatamie street here for several years. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and the Tecumseh Grange.

Nearly $3,600 In Fund Chest

CHAIRMAN IS HOPEFUL THAT TECUMSEH WILL NOT FALL TOO SHORT OF GOAL

Tecumseh now has subscribed approximately $3,600 toward the $5,033 goal of the Community Fund, Vance Ogden, chairman of the campaign, said today. The drive, although ended officially last Saturday, is now in the "clean up" stages and the chairman is hopeful that by next Saturday, November 8, sufficient additional gifts may be found to push the total well over the $4,000 mark.

"I am very well pleased with Tecumseh's response to the campaign," Mr. Ogden said in making the announcement. "As of today, we have subscribed about 70 per cent of our total which, according to state-wide reports, puts this village well in the lead of others where similar campaigns are operating. I notice that in some of the larger cities, subscriptions are running from 20 to 30 per cent of the total, and there are few places where the half-way mark has been reached."

Mr. Ogden pointed out that it would be very gratifying if Tecumseh was able to reach its goal. He recalled that before and throughout the war this village never failed to meet any patriotic or civic quota and, he said, he would like to see the record unbroken.

"We still have some solicitors to hear from, and there are some special and individual gifts still to come in," Ogden said. "Frankly, I expect that we will exceed the $4,000 mark before the end of our work on Saturday, and there is a possibility that we will do even better."

The chairman expressed his appreciation to those who assisted in any way with the campaign, and he also said "Thanks, a million", to those who have given financially.

Eight organizations share in the proceeds of the drive this year and all money raised remains in Tecumseh for local use.

FIRE AND YOUR CHILD

"Fire is the leading accidental killer of children," writes the Star of Saugerties, New York. It then points out that while the battle against disease as a cause of child fatalities is being won, the battle against accidents is being lost.

Some 6,000 children under the age of five die in home accidents each year. More than a third die from burns and scalds—a larger toll than is exacted by the dread disease of polio. On top of that, for every child who is fatally burned, many more are crippled or disfigured for life.

No child is burned through his own fault. The blame comes straight home to parents who, through carelessness or ignorance or downright inertia, permit the child to be exposed to hazards. The Star cites some suggestions, made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which should be memorized by every parent.

1. Never leave children unattended in the home, and be sure the sitter is responsible.
2. Keep matches, hot liquids, lamps, etc., out of the reach of children.
3. Don't permit children to play with bonfires or fireworks. Such amusements as popcorn roasts should be held under close adult supervision.
4. Avoid dressing children in highly inflammable clothing, such as net dresses.
5. In case of fire, get children out of the house, then call the fire department.

If all parents will follow these easy rules, the horrible toll fire now takes in the coin of children's lives and health will be sharply reduced.

Betz-Lowery

At a very impressive candlelight service Sunday evening at 8 p.m., at the Holloway Presbyterian Church, Marilyn Joyce Lowery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lowery of Holloway, became the bride of Robert Lee Betz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Betz of Blissfield in a single ring ceremony performed by Dr. John E. Marvin of Adrian. Preceding the ceremony, James Letcher, acting pastor of the church sang, "If God Left Only You" and "The Good Shepherd," accompanied by Mrs. Roger Richards on the organ.

As the bride approached the altar which was decorated with large hampers of white chrysanthemums and cathedral candles on each side, Mrs. Richards played the wedding march. The bride was very lovely in a gown of white slipper satin which was fashioned with a bateau neckline and the tunic effect running into a graceful train with tiny satin covered buttons down the back and sleeves which ended in points over her hands. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded cornet halo. She carried a shower bouquet of baby chrysanthemums and white carnations and white satin ribbon to match. Her only jewelry was a triple strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Her maid of honor was Miss Barbara DeGroot and she was attired in a dress made identical to the bride's in blue taffeta and her shoulder length veil was caught in a halo of blue flowers. She carried a shower bouquet of pink bebe mums with pink illusion and tied with pink satin ribbon. The two bridesmaids, the Misses Janice Stutzman of Adrian and Evelyn Stutzman of Metamora were both cousins of the bride and were dressed alike in pink taffeta fashioned as the bride's and each carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums with blue illusion and were tied with blue satin ribbons. Each wore shoulder length veils caught with tiny pink rosebuds.

Robert Betz was attended by Virgil Lowery, Jr., as best man and the ushers were Donald Lowery and Duane Betz.

Mrs. Virgil Lowery chose for her daughter's wedding a dove grey crepe dress and wore black accessories. Mrs. Wesley Betz wore for her son's wedding a black crepe dress with black accessories and each bronze chrysanthemum corsages. The bride and groom's three grandmothers were present, namely Mrs. Grace Stutzman of Ogden, Mrs. Jacob Betz of Blissfield and Mrs. Alta McAnally of Adrian and each was presented with a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Robert Betz attended the Adrian High School and graduated in the class of 1947. Robert Betz attended the Blissfield High School and graduated in the class of 1943 and is now part owner of a gas station in Blissfield.

For her going away outfit the bride wore a black gabardine suit with black accessories and she wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet. After a short wedding trip the bridal couple will make their home with the bridegroom's parents for the present.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for 150 guests. The four-tiered wedding cake with the traditional bride and groom centered the lace covered bride's table and ice cream and cake were served to the guests by the Misses Nancy Baldwin, Irene Righter, Kathryn Calkins, Virginia Bristol, Mrs. George Hager and Mrs. Milton Opel. Guests were present from Detroit, Hudson, Metamora, Toledo, Blissfield, Ogden, Adrian and Holloway.

Lansing—Hundreds of state employees are quitting their jobs because of inadequate salaries, Governor Sigler was told by Thomas J. Wilson, state civil service director.

The governor promptly announced that the state legislature will be called back for the second special session of 1947. The session is scheduled for mid-November.

Here is the latest proof, if any were needed, that inflation works both ways. It not only booms sales tax revenue, currently forecast at $190,000,000 for the year ending next June 30, but it also [illegible]. The iron mining industry in the Upper Peninsula is a long way from being washed-up.

The additional $6,500,000 appropriation, sought from the legislature, is the same as the tax sum involved in a suit filed by the Detroit Board of Education, Michigan Federation of Teachers and other school groups.

The suit contests validity of the state legislature's 1947 action creating a single school district for teachers' pensions, vocational education and state schools for handicapped children. The district was given a legislative appropriation of $6,838,260 from the sales tax diversion to schools.

School attorneys argued before the Michigan State Supreme court that the schools were entitled to the full tax diversion amount of $51,000,000 under the constitutional amendment. Assistant Attorney General Eburn Parsons contended that the schools can get only what the legislature decides to appropriate.

The Mather mine at Ishpeming-Negaunee is destined to be the world's greatest underground iron ore mine. One shaft is already producing; another, 8,000 feet to the eastward is now being put down. When both shafts are producing, an annual output of 3,000,000 tons is anticipated. One thousand men will be working in this one mine.

Calumet & Hecla company is reopening the old Ropes gold mine a few miles to the north of Ishpeming. The Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation has opened a new ore research laboratory in Negaunee, adjacent to large undeveloped J & L land holdings. A scientific search is being pressed to develop a practical way whereby millions of tons of low-grade ore may be utilized.

An educational campaign to inform Michigan citizens of the need for food conservation will get under way soon, led by Prof. Herman J. Wyngarden, Michigan State college economist. Wyngarden was chosen by Governor Sigler to head a state committee for this purpose.

The drive will seek to enlist citizens in volunteer conservation of food as requested by President Truman's Citizens Food Committee under the chairmanship of Charles Luckman.

Facts: We Americans are eating more meat than we did in 1939. The 1946 record was 152.8 pounds per capita, compared with 132.8 pound in 1939. Fresh and processed fruit were consumed in 1946 at a rate of 36 per cent higher than 1939. The food consumption in 1947 is estimated at 17 per cent above pre-war.

The bell is tolling in Europe. Every country there is suffering from dietary deficiencies. Self sacrifice here will be a small price to pay.

Square Biscuits, Yet!

I see by a neighboring paper, that the round biscuit is on the way out. Yes, sir, home-management specialists have found that the square biscuit lends itself to assembly-line production and easy storage better than those customary ovals.

Well, we're all for progress, but that's one new idea we just don't cotton to. A round biscuit, spread nicely amidships with snappy country cheese, looks like a biscuit! And accompanied by a mellow glass of beer, it's a combination that you can't improve on!

So at the risk of being called old-fashioned, I'm voting for round biscuits, that fit a hungry man's mouth like no square imitation ever will . . . and for American beer served in the good old-fashioned way, in tall, cool mugs or ordinary glasses, with frosty sides and bubbles winking at the brim!

(By Pat Wilson)

The Tecumseh high school J. V.'s eked out a close victory over the Clinton J. V's. Monday afternoon at Clinton by the score of 7-6. It was the final grid game for the Tecumseh Juniors and the victory brought their average to an even .500.

The game was well played with Clinton having a slight edge. Fumbles and misplays for Clinton cost them the game. Tecumseh won the toss and elected to receive. On the first play a pass from Van Winkle to McDowell was intercepted. Tecumseh, however, duplicated the situation and intercepted a Clinton pass and drove down the field only to be stopped on the Clinton 18 yard line. A fumble by Clinton gave Tecumseh the ball on Clinton's 20 and on the second play O'Brien, Tecumseh fullback, skirted his left end for the touchdown. A pass from VanWinkle to Phibbs was good for the extra point, which proved to be the margin of victory for Tecumseh.

Clinton scored in the second period on a series of line plays which tore the Tecumseh line apart. Failing to make the extra point proved fatal.

The second half was predominated mostly by Clinton, having two scoring chances with a fumble on one and Tecumseh line holding for downs took the ball. The J.V.'s, comprised of mostly freshmen, should prove valuable material in their coming years at Tecumseh. VanWinkle, Campbell, O'Brien, Bailey, Beasley and Woodward have three more years. McDowell, J. Judd, Phibbs, J. Colson, and T. Hamilton have two remaining years.

Season summary: Tecumseh 7, Dundee 19; Tecumseh 6, Milan 13; Tecumseh 19, Clinton 7; Tecumseh 19, Dundee 19; Tecumseh 7, Clinton 6.

Immunization Against Diphtheria Is Urged

While the three year upward trend of diphtheria in Michigan apparently has been thwarted in the past year, the fact remains that no more than five counties in the state are adequately protected by general immunization against the disease, should it take an upturn, Dr. J. K. Altland, acting commissioner, Michigan Department of Health, said today.

Because cases of diphtheria usually begin to increase in the late fall, the acting commissioner today urged parents, physicians and school authorities to see that all Michigan youngsters are protected against the disease.

While last year's 310 cases compare favorably with the 1941 low of 242 cases, and while there were 27 deaths from diphtheria last year in comparison with 517 deaths two decades ago, we must remember that even in the past few years, one out of every 13 children who contracted diphtheria, died of the disease, Dr. Altland pointed out. Both the cases and the deaths are unnecessary and unwarranted, the Health Department contends.

Dr. Altland especially urged physicians to so educate parents to the necessity of protecting their children from childhood communicable diseases that they will bring their children to the physician's office for complete immunization. In this way, he said, wider immunization can be achieved. Many younger parents, he pointed out, do not realize how serious diphtheria can be and do not remember the dreaded and fatal plagues of the disease of 25 years ago.

Adequate protection against a disease, according to public health standards, means that 80 per cent of those of susceptible age are immunized. This does not mean that there will be no cases in a community but it does mean that there will be no epidemic. While the recent decrease in the incidence of diphtheria is due to wider recognition of the need for immunization and booster shots, transient wartime and labor populations as well as the lack of sufficient medical and nursing personnel have handicapped immunization efforts. The best protected counties in Michigan are those in which the county medical society or health department, or both, have conducted county-wide immunization campaigns.

The distribution of diphtheria toxoid, the protection against the disease, reached an all time high in the 1945-46 fiscal years when 492,882 doses were distributed to physicians. During the past fiscal year, 335,623 doses were distributed. The toxoid is made in the Michigan Department of Health laboratories and is distributed without charge to the physicians of the state. The preventive has been distributed by the department for the past 25 years, and made by its laboratories for the past 18 years.

Miss Florence Spreeman Bride Of Allen F. Kern

Miss Florence Ruth Spreeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spreeman of Deerfield, and Allen F. Kern, son of Mrs. Clarence D. Kern and the late Mr. Kern of Adrian, were married Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in St. Stephen's Lutheran church, Adrian. The Rev. A. H. Baer read the service before the altar decorated with white chrysanthemums, palms and burning white tapers.

Ruben Kemprath played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Phyllis Baker, a cousin of the bridegroom as she sang "O Perfect Love"—and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a white taffeta gown with a nylon skirt, and the sweetheart neckline on the taffeta bodice was inset with nylon. Her full length veil fell from a tiara of pearls. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and rosebuds.

Miss Margery Ruth Paul of Sunbrite, Tenn., as maid of honor, wore pink taffeta with a marquisette skirt styled similar to the bride's gown, but the short sleeves. She carried a bouquet of bebe pink and white chrysanthemums. The Misses Carma and Norma Spreeman, twin sisters ofthe bride, as bridesmaids wore light blue taffeta and blue net rosettes in their hair. They carried bouquets of pink and white bebe chrysanthemums.

Carl Winchell of Clinton assisted his cousin as best man and the ushers were Cleon Kern of Dexter, cousin of the bridegroom, and Edwin Spreeman of Deerfield, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the St. Stephen's school hall for 150 guests from Clinon, Manchestir, Cadmus, Jackson, Dexter, Ann Arbor, Toledo, Tecumseh, Deerfield, Detroit, Ypsilanti and Adrian. Those assisting with the serving were Mrs. Leona Thecke, sister of the bride, of Deerfield, who cut the cake, the Misses Erma and Kathryn Spreeman and Mary Ellen Amstutz, and Mrs. Frances Spreeman.

Upon their return from a trip to Wisconsin and points north, Mr. and Mrs. Kern will reside at 306 East Pottawatamie Stree, Tecumseh.

Here's How To Lengthen Your Last Year's Clothes

If the skirt has a good hem allowance, you are fortunate. Beatrice Frangquist, home demonstration agent, suggests that you rip the hem and steam press it to remove the marks of the old hem before you put in the new one.

To steam press wool garments place them right side down against a piece of soft wool pinned over the ironing board. Use a warm iron and a heavy cotton cloth dampened in warm water. Set the iron down, then lift it, but don't slide it back and forth, as this is likely to stretch the fabric. Steam the entire hem allowance with special attention to the fold line.

If the wool is thick, right-side steaming may be more effective. Cover the fabric with a piece of wool, then use the heavy cotton press cloth and warm iron as before. Remember that you are steaming the fabric, not ironing it, and you want to raise the nap rather than flatten it.

You may wish to use a brush or rubber sponge after steam-pressing as this often helps in raising the nap and removing shine. The same method may be used for rayon crepes. Take care not to have the pressing cloth too damp.

The Presence of God

Having found in many books different methods of going to God, and divers practices of the spiritual life, I thought this would serve rather to puzzle me than facilitate what I sought after. . . .

This made me resolve to give the all for the all; so after having given myself wholly to God, that He might take away my sin, I renounced for the love of Him, everything that was not He, and I began to live as if there was none but He and I in the world.

Earlier Dental Care Is Needed

AVERAGE 5-YEAR-OLD HAVE FIVE TOOTH CAVITIES, STATE DISCOVERS

"Caries (decay) is attacking the teeth of one half of all two-and-three-year-old children in Michigan. The average five-year-old in the state has five cavities in his teeth; and one out of every three five-year-olds has a primary tooth which needs extracting. In one Michigan city 85 per cent of school children had caries in their permanent teeth. Approximately 95 per cent of the state's population have dental disease."

These facts, established by surveys of the Michigan Department of Health, were revealed today by Dr. Fred Wertheimer, director of the bureau of Public Health Dentistry, in pointing out the need for earlier dental care and more widespread dental health education in the state.

One authority has indicated that if tooth decay were a malignant disease terminating in death, almost the entire population of the state would be wiped out in a generation.

Dental caries is a bacterial disease, just as is tuberculosis or smallpox, except it is not communicable. It is almost as prevalent in the world as the common cold. There is no vaccination or "shot" for its prevention. Both tooth decay and the loss of teeth affect the general healh of the individual.

Because the bacteria causing caries attack so early and continue during the remainder of the victim's life, a child's interest in dental health should be developed early, he should be taught the value of proper food and habits, and the necessity for early and continued visits to the dentist.

"Each parent should teach his child, early, that his dentist is a friendly health counsellor, and that irregular and unsightly teeth, no matter what their cause, can be corrected by members of the dental profession," Dr. Wertheimer said.

In addition, the parent can teach the young child the need to:

1. Visit the dentist for early and regular inspection, advice treatment and cavity filling.
2. Eat a fortified, wall-balanced diet for good growth, and a diet low in sugar content to lessen tooth decay.
3. Brush teeth properly to keep the teeth cleaner and free from particles of sweet foods and to help stimulate healthy gums.
4. Avoid poor mouth habits such as thumb sucking and lip-biting which may make teeth uneven.
5. Use only those drugs or preparations which are prescribed by his dentist.

IN the good old days people referred to an unusual purchase or bargain as being a "GOOD CHEAP" purchase or buy. It was understood that such a bargain represented an item or service that could be purchased at a small cost or price as compared with the usual price or real value.

From this description few people, if any, particularly in these days of steadily rising living costs, would agree that you could still purchase a bargain that costs a great deal less than its real value. But that's exactly what you do every time you flick a switch and put Reddy Kilowatt to work for you.

Nowhere in the world could you find a servant that will do so much for so little. Think of the hundreds of tiring tasks he does in your home every day . . . lighting, cooking, refrigeration, water heating, washing clothes, cleaning, radio reception and many others—ALL for only a few cents a day.

Community Fund Is Over The Top

CONTRIBUTIONS TOTAL $5,090.12 ORIGINAL QUOTA WAS SET AT $5,033

Tecumseh's Community Fund is "over the top", having exceeded its quota by about $57, Vance Ogden, chairman, informed officers of the Community Fund organization at a final wind-up meeting here, Tuesday morning. The original quota was set at $5,033 and contributions to date total $5,090.12, he said.

In a break-down report of contributions, the chairman listed gifts as follows: Advance and special gifts, $950; outlying business donations, $330.53; business and professional donations, $1,049.75; office and factory donations, $898; residential solicited donations, $1,376.19; township solicited donations, $155.40; public school donations, $87.25; club and fraternal donations, $243.

"I cannot tell you how pleased I am with the way Tecumseh subscribed to the Fund," Mr. Ogden said in making the announcement. "This is one of the few communities in Michigan to reach or exceed its Community Fund quota, and for this achievement the entire town may feel proud. Once again Tecumseh has 'come through' to meet a worthy cause."

Mr. Ogden said that he had complete cooperation from the entire community in making the drive. "I want to say a big thank you to all of the workers who really did an outstanding job. Drives like this one cannot be successful without cooperation, and I want it understood that we had it in Tecumseh. Everybody worked, and everybody gave generously."

All of the money raised in the drive remains in Tecumseh for local projects. Some eight organizations share in the receipts which are administered by a board of trustees of the Community Fund. Geo. H. Adamson is president of the board.

"It is very probable," Ogden said, "that the Fund total will be swelled a little larger by some late contributions. Some organizations that do not have meetings until the end of this week plan to give and when they do their contributions will be added to the sum total."

The Boy Scout Council of Troop 4, Tecumseh, sponsored by the Rotary Club, held an organizational meeting at the Scout Cabin, Elliott Park, Monday evening.

The Rev. Blair O. Bashore was named as chairman of the Council and other officers are as follows:

Crowd Expected To See Pictures

DR. HODGE TO SHOW NEAR EAST MOVIES AT TOWN HALL MEETING, NOV. 18

A capacity crowd is expected at the opening meeting of the Tecumseh Town Hall, next Tuesday evening at 8 p.m., in the high school auditorium, when Dr. Ferris G. Hodge, recently returned from a four-months tour of the Near East will speak and show some 1,000 feet of colored motion pictures he took while on the trip. The Parent-Teacher Association, of which Mrs. Robert H. Moore is president, is joining in the meeting, and Mrs. Moore is asking that parents attend the town Hall program. She has announced that the regularly scheduled P.T.A. meeting for this evening has been cancelled.

Dr. Hodge made a leisurely trip through the Near East, accompanied by his father and brother. They visited relatives in Lebanon and because of this fact were able to enjoy many courtesies and privileges rarely afforded to American tourists.

The local dentist has many unusual pictures taken in the Holy Land, including temple scenes, both interior and exterior. His pictures show many of the costumes worn by natives of the countries visited, as well as the primitive methods employed in agriculture and milling.

It is also likely that the Doctor will show many of the dozens of souvenirs he brought home. Among these are rings 2,000 and 3,000 years old, inlaid tables, boxes and chairs, hand-beaten trays, vases and cups, and silver and gold inlaid trays.

The program next Tuesday marks the opening of the regular Town Hall series here for the 1947-48 winter season. At a meeting of the Council three weeks ago, it was decided that, because of the busy holiday season, no meeting of Town Hall would be held during December. The next regularly scheduled meeting, therefore, will be held in January with the speaker yet to be announced.

George Parsons Speaks At Father, Son Banquet

The Tecumseh high school F.F.A. Club combined its annual pheasant feed with a father and son banquet last week Wednesday evening in the high school gymnasium. There were 70 persons present.

The toastmaster, Herman Dick, was introduced by Wesley Whelan, president of the local F. F. A. George Parsons, extension dairyman at Michigan State College, East Lansing, and a former Tecumseh teacher, was guest speaker. He told of the need of farmers to encourage their sons to stay on the farm by keeping high grade animals and modern machinery and he also spoke to the sons about the golden opportunities in future farming. Mr. Parsons said the average age of the farmer today is 56 years.

Superintendent William Berkhof led in group singing later. The F. F. A. mothers prepared and served the banquet dinner.

COMMITTEES NAMED BY GIRL SCOUT ASSN.

The monthly meeting of the Girl Scout Association was held in the high school last week Wednesday evening with 33 members present. Mrs. Ralph Helzerman was elected vice president to replace Mrs. Chester Beach who resigned to act as leader of a Scout troop.

Mrs. Grenval Spangler, president, presided at the business meeting and announced the following committees: Calendar, Mrs. Helzerman, Mrs. Arthur Bowser. Mrs. Paul Clauda; publicity, Mrs. Robert Manchester; consitution and by-laws revision, Mrs. Truman Rentschler; nominating, Mrs. Vincent Haight, Mrs. Bert Ousterhout, Mrs. Clare Dickinson. The date for the Christmas bazaar was set for December 13.

CAMPAIGNING FOR RESTORATION . . . The once-proud U. S. S. Constellation (foreground) which rode the high seas in defense of her country now lies a forgotten hulk at Charlestown, Mass. Almost forgotten, that is. A fight to restore the ship to its original condition has been begun by the Navy Club of the U. S. A., Rockford, Ill., the organization which made possible the refitting years ago of the U. S. S. Constitution (rear). The Constellation is the oldest navy ship afloat, and there is a chance now that she once again may raise her masts to the sky as she did long ago.

Indians Tied For LCAA Honor

(By Pat Wilson)

Coach Runk's Tecumseh Indians tied Hudson for the L.C.A.A. championship by defeating Blissfield 18-0, at Blissfield last Friday night. Their record for the season in conference competition was three wins, one tie, and no defeats.

Coach Rodda's Sugar-boys threatened Tecumseh twice in the first quarter getting inside the Tecumseh 15 yard line. Tecumseh held and punted out on each occasion. In the second period Blissfield again started downfield moving from their own 30 to the Tecumseh 15. It was at this point that the entire complex of the game changed. Toni Corkery, who played one of his best games, picked off a Blissfield pass and scooted down the sidelines 95 yards for a touchdown and the first score of the game. The try for the extra point was not good.

Tecumseh's offense, which sputtered and backfired the first half, got under way in the third quarter. Following Duaine Murphy's interception of a Blissfield pass on the Tecumseh 30 yard line, Melvy Murphy shot off-tackle and pranced 70 yards for Tecumseh's second score. The attempted kick for the extra point was no good. Tecumseh's third score came as a result of a Blissfield fumble recovered by Hop Anderson on the Blissfield 35. Anderson, on an end run, picked up 15 yards before being forced out of bounds. Then on the next play, Anderson passed to Melvy Murphy for the touchdown. Once again the try for the extra point failed.

Those who appeared in uniform for the last time for Tecumseh high were co-captains Bill Tilton and Bill Brown, Tom Corkery, Hop Anderson, Dick Colson, Doug Tate, Norbert O'Hara, Dick Purkey, Ned Swift and Wesley Whelan. These boys have all played stellar ball all season. Other players who were outstanding Friday night were M. Murphy, D. Murphy, VanCamp, and Gillen. The starting line-ups were as follows:

PRIEST IS HONORED AT RECEPTION HERE

Some 125 members of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church attended a reception Sunday evening in the church hall honoring the Rev. Fr. Michael Collins, the new pastor. The hall, where bingo and cards were played, was decorated with red, white and blue streamers. Refreshments were served later. Fr. Collins, who is assisting the church in furnishing the Rectory located at 313 E. Pottawatamie Street, received many gifts. Guests included Fr. Collins' sister and husband from Detroit. This is the first year the church has been a parish.

Armistice Day Program Presented At School

Armistice Day was observed in the local high school Tuesday morning with a short program. The Rev. Alvin Brazee led in prayer after which Jason Woodcox read a poem, "In Flanders Field", written by Captain John D. McCrae during World War I; selection from a speech by Winston Churchill given during World War II, read by James Colson; "Alleuia" sung by eighth grade girls led by Miss Arlene Peugeot; "A Prayer, Lord God of Trajectory and Blast" from "On A Note of Triumph" by Corwin, read by Duane K. Furbush. A moment of silence in remembrance of the war dead was requested by Supt. William Berkhof who then talked on means of preventing wars in the future.

Except for the display of flags in the business district, there was no civic observance of the day. The postoffice was closed all day on Tuesday.

New Market To Open Saturday

Opening of a new meat market in the Witherell building, W. Chicago boulevard, on Saturday, November 15, was announced today by C. V. and Eugene Bussing, father and son, of Blissfield. The new market will be known as the Bussing & Son Meat Market, and will feature fresh, smoked and ready-to-serve meats.

The store building here has been completely remodeled and redecorated to meet the needs of the new enterprise, and a 22 by 11½ foot walk-in cooler has been installed, as well as refrigerated display cases, etc. For the opening on Saturday, the store will give hot weiner sandwiches to all of its visitors.

The Bussings have operated a meat market in Blissfield for the past 12 years. They do a greater part of their own butchering and curing of meats.

The store here will be managed by the son, Eugene, who has been associated with his father in the Blissfield store, where he learned his trade. He returned to Blissfield a year ago, on the 11th anniversary of the opening of the store there, from three years in Navy service. He is married and has two children. Mr. Bussing, Jr., and his family plan to move here at a later date.

New Laundry Service Is Offered To Public

A new business enterprise in Tecumseh, the N-E-W Launderette Service, 106 East Logan street, opened this week with Mrs. Mabel Bell, formerly of Adrian, in charge.

The new business offers a clothes washing service to the community, and 10 automatic washing machines have been installed to accommodate the housewives. Special model dryers also will be in use as quickly as installation can be made.

The service is owned by Charles Ennis, Clarence Woodby and Al Newkomb, all of Adrian. The building housing the new business has been completely remodeled and redecorated.

Rev. Donald C. Wilson Rotary Club Speaker

Nations recognize the need for peace but until all nations concede some higher law or authority, based, perhaps, upon the Ten Commandments, there is doubt in the Rev. Donald C. Wilson's mind that it will ever be found or that wars will be eliminated. The Rev. Mr. Wilson, pastor of the Presbyterian church here and a chaplain in World War II, was the guest speaker at the regular Tuesday evening dinner meeting of the Rotary club at Brees House.

Mr. Wilson's address was in keeping with Armistice Day, which the club was observing.

Next Tuesday evening, George Smith of Plymouth, district governor of Rotary, will make his annual visitation to the Tecumseh club.

School Plans Safety Drive

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION SPONSORS SLOGAN CONTEST AND BOOKLET

A safety campaign, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association in an attempt to make the public more safety conscious, is being conducted this week by Miss Mildred Strong of Kansas City.

As a result of this campaign the book, "Invitation To Live", will be distributed throughout the Tecumseh schools.

In this book will be slogans selected from a "safety slogan" contest being held in the schools this week. The grades have been divided into four groups as follows: kindergarten—first, second and third; intermediate—fourth, fifth and sixth; junior high—seventh, eighth, and ninth; senior high—tenth, eleventh and twelfth. Prizes will be given for the winner in each group and these slogans along with others chosen, will be published in the book. The judges will be David Dick, safety counselor at the high school, Leo Smith, chief of the Tecumseh police department, and mayor John Truesdale.

Mrs. R. H. Moore, president of the Association, explained that the book has been made possible through the contributions of Tecumseh merchants and business men. Included in it will be the most common causes of accidents and also a section on first aid treatment. "We hope to place a book in every home in the community," Mrs. Moore said. "Michigan is one of the safest states in the Union and we want to keep it that way."

The Parent-Teachers Association will not meet for their regular meeting this (Thursday) evening, but will join with Town Hall Tuesday evening, November 18, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Ferris Hodge will talk and show pictures on his trip to the Near East.

Leyte Youth Speaks At Fellowship Meet

Thirty-one young people of the Westminster Fellowship of the Presbyterian church enjoyed as their guest speaker Sunday night, Felicisimo Llaso, of Tecloban, Leyte. Phil, as he is known to his Tecumseh friends, came to the United States, four months ago as a student at the University of Michigan. Arriving too late for the fall term, he is living in Adrian with Bob Wooster, an acquaintance made in Leyte during the war.

Phil graduated from high school at the age of 13, is now 19, and the youngest of eight children. While in Leyte he wrote several poems and stories in English, his first ones being "I Love The Skates", and "A Heart For A Heart" respectively. He has witnessed and undergone the cruelty of the Japanese during the war and his knowledge of the Japanese language saved his life. He can also speak several other languages.

Phil assisted the American army officers in locating Japanese foxholes in Leyte. He explained the four different types of Filipinos and says everything here in the States seems strange to him, including the cold weather. He has been visiting in the homes of friends here in Tecumseh since coming to Adrian.

Sunday, November 16, the guest speaker will be the Rev. John Forsyth from the synod of Michigan in Detroit.

TO DISCUSS THANKSGIVING

The Tecumseh Wit and Wisdom Club will meet November 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron with Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Locke assisting. The topic will be Thanksgiving with Mr. Locke in charge.

X-Ray Unit To Visit Tecumseh

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT PROGRAM TO BE CONTINUED IN LENAWEE COUNTY

Because large numbers of persons desirous of chest X-ray examinations, were turned away because of time limitations and lack of film when the Michigan Health Department's X-ray clinic was held last September at the Lenawee County Fair, Dr. H. C. Huntley, director of the county health unit, has announced that the X-ray unit will be returned to this community this week. This new clinic program will give everyone who desires an opportunity for free examination.

The state's X-ray unit will arrive at Adrian College tomorrow and on Monday X-rays will be taken at the Adrian high school. On Tuesday it will go to Siena Heights College and on Wednesday at the Girls Training School. It then will visit the several Adrian factories.

On December 1 it is scheduled to come to Tecumseh, but a definite time allotment for this town has not yet been set up by the County Health Unit. It is expected that examinations will be made in the schools here as well as in the factories. The clinic also will be open to the public. From here the unit will go to Clinton, Hudson, Addison, Morenci, Blissfield and other towns.

The procedure to be followed will be similar to that used at the fair. Within three weeks after the X-ray is taken, a confidential report will be sent to the individual and his family physician if anything is found to be wrong with the heart or lungs. Otherwise, a notification will be sent on a post card stating that the individual's chest X-ray has been found to be negative.

Dr. Huntley stressed the fact that the X-ray examinations are free, that they are confidenial, and that the procedure only takes a few minutes of the person's time.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Martha Lowe

Mrs. Martha Stewart Lowe, 79 years of age, died in the Tecumseh Hospital Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock. She had been a patient there for some time. She was a member of the Ridgeway Methodist church, a life member of the Tecumseh chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and a past noble grand of the Tecumseh Rebekah lodge. She was preceded in death by her husband, Charles C. Lowe.

Mrs. Lowe is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Fern Peurifay of Captiva, Fla., Mrs. Alice Schneider, Mrs. Purnell Osburn, and Mrs. Emma Russell, all of Tecumseh, two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Hadley of Wyandotte and Mrs. Guy T. Pocklington of Ridgeway, one brother, Robert J. Stewart of Britton, six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Green Funeral Home with the Rev. Bushong of the Ridgeway Methodist church officiating. Burial was in the Ridgeway cemetery. The bearers were Charles Osburn, Jack and Jim Osburn, Louis Schneider, Carl Kennel and Lowell Edwards. Relatives and friends from Wyandotte, Jackson, Adrian, Blissfield, Saline, Britton, Detroit, Captiva, Fla., Ridgeway, Tipton, and Tecumseh attended the services.

HUNTERS WANT SNOW

Although snow has been reported in Northern Michigan, many local deer hunters, who will leave today, tomorrow and Saturday for the Roscommon and Upper Peninsula districts for the opening of the season, November 15, are praying for more of the white, fluffy stuff and colder weather. Reports from the Cadillac area on Tuesday said that there was five inches of snow there, and that temperatures were below the freezing mark except in mid-day.

COMMANDER SPEAKS

The Exchange Club met Monday evening at Brees House for its regular dinner meeting. Lieut. Comm. M. E. Collins, commanding director of the Navy Reserve program for the Jackson unit, was a guest of William A. Wright and gave an interesting report on the program of the unit. He also displayed a plastic model of the Naval Reserve Armory that is being constructed at Jackson. This model is on display at the Wright drug store.

PRICE FACTS

One of the most intelligent and illuminating statements on the price situation was recently given by Robert A. Seidel, vice-president of the W. T. Grant Company, a leading merchandise chain, before a Congressional subcommittee.

Mr. Seidel observed that it is commonly believed that all prices are unreasonably high as compared with a year ago. The truth is that many prices have gone down or have held to the same level. He exhibited various essential articles of apparel which now cost less than in 1946, and which are also of improved quality. Finally, he summed up his testimony by emphasizing these points:

1. All prices are not out of line. Some are up, some are down, some are the same.

2. Increased labor costs are a major contributing factor to the present price structure, and the trend of wages will largely determine the trend of prices.

3. Bottlenecks will exist which cause shortages in production and so force the prices of the commodities affected upward.

4. The cost of government has an imporant effect on price levels. Surprising as it may seem, government now costs the country more than the food it eats!

5. Retailers' margins have been substantially reduced, and retail trade has not retained an undue share of the consumer dollar.

Mr. Seidel spoke from a study of the facts, and the committee members who heard him were interested and impressed. The whole price problem has been confused by wild denunciations of one group or another. The truth is that prices are the result of present day costs and conditions—not of isolated causes.

Watch Grades To Get Most For Egg Money

Egg money doesn't go very far these days so it's a good idea to obtain the most that you can for your money.

Foods specialist Roberta Hershey of Michigan State college says that your guide to egg quality is the grade label. Grade AA and Grade A eggs will have a firm thick white and yolk. These are best for poaching, frying and cooking in the shell. Grade B and Grade C eggs have thinner more spread-out whites and flatter yolks. They are entirely satisfactory for many cooking purposes.

These facts are true about eggs whether they are brown or white or large or small. Grade B eggs should cost less than Grade A eggs and are just as good for scrambling and baking. Grade A eggs have been kept cool from the time they were graded. Don't pay more for white eggs because they are just the same in food value and quality as brown eggs.

Within a grade the price may vary with the size. If large eggs are higher by a wide margin than small ones — then the small ones are a bargain. Small eggs weigh about one-fourth less than large eggs. If large eggs are 76 to 80 cents per dozen, small ones at 57 to 60 cents are as good or a better value.

Regardless of the quality of the eggs you buy, you should make sure that you keep that quality. Eggs should be refrigerated in a covered container to keep the evaporation of moisture as little as possible. The refrigerator should be free from odors. Eggs should be given the same good care as milk.

High Food Cost Health Threat

CAREFUL SELECTION OF PROTEIN FOOD NECESSARY, HEALTH HEAD WARNS

Unless Michigan homemakers exert the utmost care in the selection of protein foods for the family diet, the high cost of meat and eggs may result in serious protein malnutrition among Michigan people, Dr. J. K. Altland, State Commissioner of Health, said today.

Dr. Altland urged the use of more milk and milk products, the buying of the less used and inexpensive cuts of meat as well as variety meats, the careful preparation and cooking of meat to get every bit of its food value, and the use of other foods containing protein, to supplement the meat and egg budget.

Protein is a food element, Dr. Altland pointed out, which all people require for body building, replacement of tissue, immunity to disease, resistance to infections and wound healing. Meat, eggs and milk furnish biologically complete protein which is capable of satisfying the body's needs throughout life, but meat is now the most expensive item on the home menu, and the price of eggs has increased greatly.

People can divide their protein between animal and vegetable sources. Animal protein comes from the muscles and glands of various animals, especially the cow, pig, and sheep, and from poultry and fish as well as milk, cheese and eggs. Vegetable sources of protein include cereal grains, wheat, corn and rye, beans, peas, lentils and soya products. Vegetable protein is also found in other vegetables, potatoes, cereals and bread which are included in the average daily diet, but in these foods the quantity is small. Vegetable protein is biologically incomplete and requires a supplement of animal protein. When a variety of foods is used, the value of complete animal proteins, not only supplements but in some cases actually increases the values of the incomplete vegetable proteins.

When proper cooking methods are employed the greatest share of the protein values of foods can be retained. Proteins should be cooked slowly and the juices and broths from meats should be eaten.

The man who does hard labor needs very little more protein than the office worker. The energy to do hard work is more cheaply supplied in fats, starch and sugar. The adolescent child has the greatest requirements for protein. Children under three years of age require 40 grams of protein daily. The requirement gradually increases to 70 grams at 10 years of age and 80 grams at 13 years. Girls from 16 to 20 years of age reuire 75 grams daily, and boys of the same age require 100 grams. After the 20th year, women require about 60 grams daily and men about 70 grams. About one-half of the protein should be from animal sources.

A rapid calculation table of protein values of common foods prepared by the Department of Health for use in figuring protein intake follows:

Food	Protein Value
One half pink milk	8 grams
One egg	6 grams
One ounce (dry weight) of cereal	3 grams
One fourth pound serving meat, fish or poultry or luncheon meat	24 grams
One half cup serving vegetable	1 gram
One medium (three ounce) potato	2 grams
One slice bread	3 grams
One ounce cheese	6 grams
One tablespoon peanut butter	4 grams
One cup cooked navy beans or dried peas	12 grams
One half cup cooked soybeans	12 grams
One oyster	1 gram

So if a man has consumed a pint of milk, one egg, one serving of meat, three servings of vegetables, one potato, and two slices of bread, he has eaten 56 grams of protein. He needs 14 more which he may pick up in bread, cereal, or milk. He could pick up a few grams in butternuts, black walnuts or peanuts which afford about eight grams of protein to the ounce.

The meat budget can be stretched by buying the heart, tongue, liver, kidney or brains of beef, veal, lamb and pork, or cheaper cuts such as chuck roasts, brisket, pot roasts, rack of veal, short ribs, backbones, neck bones and oxtails. Consideration should always be given to the amount of bone and waste in the meat purchased. Cheaper kinds of fish are often as nutritive as the more expensive kinds.

To extend meat flavor in meals such dishes as loafs, pot pies, meat pies, stews, meat balls and spaghetti, casserole of sausage and corn, baked beans and salt pork, veal and kidney pie, lamb with lima beans, scalloped potatoes with ham, goulash, scalloped tongue and peas can be made. The meat can be baked in vegetables such as squash or green peppers. Boiled dinners, Shepherds pie, Philadelphia Scrapple, pasties, stuffed veal breast, meat turnovers, creamed meats in mashed potato rings offer variation.

Cheese can be augmented in kidney bean rabbit which requires no eggs, in cheese bean roast, in a cheese and bean casserole, or in scalloped potatoes and cheese, or baked potatoes with cheese.

When buying chicken it is wiser from an economy standpoint to buy an older bird. Its broth can be used for noodles or soup, and its leftovers for chicken short cake or chicken a-la-king.

Eggs serve more persons when they are creamed or scrambled.

Remember, you don't need such a great amount of meat. What you need is a variety of protein. Milk is the cheapest and best, with meat, eggs and cheese and soybeans as close competitors. If you need recipes ask the American Meat Institute, Chicago, for meat recipes; or Michigan State College and the United States Department of Agriculture for their meat, cheese, bean and egg recipe books; and cheese companies for their cheese recipe books.

Serious protein deficiency may result in retarded growth, susceptibility to illness and infection, tiredness, dizziness, poor condition of hair and skin, poor utilization of foods, possible loss of appetitle, and nutritional anemia. In such cases, a physician should be consulted. He may recommend a supplement of foods such as dried milk, soybean flour, brewers' yeast, peanut flour or wheat germ, all of which provide large amounts of protein. In critical cases, blood plasma may be administered until the individual is sufficiently strong to absorb his own food requirements.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Prissy's Got a Man! (Maybe)

Yesterday Sis Martin, our librarian, found an article cut from their file copy of the Clarion. When she compared it with another copy that I gave her she found it was my column on "How to Keep a Husband Happy."

Nothing unusual about that. Except the last person seen reading the paper was Prissy Hoskins (our town's proverbial Old Maid)!

Well, if Prissy has finally got a man, more power to her. And more tolerance to both of them . . . because that's what my column was about: Tolerance of a husband taste for old hats, old pipes, old friends, and mellow beer. And tolerance on the husband's part of a wife's tastes and habits.

From where I sit, nobody begrudges Prissy taking that clipping from the Clarion. But I'd like to hint that if she'd just subscribe, she'd get my thoughts on tolerance firsthand. And in return I'd treat her to a glass of beer.

Annual Choir Festival At Ann Arbor, Nov. 16th

The seventh annual choir festival to be presented by churches in the Ann Arbor district of the Methodist Church, will be held in the First Methodist Church of Ann Arbor at 8 p.m., on Sunday, November 16.

Twenty-five choirs, representing a total of five hundred and fifty singers will assemble from Adrian, Ann Arbor, Belleville, Brighton, Clinton, Dearborn (Vanborn Community), Denton, Dixboro, Dundee, Flat Rock, Franklin, Ingham Circuit (Millville and Vantown), Manchester, Milan, Monroe, Northville, Romulus, South Lyon, Stockbridge, Trenton, Wayne, and Ypsilanti.

Nine of the choirs, from Adrian, Ann Arbor First, Belleville, Dixboro, Walnut Street, Howell; St. Paul's, Monroe; Trenton, Wayne, First; and Ypsilanti Methodist churches will appear as separate units, each presenting one anthem.

A special feature of the program will be the appearance of the Ann Arbor Lyra Male Chorus, assisted by the men of the Ann Arbor First Methodist Church choir. This combined group will sing two anthems.

The program will include a hymn-sing, in which the audience is to participate, and the final group of four anthems will be sung by the combined choirs of all participating churches.

The annual choir festival is sponsored by Rev. Luther Butt of Ypsilanti, district superintendent of the Ann Arbor district, and is under the general direction of Lester McCoy, director of music in the First Methodist Church of Ann Arbor, and associate conductor of the University Musical Society.

Old Military Weapons Available For Asking

Hundreds of pieces of artillery, suitable for decorations or landmarks, have been placed in the department of Army's donations account, and stored at Erie Ordnance Depot.

Eligible organizations for receiving donations material are soldiers' monument associations, veterans' organizations, museums and municipal corporations.

Awaiting selection at Erie Ordnance Depot are nearly 500 3-inch antitank and 37mm guns. The 3-inch weapons weigh 5200 pounds and requires a space eight feet by 20 feet for display purposes. The 37mm is smaller.

Although these guns are stored at Erie Ordnance Depot, requests for them must be sent to the following address: Chief of Ordnance, Washington 25, D. C., Attention: ORDFQ-Donations.

A fee of $20 is required to cover the cost of demilitarization. Guns are shipped F. O. B. Lacarne, Ohio, or the weapon may be transported to its destination by the new owner. The 3-inch antitank gun is equipped with rubber tires and can be easily towed with a truck equipped with a pintle hatch.

SIX PRECAUTIONS MAY SAVE LOSSES OF LITTLE PIGS

Michigan swine producers, who lost an unusually large number of pigs from spring litters this year, hope to help relieve the present wheat shortage and prevent heavy losses this fall and next spring.

W. N. McMillen, Michigan State college swine specialist, says some research by Michigan and Illinois agricultural experiment stations show that six precautionary measures will cut losses. He lists them as follows:

1. Feed sows a liberal, well-balanced ration during pregnancy. Include protein meal, alfalfa meal and minerals in the diet. Give them free access to water with the chill taken off.
2. Encourage the sows to take a moderate amount of exercise daily during pregnancy by locating feeding troughs some distance from their sleeping quarters.
3. Provide clean, dry and warm quarters.
4. Prevent pneumonia losses by avoiding overcrowding and dusty floors and providing proper ventilation without drafts.
5. Keep sows comfortable, clean, free from lice and mites by treating for lice and mange before the weather gets severely cold.
6. Have the new pigs vaccinated against hog cholera before any outbreaks of cholera begin.

At present prices, little pigs are worth a lot of money. Saving one extra pig from each litter may mean the difference between a profit and a loss in swine feeding operations.

Rainy Sundays:

I attend church on rainy Sundays because:

1. God has blest the Lord's Day and hallowed it, making no exceptions for hot or cold or stormy days.
2. I expect my minister to be there. I should be surprised if he were to stay home on account of the weather.
3. By staying away I may lose the prayers which may bring God's blessing, and the sermon that would have done me great good.
4. My presence is more needed on Sundays when there are few, than on those days when the church is crowded.
5. Whatever station I hold in the church, my example must influence others. If I stay away, why may not they?

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Lansing—"America will have lost its traditional character if it refuses (fuel and famine) relief under proper auspices," said Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg in an address at the University of Michigan.

The senator's remarks, favoring additional food and coal for Western Europe, were expressed at Ann Arbor in ceremonies commemorating the Dutch settlement of Michigan 100 years ago.

Simultaneously, and by coincidence, Governor Kim Sigler announced the Michigan Citizens' Food Committee led by Prof. Herman J. Wyngarden, head of the Michigan State College economics department.

Senator Vandenberg added an important "if". "We must frankly canvass our own resources lest we impair our own economy and thus vindicate the sinister hopes of those who expect our economic collapse to end all democracy for keeps . . . We must know the total bill."

Vandenberg declared we should strive for an "unpartisan American foreign policy".

Governor Sigler stressed our patriotic obligation. "It is not a question of whether we agree with the President's program. The President of the United States has asked the people to cooperate. Those responsible should know the food situation in Europe. We in Michigan should, as in the past, do what is necessary to cooperate."

During World War II, more than a half million Michigan young men—and a thousand or so young women—left their homes for military duty. Most of them returned home safely. Some did not.

Quoting Secretary Marshall: "During this critical period in world affairs, food is a vital factor in our foreign policy. The attitude of Americans towards food can make or break our efforts to achieve peace and security throughout the world."

Why did General Marshall and Senator Vandenberg both stress the importance of food and fuel?

Frost, drouth and floods in Europe reduced the wheat and rye production in Western Europe by 200 million bushels. The U. S. wheat crop was a record 1,450 million bushels, while our corn yield was down 900 million bushels.

Europe needs 570 million bushels of wheat to tide them over the coming winter. And we have only 470 million bushels at hand for export—100 million bushels less than are needed.

That's why you are being asked by your leaders—President Truman, Secretary of State Marshall, Senator Vandenberg and Governor Sigler—to cooperate by conserving food. It's as simple as that.

As Mr. Marshall bluntly puts it, "our foreign policy has entered the American home and taken a seat at the family table."

X-Ray Service For Rural Area

FOLK LIVING IN TECUMSEH VICINITY MAY TAKE ADVANTAGE OF CLINIC

Folk who reside in nearby towns or in Tecumseh's rural trading area may avail themselves of the service offered by the Michigan Department of Health when its mobile X-ray unit visits this village on December 1, it was announced today by the Tecumseh Health Education Committee.

While industry, the public schools and other employers of labor will be canvassed and definite hours assigned for X-ray examinations of employees, it was declared that there will be sufficient other time for persons residing here who are not on payrolls, or for rural folk, who desire the clinic's services.

Because the weather is becoming colder, it has been decided to set up the X-ray unit in some building here, the exact place to be announced next week. On a previous visit, the Methodist church was used.

It was pointed out that the X-ray examination takes only a few minutes of the persons time and that reports on the examination are confidential. If the person examined — both heart and lungs X-rayed — shows need for medical attention, then he is advised by letter from the state and a special report is sent to his physician.

The Health Unit visited the Lenawee fair last September but because of the heavy demand for the service it was unable to complete its task. Its return to the county has been requested by Dr. H. C. Huntley of the County Health Department.

The X-ray unit now is in Adrian and will continue its work there until the end of the month, when it will come to Tecumseh. Other towns in the county, including Clinton and Blissfield, also will be visited, it was said.

Payrolls Show Slight Decline

EMPLOYMENT IN 17 MAJOR COUNTY FACTORIES SHOW DROP OF 506 PERSONS

Employment in 17 of Lenawee county's major factories showed a drop of 506 in the number of persons employed during the period from Septemer 15 to October 15, according to a report issued by Clifford J. Rice, manager of the Michigan State Employment Service, Adrian. The October employment level was 1,100 below the number anticipated in August, Mr. Rice said, because contemplated expansions in the plants failed to materialize. The 17 reporting factories, Rice said, employ 8,202 persons, or approximately three-fourths of the county's manufacturing employment.

"Gradual employment gains are forecast by employers, and about 350 workers may be added by December 15," Rice's report continues. "Indicative of the decrease in employment opportunities is a reduction in the number of job openings listed at the local employment office. At the end of October 143 jobs were open, less than half the number on file at the end of September.

"Recent factory layoffs and curtailment of expansion programs brought a concurrent increase in the volume of unemployment. A total of 453 persons were registered for jobs with the employment service in mid-October, about 100 more than in mid-September. Similarly claims for unemployment compensation increased to 368 (of which 30 were G. I's) during the week ending October 25, compared with 232 (of which number 35 were G. I's) during the week ending September 27."

Of those filing claims in the week of October 25, Rice said, 194 were women.

Ben's Market To Be Enlarged

WILL MOVE NEXT WEEK INTO BUILDING AT REAR OF PRESENT STORE

Ben's Market, on M-50 at the village limits on the west, will close its doors on Sunday night, November 23, to make possible the removal of the stock to its new building, located just west and to the rear of the present store. The reopening date in the new store will be sometime next week.

The market is owned by Ben Hammack who first entered the meat business and operated a market in the A. & P. store when it was located on East Chicago boulevard. He continued in that location for about five years and then, eight years ago, moved to the present location, adding groceries and produce to his line of merchandise.

The new cement block and brick building, just completed, is 34 feet in width and 74 feet in depth. It will more than double the size of the present store, and in addition to carrying groceries, produce and meat, Mr. Hammack has announced that ice cream and fresh frozen foods will be added to the stock. New store and lighting fixtures have been installed, as has a new walk-in meat storage, deep freeze equipment and other accessories.

"We had hoped to make the move a month earlier," Mr. Hammack said in making the announcement, "but we have met with many delays in obtaining materials, etc., and we have just now finished the building. We will move in the shortest time possible and reopen as quickly as we can so that our customers will be inconvenienced as little as possible."

Mr. Hammack said that the present store building would be torn down and removed, he hoped next Monday or Tuesday. The new building sets back several feet from the highway, making available a large amount of parking space in front of the store.

On previous visits, Tecumseh has contributed generously to the bank.

It was announced that a portion of all blood contributed locally remains at the hospital here for use, after processing. The balance is held in reserve in the state's bank, for use here or in other needed places.

The Auxiliary pointed out that several lives have been saved at the local hospital as a result of having an immediate supply of blood available when it is needed.

Doctor's Cabin Razed By Fire

HUNTING LODGE OF DR. C. N. BRODERSON AT SOUTH BRANCH, DESTROYED

Fire, of unknown origin, Saturday morning destroyed a hunting lodge at South Branch, owned by Dr. C. N. Broderson of Tecumseh. The structure was burned to the ground and the loss, partly covered by insurance, is estimated at more than $3,000.

Dr. Broderson and three of his friends, Lynn Lewis, John Martin and George Bailey, left last Friday for the lodge and were out hunting deer on Saturday morning at the time of the fire. The doctor is of the opinion that the fire started from a short circuit in the electrical wiring. He said that persons who were at the scene said that the blaze had its origin near a radio.

The building is a complete loss, and all contents were destroyed. Dr. Broderson lost a motion picture camera, a valuable gun and considerable clothing. His guests also lost considerable hunting equipment and clothing and Mr. Martin lost a gun.

Dr. Broderson has owned the hunting lodge for about 18 months. He is planning to rebuild the structure, but when, he said is problematical.

DR. HODGE SHOWS PICTURES TAKEN ON HIS JOURNEY TO THE NEAR EAST

Approximately 375 persons—a near capacity crowd for the high school auditorium—attended the opening meeting of Town Hall here Tuesday evening and heard Dr. Ferris G. Hodge give a travel talk on his 3-month's trip to the Near East before he showed some 1,400 feet of colored motion pictures, taken on the tour.

Dr. Hodge, his father, Nicholas Hodge, and his brother, Edward, the latter two of Morenci, sailed last summer from New York for Lebanon, where they visited relatives and later moved on to Syria, Arabia, Palestine and Greece. From the beginning of the trip until its end he took a picture record of interesting places visited, including Damascus, Jerusalem, Bethlehem, the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea, Christ's tomb, the Church of the Nativity and dozens and dozens of other interesting historic spots.

"It was a wonderful trip, a very interesting trip, one that I shall never forget," the Doctor old his audience as he showed the flags of the several countries visited. "However," he concluded, "I was happy to return and the finest flag in the world is this one—the one I saw when our boat steamed back into New York harbor." He was holding the American flag.

The Parent-Teacher Association joined with Town Hall in presenting the program and preceding the Doctor's talk Miss Marilyn Lindsley played a piano solo.

Dr. Hodge brought several souvenirs from the countries he visited and these he showed to scores of interested persons following the showing of the pictures.

The regular meeting of Town Hall has been cancelled for December, because of the busy holiday season. The next meeting will be held in mid-January, the speaker to be announced.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

"Lack of understanding on the part of men who are running our government appears to be as much to blame for the chaotic condition of prices and supply as any other one factor.

"Remember back in the days of the depression when the government was recommending plowing under crops because they were in too abundant supply? Those same experts today are trying to 'plow under' markets because the demand is too great.

"It doesn't take a student of economics to tell our government that prices are governed almost entirely by supply and demand—regardless of the controls placed on either as an artificial stimulus for increased or decreased prices.

"The plain truth is that our supply is high, but our demand is greater because of the export policies which this country has followed and is following. Suddenly there has been a drastic cut in export allocations of grain and flour in an effort to retard the upward trend of prices.

"Looking back over the years, it isn't difficult to see that history repeats itself. Wheat after the Civil war sold for $2.85; after the Russo-Turkish war it soared to $2.45; it went to $1.85 after the Spanish-American war, and to $3.50 after the first World War . . .

"Regardless of who is running America, the first truth which must be realized is the old fundamental economic law of supply and demand. It has never failed. It never will, regardless of subsidies, grants, doles, price-pegging or other artificial stimuli. When the supply is good, prices tend to be lower. When supply is short, prices are high (provided there is no price control, in which case the short supply usually finds better customers in the black market—at higher prices) . . . .

"We are experiencing high wheat prices because 40 per cent of the crop is going out of the country. We are experiencing high meat prices for the same reason. However, we are witnessing high corn prices because the crop this year was 800,000,000 bushels short because of weather factors. In any instance, the available home supply is not sufficient to meet the demand."

San Francisco—Following footprints that stopped halfway between the highway and ocean, a policeman found the body of an old man, Nels. L. Nelson 74. Beside the body was a shoe box, neatly tied. In it a pistol, fully loaded. In the mans pocket was a little box of pills and in his vest pocket, two notes. One included directions to an undertaker and the other, said, "It's a very lovely day — to commit suicide." However, the coroner said, the man died of a heart attack.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Metropolitan Papers Please Copy!

Folks here were burned up over an article on Our Town I reprinted from a city paper. Made us sound like a bunch of "hicks" who whittled sticks and wore chin whiskers. (Last person I saw with chin whiskers was passing through on his way east.)

So I ran an editorial on how we spoke of city "slickers"—as overdressed wiseacres, only interested in making money, and spending it in night clubs.

Fact is, if we got to know each other we'd probably find we're not much different, underneath. City folks work hard; like to come home at night to their families; and relax with a moderate glass of beer, like we do.

From where I sit, it doesn't matter if you live in an apartment house or on a farm—work in an office or a cornfield—the American tradition of quiet home life, temperate habits, and neighborliness is common to all of us.

Food Policy Is Open to Debate

RIGHT OR WRONG, UNBIASED REPORTS FROM EUROPE SAY SHORTAGE EXISTS

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Lansing—"Opposition in Michigan rural areas to the European lending program and the food-saving program is very strong, writes a newspaper editor who specializes in agriculture and who is recognized as a leader in his field.

"Farmers see the real purpose of the food-saving program as an effort to cut prices. They feel that prices are too high when compared to other costs.

This editors frank comment is of timely interest. This week as Washington the Congress of the United States received a historic message from the President. It concerned the so called "Marshall Plan' whereby 140,000,000 Americans would give a helping hand of dollars and foodstuffs to Western Europe's 270,000,000.

With the President's message last Monday, the people of the Nation began a great popular debate. As Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg said November 3 at Ann Arbor, "Foreign policy is a legitimate subject of frank debate by our citizens. Foreign policy belongs to the people."

It is not the intention nor policy of this column of news interpretation to offer our personal judgment, to attempt to arrive at any omniscient conclusion. We do believe that several observations should be offered at this time, factual premises upon which we may intelligently discuss the issues of the hour.

First, the need of food for Western Europe. We believe it to be an honest statement of fact to say that Western Europe faces a general grain shortage in the third postwar winter now gathering momentum.

Reports from impartial, unbiased newspaper correspondents, Congressional investigating committees and Presidential fact-finding groups all substantiate these shortages. Basic cause of the grain shortage was the 1947 weather, ranging from floods to drought. Supplementing cause was the black market, nourished by government food rationing whereby growers may profit by withholding grain for higher prices.

The Associated Press was criticized by a newspaper editor at the Associated Press Managing Editors' national convention in Detroit for using the phrase "hungry Europe" in a Washington dispatch. The editor said the A.P. had fallen for "administration" propaganda.

Relman Morin, chief of the Washington bureau, defended the phrase as accurately portraying an economic condition today in Western Europe. He said the preponderance of information as gathered by newspaper correspondents in Europe and by a majority of traveling American congressmen attested to the existence of food shortages overseas.

Drew Middleton, veteran correspondent of the New York Times, reports that such food shortages are widespread throughout Western Europe. He says the grain shortage exists from England to the Balkans.

Our Michigan newspaper editor friend insis's that "practically every small town restaurant in the state is ignoring the (food-saving) program" and that "meat markets sell as much meat on Tuesday as they ever did."

Methods used to save food may be justly unpopular. The poultry fiasco is a good example. However we do accept as premise No. 1: Western Europe will go hungry and cold this winter unless aid is forthcoming from the outside. The question of food saving then is not whether there are shortages of food in Europe, but rather whether we, as Americans, want to try to make up some of the difference between the amount of food Europe has grown and the amount it will need for minimum physical good health and survival.

How is food saving at home linked to American foreign policy?

This question will be discussed next week.

India's Punjab Is Land Of Fighters and Farmers

The vote to partition the Punjab between India's emerging Moslem and Hindu states will separate western and eastern sections of the provinces which long supplied British India with a large share of wartime manpower and food production.

Among the Punjab's famous fighting men, whose ancestors fought the British and were immortalized in Kipling's border tales, are the tall bearded Sikhs, notes National Geographic society. In turban and khaki, many of them served as volunteers on the far-flung fronts of World War II.

Wheat is the outstanding crop of the northwest India plains that make up most of the Punjab area. Aided by lifegiving irrigation, the "Land of Five Rivers" also contributes such breadbasket items as millet, rice, corn, and sugar cane, along with cotton and oil seeds.

More than half of the Punjab's 29 million people are small farmers. Under the blue skies of their dry, sunny land, they cluster in villages and towns, after a custom developed long ago for protection against raiding tribes from the north.

The mud and wattle huts of the peasants are usually flat-roofed, for rain nearly everywhere in the Punjab is slight and uncertain. Although the climate often is stimulating, the summers are blisteringly hot, the winters freezing.

'Average Americans' Given Credit for Park System

The United States has a system of national parks and allied areas—national monuments, national historical parks, national military parks and others—that is unparalleled in the annals of civilization. This system came into existence more than 70 years ago, when a group of average Americans voluntarily relinquished their legal and moral rights to profit through private ownership of the area now included in Yellowstone National park.

As their exploration of the Yellowstone region came to a close, members of the party sat around a campfire one night discussing the marvels of nature viewed during the month's trip. They talked of filing claims on the land.

Then came the momentous suggestion that resulted in the creation of the first national park in this country or abroad. Cornelius Hedges, a Montana lawyer, advanced the startling suggestion that the individuals of the party forego any idea of personal gain and work for the reservation of the area as a national park for the perpetual use of the American people. They were rewarded in 1872 when congress established Yellowstone National park.

New Lime Is Born

A promising newcomer in the citrus family is the Perrine lemon, a lemon-lime hybrid developed by the department of agriculture to meet the need of a lemon that would grow in Florida. It closely resembles the lemon in color and flavor, but has a pale, greenish-yellow pulp similar to that of the true lime. The lime, little cousin to the lemon, is grown principally in Florida. There are two chief varieties—the Tahiti or Persian lime, and the Key lime. The latter, which is higher in acid than other citrus fruits, grows mostly on the keys, or tiny islands, at the extreme southern tip of Florida. Key limes are small, but they pack a lot of vitamins and thirst-quenching flavor. They are very good "mixers."

Island of Steel

The 27 million tons of steel towering above and laced within Manhattan island is the greatest concentration of steel to be found any place in the world. To duplicate that amount would require enough iron ore to cover the island's 22 square miles with a nine-inch blanket. The skyscrapers, subways, tunnels, pipes, bridges and highways illustrate, in one sense, man's efficient use of land for working, playing and sleeping. Sixty-five years ago such an intensive use of land would not have been thought possible. The height of buildings was limited by materials and methods. The 17 story Monadnock building in Chicago was believed to be just about as high as an engineer and architect ever could go.

Sugar Beet Industry

One hundred thousand farmers grow sugar beets each year on one million fertile acres of land. They know the beet as a cash crop for which there is an immediate market. Conditions of payment are determined months in advance, an advantage that prevails with few crops anywhere and with no other yet developed successfully in the irrigated regions. Sugar beets provide more employment per acre than any other major farm commodity. In addition to the 100,000 farmers growing beets, the production of each crop requires the employment of 150,000 field workers. Tens of thousands of others are employed in factories and offices. For every pound of sugar extracted from beets, one pound of coal must be mined, one-half pound of limerock must be quarried.

Indian Snappers Name Officers

This is the name that won the prize for the newly organized camera club at their third meeting held November 13th in the Union Rooms in the Ford Garage, with twenty-one in attendance. Mrs. Frances Rathbun presented the name, and for her efforts was awarded a two-year subscription to the magazine Popular Photography.

During the business session it was decided officers are to be elected in December and June of each year, and regular meetings will be held the second Thursday in each month in the Ford Garage building until the new Union Hall is built. Meetings are to start at 8 o'clock prompt, with the showing of pictures by some member of the club. Business will be conducted following. Dues for membership are $3.00 a year.

President, Lester Tucker; first vice president, Lewis Lent; second vice president, Lela Oliphant; recording secretary, Don Gehringer; financial secretary, Ray Krempel; treasurer, Frances Rathbun; publicity, Mabel Lockwood; program chairman for three months, John Dunbar; finance committee, Jack Williams, Arlie LeBaron and Ethel Truesdale.

Many interesting meetings are being planned and if you want to see some real photography be on hand. Lester Tucker showed some stills last Thursday that really were tops.—From T. P. Broadcast.

WHAT THE CURTAIN HIDES

Competitive American business is producing for the American people more than any other people have.

A survey published in "Factory Management and Maintenance" shows that after paying for food, shelter, and taxes, an American worker has 50 times as much money left as an Italian doing similar work, five times as much as a French, Dutch, or Argentine worker, twice as much as a South African, $10 a week more than a Canadian, and $3 a week more than an Englishman.

The comparison stops dead at the Russian border. But there is no reason to believe the iron curtain would exist if Russian living conditions could stand comparison.

Industry Uses Diamonds For Utility, Not Glamour

Newly found acres of diamonds being worked in East and South Africa since early 1946 hold a threat and a promise.

Their mild threat is to the stability of prices of the hard and lustrous mineral in which people of the world have an estimated 15 billion dollar investment. Their promise is for relief of the war-born critical shortage of diamonds for industrial use. About four-fifths by weight of the record-breaking diamond production since 1939 has been sentenced to hard labor.

In grinding armor-plate metals, in drilling oil wells through rock, in cutting glass and polishing fine lenses, in drawing wire to filament thinness and countless other uses, the diamond plays a part. It remains unchallenged as the hardest substance devised by nature or by man.

Industry consumes diamonds literally by the ton. United Nations stockpiles were called on in supplying some 50 million carats—11 short tons—of industrial grades to the United States from 1939 through 1944. One manufacturer in 1946 "retired" a quarter-carat stone which had started its industrial career in 1930 weighing 19.31 carats.

VISITORS CORDIALLY WELCOME

The recent religious survey taken in Tecumseh has tentatively proven to those interested the great majority of the citizens of this community are disinterested in keeping alive a vital relationship with the church of their choice. Out of some 3000 persons in this village approximately 635 attended church last Sunday.

It was interesting to note by the replies some canvassers received that quite a number of people are not even acquainted with the names of the various denominations represented here.

We are in the Thanksgiving season. Let us show our thankfulness and go to church on Sunday and carry the same spirit of cooperation with the church of our choice into the season that celebrates the birth of the Messiah. These are great days of opportunity for the Christian churches and its adherence.

HOWDY FOLKS: Did you hear about the girl who was so dumb that she thought a football coach had four wheels? (By the way, how many wheels does it have?)

And then, there were the people who got so rich that they instructed their butler to bait the mousetrap only with real imported cheese.

It's all right to break into song once in a while, but it's a lot easier on the other folks if you get the key first.

And it's a lot easier on your car, if you will make it a point to bring it here regularly for gas, oil and our A-1 Lubrication service. It will put a lot — and we do mean a lot — of smooth riding into the old bus and add a lot — and again we mean a lot — of extra miles to its life.

$20,000 Fire At Gas Offices

Fire, the origin of which has not been determined, gutted the offices and stock room of the American Gas Service Company on Adrian street, about 4:45, Tuesday morning. The blaze was brought under control by local firemen before it reached the rear of the building, where quantities of gas are stored.

Conley Alexander, resident manager, said that while a careful check of the loss has not been completed, it was estimated that the damage to stock, equipment and the building would amount to about $20,000. Included in the loss were some 15 water heaters, 15 stoves and two refrigerators.

Mr. Alexander said that the company would continue to operate as usual, despite the fire, and that temporary quarters and offices would be set up elsewhere, pending plans for rebuilding.

The service records were destroyed in the blaze but the manager said that there are copies at the main offices of the company in Erie, Pa., and that they would be forwarded here at once.

Rev. F. Schwede Dies In Detroit

SERVED AS PASTOR OF LUTHERAN CHURCH ON THE RIDGE FOR 40 YEARS

The Rev. Frederick Schwede, aged 66 years, for 40 years pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church on the Ridge, died Sunday, November 23 at his home in Detroit. He had been in failing health for about two years, and he resigned the Emmanuel pastorate in May of 1945.

The Rev. Mr. Schwede was born April 16, 1881, in Prussia, Germany. He came to Detroit at the age of six years and attended parochial schools there and was confirmed by Pastor Lobenstein. He graduated from the Ft. Wayne Preparatory College and from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, in 1904.

Mr. Schwede's first call to a pastorate was to Hebing, Minn., where he served for one year. In 1905 he accepted the call to the Emmanuel church. He taught the Christian day school for the first ten years, and also conducted services at Whittiker, Milan and Tecumseh. After serving the Emmanuel congregation faithfully for nearly 40 years he was forced to retire from the active ministry because of failing health.

On November 5, 1905, Mr. Schwede was married to Wilhelmina Schneider of Detroit. To this union four sons were born, and two sons preceded him in death. Surviving is the widow, two sons, Edgar of Detroit and Alfred of Britton, three grandchildren, two sisters and a brother in Detroit.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m., from the Schmalzriedt Funeral Home, 15620 Grand River Avenue, Detroit and at 4 p.m., from the Emmanuel church on the Ridge. Burial will be in the Lakeside Cemetery.

Licenses Plates On Sale Dec. 1

NEW STYLE APPLICATION BLANKS WILL BE USED FIRST TIME THIS YEAR

Sale of Michigan automobile and truck license plates will begin on Monday, December 1, it was announced today at the office of the secretary of state in Lansing and at the branch office in Adrian. The new licenses will carry black letter on an aluminum-colored background.

The new style application blanks, already filled out mechanically are being mailed out to passenger car owners and are expected to be in their hands before plates go on sale. These applications need only be signed when taken to branch offices for new plates.

Owners of commercial vehicles still must make out applications at the branch offices however, Alger said. In addition it will be necessary to present a current official weight slip and branch managers were instructed not to issue commercial plates without this slip.

Alger repeated his urgings to individuals who receive prepared application blanks for cars which they do not own to notify his office. He said that applications "provide an excellent opportunity" for the public to help stamp out "title-jumping" and black market sales of new cars.

Presbyterians To Pledge Gifts For Gospel Needs

A month of planning will be climaxed this Sunday when members of the Presbyterian church gather at the morning service to dedicate their pledges for the coming year. The month of November, highlighted by Thanksgiving, has been devoted to sermons and programs relating the privilege that Americans enjoy with the responsibility that such privilege brings. During the year 1948 this church will raise for the worldwide outreach of the Christion Gospel almost two thousand dollars. This is three times the amount given in each of the last two years. The officers of the church, feeling the obligation of the world's need, are determined that nothing shall prevent the attainment of this goal in such an hour of opportunity.

The Stewardship Committee, composed of John R. Lott, J. W. Spafford, Glenn VanDenbergh, Clair Dickinson, and M. G. Partridge, is requesting that all Presbyterians be in their places next Sunday. Following the sermon, "The Call of God's People", the members will dedicate themselves to answering the call by the pledging of their gifts.

Tuesday Paper

To assure better distribution of The Herald before the Thanksgiving holiday, the publication date this week was moved up from Thursday until Tuesday. Normal Thursday publication will be resumed next week.

Union Service Here, Thursday

REV. B. O. BASHORE TO SPEAK AT SPECIAL PROGRAM ON THANKSGIVING

The Rev. B. O. Bashore, pastor of the Baptist church, will bring the message at the annual union Thanksgiving day service here, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the Presbyterian church. Five churches are uniting for this service, the Baptist, Methodist, Episcopalian, Friends, and the Presbyterian. Ministers of the other churches will assist in the program.

Special music for the meeting will be under the direction of Mrs. F. C. Dickinson at the organ with Mrs. Neville Hart conducting the Presbyterian choir. The Westminster Junior League and the Presbyterian League have announced that nursery classes will be in session during the service, and that parents may leave their children in these classes while they attend the program.

A special service of Thanksgiving also will be held in the Grace Ev. Lutheran church here Thursday morning, beginning at 10 o'clock.

An evening union service between the Lower Light Mission and the Gospel Tabernacle for Thursday at 7:45 p.m., has been announced. The Rev. W. C. Thornberry is pastor of the Lower Light church and the Rev. G. Cecchini is pastor of the Tabernacle.

As is customary in all Christian Science Churches, a special Thanksgiving service will be held on Thanksgiving Eve in the local church.

Following the usual order of service there will be a brief period in which members of the congregation may express their gratitude for healings and other help which they have received during the past year.

The Golden Text from Psalms (34:3) is appropriate for the occasion and reads: "O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together."

The Bible citations include: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine houses, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it" (Malachi 3:10).

Among the citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will be the following: "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good".

Gifts For Yanks Are Sought Here

DEADLINE IS DECEMBER 10; COMMITTEE LISTS ITEMS THAT ARE NEEDED

Christmas, 1947, and "the war is over".

Still mindful of its hard-won victory in the greatest of all wars, this nation will observe the coming Yuletide in a spirit of joy and thankfulness.

Millions of men and women in uniform have returned to their homes and been restored to their families. For them it will be Christmas indeed.

But what of those who still fight on? Fight against the crippling wounds and diseases of war, against pain and despair and dragging time. What of the great army for whom the battlefield has become a hospital bed—what will Christmas mean to them?

Again this year The American Legion, with the aid of a generous public, will sponsor its "Gifts to the Yanks Who Gave" program. Christmas gift boxes, countless thousands of them, will go to all hospitalized veterans throughout the nation. Not the gifts so much, but the spirit in which it is given, will brighten the lives of the recipients on Christmas Day. To be remembered by the people, the state and the nation they served, will lighten the burden and help speed their recovery.

In this community the Underwood-Orr Post of The American Legion and its Auxiliary Unit will head up the campaign and serve as a receiving station for the Christmas boxes. Donors may contribute cash for the purchase of gifts by the Post committee, or purchase and pack the boxes individually. Through its state organization the Legion will then distribute the gifts to every war veteran in every Michigan hospital on Christmas morning.

Mrs. Paul Keyser and Mrs. Vincent Haight will be in charge of the project in Tecumseh. The plan here this year is to send 30 boxes valued $5 to $6. Money will be drawn from the Poppy fund and supplemented by the Legion treasury and individual gifts.

Anyone desiring to give to the "Yanks Who Gave" program may leave their gifts at Bancroft cleaners or Sluyter's Electric Shop.

No gifts will be needed for women this year as those are being taken care of by the Battle Creek committee.

There must be no edibles in the boxes—no liquor and no safety razor blades.

Following is a list of suggested gifts for men: Pen and pencil sets, cigarette lighters, billfolds, box cameras, toilet kits, fishing tackle, cigarette cases, writing kits, pipes, leather belts, watch straps, bed lamps, tie pin sets, books, tennis balls, key cases, and the many useful articles which can be obtained.

The deadline is December 10.

Coon Hunters Aided By Tecumseh Firemen

Boys who were attempting to "smoke out" a coon in a hollow tree on one of the Ford farms near Macon, Sunday afternoon, succeeded in capturing the coon — with the aid of the Tecumseh fire department.

The elm tree, a large one, was located near a barn on the farm and the "smoking" operation turned into a first rate fire. The tree was dead and hollow and, according to firemen, the small blaze at the base followed up the trunk of the tree much in the manner of smoke and fire going up the chimney of a fireplace.

Because it was feared that the barn might burn, firemen were called. They turned a stream of water into the hollow tree, drowned the fire — and also the coon.

They will occupy their new home immediately.

Extensive improvement to the buildings will be made for the accommodation for dairy employees. The land will be used to grow crops for their large thoroughbred Jersey dairy herd.

X-Ray Clinic Dates Are Set

WILL BE OPEN TO PUBLIC AT WEATHERMAN'S ON DECEMBER FOURTH

The Michigan Department of Health's mobile X-ray unit, which is visiting many towns in Lenawee county during the next few weeks, will be in Tecumseh on December 2, 3 and 4 and the clinic will be open to the public for free x-rays on December 4, it was announced today.

The clinic will be set up in the Weatherman Building 115½ South Evans street, and will be open on December 4 from 10 a.m., to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., in the afternoon. It is possible to take 125 x-ray pictures an hour.

The mobile unit will arrive here on December 2 and will spend that day in taking chest and heart pictures in the public schools. On December 3 the day will be spent at Tecumseh Products Co.

It is expected that there will be a heavy demand for the x-ray pictures from those who are not employed at Products, and from youngsters who do not attend the public schools here. It is for that reason that the unit is remaining here for an extra day, enabling everyone in Tecumseh and its immediate trading area, who desire the service, to be accommodated.

It takes only a moment's time, it was pointed out, to have the x-ray picture taken. It is not necessary to remove clothing. For those who desire, cards may be obtained at doctors' offices, at the hospital or at Weathermans,' in advance, so that they may be filled out before the person comes to the clinic. By filling out the cards beforehand, it was said, a few minutes time may be saved. The cards are filed with the x-ray number, so that the person or his physician may be notified later as to the findings. All reports are confidential.

There is no charge for the x-ray service.

"While this is a public clinic, it should be understood that all reports and records are strictly confidential," a spokesman for the unit said today. "If the person examined is found to be in need of medical attention, a confidential report is made to his doctor or directly to him."

Special features will be greens and holiday table center pieces, place cards, tally cards, gift tags, and lapel bouquets. The Brownie troops will have a baked goods sale and a candy sale. The Association will sponsor a jelly table.

Girl Scout wearing apparel and official equipment will be on sale and parents of the Scouts may wish to purchase gifts for their daughters. This booth will include comb cases, hankies, stationary, friendship books, rings and other items.

The bazaar is the major project of the Association for the year and is held in place of the dance usually sponsored by the Girl Scouts each year.

TOO LATE FOR CONTROL

In a letter to the New York Times, Chester Bowles, once OPA Administrator, said: "I believe it is far too late now to reinstate the price control program."

Mr. Bowles' opinion is especially significant in that he was a strong advocate of continuing OPA for an extended period after the war. And he is certainly not alone in believing that the reimposition of such controls would be an extremely grave error now. If we are to have price control we must also have unqualified wage control. We must have governmental domination of every turn of the economic machine. We must have, in short, a planned economy, and what President Truman accurately termed a police state.

We are living again in a supply-and-demand competitive economy. Every manufacturer is seeking to out-perform the factory down the street, and to sell a better product at a lower price. Every kind of store is in intense competition with neighboring stores, and is doing its utmost to attract customers through lower prices, better service, more appealing displays, advertising, etc. Under these conditions prices, whether high or low, honestly reflect the costs of doing business.

Price control would be the best break the black market could have—even as it would undermine the free market. It would be a surrender to totalitarian economics. It is not a sound solution to our problem, and would delay our final adjustment to the law of supply and demand which will finally rule in spite of all price control.

The dog house — that little unheated shanty in the vicinity of the garage — will be a pretty cold spot when zero weather arrives. DON'T BE IN IT by failing to protect your own home against the cold by installing storm sash and doors and insulation.

You Can Reduce Your Fuel Bill Up to One-Third

Installing combination storm sash and doors and insulating your home will reduce your fuel costs as much as one third. That means, in the average home, that these improvements will pay for themselves in from three to five years.

So, if you're not thinking alone of comfort, you can justify these improvements from an economic standpoint. And with fuel so short, that's something, too.

We have combination windows and doors in stock in all of the standard sizes. They are priced from $6.20 up.

Registration of Autos Grows

MICHIGAN NOW HAS MORE THAN 1,500,000 CARS ON THE HIGHWAYS

A total of more than a million and a half passenger cars will be registered in Michigan this year, an increase of approximately 12 percent over 1946 registrations, it was estmated today by Automobile Club of Michigan.

Estimates indicates all states and the District of Columbia will show increases of from 2 to more than 22 percent, bringing passenger car registrations for the United States to more than 30,000,000, the highest in history, Auto club said.

"Because of the fact this record-breaking registration comes at a time when road programs and road planning are lagging seriously," Harfst said, "motorists must be alerted to use additional care in driving, particularly during the approaching months if we are to avoid a soaring toll of deaths and injuries in the traffic lanes.

"Additionally, the average car in use today is some nine years old as compared to an average age of five and a half years for the cars operating in the pre-war period."

Inclusion of commercial vehicles bring total 1947 registration estimates to more than 37,000,000, an increase of 3,218,000 over the previous year and approximately 2,700,000 vehicles greater than the previous high record set in 1941, Harfst said.

The Auto Club general manager said the principal cause for the exceedingly high registrations, despite the small number of vehicles produced during the past six years, was the decreased number of cars scrapped during war years. Approximately 920,000 motor vehicles were scrapped yearly during the period from 1942 through 1946, as compared with an estimated 2,000,000 annually before the war, he said.

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Lansing — Two Michigan-born men, Arthur H. Vandenberg and Thomas E. Dewey, have leading roles in the present American foreign policy of economic aid to Western Europe.

Any discussion of the current food-saving program, as it concerns Michigan people here on the home front, is linked directly to the fact that food is a vital part of American foreign policy and this policy is bi-partisan. We accept this fact as premise No. 2. (Premise No. 1, stated last week: Western Europe has a shortage of food.)

It will not suffice to blame the "Administration" at Washington for the fact that we, as a nation, are pledged to defense of all freedom loving people against the threat of an aggressor.

Michigan-born Thomas E. Dewey, 1944 presidential nominee, is accepted today as the titular head of the national Republican party. On Nov. 5, Mr. Dewey took credit for inaugurating during the summer of 1944 the nation's present bi-partisan foreign policy. We would prefer to defend freedom through the United Nations, but we are ready to do it by ourselves if necessary. That is why a Republican congress voted aid to Greece and Turkey.

"It has been well said that we are in a cold war," said Dewey. "We are in it for the simple reason we are being attacked by all means short of war. The attack is by the most violent form of propaganda, falsehood, political penetration and economic sabotage.

"The whole system of political and economic freedom for which our country stands is under attack by those who would establish a world-wide rule of a police state."

Dewey sees a "ghastly picture" as an alternative of sending further aid to Western Europe. If Western Europe and Asia were to be over-run by Communists, "we should find more than a billion people in an armed camp under the control of an aggressive dictatorship arrayed against us.

"In terms of dollars, such a condition would cost us in national defense alone, a great deal more than any program of aid to Europe, and it would cost us that annually for years to come. In terms of living standards we should sink to a level not seen by any living person in this country."

Dewey concludes: "We have only one choice and that is wisely to aid those who stand with us in the world in the hope that they will rise again as bulwarks of the institution of human freedom."

Senator Vandenberg, chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, stated at Ann Arbor on November 3 that he fully agreed with General George C. Marshall, secretary of state, who described the "supreme underlying issue" as follows: "Whether or not men are to be left free to organize their existence in accordance with their own desires or whether they are to have their lives arranged and dictated for them by small groups of men who have arrogated to themselves this arbitrary power."

Vandenberg said he also agreed with Marshall's conclusion that the alternative risk to economic aid to Europe was "the danger of the actual disappearance of western civilization on which our government and our manner of living are based."

Our present foreign policy, thus championed on a bi-partisan basis, offers risks that are virtually frightening. Should we take these risks? Can we avoid the danger of war regardless of what path we choose? Every citizen should weigh the evidence carefully and prayerfully. There is no escape. The hour of decision is again near.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Graham, Sr., and son, Paul spent the week end visiting relatives in Mt. Pleasant, Mich. They returned home Sunday evening.

Earl Bennington visited Mrs. Earl Bennington, who is a patient in the Howell State Sanitorium on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter German and family spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Grace Rainey and Mrs. W. P. Rainey of Birmingham.

The Way of Abundance

PAUL, who learned in the schoolroom of experience the truth of what he taught, pointed to the way of abundance wherein the remedy for debt can be found when he wrote in his letter to the Romans (13:8), "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law."

How can the fulfilling of the law demonstrate that love which squares accounts? How can it bring into human experience the happiness which attends integrity and unselfishness? . . . In "No and Yes" Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, declares (p. 30), "God's law is in three words, 'I am All;' and this perfect law is ever present to rebuke any claim of another law."

An old Testament story illustrates the operation of this law. A widow appealed to the prophet Elisha for help when creditors had threatened to take her sons in payment for debt. Elisha asked her, "What hast thou in the house?" When she replied that she had nothing but a pot of oil, Elisha told her to borrow as many empty jars as she could from her neighbors and to pour out from her own jar until all were filled, and then to sell the oil to pay her debt. (See II Kings 4:1-7.)

Had not the prophet discerned that this woman's primary need was to prove her reliance on God? Her subsequent experience must have made her gratefully conscious that God is All and that He is good, for the Bible goes on to relate that as she followed the prophet's directions, she found abundant supply. . . .

How often, when faced with some need, do we look outside ourselves for the answer! Then when in humility we welcome the Christ, we look within consciousness and find in our ability to acknowledge God's allness and to recognize gratefully each evidence of His love in our hearts the solution to all our problems. "What hast thou in the house?"—of gratitude, of inspiration to help others, of trust in Spirit, of willingness to serve? . . .

If others appear to one like empty vessels, or if one's own experience seems fraught with loneliness, difficulty, or unprogressiveness, a sincere turning away from the material evidence and an earnest, grateful response to God's ever-operative law of good will always reveal the way of abundance. Our need is to realize that God is All, and we cannot do this if we let thought dwell on the inadequacies of material sense, for God's allness means no less than the amplitude of divine Love. . . .—The Christian Science Monitor.

GENTLEMEN GUESTS

The Tecumseh Monday Club will hold a dinner meeting in the Grange Hall in observance of Gentlemen's Night December 1. Prof. William Schuhle of Adrian College will give a chalk talk. Celebrate Golden Wedding Nearly 200 guests called at the Lewis home November 16 to honor Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Miss Marie A. Johnston and Fred Lewis were married in Milan, Michigan, November 9, 1897 by the Rev. F. O. Jones, pastor of the Baptist Church.

After spending a short time with the groom's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hale, they returned to the Lewis homestead, [illegible] Road, where they have spent the entire fifty years and where five generations of Lewises have lived.

They have one son, Allen Paul, who resides there; and three daughters, Mrs. Henry Bruckner of Milan, Mrs. Harry Dennison and Mrs. Dalbert Deck of Ypsilanti. There are six grand children and three great-grandchildren.

They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon by holding open house and received the felicetations of over 200 relatives and friends.

For the occasion, Mrs. Lewis wore a black crepe dress and corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Peter Johnston had charge of the guest book and Mrs. Bernard Grinwis, of Detroit, recorded the gifts in the gold covered gift book.

The dining room table was covered with a hand made lace cloth and in the center was the five tiered white and gold decorated wedding cake flanked by white candles.

Cutting the cakes were Mrs. E. R. Needham, Mrs. Will Phillips, Mrs. R. H. Johnston and Mrs. A. C. Johnston.

A surprise guest was Mr. Lewis' cousin, Mrs. Louis Gillis of Kansas City, Mo., who came to Michigan especially for this occasion.

Alma Dannells Weds Leland Mitchell, Adrian

The Edgar Hoag home at 416 West Logan street was the scene of a pretty candlelight wedding late Sunday afternoon when his daughter, Alma Dannells, became the bride of Leland Mitchell, son of L. E. Mitchell of Adrian. Rev. B. O. Bashore performed the double ring ceremony at 5 o'clock.

The bride was attractive in a tea rose suit with wine accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. She was attended by Mrs. Robert Staulter who wore a grey suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mr. Staulter assisted as best man.

After a trip to the southern states the couple will reside at 520 N. Winter Street, Adrian. Mr. Mitchell is employed at Tecumseh Sash and Door. Mrs. Mitchell was formerly with Tecumseh Products Company as an office employee.

MISS NANCY LEE TINGLEY MARRIES BOYD C. BAIRD

The marriage of Nancy Lee Tingley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tingley, to Boyd C. Baird, son of Judge and Mrs. Robert S. Baird of Cheboygan was solemnized at two o'clock last Saturday afternoon in the Presbyterian church.

Rev. Donald C. Wilson officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony before an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and palms.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Dale Tingley, wore a becoming suit of burgandy gabardine with gold buttons and a feathered hat of beige felt. Her shoulder corsage consisted of white gardenias tied with gold ribbon.

Miss Patricia Hickey of Detroit, who was maid of honor and only attendant, was attired in a suit of dark wine gabardine with gold buttons and wine felt hat with veil trimming. Her shoulder corsage was of white and pale lavender bebe chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Hazel Dickinson, roganist, played softly, while the guests were being seated by George Gluski and Paul Gimby of Detroit, friends of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the marriage ceremony a reception for about eighty guests was held in honor of the bridal couple in the church parlors. The refreshment table was centered with a bowl of yellow and white chrysanthemums and yellow candles. At one end of the table was a four tiered wedding cake topped by the usual bridal couple in miniature. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Clyde Bailey, Mrs. Percy Bowen, Mrs. Al Bagshaw, Mrs. Margaretta Brisbin, and the Misses Jean Bailey, Dolores Isaacson, Jocelyn Anderson and Dorothy Bowen. Miss Myrna Lee Smith of Detroit, had charge of the guest book.

Out of town guests present for the wedding included Judge and Mrs. Robert S. Baird of Cheboygan, and other relatives and friends from Caro, Coldwater, Midland, Ypsilanti, Northville, Plymouth, Romulus, Detroit, Jackson and Britton.

The bride graduated from Tecumseh high school with the class of 1944 and graduated from Harper Hospital School of Nursing in June, 1947. She will continue her duties as nurse at Harper Hospital.

The bridegroom graduated from Cheboygan high school in 1944 and spent one year in the army in the South Pacific. He is attending Wayne University, in Detroit.

Would you be willing to sell your home today for the amount of insurance you carry on it? If your answer is no, then you are underinsured.

How Should We Give Thanks?

The annual setting aside of a day for special giving of thanks is an established custom from the earliest days of our national history.

It is well that such be the custom. But of what good is it? What do we mean when so glibly we say, "How thankful I am for all the blessings of God", and then close our eyes to the starving peoples of the world. We belie by our actions the very words we utter.

There is a way to give thanks with true sincerity and that is by doing those things which prove our words. By acknowledging our dependence upon Almighty God for all that we have, by working diligently and honestly for the bettering of life for all peoples, and by truly giving thanks both in word and deed everyday of our lives, shall we know the true worth of THANKSGIVING DAY.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Ma Hoskins Sneezed at Cats!

Ma Hoskins couldn't understand why she got a fit of sneezing every time Harpo, the cat, came in the room. Finally figured she'd have to get rid of Harpo altogether.

Then Doc Hollister explained she had an "allergy." Cat's fur made her sneeze like strawberries give some folks rash. He gave her an inoculation so she and Harpo could live sneezelessly together.

I guess a lot of us have "allergies" in the social sense. Some folks just can't stand movies, or radio comedians. Other folks don't go for beer. Myself, I enjoy a moderate glass of beer or two with friends . . . but it's up to them what beverage they choose.

From where I sit, the important thing is not to let our social allergies result in antisocial taboos. Let's not criticize the fellow who likes beer if we like cider. A little inoculation of tolerance can help us live-and-let-live happily together.

Highway Deaths Gain In Winter

"ICE AND SNOW MEAN TAKE IT SLOW" IS WARNING OF STATE POLICE

LANSING.—With the arrival of winter driving hazards, State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard is appealing to motorists to remember that "Ice and snow mean take it slow."

"The accident rate per 100 million miles traveled in Michigan was 59 per cent higher last winter than during the last summer, and the death rate was 21 per cent higher," the commissioner said. "Six out of ten fatal accidents occurred during hours of darkness. All of which means that to be safe you must be more careful and be more cautious."

1. Adjust speed to the "feel" of the road and weather conditions, and slow down well in advance of intersections. Snow and ice increase the danger of skidding.
2. Drive with the normal flow of traffic and follow cars at a safe distance. It takes 3 to 12 times farther to stop on icy or snowy roadways than when they are dry.
3. Prevent skidding by avoiding quick acceleration of deceleration. If skid starts, turn front wheels in the direction the rear is skidding.
4. Use anti-skid chains to reduce braking distance 40 to 50 per cent on ice or packed snow.
5. Remember that bad weather conditions and more hours of darkness greatly increase pedestrian hazards. Give special consideration to children.
6. Slow down after sundown.
7. Remember the dangers of carbon monoxide and always provide some fresh air within the car.
8. Observe the golden rule toward the other driver.

State Warns of Measles Danger

DISEASE STARTS VERY SIMILAR TO COMMON COLD, DEPARTMENT SAYS

Measles is spreading in Michigan from its original concentration in Kalamazoo county to the surrounding counties in the southwest quarter of the state, the Michigan Department of Health said today. There are scattered cases elsewhere in the state, including the upper peninsula. More than 1,000 new cases were reported during the month ending November 10.

The department advised parents, especially in southwest counties, to watch their children for symptoms of the disease which are like those of the common cold. Sometimes the cold-like symptoms are accompanied by small bluish-white spots surrounded by red circles on the inside of the mouth. The eyes become sore and light hurts them. The measles rash comes out on the face and neck, behind the ears, and on the chest about four days after the sickness first starts.

A child having measles is most apt to "give it" to others during the time he seems to have "just a slight cold." When there are cases of measles in a community, a child with even a slight case of sniffles should be kept away from other children, especially pre-school children. A doctor should be called as soon as a child is EXPOSED to measles. When the child is treated at once, the case can be made milder, or prevented, whichever the doctor thinks is best for the individual child.

Health officers in certain parts of the state said recently that cases of measles are not being reported and that they are being treated out of the family medicine chest. The Health Department warned against this saying that measles can be, or can lead to, a very serious illness. It warned also that all persons knowing of cases of "catching" diseases are required by law to report them to the health department. Only in this way can epidemics be prevented.

Homes, where children have measles, are not quarantined, and those people who work outside the home can come and go as they please. However, the child who has measles, or is thought to be coming down with it should be kept in his own room, away from other children in the house, until he is well again. The local health officer may put a warning sign, saying "Measles", on the house when he thinks this is necessary to keep other people from being exposed to the disease.

Just For Old Times' Sake—

"Please, teacher," was the reply, "it's a thing they have at weddings."

Old Lady—"Here's a penny, my poor man. How did you become so destitute?"

Parking Meters On Street Soon

POSTS ALREADY INSTALLED; NEW LAW MAY BECOME EFFECTIVE NEXT WEEK

Meters will govern the parking of automobiles in the downtown district of Tecumseh, beginning probably in about a week, it was announced today, following the passage of an ordinance by the village council, Monday evening, authorizing the installation of such meters and prescribing penalties for violations of the law.

The decision to install meters here came after the State Department of Public Safety insisted that Tecumseh discontinue the practice of angle parking on its trunk line streets which policy, it was pointed out by the village, reduced by about one-third the number of cars that may be parked in the business area. The council held that the installation of meters would help to speed up the "parking time" of cars and make the fewer spaces available to a greater number.

The meters are now being installed on both sides of Chicago boulevard, between Pearl and Ottawa streets, and on the west side of Evans street, between Logan and Pottawatamie streets. Posts were set on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Once the parallel parking of cars is made mandatory in the area and metered parking becomes effective, these rules will apply:

Meters will be in operation from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday. They will not be in use on Sunday.

By inserting one penny in the meter, parking for a 12 minute period will be permitted. An additional 12 minutes of parking will be permitted for each additional penny inserted, and 60-minute parking will be permitted for five cents.

Each violation of the parking meter ordinance will be punishable by a fine of $1 if payment is made to the village clerk within a 48-hour period after it occurs. If, however, payment is ignored and the offender is taken into court, the misdemeanor is punishable by a fine of not to exceed $100 or 90 days in jail, or both.

The council also authorized the purchase of 17 pairs of boots and a like number of coats for use of local firemen.

Purchase of tractor driven snow plow and mower at a cost of about $1,500 was approved.

Sale of two and one-fifth acres of land, adjoining the R. G. Fuller property on W. Chicago boulevard, to Mr. Fuller for $300 was authorized. The property formerly was an old gravel pit.

Current bills were audited and approved and reports of committees and department heads were read and placed on file.

Traffic Death Is Blamed To Snow

INDIANA WOMAN FATALLY HURT IN ACCIDENT ON US-112, LAST THURSDAY

With pavements covered with snow and temperatures hovering in the lower 'teens, Thanksgiving Day traffic moved at a snail's pace in Lenawee county but nevertheless an accident resulted which cost the life of Mrs. Elenora Weaver, 61, of Goshen, Ind. There were several other minor accidents in which cars were damaged, but there were no others involving serious personal injury.

The accident in which Mrs. Weaver was killed happened on US-112 at the eastern edge of Clinton about 4 p.m., Thursday. The car which her husband, John E., was driving, skidded out of control and into an eastbound car operated by Charles Smiley, 40, Detroit.

Mrs. Weaver died in an ambulance while being removed to Tecumseh Hospital. Mr. Weaver suffered a fractured right shoulder and left ankle and was removed to the hospital here. Treated for minor cuts and bruises were Smiley's three passengers, Leon Valden, William Wilson and McKinley Banks, all of Detroit.

Coroner Paul Mott, Adrian, ruled the accident was unavoidable and death accidental. There will be no inquest.

PLAN XMAS PLAY

Baptist Church Goes On Radio

FIRST SERVICE TO BE BROADCAST ON SUNDAY, FROM 11:30 TO 12

Sunday morning services at the First Baptist church here will be broadcast over Station WABJ, Adrian, from 11:30 to 12 o'clock noon, every Sunday morning beginning next Sunday, December 7, and continuing for a least a 13-week period, it was announced today by the Rev. B. O. Bashore, pastor.

For next Sunday's opening radio service, the Rev. Mr. Bashore said that the program would include, besides the sermon, special music, and that members of the several Granges in the county would be guests of the church.

Mr. Bashore will use as his sermon topic, "The Call For Reapers", and the honor-winning double quartet of the Tecumseh Grange will sing two numbers. This quartet is made up of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow, Charles Bigelow, Mrs. Dow Bilby, Mrs. Mills Swick, Mrs. William Grigg, Ernest Harris and Pearl Ash. It is under the direction of Glenn Driscoll with Mrs. Driscoll at the organ.

"Insofar as I know," Mr. Bashore said, "this will be the first time that a service in Tecumseh has been broadcast directly from the local church to a listening radio audience. We anticipate a large congregation, and I want the public to know that everybody is welcome."

Mr. Bashore said that a radio engineer would be on duty at the church Sunday morning to set up the necessary euipment. Special telephone line will carry the program to the Adrian studio from which point station announcement and identification will be made and the service transferred to the airways.

Books Are Needed For "Gifts For The Yanks"

The committee of the American Legion Auxiliary in charge of "Gifts for the Yanks" has announced that it is in need of books to be packed with gift packages that are now being prepared.

It also was announced at a meeting of the Auxiliary, Monday evening, that a Christmas party, the date to be announced, is being planned for the children of Legion and Auxiliary members. The committee in charge of the program is made up of Mrs. Pearl Osburn, Mrs. Joyce Manwaring, Mrs. Majel Holden, Mrs. Joan Rosacrans and Mrs. Shirley Herrick.

Twenty-seven were present for Monday's meeting with Mrs. Madge Lewis presiding. The Auxiliary now has a membership of 95. It was announced that Mrs. Marie Carlson and Mrs. Joyce Manwaring would go to Battle Creek today to wrap veterans' Christmas gift packages. Also, that Gold Star Mothers would be remembered at Christmas time.

Mrs. Jennie Curtis will be hostess to the January meeting.

H. P. Ford, 69, Dies; Funeral Service Friday

Hammond Percival Ford, 69 years of age, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon at the Wallace Bryan farm where he suffered a heart attack. Prior to coming to Tecumseh three and one half years ago, he was a salesman for the Ottawa County Co-operative Association. He, with Mrs. Ford, resided on the Dr. M. R. Blanden farm southwest of Tecumseh.

He is survived by the widow Alice M. Ford, four daughters, Mrs. M. R. Blanden of Tecumseh, Mrs. R. A. Brown of Attica, Ohio, Mrs. William Price of Cooleenee, North Carolina, and Miss Mildred Ford of Chicago, one son Hammond of Lansing and two sisters, Mrs. L. O. Crittenden and Mrs. Charles Ault of Cleveland.

Funeral services will be held in the Attica Methodist church Friday at 1 o'clock. Friends may call at the Green Funeral Home until Friday morning.

HOLIDAY MAIL BEGINS TO FLOW AT POST OFFICE

Do Christmas Mailing Early, Postmaster Urges

"We hope to have every piece of Christmas mail delivered before we go home Christmas eve," Wiley McCann, acting postmaster here, said today when he urged public cooperation in the handling of the vast amount of holiday cards, letters and packages which already have started to flow through the Tecumseh postoffice.

"Ordinarily, a person thinks it a great task to address and prepare for mailing 100, 200 or 300 greeting cards, but here in the local office we cancel them by the thousands, to say nothing of the additional work of sorting them, pouching them for other cities, or delivering them to residents right here in Tecumseh," Mr. McCann said. "Of course, it is all our job, and we'd like to do a better one this year by having the public cooperate with us in early and proper mailing.

The acting postmaster listed some "hints" that will help to speed up the dispatching and delivery of Christmas mail. They are as follows:

Prepay postage fully on all mail matter.

Address all mail matter plainly and completely, in ink, giving street address or box or rural route number wherever possible. The delivery zone number should be shown when applicable.

Sender's return address should be in the upper left hand corner on the address side. Tags should not be used unless necessary, in which case a copy of the address and return addresses should be placed inside the parcel for identification if tag is lost.

Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Wrap parcels securely but do not seal them except when a printed indorsement is on the outside reading: Contents merchandise. Postmaster may open for postal inspection if necessary.

Parcels must not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined.

Parcels may be marked, "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

Do not place seals or stickers on the address side of letters and cards.

Parcels of fourth class matter indorsed "special handling" will be given the most expeditious handling and transportation, (but not special delivery) upon payment in addition to regular postage as follows: Up to two pounds, 10c; over two pounds and up to 10 pounds, 15c; over 10 pounds, 20c.

Packages should be insured. For this service the rate is as follows: For value not over $5 the cost is three cents; over $5 but not more than $25, 10c; over $25 but not more than $50, 15c. from $50 to $200, 25c.

Greeting cards, the postmaster said, should be mailed early to insure delivery by Christmas. Buying stamps in advance will help to speed up the service and eliminate long lines at the postoffice window.

Sash And Door Plant Enlarged

SIX THOUSAND SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR SPACE ADDED; OTHER IMPROVEMENTS

The Tecumseh Sash & Door Company's plant on Bidwell street is being enlarged and otherwise remodeled to keep pace with the growing demand for its products, Robert H. Moore of the R. S. Moore & Son Co., owners, announced today. In the future, Mr. Moore said, the plant will be given over principally to the manufacture of door and window frames to supply the company's four lumber yards, and to the building of wooden packing cases for Tecumseh Products Co.

An addition to the old plant some 60 by 50 feet in size, two stories in height, has been completed. This adds 6,000 square feet of floor space to the building. The main floor of the new addition will be given over almost entirely to the manufacture of packing cases for the Products company, and the second floor will be utilized for general mill purposes.

The first floor section of the new addition is built of tile and the second floor is frame construction with aluminum siding. In the rehabilitation of the old plant, Moore said, aluminum siding also will be applied to the exterior.

Other improvements include new floors, a new stairs to the second floor, etc. Some new machinery will be added.

Because of the heavy demand for door and window frames, to supply the needs in the four yards that the company operates here and in Britton, Clinton and Dundee, the owner said that aside from supplying Products with boxes the plant's time would be given over almost exclusively to door and window frame manufacturing. Heretofore, the plant has done considerable custom work.

Tecumseh Cagers Meet Dundee Here, Friday Eve

Plenty of thrills are in store—at least that is the promise made by Tecumseh coaches—when the Indian high school cage team takes the floor at the gymnasium here on Friday evening to play Dundee high in the opening game of the season.

The reserve game is scheduled to get under way at 7:15 with the varsity whistle at 8:15.

Tecumseh this year, according to scouts, has one of the most active teams to come onto the floor of the local school in several years. Dundee, to, has a fast quintet, so the game tomorrow evening should be packed with excitement.

Yule Lights Out This Year

CONSUMERS UNABLE TO FURNISH SUFFICIENT CURRENT FOR OPERATION

Because there is an unprecendented demand for electric current this year, officials of the Consumers Power Company have asked the several cities and towns they serve to forego the lighting of municipal Yule trees and other holiday street decorations at the Christmas season in an effort to conserve power for industry.

The up-swing in the demand for electricity, it was pointed out, is state and nationwide, and power companies the country over are straining their facilities to meet everyday needs. Thousands of new houses have been built requiring electricity, besides the all-time peak production in factories. All in all, it was said, conservation is necessary if ordinary increased demands are to be met.

There was no request on the part of the company for residents to forego the lighting of home decorations.

The Chamber of Commerce here had planned to install lighted Christmas trees on the ornamental lamp posts this year, as well as set up overhead multi-colored lights in the streets. However, it

Ventriloquist Will Entertain At Safety Program At School

Jerry McSafety, the toothy, grinning, quick-witted ventriloquist's dummy and his master, Sgt. Fernelius, of the Detroit Police Safety Department, will appear for two performances at the Tecumseh public schools next Monday. Jimmy and the Sergeant are being brought to Tecumseh through the courtesy of Charles O. Butler, of Butler Motor Sales, to present safety talks to children that are winning nation wide acclaim.

W. L. Berkhof, superintendent of schools, has announced that Jimmy's first appearance would be at a junior-senior high school assembly at 8:45 Monday morning. There will be at least one more show, possibly two, to accommodate students in elementary grades.

Jerry and Sgt. Fernelius have been making safety talks before school audiences since September 1938. Future plans indicate that the pair will tour the entire country as part of a program to teach safety to America's school children.

Jerry's fame has been growing by leaps and bounds, since his birth nine years ago. With his engaging grin, rolling eyes, wiggling ears, and a line of witty patter and songs, "Patrolman" McSafety is reported to have been "laying his audience in the aisles." He attracts the children like the modern counterpart of Pied Piper. When his safety lecture is over, the children beg for more. He is besieged for his autograph and followed by crowds of eager fans when he makes his exit.

The credit for Jerry is Sgt. Fernelius, who decided in his first year as a safety lecturer for the Detroit Police Department, that he could get more attention and make a more lasting impression if he could make his talks entertaining as well as informative. So, Jerry was created. Sgt. Fernelius has designed his safety talk into a fastmoving dialogue in which he modestly gives the dummy all the best lines.

Jerry and the Sergeant have entertained thousands and youngsters and adults, appearing at schools, lodges, clubs and churches as well as making a number of radio broadcasts. During the war, Jerry and his master joined the USO group and toured 20,000 miles to entertain the troops throughout Europe. On the return trip to America, Jerry made a midnight performance for a plane load of convalescent troops thousands of feet above the dark swirling waters of the Atlanic.

"I have seen the program presented by the Sergeant and Jimmy," Mr. Butler said, "and it impressed me so much that I decided to bring them to Tecumseh. I trust that our school children will enjoy the entertainment, which is very instructive."

Parents Will Meet Teachers

PUPIL - PARENT - INSTRUCTOR CONFERENCES SCHEDULED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Parent, pupil, teacher conferences are to be held on the high school level the afternoon of Tuesday and Wednesday, December 9 and 10, and Thursday evening, December 11. According to James McDowell, high school principal, the guidance committee has made arrangements for the counselors to send return mail cards to each parent; the parent will then return a part of the card to the school designaing the time at which he wishes a conference. The parents will then accompany their son or daughter to confer with the counselors.

It is believed that by arranging conferences between the parent, pupil and counselor many pertinent facts concerning the pupil's education may be discussed and that the pupil's growth and, development educationally may be enhanced. In order to facilitate these conferences it will be necessary for the parent to mail the card back to the school by Monday, December 8, so that an adequate schedule can be worked out for the conferences. Parents who do not mail cards back will have to make special arrangements with the teachers after that date if they desire conferences.

During conferences the results of the standard tests given the first week of school last year and this year will be discussed. Also, the marks for the two six weeks periods which have elapsed this year, general conduct, on the job work, and other details of the pupil's school life will be given attention. It is hoped that a large number of parents will take the opportunity to cooperate with their children and the school in establishing a firm basis upon which they can build their lives.

State's X-Ray Unit Is Here

FREE EXAMINATIONS FOR PUBLIC SCHEDULED UP TO 5 P.M., TODAY

The Michigan Department of Health's Mobile X-ray Unit is now in Tecumseh and this morning, beginning at 10 o'clock in the Weatherman Building, So. Evans street, it will begin the taking of X-ray pictures of heart and chest for local residents. The service is without charge, the Unit having been brought here through the co-operation of the Tecumseh Health Education Committee and the Lenawee County Health Department.

"Today is the day for your chest X-ray," is the slogan of the local committee as members urge everyone to take advantage of the service that is being offered by the state. It is possible, it was pointed out, to take 125 pictures an hour, so very little of anyone's time is consumed in the service. Pictures will be taken until 12, noon, today and resumed at 1 o'clock, continuing until 5 p.m.

"There is no undressing, and the service is completely confidential," a member of the committee said. "All that one does is stand before the X-ray machine, take a deep breath and hold it for a second. Then its all over. The service that is being offered free here today would be rather expensive if it were to be done privately."

After the films have been developed they are read by state doctors and in cases were further medical treatment is needed the patient is notified by letter, as is his physician.

The mobile unit was at the Lenawee fair grounds last September but was unable to accommodate the crowds that desired pictures to be taken. It was to accommodate those who were disappointed at the fair that the state decided to return the unit to the county at this time.

GOVERNMENT AND FOOD

It is probable that a very small minority of the people realize to what extent the cost of government enters into present day living costs.

The Tax Foundation recently published a remarkable comparison of the cost of food and the cost of the Federal government, which was prepared by the Chief of the St. Louis Star-Times Washington bureau. The comparison shows that government costs—exclusive of war activities—increased from $4,000,000,000 in 1929 to $21,000,000,000 in 1946. In the same period, food costs increased from $20,000,000,000 to $43,-000,000,000. And, in 1946, retail food store sales came to $24,-600,000,000—which was only $3,-000,000,000 more than the cost of the Federal government, not counting war expenditures. These figures, it should be emphasized, do not include the cost of state and local governments.

It's a sure bet that if the government had done as much to hold down costs as has American business, we'd be far better off now. The cost of commodities has gone up in spite of, not because of, the efforts of industry to keep prices from getting out of line. No manufacturer wants to see his customers priced out of the market. No storekeeper, whether he sells food or clothing or anything else, wants to see consumers forced into buying less. That feeling is shared by great manufacturers and small producers—and, on the distribution end, by the big chain systems and the little stores alike. But the tide of inflation has been running strongly, and business cannot check it with the cost of government entirely beyond its control.

Excessively costly and wasteful government is one of the most dangerous and powerful inflationary forces. So, when we revile high prices, we should remember that government has been a major factor in causing them—and that the policies of government will largely determine what prices do in the future.

Marry Young? Marry Old?

When Jeb Crowell's daughter, Sue, married nineteen-year-old "Slim" Blake, a lot of folks (especially older ones) began to shake their heads. Young marriages! Tut, tut!

So I looked up some figures. It's true, young American girls and boys marry younger than in other countries. And where do you suppose they had the least chance? I won't name it, but maybe you've guessed. One of those countries that before the war suppressed all individual freedom and tolerance.

That's why I'm not worried about our younger married couples. They were raised in a country that respects one another's right—a country of tolerance and temperance (a lot of bridegrooms are ex-G.I.'s, and it looked to me like their favorite beverage was beer!)

From where I sit, it isn't when you marry that's important. It's the all-important spirit of tolerance and understanding that you bring to marriage.

Lansing—In his new crusade to make state commissions and boards more responsive to the voters, Governor Kim Sigler is again in the role of bold reformer, a knight in shining armor, astride a traditional white horse, giving battle gallantly to the forces of entrenched vested interests—this time, state bureaucracy itself!

Here is an issue obviously cut out for Michigan's fighting governor. There is little doubt that he will try to make the most of the opportunity during 1948, an election year.

The governor's announcement that he will seek to make directors of commissions and boards responsible directly to him, and in turn dependent on the State Senate for appointment, was made in the triumphant wake of a successful legislative session. There the governor displayed new and aggressive powers. No longer was he content to submit his recommendations and then leave solons to their own prerogatives, thus keeping the executive branch separate from the legislative branch, as he has done earlier in the year.

With the aid of state G.O.P. chieftains, he applied the pressure convincingly and effectively. A 32-page bill abolishing the corrections commission and replacing it with a non-civil service appointee, was considered briefly by the Senate judiciary committee, sent without change to the floor, explained for six minutes and approved 25 minutes later. This is speed!

Observers have pointed out that the present position of the governor is a reversal of his earlier stand regarding the commission. Last May he indicated that the corrections commission was one of the best in the land. He asked Austin H. MacCormick, executive director of the Osborne Association and a noted penologist, to appear before the legislative committee that was considering a bill to revise the Michigan set-up. MacCormick declared that Michigan's system was a model.

With his November bill approved overwhelmingly by the legislature, Sigler then disclosed that he would ask the legislature to vest power in the governor to appoint commission directors, subject to Senate approval.

The governor feels that Michigan has too many commissions and boards. Some should be abolished outright; some should be retained. Those worth retaining should be held responsible direct to the governor who now, Sigler says, is little else then a "glorified clerk."

He specifically refers to the state conservation department as being a kingdom unto itself, free from political control. Whereas the director now holds office at the will of the commission, under the Sigler plan he could be reappointed or fired every two years at a turn of the political tide.

Therein lies the great weakness in the governor's armor. For the past 18 years only one Michigan governor — Harry F. Kelly — has served two successive terms. Every two years, with one exception, a new governor took office. In the department of agriculture the result was a new director every two years with appalling regularity. This lack of continuity prompted the legislature, spurred by farm organizations, to take the directorship out of politics and into the hands of a new commission. Charles Figy, a Kelly appointee, was re-named director.

The governor's critics may refer to him as another Don Quixote dueling with a windmill. But there is no doubt Michigan's crusading governor has started out on a new quest for reform. We would be surprised if he didn't do so. After all, Kim Sigler is Kim Sigler.

A concert delightfully unique in this or any season is promised the Siena Heights College clientele in the appearance of the Trapp Family Singers in two performances in Walsh Hall, Adrian, Sunday afternoon, December 7, at 3 o'clock and again in the evening at 8.

So it is that Lenawee County residents will be introduced for the first time to the Trapp Family Singers whose musical achievements are no less rare a joy to their hearers than is their inspiring service to an ideal family life which is too fast becoming extinct.

In seven transcontinental United States tours, the Trapp Family Singers have given more than five hundred concerts in more than three hundred and fifty cities in forty-six states. Today, averaging one hundred twenty-five performances a year, they are the most heavily booked single attraction in all America's concert history.

Shortest Distance

In school we learned that "a straight line is the shortest distance between two points." Kroger's method of distribution reduces the distance (and the cost) between the farm and the fireside. The farmer gets more for what he produces and the homemaker pays less for what she buys. Everybody benefits.

was said that the request of the Consumers company would be met and that some other form of decorations would be used. These probably will consist of decorated trees on the lamp posts.

Consumers Power Co. shares with utilities in most sections of the United States the uneasiness of having a narrow margin of reserve power capacity, it was announced by Dan E. Karn, vice president and general manager, and meeting peak demands may be difficult at times this winter.

After a section-by-section survey by the Associated Press recently, that news gathering agency reported that few sections expect an electric power "brownout" this winter, but many fear that it is possible if luck runs out.

Commenting on the Consumers Power situation, Vice President Karn said: "Conditions arising out of the war have left us with a rather narrow margin of reserve capacity. A construction program that will correct this condition is well under way, but during the winter there will be a possibility of trouble in meeting peak demands.

"Use of electricity in the area served by Consumers has been growing rapidly since prewar days. In 1946 we experienced an unprecedented increase in peak load. The maximum peak demand on our system was 31 per cent greater than it had been at any time during the war. This year promises to go still higher."

Karns stated that Consumers had ample capacity during the war because in 1939 and 1940 the company put into service two new plants with a total capacity of 240,000 kilowatts. An additional turbo-generator unit with a canacity of 50,000 kilowatts was scheduled for delivery to Consumers in 1943, but the war production board decided that this unit would serve war production better if located elsewhere, so Consumers had to let it go.

"Immediately after VJ day," said the Consumers official, "the order for this generator was reinstated and we have ordered several units in addition. But in the postwar period, ordering a turbo-generator has been a good deal like ordering an automobile. You had to expect a good long wait. It now takes from three to four years to get the unit and put it in service."

Karn said the company expects to have this 50,000 kilowatt unit in operation next April, about five years later than originally planned. Consumers is building a new plant at Muskegon that will go into operation in the fall of 1948, with an initial capacity of 120,000 kilowatts. Also on the way are four 60,000 kilowatt units that will be installed during 1949 and early in 1950.

"That makes 410,000 kilowatts of generating capacity under construction," he said, "which amounts to an increase of 64 per cent in the total generating capacity of our system in four years."

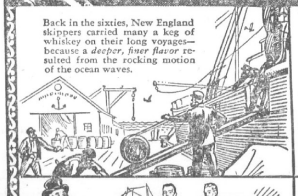
OLD MR. BOSTON SAYS:

Rocking Chair is Mellow

As Keg-Rocked Whiskeys of Old!



Back in the sixties, New England skippers carried many a keg of whiskey on their long voyages—because a deeper, finer flavor resulted from the rocking motion of the ocean waves.

Ashore, they'd rock kegs of whiskey lashed beneath their rockers to that same smoothness—a smoothness that's recalled in Rocking Chair Whiskey!

Only by controlled agitation in my special blending process do I achieve Rocking Chair's mellowness. For real flavor—at a thrifty price—say Rocking Chair!

Downtown Area In Gala Dress

LAUREL AND SILVER WREATHS WILL REPLACE TREES, BROADCAST CAROLS

With its plans for thousands of twinkling, multi-colored lights sparkling through the green of Christmas trees on downtown lamp posts blasted this year because of the shortage of electric current, business area decorations for the holiday season have been changed in Tecumseh to the festooning of lamp posts with ropes of laurel and silver wreaths tied with large red bows, it was announced today by the Chamber of Commerce. In addition, it was said, Christmas carols will be broadcast over loud speakers, beginning this afternoon and continuing through Christmas eve.

"We regret very much that it was impossible to use lights this year to decorate the streets," a chamber of Commerce announcement said. "However, the Consumers Power Company has asked that current be conserved, and we desire to cooperate because we realize the seriousness of the power situation. We believe that the decorations that are used are in keeping with conditions, and we sincerely hope that another year will find a changed power condition."

The festooning of wreaths were put in place yesterday and this morning. The playing of the carols will start at 3 this afternoon and continue until 6 o'clock. This schedule will be followed daily except Saturdays, when they they will continue until 9 p.m. Loud speakers have been mounted on top of the Masonic Temple and the broadcasting is being done by The Tecumseh Electric Co.

Christmas shopping has started in earnest, according to local merchants who declare that stocks this year are the largest and most complete offered since before the war.

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING TO TECUMSEH

St. Nick to Arrive With Gifts on December 20th

The Tecumseh Rotary Club's pre-Christmas party for the children of Tecumseh, an annual event with the club, is scheduled for Saturday evening, December 20, at 7:30, it was announced today.

"I have had a wire from Santa Claus, and he will visit us this year with gifts for all of the kiddies," Yale Kerby, chairman of Rotary's party committee, said. "Santa says that he will again make the trip to Tecumseh by airplane, arriving at the local airport. Of course, we will meet him there with one of the fire trucks and bring him to the downtown district, where he will spend a couple of hours and distribute gifts to the youngsters."

Santa's telegram to Mr. Kerby said in part: "I won't be able to stay too long in Tecumseh, because I have many other towns and cities to visit, but I will be there for perhaps two hours. Please tell all of the kiddies to be on hand to meet me, and to tell me just what they want in the Christmas stockings. I'll have a gift for each of them and I'll have more gifts for them on Christmas."

Cooperating with the Rotary Club this year in the holiday party will be the Village Council, the Community Fund, Chamber of Commerce and perhaps other organizations.

Mr. Kerby said that the party plans this year call for the bringing of Santa to the main intersection of the village, where he will remain until he has presented his gifts. Later, if time permits, he will circulate through the crowd, meet youngsters and discuss their holiday plans with them.

"We want all of the children to meet Santa," Kerby said, because he will have a gift for each of them."

Graders Prepare Christmas Play

DICKEN'S "CHRISTMAS CAROL" TO BE STAGED AT SCHOOL, DECEMBER 18

The 4th, 5th and 6th grades of the public school are presenting the traditional "Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens on Thursday, December 18, in the high school auditorium at 8:15. This year the carol will be given in operetta form, consisting of three acts, with dialogue and music.

The part of Ebenezer Scrooge, a grasping covetous old man who learns to laugh and sing, is taken by Russell McKenzie. Bob Cratchet, Scrooge's clerk, overawed and underpaid is played by Roger Harsh. His wife, sharp of tongue and pathetic in her poverty, is Janis Boltz. Eugene Dunbar is Tiny Tim. Others in the Cratchet family are Ross Hadley, Merene Boltz, Linda Sisson and Bobby Roe. The Ghost of Jacob Marley, the former business partner of Scrooge who returns to haunt him, is played by Robert Francour. His nephew is Louis Vargo.

Besides the main cast, there are several choruses of Christmas Bells, servants, street crowd, ghosts and waifs. Solos are being sung by Ruth Ann Coates, the "Ghost of Christmas Past," and by Bobby Snyder, one of the waifs who begs pennies at Scrooge's door, and Sylvia Helzerman dances, as "Memory", to help recall Scrooge's past. There is also a singing chorus of seventy-five voices.

The story opens on Christmas Eve with the street crowd hurrying along the cold streets, doing their last minute shopping. They completely ignore the waifs, who are shivering with the cold and begging for money. Scrooge, in his typical, gruff manner also ignores them and is very irritated by any Christmas joy displayed by his nephew, Fred, or his clerk, Bob Cratchet, and does not hesitate in telling them.

Scrooge returns home, alone and miserable in his own selfishness, only to have the ghost of Jacob Marley come to haunt him. After the ghost, comes the spirit of the past who helps him recall past Christmases. When he sees himself as a child, later as a youth and still later, after he has died, he becomes ashamed and has a sudden change of heart. He opens his house on Christmas Day for a big celebration. Everyone is invited. Scrooge gives a large contribution to the poor, helps the Cratchets with their Christmas and joins in the revelry and feasting himself.

Presbyterian Men To Begin Study Of Bible

Beginning Sunday, December 14, the men of the Presbyterian church will participate in a weekly program for the study of religion. Sponsored by the Session of the church, the study will first devote itself to the approach to the Bible. The following week the men will be concerned with the inspiration of the Bible. The body of the course will deal with selected books of the Bible, the first of which will be the Epistle to the Galatians.

The program, though under the direction of the pastor, will be participated in by the men. They will prepare and present reports on subjects related to the main interest of the course.

235 Persons Attend Church Radio Broadcast

Some 235 persons were in attendance at the first radio broadcast of the Baptist church service, Sunday morning. Special guests were Grangers from Woodstock, North Adrian, Rome, Madison, Gorman, Fairfield, Onsted, North Rome, Palmyra, Four Towns, South Dover, Adrian, Tecumseh and Raisinville Granges, the latter of Monroe county. The Gold Award prize winning double quartet from the Tecumseh Grange sang two numbers, "He Is Mine" and "The Call For Reapers." The Rev. B. O. Bashore spoke on the subject, "The Call For Reapers."

New Tuition Rate Is Established By Board

The tuition rate for elementary grade pupils other than those residing in the Tecumseh district was fixed at $50 by the board of education, in regular meeting, Monday evening. This amount, plus the membership appropriation from the state, will give the district about $147 in tuition for each non-district student in the new school year. The tuition for high school students established by the state, is comparable.

The board was notified by W. L. Berkhof, superintendent, that Tecumseh High School again had been placed on the University of Michigan's accredited list for another three year period. Notification of the award was made following a recent inspection by University authorities.

The board voted $75 to help defray the cost of the annual Christmas party for students, to be held Friday evening, December 19. The party for junior high school students will be from 7 to 9 p.m., and for senior students from 9 to 12.

P. V. Vegeakos Dies In Ann Arbor

WAS FOR MANY YEARS PROPRIETOR OF THE TECUMSEH CANDY KITCHEN

Peter V. Vegeakos, 69, for 26 years one of the proprietors of the Tecumseh Candy Kitchen, died Saturday at 3 p.m., in St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor, after a two month's illness.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Staffan Funeral Home, Ann Arbor, with burial in that city.

Mr. Vegeakos' only survivor is a son, Louis, of Tecumseh.

"Pete" as he was favoritely known to the hundreds of school children who visited his candy shop almost daily during the more than a quarter of a century that he operated it, knew him as their friend, and it was many a cone, many a dish of ice cream or a coke that Pete supplied when someone in the crowd was "short a nickel."

Early in October Mr. Vegeakos sold the Candy Kitchen to Donomic Cascarelli of Adrian, and retired. Previously, he had purchased the interests of his former partner, Peter Melankos, who now resides in Ann Arbor.

Girl Scout Bazaar Open On Saturday

Saturday afternoon the first annual Girl Scout bazaar will be held at St. Peter's Youth Center, beginning at 1 o'clock and continuing through 9 p.m. Plans were completed when the Girl Scout Association met at the high school last week Wednesday evening.

Girls of the eleven troops, leaders, assistant leaders and other members of the association have been working on material for several weeks. Many of the items for sale have been made by the Scouts at their regular meetings. Included in this group are Christmas greens, candles and green table decorations, favors, name tags, covered boxes, lapel bouquets, needlework and other articles suitable for Christmas gifts.

For the convenience of parents and friends of Girl Scouts, there will be a booth with official Girl Scout equipment. The association, too, will sponsor a jelly booth, to which all committee women are contributing. A bake sale and home-made candy sale will be featured by the Brownie Scouts. A fish pond for children will be an added attraction.

Because it was felt such a project would benefit the Scouts more, the bazaar is replacing the annual dance heretofore sponsored by the Association.

Tecumseh Airport Is Leased For Training

The Gottschalk School of Aeronautics has leased the Tecumseh airport for full flight training, it was announced today. The school, organized in Adrian before the war, has student pilots from Puerto Rico, Iceland, South America and all parts of the United States. Government approval of it was the first aeronautics school in Michigan allowed to train veterans.

Enrollment will begin immediately. Veterans will, under the G. I. bill of rights, have their full tuition paid.

AN HONEST PRICE

One unfortunate phase of the price problem is that everyone seems to be looking for a pat solution, which will solve it in one fell swoop.

The fact is that the problem is simply the sum total of innumerable other problems and forces, some of them of extreme complexity. For example, high wages contribute to high prices. Foreign aid contributes to high prices. Government fiscal policy, which is still strongly inflationary, contributes to high prices. Our record national income (increased printed money), which no one wants to reduce, contributes to high prices.

The worst illusion of all is that a return to price control of the OPA type would solve the problem. The government could set a low price for an article — but it couldn't make anyone produce that article if the price involved an operating loss. Price control would drive goods inexorably into the black market, which would then become the real market. Most dangerous of all, price control would be completely impossible unless it involved the strictest kinds of wage and other controls—and subjected the nation to some kind of an economic dictatorship.

During the next year, prices may go up or they may come down. No one knows, and, as the experience of the past year or two shows, the forecasters are almost invariably wrong. But, in a free economy, where open competition exists all along the commodity line, down to the chain or independent store from which you buy your goods, the price will be an honest price. It will be an accurate reflection of present day costs and conditions. And that is all that anyone can expect.

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman

(Special to The Herald)

Lansing—It may have come as a distinct shock to many citizens to have the chief executive of Michigan publicly condemn the office of Governor as "the crummiest job in the United States."

On the eve of entering a hospital for a serious operation, Kim Sigler said just that. His words were blunt and uncomplimentary. They covered many jobs and much territory. They were words of condemnation, frustration and disappointment. Sigler voiced them before the Detroit Economic Club, a group consisting of "big shots" in industry and business.

Why would a governor, after serving 11 months at the state capitol, openly denounce the office to which most observers believe he will be a candidate for re-election in 1948? And what happened to bring about this almost angry attitude of mind?

As we see it, words of protest are to be expected from a man who is the creation of protest. This colorful ex-grand jury prosecutor, unsuccessful once in a bid to be State Senator, rode to the office of Governor on a popular tidal wave.

It was the voters' protest against an assumed state of graft and corruption, wrong-doing and neglect of office, inefficiency and laxness — well, stretch your own imagination at what SOME people may have thought after reading headlines about bribe-taking at Lansing — that put Sigler in the governor's chair. A similar reform movement in Detroit put Homer Ferguson in the United States Senate.

Sigler was elected on an assumption he would clean-up Lansing. Hence he was committed in advance to reform of state government. Sigler likes action. He would rather fly his airplane, talk before luncheon and dinner groups of people, and espouse ideas for better government than stay at his office, saw wood, and follow through on countless details of administration. He is restless and impatient. He exhibits his displeasure by firing people. He removed Oscar Olander as commissioner of state police; he discharged William Burke as head of the state prison industries.

(For reasons of "gross neglect of duty" or "corrupt conduct in office", a governor has constitutional authority to remove "any public officer, elective or appointive." There is one if: "Except at such times as the legislature may be in session.")

Sigler urges a constitutional convention as the best way to reform state government. He puts much emphasis on our "antiquated tax structure," the result of a "horse and buggy" constitution. How this tax structure should be changed he has not indicated. There is certain to be organized resistance to any constitutional convention of for legal barrier to a graduated state income tax.

Sigler would centralize power in a governor's four-year term by giving him broad authority over state highway, public schools, law enforcement, motor vehicle licensing conservation and agriculture — to mention a few. What might happen if a "weak" governor were to be elected, one who was subservient to a party boss, is open to interesting speculation.

Pledged to clean-up state government, Sigler now implies that he needs new powers. Because he lacks authority over state offices and departments, Michigan's governor is merely a "glorified clerk" and the job is the "crummiest in the United States," so goes the Sigler logic.

And there we are in mid-December, 1947. The proposed changes merit careful appraisal and thorough debate. Only by getting both sides of a case can a jury weigh the evidence and come to a verdict.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Turrible, Turrible, Turrible!"

Ben Ryder is back! After twenty years in Capital City, Ben has retired and come to enjoy life in the family house on Maple Street.

First thing Ben does is write us complaining how Our Town has changed. "Why, there's no mud in the streets to sink up to your ankles in!" he says. "No pistol feuding in the town square! No moonshine liquor or Saturday night brawls! Nothing to do but settle for a temperate glass of beer in a law-abiding tavern!"

"Turrible, turrible, turrible," Ben says, "how a town can get run down in twenty years!" And then Ben takes his tongue out of his cheek and tells us how proud he is of the orderly, law-abiding atmosphere he finds here.

And from where I sit, you can point to that growing preference for a moderate, wholesome glass of beer as one reason folks in Our Town are so temperate, and neighborly and well-behaved.

YOUR HOME IS WORTH MORE

Protect It With Insurance

Would you be willing to sell your home today for the amount of insurance you carry on it? If your answer is no, then you are underinsured.

Today's values are far greater than they were one, two and three years ago when many policies were written. Insurance coverages, therefore, should be revised to give adequate protection.

Check over your policies and determine whether or not you are underinsured. We'll be happy to be of service to you in any way that we can. We write every kind of insurance for your protection.

You demand It

Industry depends on It

The Nation must have It

What is IT?

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation..."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multimillion dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't... UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

The Religious "Phase"

We've heard it said that religion can stand any ambunt of active opposition. Christianity thrives when the odds are against it.

One thing that will weaken it, though, is to become treated as a "phase". There is a phase of life in which we played with dolls; another phase when we built model planes; another when we dated.

But woe to that man or woman—especially, that Mother or Dad—who says that when it comes to following Christ, "I've been through all that. It was only a phase."

That man or that woman is already dead.

OLD MR. BOSTON SAYS:

When Captain Aldredge "rolled down to Rio," he shipped casks of whiskey in the hold of his three-master. For, the rocking of the seas brought forth a finer flavor.

When he retired, he continued to "rock a keg" beneath his rocker. In Rocking Chair I recapture the long-lost goodness and mellow taste of that whiskey!

I achieve Rocking Chair's smoothness only by controlled agitation in my special blending process. For milder whiskey, at a thrifty price, say "Rocking Chair"!

Be Practical . . . . . .

If you are wondering just what to buy Father for Christmas, may we suggest that you give him something for the car. He'll appreciate it, and, at the same time, its a practical gift, too.

Perhaps a new rear vision mirror, a new spot light, a set of chains, new tires, an automatic tire pump, to mention just a few of the things we are offering, would be sincerely appreciated.

Why don't you come in and let us show you the many things that would please Dad immensely — and make his driving days happier — if he'd find some of them under the tree on Christmas morning?

SANTA TO HAVE GIFTS FOR KIDDIES

St. Nick to Arrive Saturday Eve

"I'm coming by plane, tell all of the children to be on hand to meet me."

That was the brief telegram that Yale Kerby, chairman of the Rotary Club's Christmas party for local youngsters, received today from Santa Claus as he put the finishing touches on plans for a reception for St. Nick here next Saturday evening at 7:30.

"We will meet Santa at the airport with one of the fire trucks and bring him to the downtown section," Mr. Kerby said. "It would be nice if all of the children and their parents could be assembled at the main four corners promptly at 7:30. When St. Nick arrives he will have a gift for all of the youngsters and he plans to spend a couple of hours here, listening to the kiddies' wants, and chatting with them about their holiday plans."

Mr. Kerby observed that many local children will see St. Nick in person in their own home for the first time this year. Many of the youngsters who will be on hand Saturday evening were too young at previous parties to remember Santa and others will, for the first time, be able to tell him just what they want for Christmas.

The Santa Claus party is staged annually by the Rotary Club, and this year it was announced that they will be assisted by the Community Fund and other organizations.

Just what the gifts will be that Santa will bring has not been announced, but it was pointed out there will be sufficient for everybody, including boys and girls in Tecumseh's rural trading area.

Night School Begins Jan. 12

SUGGESTED LIST OF COURSES ANNOUNCED; PUBLIC ENROLLMENT URGED

Night school classes in the Adult Education Department of the Tecumseh Public Schools will open about January 12, it was announced today by Neville Hart, director.

"Last year," Mr. Hart said, "these classes were very popular and we had a fine enrollment. This year, we are hoping that the enrollment will be even larger." It is pointed out that no classes will be offered unless there are at least eight persons enrolled, and that a fee of $2 for the course is required.

Suggested courses to be offered, if there is sufficient interest include:

Recreation, classes in the gymnasium. Leadership training, household mechanics, typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping, today's world problems, a discussion class, literature appreciation, French, a course in English improvement, agriculture and perhaps others.

"We especially urge organized groups or clubs to consider the value of the Adult Education Classes this year. We would like to see such groups organize classes for the purpose of study in a particular field. We will cooperate in every way that we can to furnish instruction."

Persons interested in any of the suggested subjects may obtain further information by calling the office of W. L. Berkhof, superintendent at the high school.

Local Residents Welcome Village's New Snow Plow

Many local residents were happily surprised, Tuesday morning, to awaken to find that their sidewalks had been shoveled after the 3-inch fall of snow during the night. All that remained for them to do was to clean their porches and the walk leading from the house to the sidewalk.

The snow removal is a new service on the part of the village. Recently, Council approved the purchase of a small snow plow, small enough to be operated on sidewalks. It is planned to man the plow and remove snow early in the morning after each fall. Of course, in some sections, removal will be later than others.

The plow also is used in the business area to remove snow from the gutters that cars may be parked properly, when the new traffic meters begin the regulation of parking, after the first of the year.

Delay Decision On New Theatre

ZONING BOARD ASKS BELAND FOR PLAT OF SUBDIVISION ON THE WEST

The Tecumseh Township Zoning Board has delayed its decision on the petition of Clare Beland for permission to change from residential to commercial property a plot of land immediately east of the Ireland property on W. Chicago boulevard road, until such time as Mr. Beland submits a recorded plat of his subdivision in that area. The board's decision was handed down Tuesday evening.

A hearing was held on the petition last Friday evening in the council building at which time it was disclosed that Mr. Beland had agreed to sell the plot of land with about 160 foot frontage on the Boulevard road, running south about 600 feet, to Floyd Guy and associated, the land to be used for the building of a new 1,000 seat theatre.

Several persons at the hearing spoke in favor of changing the zoning code to permit the building and others objected to it on the grounds that it would increase traffic in the area, and throw added traffic onto Pottawatamie street from a parking lot to be located at the rear of the proposed new theatre.

The petitioner and Mr. Guy's spokesmen contended that a parking area is necessary to the theatre of the future, and it is to obtain parking facilities that purchase of the land was considered.

Xmas Shopping Brisk Locally

STORES TO REMAIN OPEN TO ACCOMMODATE EVENING PURCHASERS

Christmas shopping is now in full swing in Tecumseh and merchants are forecasting the heaviest buying season this year since long before the war, a survey of the business district disclosed today.

To accommodate evening shoppers, some of Tecumseh's stores are remaining open evenings until Christmas. Those not staying open tonight and tomorrow evening will open on Saturday evening, as usual, and then remain open next Monday and Tuesday evenings. A few stores said that they would stay open an hour or two later on Christmas eve.

Many practical minded shoppers this year are satisfying themselves and their families by buying so-called "heavy" merchandise — stoves, refrigerators, console radios, deep freeze chests and water softeners — these articles being offered in near-plenty for the first time since pre-war.

Jewelry also is coming in as a heavy favorite with shoppers and diamonds and watches seem to be popular as does Sterling silver and plated ware, also offered this year for the first time in six or seven years.

Toys — mechanical trains, steam engines, etc., and dolls that cry and say mamma are top favorites with shoppers in the juvenile departments and stores locally have a fine selection of this merchandise.

"Tecumseh this year is offering an excellent assortment of merchandise in almost all lines," one shopper said today after touring the business district. "Clothing for men, women and children is far more plentiful and the quality is very good and prices seem to be right."

And so, as Tecumseh nears the Christmas holiday, merchants and shoppers alike are forecasting brisk buying.

New Parking Meters In Effect After Jan. 1

Metered parking in Tecumseh will go into effect after the first of the year, Mayor John Truesdale said today.

The posts and meters in the downtown district now have been installed and are nearly ready for operation, but the village has decided not to put the new ordinance into effect until after the holidays. There are 85 meters on Chicago boulevard and Evans street.

Under the new law, one hour parking is permitted for five cents, and for each penny inserted 12 minutes of parking is permitted. The meters are of the one hour variety, that being the maximum that may be obtained by inserting a five cent coin.

NO LIGHTED STREET DECORATIONS?

Chamber of Commerce Tells Why

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and the Tecumseh Herald have received many inquiries in the past week from merchants and residents of this village and its trading area as to the reason why lighted Christmas decorations were not used in Tecumseh this year and WHY lighted trees blazed forth at the city hall and in the several parks in the City of Adrian.

That there may be no misunderstanding as to the reason, and so that everyone may know the facts, the Chamber of Commerce has issued this statement:

About 15 days ago, officials from the division office of Consumers Power Co., Jackson, visited Tecumseh and requested that lighted Christmas trees and other lighted street decorations NOT BE USED this year in an effort to conserve a fast dwindling supply of electricity. The Consumers' officials told the local Chamber that similar requests were being made in ALL communities served by the company.

Consumer officials also advised the local Chamber that NO LIGHTS would be used for decorative purposes IN THE CITY OF ADRIAN.

The secretary of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce then called the offices of the Chamber of Commerce in Adrian and was advised that lights would not be used in Adrian's scheme of decorations this season.

It appears that both communities received similar requests to conserve power from the Consumers Power Company.

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce is proud to report to its membership that it has kept its pledge to Consumers, believing that when such a request is made by a power company it must be made with sincerity.

Clinton Cagers Humble Indians

(By Pat Wilson)

The Tecumseh high school Indians opened their L. C. A. A. basketball competition by playing Clinton here, last Friday night. The Indians were defeated by a score of 24-20. The Clinton squad was a tall, rangy group, whose height gave the Redskins a distinct advantage over the smaller Indians.

During the first half, Clinton built up a half-time score of 16-8. However, in the third quarter the Indians began to click. While holding the Redskins to one point the Indians scored four. The Indians threatened through the entire fourth quarter, outscoring Clinton 8-7 in the last quarter. Tecumseh had trouble getting the rebound from the rangy Redskins and their closely knit zone defense hampered the Indian shooting.

Hop Anderson was again high point man for Tecumseh with nine points. This brings Hop's average for points per game to 10. Duaine Bellmore was high point for Clinton with eight points. Norb O'Hara and Dave VanWinkle scored the rest of Tecumseh's points with seven and four respectively.

Tecumseh's reserves won a hard fought game from the Clinton reserves by the score of 17-14. Don VanCamp was high point man for Tecumseh with 10 points. John Knight led the scoring for Clinton with nine.

Surviving are one sister Nellie of Tecumseh, one aunt, Mrs. Ida Allison, two uncles, Wilbur Wilson of Tecumseh and Emery Wilson of Mercides, Texas and several cousins.

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) at the Collins Funeral Home at 2:30 p.m. with Rev. Edward Escoline officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery, Tecumseh.

Consumers Co. Says 'Thanks' For No Lights

POWER COMPANY EXPRESSES APPRECIATION FOR NON-LIGHTED DECORATIONS

H. H. Koelbel, division manager of the Consumers Power Co., Jackson, in a letter to Earl L. Wickwire, president of The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, today expressed the, appreciation of his company for this community's cooperation in an effort to conserve electricity by using non-lighted Christmas decorations on the streets here this year.

More than two weeks ago Tecumseh received a request from Consumers to conserve power. The Chamber was asked not to use lighted Christmas trees on the street ason because of the acute power shortage.

To comply with Consumers' request, the Chamber scrapped its plans for lighted Yule trees and purchased the non-lighted wreaths and laurel rope for decorations in the downtown district.

Mr. Koelbel's letter to the Tecumseh Chamber follows:

I wish to express to your board of directors, your merchants, and the citizens of your community my personal appreciation for the cooperation extended to Consumers Power Company in connection with the voluntary conservation of electricity during the peak load period of the year.

Possibility of power service interruptions resulting from record pead-loads on the Consumers Power Company system will be greater than usual during the next few weeks, particularly between now and Christmas. Already this month, our peak load has reached a new high record.

To minimize this possibility, the company is asking industrial, commercial and residential customers to conserve electricity, particularly between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m., the hour during which December peaks usually are at their highest.

We hope no interruptions will occur, but the possibility is definite, and we are talking with as many as possible of our large industrial and commercial customers about it. We want them to know the situation so they may be prepared for a service interruption if it comes. We are appealing to all classes of customers to lower the five to six o'clock peak by reducing their use of electricity during that one-hour period.

With everything running, our capacity is great enough to carry any anticipated load. But our reserve is much too narrow for comfort. Sometimes we must take a generating unit out of service for repairs. If some huge peak demand should come while one of our big units is out of service, we might be in trouble.

Consumers Power Company has turned off its own electric signs throughout the state and discontinued lighting the show windows of its 65 retail stores during the evening peak hour, and is asking other commercial establishments to put similar power-conservation policies in effect.

The company's generating capacity would be higher, if a large turbo-generator ordered early in the War had been delivered. The unit was ready for delivery in 1943, but the War Production Board sent it elsewhere. Consumers now has several large turbo-generators on order, the first of which, after many production delays, is scheduled to go into service next March. When these additional units are in operation, capacity will be up more than 60 per cent.

Very truly yours,
H. H. Koelbel

WHAT'S RIGHT WITH U. S.

Millions of Americans seem to be apathetic toward charges that there is something basically wrong with our governmental and economic systems, and that socialism, communism and the rest of the assorted isms have more to offer.

Edward C. Sammons, president of the United States National Bank of Portland, Oregon, touched on that vividly when he said:

"Our country is the only nation in the history of the world that has continued with its intrinsic, basic type of government since its beginning 170 years ago . . . . In those 170 years our 6 per cent of the world's population produced 25 per cent of the world's goods and possesses 50 per cent of the world's wealth. In no other country is there such opportunity as here.

"Too many people are saying what is wrong with America. Instead, we should be saying what is right with the United States. Why should capital be on trial here? Why should not socialism or communism instead be on trial, when our people are asked to provide the money and the food and tools for other nations to carry on?

"In my time we have defended our country three times from outside invaders, but we are not defending it sufficiently from within. The working man here is able to live almost as well as a king compared with those in other countries. Other systems promise. Our people have!"

That is a fundamental truth. The American people should shout from the housetops their faith in a system that has given them unprecendented tangible benefits—and, infinitely more important, the intangibles that make for a life of freedom.

HOWDY FOLKS: Did you ever observe that the folks who are always bent on pleasure are usually the ones to go broke first?

The preacher started it. He wrote on the signboard "I pray for all." The lawyer followed with "I plead for all." Underneath the doctor put "I prescribe for all." But the plain citizen had the last word. He wrote: "I pay for all."

"Who was that pretty little thing I saw you with last night?"

"Will you promise not to tell my wife?"

"Surely, I promise."

"Well, it was my wife."

But in business you can not keep secrets. Satisfied customers insist on telling their friends how much better our lubrication service is. We are pretty sure you, too, will be happy once you try it.

In the Tecumseh post office a man was overhead to remark: "This Christmas card business is getting to be a racket." Yet that man called a minister to his office and gave him $10 to spend on some needy family.

Christmas comes to us with its message of love, joy, and peace. It comes with its message of faith and of hope. Herein lies the hope of the world.

In the distant future men will learn from musty old books of the Pharoahs, the Caesars, and the Napoleons. Hitler will be but a hazy memory. But from the lips of little children they will learn of Christ the new-born king.

"O come, let us adore Him, Christ the Lord."

To The Tecumseh Herald:

I, being a resident of Tecumseh village and a reader of The Tecumseh Herald also, wish to say—"While I was shopping around one day recently, I took notice of the decorations on each lamp post, and thought how very attractive and pretty. Also how saving on electricity where before there has been many light bulbs, burning each night for many nights and it certainly is a big saving this year when we are asked to go sparingly on electricity.

And when I heard the Xmas carols, I stopped and looked around to see where it all was coming from, and must say perhaps not many realize these carols not only are in keeping with the Christmas season, but would be surprised to know how very much they make the people on the streets going to and fro, think how near Christmas is and about the gifts they have yet to buy.

You could even hear these conversations, one woman saying "Gee, that makes me think I have to buy a gift for Mother," or one for little brother. You might also hear a man say, "My, I must get busy and find a Xmas present for my wife, before everything gets sorted over." And so many, many conversations might be heard at this time of year, and I want to say I really and heartily think that those loud speakers, singing those beautiful carols are certainly wonderful. Hope and pray it will place in the future Christmas seasons. It fills you full of that Christmas spirit and none of us can get too much of that in us, especially this day and age, this is one of the most thrilling and joyous times of the whole year both for the young and the old."

I thank you,
Mrs. Paul I. Nobles

STIFF JOINTS, AN ACHING BACK, TIRED MUSCLES, WEAK KIDNEYS, AND SLEEPLESS NIGHTS ARE DANGER SIGNALS. NEGLECT OF THESE NATURE'S WARNINGS CAN LEAD TO PERMANENT DEFORMITIES AND INVALIDISM.

Rheumatism, Arthritis, and Sciatica do not become crippling overnight, as you go through many stages and horrible agonies before invalidism and permanent deformities develop. It is for this reason that these early signals and stages should be heeded and something done before they reach this point.

NINETY EIGHTH YEAR NUMBER FIVE TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, DECEMBER 23, 1947 FIVE CENTS PER COPY

LOCAL OFFICE CANCELS OVER 111,000 CARDS AND LETTERS IN TEN DAYS

An increase of about 40 per cent in Christmas mailing over a year ago was reported today by Wiley McCann, acting postmaster. During the 10-day period, ending Monday night, Mr. McCann said that the local office had cancelled 111,575 letters and cards and he estimated that Tuesday's cancellation would near the 10,000-mark.

"It is by far the heaviest Christmas mailing in the history of the Tecumseh post office," the acting postmaster said. "The public, however, has done an excellent job of cooperating by early mailing, and I am happy to report that every bit of holiday mail will be out of the local office when we close up shop; Wednesday."

There is just one "if" in the business, McCann said. Mail terminals in Detroit and Toledo are clogged and he is somewhat of the opinion that a special truckload of mail may come to Tecumseh on Christmas morning. "If it does," he said, "we'll be on hand to deliver it, so that no one will be disappointed."

McCann said that he had no way of knowing how many pieces of parcel post were handled by the local office, but he declared that the amount would be at least 40 per cent greater than a year ago. One man and a car have been busy night and day, since the season began, doing nothing but delivering packages. Rural mail carriers in many instances have been making two trips daily to keep up with the rush.

"We had two exceptionally large days," the postmaster said. "The first one was on December 16 when we cancelled more than 15,000 letters and cards and again on Monday of this week when the cancellations numbered over 20,000."

All of the work, McCann said, has been handled by the regular post office staff with only two substitute carriers working full time.

Indians Bow To Bulldogs

TECUMSEH LOSES SECOND CAGE GAME OF SEASON TO MORENCI, SCORE 19-11

(By Pat Wilson)

The Tecumseh Indians, playing the second game of their L. C. A. A. competition schedule, were defeated by the Morenci Bulldogs, 19-11, last Friday night at Morenci. Morenci, showing improved playing form, played heads-up ball during the first half, and built up a halftime score of 10-4. Tecumseh had not scored one field goal, with all their points coming on free shots.

Tecumseh seemed to be off in every department, making 16 fouls and only two field goals and seven free shots the entire game. Hop Anderson, Tecumseh diminutive captain, was again high point man with seven points. VanValkenburg and Sproull were the head men on Morenci's scoring list with eight and six respectively. This makes two losses and no wins in L. C. A. A. competition for the Indians.

Tecumseh reserves fared better. The Indian reserves won by the score of 21-9. Lee Phibbs and Frank Rumler tied for high point men for the victors with five apiece. Bill Miller was high for the Morenci reserves with four points. Tecumseh's junior high team lost a hard fought game 26-20.

A New Year's watch night service has been announced for Wednesday evening, December 31, beginning at 8 p.m., and continuing to 8 p.m. There will be special speakers and special music for this service.

Dr. Slosson To Speak At Town Hall, Jan. 20

Dr. Preston William Slosson, author, radio commentator and professor of history at the University of Michigan, will be the speaker at the second meeting of Tecumseh's Town Hall, Tuesday evening, January 20, at 8 p.m. Dr. Slosson will discuss "Capitalism vs Communism."

Dr. Slosson received all of his degrees at Columbia University, including his master's and doctor's. He was an assistant professor of history at Columbia, and for a time was on the editorial staff of the New York Independent. He has been professor of history at Michigan since 1937.

3 Committees Named By C. C.

IMPORTANT GROUPS, LOOKING TOWARD FUTURE GROWTH, CHOSEN BY BOARD

Three important committees, all of them looking toward the growth of Tecumseh, were named by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, in meeting last Thursday evening. All of the members have been notified of their appointments by Ronald E. Harris, secretary, and meetings of the several groups will be called after the first of the year.

The committee to handle all retail problems in the village is headed by Leon Mix. Other members of his committee are Paul Wolf, Helen Oliver, Morris Palman, Ralph Hodges, W. D. Hile and Harold Green. Among the duties of this committee will be establishing opening and closing hours of stores, store holidays, special promotion features, etc.

The committee on municipal affairs, including annexation of new subdivision property, zoning, building and other problems incident to the rapid growth of Tecumseh, is headed by M. G. Partridge. Members of his committee are John R. Thompson, A. L. Van Winkle, F. C. Hanna, Leon P. Williamson, E. C. Hellman and Richard F. Roe.

A meeting of this committee has been called for Tuesday evening, January 6, at which time problems of annexation will be discussed. In all probability members of the Board of the Chamber and members of the village council will be in attendance at this session.

The third committee named is an industrial affairs group, which will give consideration to any new industry that desires to locate here and assist in any way that it may all existing industry. This committee will, in many ways, work with the municipal affairs committee. It is headed by LeRoy Titley, township supervisor. Members are Charles Mensing, a member of the village council, John R. Zeigler, S. Henry Smith and Ernest Green.

"We hope to have meetings of all of these committees soon after the first of the year that they may begin to function," Mr. Harris said. "Tecumseh faces many problems, and we want to start to solve them as quickly as we can."

TB Seal Sale In County Is Less Than $1,500

Lansing—"Although the returns from the 1947 tuberculosis Christmas Seals to date represent generous contributions on the part of many Michigan citizens, they are still far from enough to do the job that needs to be done," said Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in an interview today. Mr. Werle reported that returns in Lenawee county totaled $1,482.70 as of December 3.

"The Patient Services program of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and State Vocational Rehabilitation, whereby tuberculosis patients in sanatoriums are given an opportunity for job guidance, in-sanatorium activities, social service and vocational training is especially in need of funds for 1948," declared Werle. "This program is being offered in limited form at the present time," he explained, "and is in effect in 14 of the state's 18 tax-supported sanatoriums. Every tuberculosis patient in every sanatorium should have the facilities offered by this important adjustment and re-orientation program."

A Merry Christmas

POST OFFICE RECEIVES SANTA CLAUS MAIL

Letters and Cards Show Kiddies Still Love St. Nick

Tecumseh's "little folk," are very concerned over Santa's plans for the next few days, and they are also anxious to let him know that they love him, and a few of them inquire as to the health of Mrs. Santa Claus, according to the letters received at the Tecumseh postoffice, addressed to St. Nick at the North Pole.

"Dear Santa: I want some skis and some cowboy boots." It was signed with love.

Another youngster wrote her message on a postcard which read: "Please bring me a rubber doll and a suit case full of doll clothes. Also, a bottle with nipples for my dolly."

On a sheet of blue paper, which he apparently found in mother's desk, another child writes: "This is from me and my brother wants a doll, car, ball, truck, teddy bear. I want a truck, ball, car, book, race car. Bring these things if you can. Thank you."

Another note reads: "Dear Santa Claus. I am sorry for being bad ever since last Christmas. Will you please forgive me. I want a pair of ice skates, if you have eny, and I would like some story book dolls to go with my other story book dolls and a pair of skies if you have eny but I dont care as long as I get a pair of ice skates and if I don't get skates could I have a pair of skies and if I dont get skies could I have ice skates. Please may I."

"I am a little boy eight," writes another, "that lives in Tecumseh. Here is what I want for Christmas. In a Chicago mail order catalogue are a set of guns for $4.97. I want these guns very bad. Hope you are feeling fine and have a lot of toys for boys and girls this year. How is Mrs. Santa? Wishing you a Merry Christmas."

Another 10-year old writes as follows: "Dear Santa Claus: How are you? I am fine. For Christmas I want a steel doll walker and I want a doll house sewing machine and ironing machine for my play house. I would like a junior miss sewing machine and a little traveler's sewing kit for my playhouse doll. I would like a rock-r-swing and I would like an adding machine, and Dear Santa, please, bring me a cash register because last year you didn't. And Santa, bring me some new ice skates, some white ones."

Printed on a sheet of letter paper is this note: "Dear Santa; My name is . . . and I live at . . . I want please a cowboy suit and roller skates. Thank you."

It would appear, local postal employees say, that Tecumseh boys and girls are not asking for too many "big" toys, but that they all have definite ideas as to what they want.

"Santa is going to be busy right up to Christmas eve if he and his helpers read all of the mail from all of the boys and girls," one clerk said. "And here's hoping that not a single one of his admirers is disappointed."

Santa Greets Local Kiddies

GIFTS OF CANDY AND POP-CORN BROUGHT FROM N. POLE ON VISIT, SATURDAY

Youngsters, nearly 1,000 of them, were on hand here Saturday evening to greet Santa Claus as he arrived from the North Pole with gifts for all of his young well-wishers.

Santa's arrival was on schedule, at 7:30, and as loud speakers, over which Christmas carols had been playing, silenced for a moment atop the Masonic Temple, there was a hush of youngsters assembled in the area. Then a fire siren sounded and a voice over the public address system announced that St. Nick had arrived at the airport. In a few moments a fire truck, bearing the red-coated, white-whiskered Saint hailed into view amid a thunderous welcome from the assembly.

"There was a tense moment," one of St. Nick's helpers said, "as Santa viewed the crowd and the dwindling supply of presents. For a moment we thought we'd have to return to the plane to get additional gifts but luckily the supply aboard the truck was sufficient."

After Santa had presented all of the kiddies with a gift he stepped down from the truck and spent considerable time talking to the children and listening to their wants for Christmas. Everything was requested, from electric trains to didy-dolls.

"Swell bunch of youngsters," Santa confided to Ronald Harris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Yale Kerby, chairman of the Rotary club committee in charge of the party. "It's great fun," Mr. Claus said, "to visit Tecumseh, and I intend to keep on coming, year after year. I'm sorry if some children were unable to come to the party but tell them, anyway, that I'll be seeing them next Thursday."

10 Tons Turkeys To T.P.C. Folks

500 BASKETS OF FRUIT ALSO SAY MERRY CHRISTMAS TO PLANT EMPLOYEES

Employees of the Tecumseh Products Company will receive about 10 tons of dressed turkeys and some 500 cellophane wrapped baskets of fruit at noon tomorrow, the company's gift to them at Christmas time.

At the plant it was said that some 1,700 turkeys would be distributed to every employee with dependents. Those without dependents receive the baskets of fruit.

All work at the plant has been planned on a five-hour shift basis for Wednesday to permit employees to be at home with their families on Christmas eve. A similar schedule is being worked out for New Year's eve, it was said.

Onsted Builds Water System

NEW PUMPING STATION IS ERECTED AT COST OF $27,000; MAINS INSTALLED

The village of Onsted has erected a concrete block pumping station with a 57,700 gallon water tank at a cost of approximately $27,000 for the purpose of supplying the local residents with water.

Heretofore the some 414 villagers were supplied with water from two wells in the basement of the Alfred Lapham home. Mr. Lapham, a former water system owner, was named water system superintendent.

The pumping station is located at the east end of Third Street and houses an electric pump, which takes the water from a well, and another pump, which maintains pressure in the mains. A new high pressure pump for use when fighting fire is also being installed. The water used by Onsted residents is softened by a special filtering process before being pumped into the mains.

Seven fire hydrants and 2,813 feet of six-inch water mains are also being installed. Engineers said the system would provide all the water needed even though the present population doubled.

Christmas Party Enjoyed By Staff At Products

The annual party of the supervisory staff of Tecumseh Products Company, was held at the high school gymnasium, Saturday evening with some 250 persons in attendance.

Following dinner at 6:30, a number of gifts were distributed and each lady present received a pen and pencil set as a favor. Ray W. Herrick, president of the company, was presented with gifts from the United Products Workers Union Board and the supervisory staff.

The Products' new orchestra under the direction of William Danson, made its initial appearance and furnished music during the dinner hour.

C. of C. to O.K. Solicitations

MEMBERS ASKED TO DEMAND LETTERS OF APPROVAL IN FUTURE INSTANCES

All money-raising schemes and solicitations in Tecumseh will, in the future, come under the control of the Chamber of Commerce and a special secret committee has been named to take charge of details, it was announced today by Ronald Harris, secretary.

"To make the Chamber program function, it requires 100 per cent cooperation on the part of members of the Chamber," Mr. Harris said, "and we urge sincerely that members will follow these few brief rules:

"In the future, when members of the Chamber are contacted for money contributions they should ask the solicitor for his letter of approval from the Chamber. If he has such a letter, then the member will know that the project has Chamber approval. If he cannot show such a letter, then the member will know that no approval has been granted or, in some instances, requested."

The Chamber of Commerce urges that no contributions be made where approval of the Chamber has not first been received.

"Similar committees are set up by all Chambers of Commerce and they save members thousands of dollars annually," Harris said. "There are many projects to which Tecumseh is asked to contribute that rightfully belong to other communities and to which Tecumseh business men should not be asked to donate. The secret committee will receive all applications for rights to solicit and will pass them on their merit. No members of this committee knows who the other members are, and each member acts independently on his own judgment. If a majority of the committee feels that the project is not worthy, then approval, of course, is denied."

In the future, Harris said, all organizations desiring to solicit funds in Tecumseh should first submit their programs to the Chamber for its approval. Otherwise, he said, members are instructed not to give to unapproved projects.

Christmas Service To Feature Seasonal Music

The observance of Christmas at St. Peter's Episcopal church will include services of the holy communion and special music by the choir. Under the direction of Mrs. D. M. Wilcox, accompanied by T. J. Tounneberger at the organ, the choir will present a brief service of Christmas Carols beginning at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, Christmas Eve. During the Christmas Eve Communion service beginning at 11 p.m. the choir will include in its musical program three anthems: "O Night of Holy Memory"; "The Birthday of a King"; and "The New Born King." The Christmas sermon will be given by the Rev. Allan Ramsay, rector. On Christmas day at 10 a.m. there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion.

The Children's Christmas Service will be at 11:15 a.m. on December 28 when they will present their pageant and recite Christmas verses for parents and friends. The singing of familiar Christmas hymns and carols will be a part of this family service. The annual Sunday School party and dinner will take place on Monday, December 29, opening at 4 p.m. for the nursery and primary departments. Dinner for the entire school will be served at 5:45 followed by a delayed visit from Santa. The intermediate and senior pupils will hold their party in the evening following the dinner and program.

Late Shoppers Speed Buying

STORES TO REMAIN OPEN THIS EVENING, ALL DAY TOMORROW TO ACCOMMODATE

Last minute Christmas shopping—and many of the shoppers were men—was brisk in Tecumseh yesterday, last evening and today as the final few hours before the Great Holiday started to tick away.

Stores in Tecumseh will remain open this evening to accommodate the late shoppers and they will be open all day tomorrow. Many of the stores planned to close their doors at 6 o'clock Christmas eve, but a few of them said that they would stay open an extra two or three hours to take care of the shopping some folk always forget.

Merchants reported that shopping locally this year is ahead of that of a year ago, and that the sale of upper-bracket merchandise was large. Refrigerators, washing machines, stoves, console radios and even televison sets are on many gift lists here this year.

Scores of families have turned to the more practical giving it was said, and clothing ranks at the head of most shopping lists. Robes, slippers, suits, dresses, coats and sweaters are reported as favorites.

Jewelry, too, came in for a big "play" this year, it being the first year since the war that Sterling silver was available, as was plated ware. Diamonds and watches, too, were high favorites.

For the most part, it seems, Tecumseh is ready for Christmas which in a majority of homes will serve as a day for the reunion of families. Hundreds of family gatherings are scheduled for Thursday when the children and their families return to spend the holiday with their parents.

Well over 100 families will spend Christmas in their own new homes here this year for the first time, it being noted that at least that number of new houses, built since Christmas, 1946, now are occupied.

Employment In Lenawee Drops

PAYROLLS DECLINE IN NOVEMBER FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE MONTH, MSES SAYS

Industrial employment in Lenawee county's major manufacturing plants declined during November, the second successive month to drop total employment in these establishments, to the year's low figure of 7,833. This was a drop of 369 during the 30-day period after a loss of 506 during the previous month.

"Previous forecasts of employment expansion have been modified because of reduced shipping schedules, contract cutbacks and scheduled discontinuance of operations at one Adrian plant," Clifford J. Rice, manager of the Michigan State Employment Service, declared in announcing the reduced payrolls throughout the county. "A further decrease in total employment is expected during the next 60 days, and present employment will probably not be exceeded at least until March of 1948."

"The industrial expansion which had been under way in Lenawee county since the first of the year had attracted a large number of job-seekers into the area. Some of these workers, now separated from their jobs, are returning to southern states after little or no success in obtaining other local employment," Mr. Rice's statement continues. "Despite the sizeable number of persons leaving the area, the male supply is estimated at 800, with an approximately equal number of women available for employment at this time."

During the month ending November 15, Rice said that his office placed 186 persons in jobs. He pointed out that employers who list their job openings with his office assist work applicants in obtaining jobs most suitable to their skill and qualifications. In addition, it permits the office to select the most qualified job applicants.

WORLD MUST HAVE OIL

World demand for oil and oil products is now at an all-time peak. And, if a study prepared by economists of one of our leading oil companies proves correct, demand will continue to increase at a rapid rate.

In 1938, world oil consumption, excluding the Soviet Union and the United States, was 1,900,000 barrels a day. This year it is 2,700,000. By 1950, the study forecasts, it will reach 3,200,000 barrels daily, and by 1960 it will touch 4,500,000—an increase of 67 per cent over the present.

The United States alone—figures are not available on the Soviet Union—is now consuming about 5,400,000 barrels each day. By 1960, it is expected that demand will rise to 6,800,000—an increase of 28 per cent.

It is manifestly impossible to supply world demand for oil resources within this country. The major part of the European demand must be supplied from other regions. That is why American capital and American know-how are now developing foreign sources of oil as rapidly as conditions permit. The great development in Saudi-Arabia, which is being undertaken by a group of American companies, is the best known example. The cost will be enormous. Problem after problem of weather, terrain, supplies, etc., must be met and solved. But the world must have oil.

Non-Partisan News Letter

(Special to The Herald)

Lansing—"Good times" are due to continue in 1948. A 5 to 8 per cent increase in retail sales is forecast. Rural communities should prosper. Farm prices are likely to stay high, and farmers' buying power will remain strong.

Such is the consensus of government economists and private experts who make a practice of looking into the crystal ball.

As a curb against a further rise in the cost of living, which already is 63.8 per cent higher than it was in 1939, the President's Council of Economic Advisers and the Federal Reserve Board are proposing that Uncle Sam should tighten bank credits. Inflation grows when there are too many dollars, too few goods.

Inability of business and industry to get easy money at banks would apply a brake on plant expansion, building of homes would slacken, and some unemployment would develop.

Hence you may see some dips in the Full Employment Boom. Government planners, however, haven't always been right in their planning. Remember those dire predictions about hard times and unemployment after VJ-Day? Well, we've had inflation ever since!

An encouraging sign in 1948 is the prospect of labor peace and more production. The Taft-Hartley act of Congress and the Bonine-Tripp labor mediation act of the Michigan legislature are being given credit for a 75 per cent reduction in strikes in the Detroit area alone.

The state act provides that a majority of employees of any plant, not just the officers of the union, must authorize a strike. The state authorizes a special election after efforts at mediation have failed. Mediation begins when the union files a notice of intent to strike.

More inflation in 1948 is likely to bring increased pressure on the Michigan legislature for new taxes. How to finance public services of government will dominate the special session which is to start in mid-March, 1948, at Lansing. County governments spent 25 per cent more money in 1946 than they did in 1945. Leroy C. Smith, legislative chairman of the Michigan County Road association, warns that Michigan's highway system faces a complete breakdown unless counties get more money. He would raise more funds by adding two cents to the gasoline tax.

"The court may not direct or control legislative action", reminded the State Supreme court as it knocked out the legislature's to ignore the sales tax diversion state educational needs. The ruling would divert $6,836,000 more to public schools from the sales tax fund, 76 per cent of which is returned to home governments including the schools.

If state legislators would decide to ignore the sales tax constitutional mandate, as they have done the constitutional provision for reappointment, apparently they could do so. However, the case is different. Rural areas fear legislative domination by urban areas. Hence reappointment has been ignored by rural legislators who now control state legislation.

The same rural areas want more money for home governments including the schools. It is not likely that legislators would dare to ignore the sales tax division amendment for this reason.

Governor Kim Sigler, who amazed capital observers by his new techniques of getting action from the state legislature, is due to recuperate from his recent operation before swinging into the 1948 campaign.

Public Urged To Save Fuel

COOPERATION IS NEEDED IF DEMANDS ARE TO BE MET, INDUSTRY WARNS

Detroit—The help of the public in saving fuel is necessary if the oil industry's all-out efforts to meet the unprecedented demands for petroleum products are to be successful this winter, Kenneth Cunningham, Sun Oil Company, warned today.

"Demand for oil products has increased so rapidly that it now is much higher than even during the peak wartime year when military needs were tremendous," said Cunningham, who is chairman of the Michigan Oil Industry Public Relations Committee.

"Competing companies within the oil industry are concentrating all their efforts on supplying Michigan with every possible gallon of petroleum products regardless of extra transportation costs. In fact new records of production, refining, and transportation are being set. Our industry also is making capital investments of more than four billion dollars in the two-year period of 1947-48 to provide new and expanded facilities throughout the country. Avoidance of waste of gasoline used in automobiles and of fuel oil for home heating, however, will aid materially in helping the industry meet this record demand during the next few months."

Citing statistics from a new industry survey, "Curren Facts of Petroleum Supply and Demand," Cunningham warned the supply will be tight in certain localities if public consumption continues at the present rate. The record demand, he said, is caused by all-time peak use of 37,000,000 motor vehicles, by continuing large military requirements, by farm prosperity that has doubled consumption of gasoline on farms, by increased used of diesel engines, by rapid increase in installation of home and commercial oil burners and by increased use of liquified petroleum gas.

"The real bottleneck in Michigan and other Middle West areas is in transportation, and this has been increased by the fact that Mid West crude oil production has declined since 1941, while demand has increased rapidly," Cunningham said. "Expansion of pipe line facilities and other means of transportation has been delayed by inability to obtain sufficient materials. This necessitates movement of both crude oil and products from such distant points as West Texas, New Mexico, and Wyoming."

Cunningham said the public can help the industry stretch available supplies by (1) driving their automobiles in a more conservative manner; (2) keeping their fuel oil tanks filled so as to utilize all available storage facilities, and (3) maintaining moderate temperatures in their homes to spread supplies so that no one suffers from lack of fuel oil.

To help obtain the public's cooperation in conserving fuel, Cunningham said the industry was distributing a new booklet, "How To Save Money On Oil Heating," which contains more than 50 suggestions on how a home owner can save up to 60 per cent on fuel and fuel bills during the coming winter. Cunningham also said he has asked all Michigan oil men to help tell the public the facts about the supply situation and to seek public cooperation in conserving fuel.

"I feel sure that if the public is fully aware of the facts in the situation, we can count on their full cooperation," said Cunningham.

Miss Bettie McCoy • Weds William M. Powell

Saturday afternoon in the Tecumseh Methodist church, Miss Bettie McCoy, daughter of Robert J. McCoy, and William M. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M Powell, spoke their nuptial vows before an altar beautifully decorated with white poinsettias and large hampers of white chrysanthemums and evergreen. The Rev. A. C. Brazee, assisted by the Rev. Norman MacNaughton, performed the single ring ceremony at 3 o'clock.

Preceding the ceremony, Fred Gault of Adrian played a program of organ music and accompanied Mrs. Gordon Miller when she sang "Ave Maria'" and "I Love You Truly".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractively gowned in white satin, fashioned with a jeweled sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and short train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of satin rose beads and lilies of the valley. She carried a colonial arm bouquet of gardenias.

Following the ceremony a reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors. The serving table was centered with white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Raynor VanValkenburg and Mrs. Edsel Thayer presided at the urns and Mrs. Donald Roth cut the wedding cake. Music during the reception was provided for by William Damon, violinist, and Mrs. Dersham of Adrian at the piano. Miss Josephine Powell and Mrs. Willam Osburn attended the guest book.

KROGER EMPLOYEES GET CHRISTMAS GIFTS

"Cash Christmas gifts totaling $13,500 are being distributed this week to Kroger company employees in the Toledo area, Mr. Fuller, Kroger branch manager announced.

The Toledo area employees are among 20,000 store, warehouse, office, and manufacturing plant personnel located in 18 midwestern and southern states who will participate in the firm's Christmas gift plan, announced recently by Joseph B. Hall, Kroger president.

The checks, enclosed in a colorful illustrated Christmas message from Mr. Hall, will go to every empoylees with six months or more service with the exception of those employees who participate in a company incentive plan. Checks for the incentive plan will be distributed early in 1948," Mr Fuller said.

CARE NEEDED IN 1948 LIVESTOCK BUSINESS

Less favorable ratios of feed costs to livestock prices is the prospect faced by Michigan livestock raisers in 1948, according to Michigan State college animal husbandry specialists and farm economists.

G. A. Brannaman, of the college animal husbandry department, and Don Stark, MSC agricultural economist, point out that great care will be needed in purchasing, feeding and marketing if a profit is to be made in the livestock enterprise.

To help fill out short grain supplies, the specialists suggest increased use of pasture and roughage and use of high protein feeds to balance rations properly.

Prices for livestock, they believe, will remain strong as long as the consumer's income stays high with a resulting large demand for meat.

The total supply of meat in 1948 is expected to run at least seven percent below 1947. This will mean an average of about 146 pounds per person, compared with 157 pounds in 1947 and 127 pounds before the war.

ORDER SEEDS NOW, FARMERS ADVISED

With uneven supplies of grain and grass seeds in Michigan, farmers are advised to determine their needs and place their orders as soon as possible.

Supplies of Michigan-grown alfalfa and sweet clover seed are about normal, but due to spotty production, local shortages may develop.

Michigan State college specialists point out that red clover seed production in Michigan in 1947 was only half as large as in 1946 and down about 30 percent over the entire nation.

Interruptions In Power Likely

CONSUMERS MANAGER URGED ELECTRICAL CONSERVATION DURING HOLIDAY

Possibility of power service interruptions resulting from record peak-loads on the Consumers Power Company system will be greater than usual during the next few weeks, according to Division Manager H. H. Koelbel.

To minimize this possibility, he said, the company is asking industrial, commercial and residential customers to conserve electricity, particularly between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m., the hour during which December peaks usually are at their highest.

"We hope no interruptions will occur," Mr. Koelbel said, "but the possibility is definite, and we are talking with as many as possible of our large industrial and commercial customers about it. We want them to know the situation so they may be prepared for a service interruption if it comes. And we are appealing to all classes of customers to lower the five to six o'clock peak by reducing their use of electricity during that one-hour period.

The greatest danger of major service interruptions, Mr. Koelbel explained, lies in the possibility that the peak demand for electric power may rise above the capacity of the Consumers system. Peak loads have been shooting upward since the war, while postwar material shortages, strikes and scarcity of skilled manpower have slowed expansion of generating facilities not only by Consumers but by electric systems throughout the country.

"With everything running," Mr. Koelbel said, "our capacity is great enough to carry any anticipated load. But our reserve is much too narrow for comfort. Sometimes we must take a generating unit out of service for repairs. If some huge peak demand should come while one of our big units is out of service, we might be in trouble."

Consumers Power Company, according to Mr. Koelbel, has turned off its own electric signs throughout the state and discontinued lighting the show windows of its 65 retail stores during the evening peak hours. It has reduced its use of electricity in other ways also, and is asking other commercial establishments to put similar power-conservation policies in effect.

If it becomes necessary for the company to reduce load at any time, Mr. Koelbel said, the company's first concern will be to safeguard service to essential public facilities, such as water departments, and to homes.

The company's generating capacity would be higher, according to Mr. Koelbel, if a large turbo-generator ordered early in the War had been delivered. The unit was ready for delivery in 1943, but the War Production Board sent it elsewhere. Consumers now has several large turbo-generators on order, the first of which, after many production delays, is scheduled to go into service next March. When these additional units are in operation, capacity will be up more than 60 per cent.

Industry Looks To Small Towns

DECENTRALIZATION OF BIG PLANTS MAY BE ANSWER TO LABOR'S PROBLEMS

By Gene Alleman
(Special To The Herald)

Lansing—In nearly every Michigan small town we have visited in the past year or so, one common trend has been evident. It is this:

Country living is enjoying a revival. Industry is decentralizing. It is opening branches in small towns. It is even migrating from the big city. There is more building activity outside the city limits of many towns than there is inside. These signs are significant, if we are to try to fit them into a common jig-saw mosaic pattern.

Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Company, stated in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly that the company is going to decentralize. Why? Because big business, unless broken down into well defined segments, becomes top-heavy and inefficient. Because "many of the social problems of our times are made worse—and in part have been created—by concentrating vast numbers of people in crowded city areas such as Detroit."

John Gunther, in his 979-page report, "Inside U. S. A.", refers to Detroit as the most explosive labor center in the nation; to the U.A.W., the automobile workers' union, as the "most volcanic union in the country."

Here is a union, centered in Detroit, whose membership has grown from 15,000 to 1,250,000 in only ten years. And here is also a union whose leadership demanded, only a few years ago, the right to inspect the employer's books in order to find out how much of the profits could be paid to the workers in higher wages.

This confusion over profits is one of the by-products of industrial centralization where the boss and the worker never meet except belligerently around a strike table.

"There seems to be an impression around," said young Ford in the magazine interview, that for some obscure reason or other, Ford does not have to make a profit. That isn't so. Unless we can obtain a return that enables us to pay reasonable dividends, renew our plant, invest for the future, and meet competition on equal terms, Ford Motor Company will not have any future."

According to one survey, the average investment per job in America is $6,000. Who put up the money? Someone who was willing to risk dollars in the hope of earning a profit.

What happens when technology is ignored, when machinery becomes obsolete and inefficient? The British coal mining industry today is a prime example. British miners produced 259 tons per year per man in 1946; 695,000 of them produced 189 million tons. Now look at the United States where competitive free enterprise still exists: 416,000 miners, by the aid of modern machinery, produced 590 million tons, an average output per man of 1419 tons, six times that of the British miner.

Gunther reports also that everywhere in the United States the automobile and its counter-part, the modern concrete highway, is emptying cities of their population. The trend is toward towns where security is rooted in home ownership, food gardens, and friendly living, and where management and labor meet as neighbors.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey recently said: "The heart of this nation is the rural small town.

If we were called upon to make a report on the State of the Nation today, we would merely say: America's heart is sound; small towns are prospering.

He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. Nineteen centuries have come and gone. Today He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the column of progress. Said agreement likewise to contain a provision for the protection and maintenance of said parking meters as may be necessary to maintain the same in good operating condition and to pay for such parts, protection and maintenance, exclusively from the receipts, funds and revenues received from the operations of said parking meters.

SECTION 6

Parking meters shall be placed upon the curb immediately adjacent to the individual parking place. Notice to the public shall be given by appropriate signs upon the parking meter stands, or in the immediate vicinity, setting forth the length of time for which parking is permitted and the conditions thereof. Whenever a vehicle shall be parked in an individual parking space where a parking meter has been installed, the person parking such vehicle shall, immediately thereafter, deposit one cent coins, or a five cent coin of United States money in said parking meter, if such meter displays the signal that legal parking is permitted only upon such deposit.

Four cents	48 minutes
Five cents or one nickel	60 minutes

VIOLATIONS

It shall be unlawful for a vehicle to be parked in an individual parking space when the time signal on the parking meter shows no parking permitted, unless a deposit of a proper coin is made as herein provided, and such shall be deemed prima facie evidence of the unlawful parking of such motor vehicle by its operator and/or owner.

It shall be unlawful and a violation of the provisions of this Ordinance for any person to cause, allow, permit, or suffer any vehicle registered in the name of, or operated by, such person to be parked overtime or beyond the period of legal parking time established for any parking meter zone.

It shall be unlawful and a violation of the provisions of this Ordinance for any person to deface, injure, tamper with, open or willfully break, destroy, or impair the usefulness of any parking meter installed under the provisions of the Ordinance.

It shall be unlawful and a violation of the provisions of this Ordinance to deposit or cause to be deposited in any parking meter, any slug, device or metallic substance, or any other substitute, for a 5c or 1c coin of the United States.

SECTION 8

It shall be the duty of the police officers of the Village of Tecumseh, witnessing a violataion hereunder, acting in accordance with instructions issued by the Village Council, to report:

(a) The number of each parking meter which indicates that the vehicle occupying the parking space adjacent to such parking meter is or has been parking in violation of any of the provisions of this Ordinance.

(b) The State License number of such vehicle.

(c) The time during which such vehicle is parking in violation of any of the provisions of the Ordinance.

(d) Any other facts, a knowledge of which is necessary to a thorough understanding of the circumstances attending such violation.

Each such police officer shall also attach to such vehicle a notice to the owner or operator thereof that such vehicle has been parked in violation of a provision of this Ordinance and instructing such owner or operator to report to the Office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Tecumseh in regard to such violation. Each such owner or operator may, within 48 hours of the time when such notice was attached to such vehicle, pay to the Village Clerk as a penalty for and in full satisfaction of such violation, the sum of One Dollar. The failure of such owner or operator to make such payment within said 48 hours shall render such owner or operator subject to the penalties hereinafter provided for violations of the provision of the Ordinance.

Any person who shall violate any provision of the Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before a court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed $100.00 or by imprisonment in the Lenawee County Jail for not to exceed 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court. Provided, however, that nothing herein shall be interpreted to prevent prosecution under the laws of the State of Michigan of any person who shall wilfully tamper with, and remove or attempt to remove or to steal coins from any parking meter.

This Ordinance shall be construed as a supplement to the general traffic ordinance and all other ordinances of the Village of Tecumseh, Michigan, regulating the traffic, parking, and use of streets, which shall be in force and effect in the Parking Meter Zone, except insofar as modified by the provisions hereinbefore set forth. Any authority heretofore or hereafter exercised by the Village of Tecumseh, Michigan, under any ordinance, rule or regulation restricting or prohibiting parking, independent of time limits, shall in no manner be affected by this Ordinance or any of the provisions thereof. The purpose of this Ordinance is to assist in the regulation of overtime parking by the use of parking meters, and it shall be so construed.

Nothing in this Ordinance shall be construed as prohibiting the Village of Tecumseh, Michigan, from providing within the Parking Meter Zone for free parking space for loading and unloading for taxicab stands, and for other matters of a similar nature.

All sections of this Ordinance shall be deemed to be separate and independent and the invalidity of any section or provision hereof shall not affect the remaining sections.

"TRAFFIC AND PARKING METER ZONES"

An ordinance relating to traffic and regulating the use of public streets and highways within certain established parking meter zones of the Village of Tecumseh, providing for the designation of individual parking spaces for the use of such parking spaces and for the use of parking meters in conjunction therewith.

THE VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH ORDAINS:

SECTION 1
DEFINITIONS

Parking shall mean the standing of a vehicle upon any street, whether occupied or not, otherwise than temporarily for the purpose of, and while actually engaged in loading or unloading passenger, or when obeying traffic signals or regulations.

SECTION 2
PARKING METER ZONES

Chicago Boulevard on both sides between Ottawa Street and Pearl Street.

INDIVIDUAL PARKING SPACES

The Village Council is hereby authorized and shall designate and cause to be marked off, such individual parking spaces" as it deems proper along the streets in the Parking Meter Zones for the parking of vehicles. At each space where individual parking spaces are marked off, each vehicle shall be parked entirely within an individual space.

SECTION 4
HOURS OF PARKING

The Village Council is hereby authorized to and shall place, install, and maintain parking meters upon the curb side of the individual parking spaces designated and marked off in the parking meter zone where parking is restricted. The hours during the day and night when the parking meter or meters must be used shall be from 9 o'clock a.m. to 6 o'clock p.m. on Mondays through Fridays, 9 o'clock a.m. to 9 o'clock p.m. Saturdays.

The time limitation for legal parking in such zones shall be one hour in the portions of the street's set forth in Section 2, except if less legal parking is indicated on The meter or by appropriate signs. Such limitations as indicated thereon shall prevail.

PARKING METERS

The President and Village Clerk are hereby directed to provide for the purchase, leasing, acquiring and installation of parking meters provided for in this Ordinance and hereby vested with authority to enter into a contract for a trial period or for the ultimate purtion thereof, the payment for such chase of said meters and installameters and/or installation to be provided for solely from the receipts obtained from said parking meters, without in any manner obligating the Village of Tecumseh to pay for the same from any other source. Said agreement likewise to contain a provision for the protection and maintenance of said parking meters as may be necessary to maintain the same in good operating condition and to pay for such parts, protection and maintenance, exclusively from the receipts, funds and revenues received from the operations of said parking meters.

SECTION 6
PARKING FEE AND LIMITATIONS

Parking meters shall be placed upon the curb immediately adjacent to the individual parking place. Notice to the public shall be given by appropriate signs upon the parking meter stands, or in the immediate vicinity, setting forth the length of time for which parking is permitted and the conditions thereof. Each parking meter shall be placed, or set in such manner, as to show or display by a signal that the parking space adjacent to such meter is or is not legally in use. Whenever a vehicle shall be parked in an individual parking space where a parking meter has been installed, the person parking such vehicle shall, immediately thereafter, deposit one cent coins, or a five cent coin of United States money in said parking meter, if such meter displays the signal that legal parking is permitted only upon such deposit.

Three cents	36 minutes
Four cents	48 minutes
Five cents or one nickel	60 minutes

Coins shall not be deposited in excess of five cents or one nickel at any one time.

VIOLATIONS

It shall be unlawful for a vehicle to be parked in an individual parking space when the time signal on the parking meter shows no parking permitted, unless a deposit of a proper coin is made as herein provided, and such shall be deemed prima facie evidence of the unlawful parking of such motor vehicle by its operator and/or owner.

It shall be unlawful and a violation of the provisions of this Ordinance for any person to cause, allow, permit, or suffer any vehicle registered in the name of, or operated by, such person to be parked overtime or beyond the period of legal parking time established for any parking meter zone.

It shall be unlawful and a violation of the provisions of this Ordinance for any person to deface, injure, tamper with, open or willfully break, destroy, or impair the usefulness of any parking meter installed under the provisions of the Ordinance.

It shall be unlawful and a violation of the provisions of this Ordinance to deposit or cause to be deposited in any parking meter, any slug, device or metallic substance, or any other substitute, for a 5c or 1c coin of the United States.

SECTION 8

It shall be the duty of the police officers of the Village of Tecumseh, witnessing a violataion hereunder, acting in accordance with instructions issued by the Village Council, to report:

(b) The State License number of such vehicle.

(c) The time during which such vehicle is parking in violation of any of the provisions of the Ordinance.

(d) Any other facts, a knowledge of which is necessary to a thorough understanding of the circumstances attending such violation.

Each such police officer shall also attach to such vehicle a notice to the owner or operator thereof that such vehicle has been parked in violation of a provision of this Ordinance and instructing such owner or operator to report to the Office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Tecumseh in regard to such violation. Each such owner or operator may, within 48 hours of the time when such notice was attached to such vehicle, pay to the Village Clerk as a penalty for and in full satisfaction of such violation, the sum of One Dollar. The failure of such owner or operator to make such payment within said 48 hours shall render such owner or operator subject to the penalties hereinafter provided for violations of the provision of the Ordinance.

Any person who shall violate any provision of the Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before a court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed $100.00 or by imprisonment in the Lenawee County Jail for not to exceed 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court. Provided, however, that nothing herein shall be interpreted to prevent prosecution under the laws of the State of Michigan of any person who shall wilfully tamper with, and remove or attempt to remove or to steal coins from any parking meter.

This Ordinance shall be construed as a supplement to the general traffic ordinance and all other ordinances of the Village of Tecumseh, Michigan, regulating the traffic, parking, and use of streets, which shall be in force and effect in the Parking Meter Zone, except insofar as modified by the provisions hereinbefore set forth. Any authority heretofore or hereafter exercised by the Village of Tecumseh, Michigan, under any ordinance, rule or regulation restricting or prohibiting parking, independent of time limits, shall in no manner be affected by this Ordinance or any of the provisions thereof. The purpose of this Ordinance is to assist in the regulation of overtime parking by the use of parking meters, and it shall be so construed.

Nothing in this Ordinance shall be construed as prohibiting the Village of Tecumseh, Michigan, from providing within the Parking Meter Zone for free parking space for loading and unloading for taxicab stands, and for other matters of a similar nature.

All sections of this Ordinance shall be deemed to be separate and independent and the invalidity of any section or provision hereof shall not affect the remaining sections.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

This ordinance being necessary for the preservation of the public safety, convenience and necessity, shall become effective immediately upon its publication.

MINUTES OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION
December 8, 1947

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mr. Touborg. Members present were Mr. Touborg, Mr. Spafford, Dr. Helzerman, and Mr. Breitenwischer. Members absent, Mr. Satterthwaite.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Upon motion made by Mr. Spafford and seconded by Mr. Breitenwischer the bill, as incorporated into the minutes, amounting to $4,014.53 were approved and ordered paid.

It was moved by Mr. Spafford and seconded by Mr. Breitenwischer that the superintendent be authorized to have a new system of control installed on the heating system at the library building. The motion was carried.

A motion was made by Mr. Spafford and seconded by Dr. Helzerman that the superintendent be instructed to investigate the procedures which would be necessary to enlarge the boundaries of the school district to include any new sub divisions which may be developed adjacent to the present boundaries. The motion was carried.

It was moved by Mr. Breitenwischer and seconded by Dr. Helzerman that the proposal submitted by Mr. Willis Baker for the sale of his property on Maumee Street to the School District be rejected. The motion was carried.

Following a careful review of the regulations under which school plant facilities have in the past been made available to the public, it was moved by Dr. Helzerman and seconded by Mr. Spafford that the same regulations continue in force with the exception that the operating fees be increased as follows:

Classroom, $2.50; Gymnasium, $7.50; Auditorium, $5.00; Kitchen Facilities, $10.00. Motion was carried.

A motion was made by Dr. Helzerman and seconded by Mr. Breitenwischer that $75.00 be appropriated to assist in defraying the expenses of the annual Christmas Party. The motion was carried.

Consideration was next given to the matter of establishing the tuition rate for elemenary pupils who reside outside of the Tecumseh district. Information was presented by the superintendent that the regular membership allowance of $97.00 is received for such tuition from the state and that the district is permitted, under the terms of the State Aid Act to charge the difference between the membership allowance of $97.00 and the actual cost of instruction increased by 25%. This difference it was explained, is approximately $50.00 and it was, therefore moved by Mr. Spafford and seconded by Dr. Helzerman that a tuition rate of $50.00 per year be established for elementary tuition students. The motion was carried.

The attention of the Board was next called to the fact that the Tecumseh High School has once more been placed on the accredited list of the University of Michigan for a period of three years. This accreditation it was explained is based upon numerous reports which are sent to the University and upon the personal observations of an inspector from the University.

Upon motion made by Mr. Spafford and seconded by Mr. Breitenwischer the meeting was adjourned.

Secretary

Products Sales To Hit 50 Million In '48

Consumers Co. Looks To 1948

WILL SPEND OVER $40,000,000 IN EXPANSION TO CARE FOR INCREASED DEMAND

A 1948 construction and system expansion program amounting to $40,681,600 has been approved by the board of directors of Consumers Power Company, D. E. Karn, vice president and general manager, announced today. It is the largest one-year construction program in the company's history.

"Use of electricity and gas in the territory served by the company has been increasing rapidly," Mr. Karn said. "Expansion of our electric and gas systems has been restrained from keeping pace. For several years, wartime restrictions prevented expansion. Since then, construction work has been slowed by material shortages and other conditions. That means that our construction program during 1948 and each of the next few years must be much larger.

It is planned as a part of this 1948 program to invest a total of $17,829,200 in the construction, enlargement and improvement of power plants. Much of this money will go into the new B. C. Cobb Plant, now under construction in Muskegon. The Cobb Plant is scheduled to go into service in September. At first it will have two 60,000-kilowatt generating units. Construction work will continue at the plant, and late in 1949 another 60,000-kilowatt unit is scheduled to go into operation.

Also in the program is major construction work at the John C. Weadock Plant at Essexville, near Bay City. A new 50,000-kilowatt unit at this plant will go into service in March, and construction work will continue, looking toward the installation of two more 60,000-kilowatt units, the first of which is scheduled to go into service in 1949, and the second early in 1950.

Expansion of the Bryce E. Morrow Plant at Kalamazoo will begin early in 1948, and a new 60,000-kilowatt unit will go into service, according to present plans, in July 1949.

"These seven new generating units—three at Cobb, three at Weadock and one at Morrow—will increase our electric generating capacity more than 60 per cent," Mr. Karn said.

The program includes 1948 power supply projects amounting to $6,744,000. These projects involve construction of high voltage transmission lines and many substations. They are needed, Mr. Karn said, to facilitate the interchange of power between major population centers, to establish new power distribution centers and to serve large industrial customers.

To serve additional electric customers it is planned to extend and improve electric distribution lines throughout the 51-county area served by the company. The cost of these line extensions is estimated at $10,650,000. They will take electric service to about 20,000 additional customers living in cities and villages and to 6,370 customers in rural areas. It is expected that about 5,000 other rural customers, now living along existing distribution lines, will be connected in 1948.

Consumers already serves more than 90,000 farm customers—a larger number than any other company in America—and the 1948 program will bring the total to more than 100,000. The company operates 20,000 miles of rural distribution lines and will add 1800 more in 1948.

Gas department projects, including many distribution system improvements and extensions in various areas, are estimated at $2,227,800. These do not include the storage field and transmission line projects of the Michigan Gas Storage Company, a subsidiary of Consumers, which is developing one of the country's largest storage field projects in Clare, Osceola and Missaukee counties.

"This overall program," Mr. Karn said, "is a challenge both in providing the necessary funds and in completing it on time so as to take care of our customers' requirements."

$100 FIRE LOSS

Fire which started from paint stored in a fireplace, caused about $100 damage on Christmas eve at the home of Raymond Mills, south of Tecumseh. The local department responded to the call.

BROADCAST FOR PURSE IS SUCCESSFUL HERE

The playing of Christmas carols over a public address system in the downtown district here halted abruptly Christmas eve when, at the request of local police, an announcement was made that Mrs. Margaret Hobarth of Dearborn, had lost her purse on the street, and requesting that the finder return it to officers. Mrs. Hobarth had been shopping here and the purse contained considerable money.

Within a few minutes after the announcement had been broadcast officers notified Forest Abner at the Tecumseh Electric Supply, from which place the broadcasting was being done, that the purse had been recovered.

Week Of Prayer To Be Observed

FIVE TECUMSEH CHURCHES UNITE FOR FULL WEEK OF SERVICES

This week marks the one hundred-first annual observance of the Universal Week of Prayer. Coming the first full week of 1948, the Tecumseh Ministerial Association announces that local participation will be held in Tecumseh's churches from Monday, January 5, through Friday, January 9, at 8 o'clock each evening. Members of all churches and all those who place their trust in the providence of Almighty God are invited and urged to attend and participate in the services.

Observance will be held in the following churches:

Monday night, Baptist church.

Tuesday night, Friends church.

Wednesday night, Presbyterian church.

Thursday night, Episcopal church.

Friday night, Methodist church.

"There is a terrible urgency in the present world situation. Only God can save us and whether or not He will save us depends on our readiness to let Him save us. Jesus said, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you," one local minister said in making the announcement.

Farm Spending Hits New High

AND RURAL AREAS ARE EXPECTED TO SPEND EVEN MORE DURING COMING YEAR

Continued better living for farm families with spending at an all-time high is predicted for 1948 by home economists at Michigan State college. Some items will remain in short supply, however.

Homemakers will find some food supplies less available than this year and prices will continue high. High prices will have serious effects on some farm family diets. Supplies of low-cost clothing for 1948 will be limited. In spite of fewer sales, there will be further price increases during the winter and spring months. Few clothing shortages remain and on the whole stocks are good.

Home furnishings and equipment prices paid by farmers showed a decline last spring for the first time since 1939. A backlog of demand for electrical equipment for the home still exists. Prices paid for furniture and furnishings seem to have advanced more rapidly than for building materials.

Because of the continued demand for building materials since the war, it is unlikely that prices of materials will be reduced in 1948. Lumber supplies were better in the first half of 1947, but production has not been as steady since July.

Some building materials such as warm air furnaces, water heaters, hardwood flooring, softwood plywood, asphalt roofing materials, wire nails and staples are on the increase. There are still shortages of electrical supplies, cast iron soil pipe, millwork and flooring.

Marked increases have been noted in spending for medical care among farm families. The continued shortages of doctors, dentists and nurses will remain with us in many rural areas for some time. During 1948 there probably will be increased emphasis on hospital planning and construction.

IT LOOKS LIKE A GOOD YEAR AHEAD

Tecumseh's Industries Are Optimistic

"We expect our payroll to increase by the hiring of eight or 10 more persons during the month of January, and we expect that the new year of 1948 will compare favorably with 1947, which was a good year," Donald Nixon, manager of the Quaker Oats Company here, said.

"We are far behind on our orders, and we expect a record year in 1948 for production," Ralph Comfort of the Comfort Brick & Tile Co., declared.

Mr. Comfort said that there are now some 18 persons on the payroll and he estimated that this would be increased about one-third in the new year. He also pointed out that the company has spent about $12,000 on buildings and new equipment during the past year and anticipates the expenditure of some $8,000 more next year.

The company manufactures four inch drain tile, about one and a half million feet of the product annually. The demand is heavy, it was said, both for farm use and for commercial projects.

The Ottawa Machine Company also is looking toward a bright 1948 with a payroll about double the 18 persons now employed. J. H. Rohweder said that many contracts on which the company has been at work will go into production and he forecast an ever better year for his company than the one just drawing to a close.

The Bruce Foundry & Manufacturing Co., with 100 persons on its payroll, also expects 1948 production to exceed that of 1947. Payrolls will increase in the new year, W. J. Bruce said, and he expects production to reach a new high. "I am optimistic as to the coming 12 months," Mr. Bruce said.

Meyers Aircraft Company is now working on a new 4-passenger touring plane which it hopes to get into production by mid-summer and, according to Al Meyers, president, the outlook for that concern is optimistic. In addition to plane building, Mr. Meyers says that his company will continue its production of jeep tops and other industrial sheet metal work. "We are optimistic as to the New Year," Meyers said, "and we expect business to be as good as in 1947." The Company's payroll varies from 30 to 50 employees.

The William Hayden Milling Company is winding up one of the largest volume years in the history of the firm and, according to Perry M. Hayden, the prospects for the new year are very bright. He anticipates continued high grain prices and the home baking of bread and pastries to increase, due to a freer flow of sugar and shortening. The company soon will announce the maufacture of a new line of stock feeds which is expected to further boost the mill's volume.

"We have improved our mill considerably during the past year by the installation of new equipment, and we are prepared to take care of the increased production that we expect," Mr. Hayden said. The company now employes about 25 persons.

Floyd F. LeBaron Dies; Funeral This Afternoon

Floyd Francis LeBaron, 208 Adrian St., died Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in the University hospital, Ann Arbor. He was 46 years of age. Born in Azalia, Michigan, he came to Tecumseh with his parents at the age of four years and lived here all of his life.

Surviving are his wife, Esther, his mother, Mrs. Cora LeBaron, two brothers, Ernest and Arlie, all of Tecumseh. His father, a brother and sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held in the Green Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Geno Cecchini of the Gospel Tabernacle will officiate and burial will be in the Brookside cemetery.

PICTURES ARE ENJOYED

These pictures were used in training the company's personnel in salesmanship. Mr. Perry and Mr. McCann were guests of Earl Updike and Clyde Bailey.

At last week's meeting Bob Robison and Harold Hall were in charge of the program which included a quiz, singing of Christmas carols and several numbers by a quartet composed of Richard Roe, George McCombs, Earl Updike and James Freckelton accompanied by Forest Abner.

Little Changes In Tax Figuring

FARM MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST SAYS RURAL FOLKS FACE FEW NEW PROBLEMS

Farmers will find the job of figuring their federal income tax returns comparatively easy this year. The tax forms, rates, and information needed are the same as last year.

E. M. Elwood, farm management specialist at Michigan State college, explains that two changes in procedure may affect some farmers in making out the 1947 returns.

The first change in procedure deals with expenses incurred in the preparation and development of farms and orchards. The following are some of the typical expenses no longer deductible as current operating expenses: cost of clearing, leveling and conditioning of land; planting of trees; drilling and equipping wells; building roads, ponds, and terracing; and the cost of physical equipment having a useful life in excess of one year.

A second change involves Michigan's new community property law. Under the new law a farmer and his wife may file separate returns and divide equally all income earned from the farm on or after July 1, 1947. This may result in a tax saving since dividing the income may put each in a surtax bracket where the rates are lower.

Commenting on the regulations that were in effect last year and that remain the same this year, Elwood says that every individual who has a gross income of $500 or more in 1947 is required to file a return. This does not mean, however, that everyone filing a return will have a tax to pay.

Farmers will use forms identical to those used last year. Copies of these forms will be sent by the Internal Revenue Service to all Michigan farmers who filed a federal income tax report last year. If you do not receive your forms, send a post card request to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Federal Building, Detroit 31, Michigan, and ask for two copies of each of the forms needed.

BLOOD BANK COMING HERE JANUARY 15-16

Blood donors in Tecumseh are asked to keep in mind that the Michigan Department of Health's blood bank will be in Tecumseh on January 15-16 to receive donations. Where the bank will be set up has not been announced. It was pointed out that Tecumseh Hospital draws on this blood bank for plasma used locally in cases of burns, shock and other emergencies and that perhaps many lives have been saved here because such blood was instantly available. However, Tecumseh's quota of plasma is dwindling and needs to be replaced if the local hospital is to continue this service.

The committee in charge of the bank this year is made up of Mrs. G. A. Rathbun, chairman, Mrs. Don Heesen, Mrs. J. R. Thompson, Mrs. H. H. Loveland, Mrs. Richard Mead, Mrs. Russell Carey and Mrs. Nell Pearson. The bank is being brought to Tecumseh by the Tecumseh Hospital Auxiliary.

TWO LOCAL PAINTERS ABLE TO WORK AGAIN

Ben Bartenslager and Arthur Bowser, local painters, who suffered fractured arms and other painful injuries in a fall while painting the Des Ermia building, November 14, are making a complete recovery and soon will be back on the job, it was learned today.

Mr. Bartenslager expects to be able to resume his paint contracting business this week and Mr. Bowser will be able to return to work about the middle of this month.

Payrolls Will Increase To $7,500,000 Annually

Herrick Warns That Town Must Grow If Community Retains Share of Earnings

Sales near the $50,000,000 mark, a payroll that will hit $7,500,000, and total employment exceeding 2,500, that was the forecast for Tecumseh Products Company by its president, Ray W. Herrick, as he outlined his company's prospects for the New Year of 1948.

"The outlook for our company is good," Mr. Herrick said. "We expect to do the largest volume of business in our history in the coming year, in fact we expect our sales to increase from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000. Likewise, we expect our payroll to increase about $1,000,000 to an all-time high."

Mr. Herrick said that he had had conferences with all of the company's customers and that they, too, are forecasting record volume in the new year.

"Production will be the key word in 1948," the Products' executive said. "There is a pent-up demand, nation and world-wide for our products. It only remains for us to supply as much of that demand as we can produce for us to hit a record year in sales and payroll."

In preparation for this increased volume of business, Products has spent more than $500,000 during the past year in new buildings and equipment. Just this month the company began occupying its new 120 x 585 foot building between plants No. 1 and 2, and its new two-story office building, erected at a cost of some $300,000. Equipment in this plant cost $250,000 more.

It also has purchased from the Philco Corporation its building containing some 28,000 square feet of floor space at the rear of the Products plant. This building contained the laboratory and service departments of Philco which, in the future, will be operated by Products.

"We are coming out this year with a new one-half horse compressor for the air-conditioning industry and that requires additional space," Mr. Herrick said. "So, to take care of the added room that we will need we have broken ground for a new $100,000 building, at the rear of Plant No. 1. This will give us some 26,000 additional square feet of space, and will make 400,000 square feet of floor space. That is quite an increase when one considers that 13 years ago, when we were just getting under way, our total floor space was only 60,000 square feet."

Mr. Herrick also divulged that within a few months, probably in June, his company is planning to put into production a new small household refrigeration unit which will put its customers in a highly competitive position. The manufacture of this unit may require additional floor space and the purchase of additional equipment, he said.

The new $300,000 building into which the company is now moving new equipment is modern in every detail. Its two-story section at the front houses the company's main offices. Also, there is a new cafeteria, suitable for feeding about 260 persons at any one time. This will be used by employees and lunch periods will be staggered to accommodate. Charles Warner operates the cafeteria.

"That, briefly, is the picture as we see it for Products in the New Year," the president said. "It is a picture of steady growth, just as I have forecast at Chamber of Commerce and Rotary meetings in Tecumseh many times.

"I would like to again point out that it is necessary for Tecumseh to grow steadily, too, if it is to keep pace with the demand for new homes, enlarged schools and stores that will be made upon it by our employees.

"I have said before and I say again that less than one-half of our payroll now remains in Tecumseh because fewer than 1,000 of our employees reside in Tecumseh. They do not reside here because there are not sufficient houses to care for them and this condition must be corrected.

"Tecumseh has done a good job of home building in the past year or two since the war, but it must keep constantly at it. I'd say that we need at least 300 or 400 new houses here in the next year. Our employees would like to live here, instead of driving from 10 to 30 miles to their work. And, because the folk do not live here the merchants of Tecumseh are allowing millions of dollars in payroll to slip through their fingers to be spent in other communities.

"We also must consider the enlargement of our schools which, at the present time, are far overcrowded. Good schools, churches, stores and recreational facilities are important to community welfare.

"Tecumseh, as I see it, has a big job to do if it keeps pace with its growing industry. Not only is Products growing, all of our other industries here are growing, too.

"I trust that the Chamber of Commerce is making careful plans and preparations for community-wide expansion. I realize that it is a big job and one that requires close cooperation. We, of Products, desire to do everything that we can to cooperate. We do not intend to speed our growth too rapidly but we must grow if we are to retain our position as the largest manufacturers of electrical refrigeration units in the world. And we do intend to defend that position.

"I have said before that Tecumseh, within five years, will be a community of 6,000 to 7,500 persons. I still believe that it will, and it may come sooner than we expect. Tecumseh's growth depends only upon the community's desire for growth. The demand is here and all that remains for us to do is to provide the houses for the families of those who are now employed in local industry."

MISTAKEN COMPARISONS

It may be human nature to compare current commodity prices with those prevailing in 1939 or 1940 and conclude that we are now being robbed. But it isn't sound economics. It would be equally sensible to compare 1940 prices with 1840 prices and conclude that costs have been extortionate for decades.

Another fallacy is to compare the conditions which followed World War II with those which followed World War I or some previous conflict, and to attempt to draw exact parallels. As one of the greatest historians said, "Nothing is permanent but change," and what happened in 1920 and the succeeding years won't necessarily happen again. History may repeat itself in principle, but not in detail.

Everybody passes the buck on prices—just as everybody wants a low price when he buys and a high price when he sells. This blindness to the facts of life has clouded the whole price problem. The workingman wants cheap food and clothing—along with all-time record wages. The farmer wants machinery at prewar prices—along with a record price for crops. Of course such a Utopia is an impossibility, and those who dance must finally pay the piper.

Prices are high. But that doesn't mean they are artificially high. The major retail systems, both chain and independent, report lower unit profits than they earned seven years or so ago. Many manufacturers report a similar operating experience. Both production and retail distribution are more efficient and less wasteful than ever before. The present price level is the inevitable result of many forces, and is a perfectly natural development, regardless of what the trend may be in the future.

PRODUCTION---

I wish that I could start this message by saying that there is "Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men." But I can't.

Two years after the most destructive war of all time, many of the people of the world find themselves hungry, if not starving. They are looking to America for help.

As we look to the New Year with hope for world-wide improvement of conditions economic, moral and spiritual let us consider these fundamentals:

1. God helps those who help themselves.
2. Hard work creates wealth, comfort and happiness.
3. Use wisely what you have.
4. Do not covet your neighbor's property.
5. Respect the idealisms of others.
6. People cannot live on ammunition.
7. Selfish, quarreling groups will wreck a country, a community or a business.
8. A contract is only as good as the men who sign it.
9. You can't live forever on taxes or charity—no more than a cow can live on its own milk.
10. The few hundred people who represent the nations of the world at the United Nations cannot succeed in making a peaceful world unless they have the understanding, the guidance and the support of every man and woman in the world.

I hear much griping about these good old United States. I do much of it myself. We quarrel with our government, and we quarrel among ourselves.

BUT WE STILL KEEP ON WORKING!

These good old United States of ours is the best place in the world to live! We have the highest standard of living in the world! In fact, we have more of the better things of life than most of the world's other countries combined.

Yet, perhaps, our loudest griping is about our high income tax. Just imagine the griping we'd do if the law said we had to pay our present tax rate on what WE OURSELVES THINK WE ARE WORTH.

How about the world? How about Tecumseh? I believe that what we need in the world is ORGANIZATION, HARMONY, GOOD ECONOMIC PLANNING AND SOME GOOD OLD FASHIONED HARD WORK, if we are ever to have "Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men."

I believe that the magic word, the key to the solution, is PRODUCTION. That's the word that will be synonymous with progress during the New Year of 1948, no matter what your point of view. The crying need of the world for more goods and foods can be met only by production. The answer to the threat of inflation can be met only by more production. And production in the quantities that will be required can be achieved only through team-work.

If You Work, You'll Be Interested

This is the first of a series of articles outlining changes in the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act's administration. Another will appear at an early date.

Michigan's new, streamlined, decentralized plan for administration of the Unemployment Compensation Act, which will turn over to the local offices of the agency all functions pertaining to the taking, processing and paying of claims, will become effective on January 1, James F. Moore, Executive Director of the agency, indicated today.

Designed to give that "new look" to the agency's operations, and speed payment of unemployment benefits, the new program will also simplify book and record-keeping by the State's 21,000 employers who are covered by the Act, and will tend to bring the employer, the claimant, and the Commission, whose employees serve both worker and employer, closer together on a community basis, Moore said.

"More than 200 legislative changes have been made in the Act since it was first passed, in December, 1946," Moore said. As a result, the mass of legislation under this one heading had assumed rather a "patch-work" appearance. Within the framework set up by the Act, however, the Commission has evolved this new program which has attempted to overhaul from the grassroots, the entire function of the Claims Paying side of the Commission.

"We went a lot further than we had to go under the Act," he said. "Michigan, as a result, is pioneering among the states of the nation, in the degree to which it is decentralizing its operations. Some of the changes are made as the result of changes in legislation, as the stiffening of the disqualification provision. Others are as the result of our reorganization. Together, they will simplify, shorten and expedite our claims-paying program."

Moore pointed out that the decentralization program, by placing responsibility for all functions of the claims paying procedure in the local office will raise the local office to the status of a truly local institution, not merely a branch office of some distant, invisible agency.

"These functions include taking the claim, and processing it, or making a determination whether it is valid, and if it is valid, determining the amount of money per check and the number of checks due the claimant, provided he complies with all the legal requirements for payment. The last step is payment of the claim.

"The local office also makes the determination in instances in which the claimant is disqualified and payment refused. Further, the first step on an appeal is made to the local office's principal claims examiner.

Heretofore, the only claims function locally was the actual taking of the claim, and passing out the check after it had been made out by the state administrative headquarters.

"Of course the regular employment service division of the local office still must register and treat the claimant as heretofore, exposing him to whatever jobs are open, giving veterans and disabled workers particular service," Moore added.

"The State Office function of keeping interminable wage records, of making determinations and writing out the checks, resulted in occasional bottlenecks, and a mass layoff of huge proportions would tie up checks for the entire state," he said. "Now a mass layoff, if it occurs, will tie up only the area in which it occurs, if it ties up any place at all."

For a period of several months after January 1, until a complete new schedule is completed, the Unemployment Compensation Commission will be maintaining two separate systems, the old cure, to taper off the claimants who have filed during the current year, and the new one to care for claimants who file new claims after January 1. As a result, there will not be a full scale switchover on January 1, as only about 25% of the claimants will come under the new provisions in the first few months.

Claimants whose "benefit year" began on April 1 or July 1, or October 1, 1947, will be served in the "old" style, and it is expected that those claimants will not be "decentralized" until some period between April 1 and June 1, 1948.

MICHIGAN'S COMPENSATION ACT CHANGED

If You Work, You'll Be Interested

This is the first of a series of articles outlining changes in the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act's administration. Another will appear at an early date.

Michigan's new, streamlined, decentralized plan for administration of the Unemployment Compensation Act, which will turn over to the local offices of the agency all functions pertaining to the taking, processing and paying of claims, will become effective on January 1, James F. Moore, Executive Director of the agency, indicated today.

Designed to give that "new look" to the agency's operations, and speed payment of unemployment benefits, the new program will also simplify book and record-keeping by the State's 21,000 employers who are covered by the Act, and will tend to bring the employer, the claimant, and the Commission, whose employees serve both worker and employer, closer together on a community basis, Moore said.

"More than 200 legislative changes have been made in the Act since it was first passed, in December, 1946," Moore said. As a result, the mass of legislation under this one heading had assumed rather a "patch-work" appearance. Within the framework set up by the Act, however, the Commission has evolved this new program which has attempted to overhaul from the grassroots, the entire function of the Claims Paying side of the Commission.

"We went a lot further than we had to go under the Act," he said. "Michigan, as a result, is pioneering among the states of the nation, in the degree to which it is decentralizing its operations. Some of the changes are made as the result of changes in legislation, as the stiffening of the disqualification provision. Others are as the result of our reorganization. Together, they will simplify, shorten and expedite our claims-paying program."

Moore pointed out that the decentralization program, by placing responsibility for all functions of the claims paying procedure in the local office will raise the local office to the status of a truly local institution, not merely a branch office of some distant, invisible agency.

"These functions include taking the claim, and processing it, or making a determination whether it is valid, and if it is valid, determining the amount of money per check and the number of checks due the claimant, provided he complies with all the legal requirements for payment. The last step is payment of the claim.

"The local office also makes the determination in instances in which the claimant is disqualified and payment refused. Further, the first step on an appeal is made to the local office's principal claims examiner.

Heretofore, the only claims function locally was the actual taking of the claim, and passing out the check after it had been made out by the state administrative headquarters.

"Of course the regular employment service division of the local office still must register and treat the claimant as heretofore, exposing him to whatever jobs are open, giving veterans and disabled workers particular service," Moore added.

"The State Office function of keeping interminable wage records, of making determinations and writing out the checks, resulted in occasional bottlenecks, and a mass layoff of huge proportions would tie up checks for the entire state," he said. "Now a mass layoff, if it occurs, will tie up only the area in which it occurs, if it ties up any place at all."

For a period of several months after January 1, until a complete new schedule is completed, the Unemployment Compensation Commission will be maintaining two separate systems, the old cure, to taper off the claimants who have filed during the current year, and the new one to care for claimants who file new claims after January 1. As a result, there will not be a full scale switchover on January 1, as only about 25% of the claimants will come under the new provisions in the first few months.

Claimants whose "benefit year" began on April 1 or July 1, or October 1, 1947, will be served in the "old" style, and it is expected that those claimants will not be "decentralized" until some period between April 1 and June 1, 1948.

Presbyterians To Open New Year With Prayer

The Presbyterian church will be open from 11 to 12 o'clock New Year's morning for periods of private devotions. Comprising organ music by Mrs. F. C. Dickinson and prayers and Scripture selections by the pastor, the service will be a time for individual rededication to Christ during the coming year.

It is entirely fitting that Christians of every land begin this, the Year of our Lord, the 1948th by marshalling their spiritual resources to combat the forces of secularism and materialism in the arm of prayer, the church pointed out.

The Presbyterian church welcomes all who would like to take part in this fellowship of prayer to come at any time during the one hour service and stay for as long or as short a period as possible, if only for a moment. Members of the holy catholic church of all nations and among all races will be taking part all over the world.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

Rev. Allan Ramsay, rector of the Episcopal church, will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Westminster Fellowship Sunday evening. He will speak to the group about the basis for the proposed Episcopal and Presbyterian union, the points of difference and points in common of the two churches.

The Ridgeway Extension Club will meet with Mrs. Daniel W. Linn, Wednesday, January 7. A potluck dinner will be served at noon.
